Commons Approve Break Soviet Trade Agreement

REGULATIONS ARE PASSED BY CABINET

Opening of Some of the Liquor Stores Expected Around June 1st.

WILL DELIVER CASE.

Use System To Guard Against Any Fraud In Purchases.

TORONTO, May 27.— Attorney General Price yesterday afternoon gave out copies of the regulations approved by Order-in-Council under the Liquor Control Act. This is practically the final act so far as Order-in-Council is concerned until the date for proclaiming the Liquor Control Act is announced.

These regulations, which cover innumerable details in connection with the operation of the Act, will be published in the Ontario Gazette next Saturday and will then be effective. The final proclamation bringing the entire law into operation will probably be made on the following Saturday, according to Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General.

This will mean that, barring any hitch, the law will be in operation within two weeks.

Premier Ferguson at the same time stated that the Control Board was figuring on opening up some of its liquor stores to the public on or about June 1.

Beer may be bought at the stores for delivery up to a maximum of one case.

Against Fraud.

Fraud in the buying of beer and other liquor will be guarded against through the following system: The buyer must sign the order and his signature is compared with that on his permit. Serial numbers are to be on all bottles. These serials number seals will be distributed to all breweries for them to affix. Every serial number issued by the Government to the brewery must be accounted for, and in this way the liquor board will keep tab constantly on the breweries' stocks. The numbers and seals are not to be used to trace individual bottles to their source of consumption, though this could be done

Official Seal.

An official seal must be attached to all liquor in excess of 20-ounce containers kept for sale, which shall carry a serial number. There is also to be a seal for quantities less than 20 ounces. With the exception of liquor in jars, this seal will be similar to that affixed by the Inland Revenue Department. In the case of beer, the seal shall be the design of the crown sealer, bearing the words "Liquor Control Board Ontario."

Manufacturers of crown sealers must supply the Board with a monthly statement of their output to breweries. Unauthorized manufacture of official Liquor Board seals is prohibited under penalty of $2,000 or one month's imprisonment. If the offender be a corporation the penalty is from $2,000 to $5,000 fine.

Brewer's License.

A brewer's license will cost $2,500. Fee to be charged for a central warehouse license for storing beer in localities apart from where the brewery is situated will be $200 for each warehouse. Such warehouse may be established in any city or town approved by the Board. All warehouse employees employed in handling beer must have a license from the Board costing one dollar.

Purchaser's Name.

Any common carrier may convey liquor to the consumer either from the liquor store, central warehouse or brewery. The name and address of the purchaser must be shown on every package or receptacle.

Provision is made for a person to secure a permit from the Board to take delivery of beer purchased from the warehouse or brewery premises and transport it to some as a common carrier.

Hotel Proprietor.

A hotel proprietor may have and consume liquor in the rooms of the hotel occupied by himself as his own residence without having to register as occupant of the room.

Notice of every conviction under the Act is to be sent to the Board by the justice or magistrate and a fee of 50 cents is allowed for so doing.

May Not Advertise.

"No person shall sell or attempt to sell any light beer by means of any advertising whatsoever," reads one paragraph. This refers to 4.4 beer, which is sold in a restaurant on Sunday, but may not be sold in standard hotels on that day except for consumption with meals to guests. The hours of sale on other days shall be from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Native Wine Permits.

Manufacturers of native wines must secure a permit from the Board to sell this product. For the balance of the fiscal year 1927 the cost of such permit shall be $100; for any other year or part of year the license fee shall be $200. Wine which contains any ingredients other than native-grown Ontario grapes or cherries and sugar shall not be sold in the province; native wine shall not be sold by any manu-

'IL DUCE' URGES ITALY TO MAKE PREPARATIONS

Italy Must Be Able To Mobilize Five Million Men, He Says.

CRUCIAL TIME COMING.

Will Have To Remain as Premier For Ten Years, He Says.

ROME, May 27. Canadian Press.—Benito Mussolini, who five years ago began his task under the Fascist banner of creating a new Italy, is convinced that he will have to remain at the head of the government for another ten or fifteen years. He is even ready to retain the premiership for a longer period if necessary to achieve the ideal Fascist state.

"It is a fundamental duty to perfect our armed forces," the Premier shouted. "We must at a certain time be able to mobilize five million men. We must be able to arm them We must fortify our navy and make our air force so strong and numerous that its roaring motors will drown all other sounds, its shadow hide the sun over Italian soil. We will be able then, between 1935 and 1940, when I believe there will be a crucial point in European history, finally to make our voice heard and see our rights recognized.

"If Italy wants to amount to something she must face the second half of this century with a population of at least sixty millions."

Italy's population is now about 42,000,000.

DREDGES PASS DOWN STREAM

On Way Down To Ottawa After 14 Years in Severn River Work.

NO MORE WORK THERE.

The flotilla of dredges, tugs, and scows owned by the Randolph MacDonald Dredging Company passed down the Trent Valley Canal this morning. The dredges have been up in the northern part of the canal since 1913. Last fall the company finished its contract on the Severn River and as no more contracts are being let for dredging on that part of the canal, the company started this Spring to move its fleet.

The top cone of the dredge had to be cut off to enable it to go under the suspension bridge. The fleet is going to Ste. Anne de Bellevue and then up the Ottawa River to Ottawa.

STRANGE DISEASE IS FINALLY FATAL

R. S. Peck, of Ottawa, Dies of Malady Which Puzzles Doctors.

OTTAWA, May 27 (Canadian Press)—Raymond S. Peck, director of the Canadian Government Motion Picture Bureou, died this morning, aged 41 years, from a disease which took the form of sleeping sickness and had some of the symptoms of meningitis.

Mr. Peck was seized with a malady a week ago which specialists from New York and other centres found difficulty in diagnosing.

Reject Large Legacy To Stay In Workhouse

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 27 (AP)—George Schmidt, 60, a voluntary prisoner at the Warrensville Workhouse, near here, said today that he would reject a legacy of $30,000 because it would force him to leave his happy home at the workhouse.

"What could I do with $30,000?" Schmidt asked Superintendent Walsh. "I like it here and I don't think I could have a better home. No, I don't think I want to be bothered."

Tidings of the inheritance from a relative were carried to the workhouse by an attorney late yesterday. The lawyer intended to bring Schmidt into the city for the necessary formalities but Schmidt declined to come.

Schmidt completed a sentence for vagrancy last September, but at his request was permitted by Superintendent Walsh to remain at the workhouse, where he does odd jobs and continues amenable to the rules of the institution.

PASTOR CALLED TO CITY CHURCH FROM COLGATE

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, M.A., B.D., Will Come To Murray Street.

ARRIVES IN AUGUST.

Has Had Very Successful Pastorate at Large Church in Troy, N.Y.

Murray street Baptist church has extended a call, which has been accepted, to the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, M. A., B. D., of Colgate University, N.Y. Mr. Sutcliffe, who is very highly recommended by Dr. Thomas Wearing, (brother of Joseph Wearing, Dean of Theology at Colgate, was born at Philadelphia, Pa., 31 years ago, of English parentage. He is a strong preacher and previously held a singularly successful pastorate at Troy, N.Y., effecting a wonderful change for the better in what had been a very scanty evening attendance.

Mr. Sutcliffe is married and has one child.

The new pastor will take over his Peterborough charge in August when he will carry on the combined services of the George Street United and Murray street Baptist churches. Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of George street, will conduct the services of both churches during the month of July.

THREE INJURED WHEN BUS TIPS

Miss Dorothy Worboy Cut About Face, Requiring Operation To-day.

OTHERS SHAKEN UP.

The big Comet bus of Cooney and Jopling turned over into the ditch about two and a half miles west of Norwood last night, injuring Miss Dorothy Worboy and badly cutting Miss Marion Timm and Mrs. C. Goodley, and shaking up other members of the party.

All Saints' Dramatic Club was returning from Havelock where a play had been presented and about 1.30, while making a right angle turn, the accident occurred.

The road at this point is very narrow and as the large bus came around the curve the bank gave away beside the back wheels causing the rear end to tip, which pulled the bus over into the ditch.

There were about twenty-eight passengers on the bus, which was driven by Stanley Maker. No panic occurred and cars were sent out from this city to bring the members in, after first aid by Dr. Sutton of Norwood. Miss Worboy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Worboy of 586 Sherbrooke street, was seriously cut and was operated on this morning, in the hospital. Injuries to her face required many stitches. Miss Timm and Mrs. Goodley, although badly cut, were able to go to their homes.

Constable N. F. Maker and Dr. O'Brien went to the scene of the accident. Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' Anglican church, who was travelling in the bus, rendered first aid to those who were hurt.

Several other members of the party received minor cuts from the broken glass, and all were shaken up.

Everyone had to be rescued through the windows of the bus, and many are telling of thrilling escapes. It is claimed that the bus was travelling slowly at the time of the accident, which accounts for so few casualties.

DR. COHEN REMANDED.

Will Appear on June 7 For Hearing On Serious Charges.

TORONTO, May 27. — (Canadian Press.)—Dr. Benjamin Cohen of Toronto, was remanded until June 7, when he appeared this morning on charges of committing an abortion.

General Thadeus Rozwadousl Released Following Year's Detention at Vilna.

WARSAW, Poland, May 27 (Canadian Press).—General Thadeus Rozwadowski, Commander-in-Chief of the forces which defended former President Wojciechowski during the Pilsudski coup, has been released from Vilna Prison after a year's detention.

Everybody Must Help in Celebration of Jubilee If It Is to Be Proper Success, Says Ald. R. Denne

Great plans are being made by the directors for the big Jubilee celebration to be staged here on July First, but only with individual and organized aid can the directors accomplish their real object, that is to make it a huge success, and they are open for any suggestions from anyone.

In speaking to The Examiner this morning Roland Denne remarked that it was up to everyone to "get on the wagon" and assist in making this celebration the biggest that Peterborough has ever held. "As citizens of Peterborough, it is up to them to aid in every possible way," stated Mr. Denne, "and suggestions offered now would prove very essential to us, for anything in our power will be done to make it Peterborough's big year and big day."

A meeting will be held in the city Council Chamber on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, and it is the committe's wish that anyone having any suggestions to offer will attend. A full programme of the events that will take place on July 1 will be published at a later date.

RUSSIANS FORMALLY ORDERED TO LEAVE ENGLAND IN 10 DAYS; NOTE DELIVERED THIS MORNING

British Mission in Moscow Will Be Recalled Immediately.

NO WAR INTENDED.

Simply Refusal To Have Dealings With Soviet, Says Baldwin.

LONDON, May 27 (Canadian Press).—The note severing relations between the Soviet and the British Governments was delivered at Chesham House, Soviet Legation, this morning. It requested the official Soviet representatives to leave and specified who of others will be allowed to remain to wind up the affairs of Arcos Limited, the Russian trading organization.

The British diplomatic mission in Moscow will be recalled immediately. It is understood the Soviet representative will be allowed about ten days to leave England.

The note was sent to Chesham House by special messenger, and delivered personally to M. Rosengolz, the Soviet Charge d'Affaires.

Simultaneously with its delivery, several trunks belonging to employees of Chesham House were loaded into taxicabs and started for the railway station.

Chesham House announced this afternoon that the German Embassy had agreed to look after the Soviet's interests here as part of a system of winding up diplomatic affairs which will require some months.

Part of the Chesham House staff will be divided between Paris and Berlin, the others returning to Moscow. Most of them, including Charge Rosengolz and other officials, are planning to leave in less than a week.

A spokesman at Chesham House told the Associated Press:

"Now that the note is delivered we know our fate. We wish it were possible to pull up stakes immediately and be on our way. We have no desire to remain in any country where we are not wanted. Naturally after six years' residence, it will require a little time to pack bag and baggage and also the official documents which are to be taken to Moscow."

Chesham House, which was formerly the Imperial Russian Embassy, was closed to the public this afternoon, its ten foot iron gates guarded by policemen.

Press Supports Cabinet

LONDON, May 27 (United Press).—The Conservative press today supported the Baldwin Government in its break with Russia.

Referring to Foreign Minister Austen Chamberlain's statement of the Government policy in the Commons yesterday, The Daily Mail, a leader in the anti-Red campaign, said Chamberlain "was able to give proof that Soviet agents in every part of the world have been employed to stir up British hatred."

"Britain recovers her honor and freedom by the decision of the Commons to expel the Soviet," it added.

The nation will welcome with relief the Commons' vote giving the signal to close a painful chapter in diplomacy, said the Conservative Daily Telegraph.

The Government's action was "a necessary measure of self defence," said The Morning Post, which added that a government which permitted the "Soviet conspiracies" to continue when these had been proven against the Russians would be "guilty of a gross breach of public trust."

No War With Russia.

LONDON, May 27 (Canadian Press).—Premier Baldwin made the emphatic declaration to-day that the breaking of diplomatic relations with Moscow "does not mean or imply war against Russia."

Addressing a mass meeting of women Unionists in Albert Hall the Premier said:

"Our rupture of diplomatic relations does not mean or imply war against Russia. It means what it appears to mean—that we do not intend to have any further political dealings with Moscow, but we are

Rockefeller Gives Money For Rheims

PARIS, May 27 (United Press)—John D. Rockefeller, Junior, has added 40,000,000 francs (approximately $1,000,000) to his previous $1,000,000 gift for restoration of the Rheims Cathedral and preservation of the Versailles and Fontainbleu Palaces.

Announcement of the gift last night came a few hours after Mass was celebrated for the first time since the war at the Rheims Cathedral, which already has been almost completely restored.

NANKING LEADERS REVERSE ATTITUDE

Order Vernacular Papers To Revise Policy Toward Great Britain.

LONDON, May 27 (Canadian Press).—"A sensational reversal" in the attitude of the Nanking authorities, which, he says, is likely to result in a complete satisfactory settlement of the Nanking incident for Britain, is reported by the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express.

He states that Quo Tai Chi, Foreign Commissioner in Shanghai of General Chiang Kai Shek, summoned the editors of the vernacular newspapers and instructed them to revise their editorial policy toward Great Britain, as efforts by Nanking leaders to resume friendly relations with Britain had every prospect of success.

PREMIER AND PRINCE INTEND TO MAKE VISIT

Nothing Less Than General Election Will Prevent Canadian Tour.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE.

Baldwin Looks Forward To Change of Scenery as Tonic.

LONDON, May 27.—(British United Press.)—Not unless there is a political upheaval in Great Britain, which would mean a general election, will the Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin change their plans about visiting Canada at the end of July. Rumors had been current that on account of the seriousness of the Russian situation one or both might be compelled to cancel the trip, or at least postpone it. Arrangements for the visit are nearing completion, and it is understood that the Prince has left everything to the premier, whose secretaries are responsible for all the details.

They will leave England on July 23. Mr. Baldwin is likely to remain in the Dominion for 17 days, and the Prince is expected to go to his ranch in Alberta.

SEEK REWARD IN MURDER CASE

Marmora People Ask For Investigation By Best Men Available.

EVERY CLUE SIFTED.

BELLEVILLE, May 27.—It is possible that a reward will be offered for information concerning the person or persons who committed the cold-blooded murder of Jerome Keene on or about February 17 in his little shack on the outskirts of Marmora Village.

Hon. J. R. Cooke, member for North Hastings, has interested himself in the case, and will take the matter up with the Attorney-General's Department with regard to offering the reward. Some residents of Marmora think that a petition will most likely be signed by all in that community asking the Government to send some of the ablest men in the Criminal Investigation Department to continue the search.

Inspector Lougheed yesterday stated that every possible clue was sifted to the ultimate end and every rumor whether with weight or without was also ferreted to its source, and all them led to nothing. "Not only were clues sifted, but even the flimsiest of suppositions were given attention, he said, and from observations of the officers who have been on the ground working on the case there is not one possible motive for the killing of this kindly old man."

WAR VETERANS ASKED TO AID

Convention Delegates To Be Met at Trains and Directed.

STARTING TUESDAY.

Any war veterans who can give Tuesday night and Wednesday forenoon, or part of them, to assist in the Convention are requested to communicate with the secretary, phone 141. It is desired to have all trains met so that the delegates may be directed to the places of registration. Members of the Legion can be of great assistance in this way if they can't get the secretary they may communicate with Doug. Fletcher, Reception Committee.

THE WEATHER

Although this is the 27th day of May, the temperature took a decided drop last night, and the freezing point (32°) was reached at my house, which is on high ground. In lower lying districts still lower was probably reached, and possibly damage was done. During May we have had 16 days on which rain fell, and the total up to the present time is 3.01 inches. Heavy rains have been prevalent in nearly all parts of the Dominion, and in some sections of the prairie provinces things are looking serious owing to the too abundant moisture.—W. P.

Will Give Workingmen Golf Course Near Shop

BINGHAMPTON, N.Y., May 27 (AP)—George F. Johnson, shoe manufacturer, is about to put in operation a plan long under consideration to democratise golf.

"If golf is good for the tired business man," said Mr. Johnson, "it is good for the tired factory worker, and there is no reason why the factory worker should not have his share of the good things of life."

Mr. Johnson has leased a tract of land near Binghampton, accessible by street car, motor bus or automobile, which he will transform into a golf course at his own expense. Construction of the course is to begin at once.

A small fee is to be charged for the use of the clubhouse and golf sticks. Balls and other paraphernalia will be sold to the workers at cost.

It is Mr. Johnson's idea that a shoe worker employed in a factory on a machine all day can recuperate rapidly in the open air on a golf course during the long Summer evenings after the factory is closed.

PROGRAM FOR CENTENARY OF CHURCH DRAWN

Bishops of Toronto and Ontario Among Preachers at St. John's.

MANY MEMORIALS.

Visit of Governor-General To Be Conclusion of Month's Events.

Following is the programme of services and events arranged in connection with the Centenary of St. Johns church, in June of this year:

On Sunday, June 5th, the Lord Bishop of Toronto will preach and dedicate memorials and improvements at the morning service. The Ven. Archdeacon Davidson will preach in the evening.

On Sunday, June 12th, the Rev. Canon Plumptre, M.A., Rector of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, will preach at both services.

On Friday, June 17th, there will be a public service in the church at 8 o'clock, at which the clergy of the Deanery, the City Council and officials, and the citizens generally, are invited. The Rev. Canon F. J. Sawers, M.A., Rector of St. Matthew's Church, Toronto, will preach.

On Sunday, June 19th, the Right Rev. Dr. C. A. Seager, Lord Bishop of Ontario, will preach at both services.

On Monday, June 20th, the big social event of the celebration will take place. At 5 o'clock a short service will be held in the church at which it is expected His Excellency the Governor-General will read the lesson at 5.15 p.m. His Excellency the Governor-General, will give an address from the steps of the church, not only to the people of St. John's, but to as many of the citizens as may wish to hear him. At 6 o'clock, a re-union high tea will be served in the Parish House.

During the evening an out-door address (weather permitting) will be given by Bishop Seager.

The Peterborough Rangers Band will be in attendance from 5 to 9 o'clock.

The following improvements have been made and memorials presented in preparation for the Centenary, in addition to the extension of the Parish House:

A new Altar Cloth by the Chancel Chapter.

An Altar Book by the Ven. Archdeacon Davidson.

Two pairs of Brass Candlesticks, by Mr. Harry Denne, in memory of his mother and sister.

A Communion Bread-box or Pyx, by Miss Margaret English in memory of her mother.

A Brass Tablet in memory of George Brown, for fifty years a member of the choir. Presented by the choir.

Book Markers and Brass Plate in memory of Margaret Wilson given by the W. A. and Women's Friendly Bible Class.

Pulpit Newel-Post Decoration, in memory of Margaret Wilson.

New Royal Blue Chancel and Sanctuary Carpet by the Chancel Chapter.

Matting on the nave of the church by the Church Women's Association.

A Tablet erected in memory of Margaret Archer by Miss Archer.

A pew to which perpetual right was secured by Captain Rubidge and recently in possession of Mrs. Hazen Ritchie of Vancouver, has been given with title thereto, by Mrs. Ritchie, to the congregation of St. John's.

Letters are being sent to the clergy of the Deanery offering to reserve tickets for as many of their people as may wish to attend on the 20th of June.

BRITISH HOUSE ADOPTS MOTION BY LARGE VOTE

Take Stand To Treat Labor Motion as Vote of Censure.

WOULD LOSE TRADE.

Put No Obstacles in Way of Legitimate Trading With Russia.

LONDON, (May 27 (Canadian Press). — The British Government's decision to break off diplomatic and trade relations with Russia was approved by the House of Commons last night after an exciting debate, when the House by a vote of 357 to 111 adopted a motion to this effect moved by Gervais Rentour, Conservative. His motion was in the following terms:

"This House, while appreciating the long forbearance of His Majesty's Government and their many efforts to maintain friendly diplomatic relations with the Soviet Republic in the face of acute provocation, applauds their decision to withdraw diplomatic privileges which have been so gravely abused, while at the same time putting no obstacles in the way of legitimate trading relations with Russia."

This outcome was already made certain early in the debate, when Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, announced the Government's determination to treat the Labor motion, calling the ministerial policy in question and demanding an inquiry by a select committee into all the circumstances before such a grave decision was taken, as a vote of censure and further, intimating that unless the ministers obtained a vote of confidence in their policy toward Russia it would be their duty to resign and appeal to the country for a verdict.

Not Abate Propaganda

J. R. Clynes' contention in putting the Labor case before the House in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald, whose condition requires avoidance of the strain of a parliamentary debate, was that Russia should not be condemned unheard and that the policy the government was pursuing would deprive Great Britain of valuable trade, but would not abate Russian propaganda, but on the contrary, would be a first class advertisement for Communism.

The Labor resolution was as follows: "That, having heard the Premier's statement, this House is of the opinion that termination of the trade agreement with Russia and severance of diplomatic relations, would have serious international consequences, and close a promising avenue to the restoration of trade and industry and is therefore a policy to which the country ought not to be committed until the report of a select committee, based upon examination of all relevant documents and full inquiry into the facts, has been submitted to this House."

This motion was defeated after a lengthy discussion, by a vote of 367 to 118.

Much play was made by the speakers on both sides of the alleged £10,000,000 credit which was cancelled owing to the Arcos raid. Sir Austen Chamberlain brushed this aside, declaring that a year ago M. Rakovsky, former Soviet Charge at London, came to him with talk of even many more millions of orders.

"But," added Sir Austen, "what became of those orders when they were no longer required as an instrument of policy? They vanished into space."

Secretary's Arguments

The Foreign Secretary's main arguments were first, an emphatic denial that he had at Rome or Geneva tried to engineer an anti-Soviet bloc of nations; second, that the British Government had consistently co-operated with Europe in a policy of peace and conciliation, but that Russia was the only one among the nations that had consistently tried to frustrate that policy, and, third, that not only in Europe but in China and other countries Russia had pursued her baleful policy.

"The government," the Foreign Minister declared, "has striven to the utmost to maintain good relations with Russia, until they became a hollow sham, and has pushed its forbearance to a point where its further pursuit would be mere weakness."

Asserting that the government was content to rest its case upon the documents already disclosed, the secretary said that, nevertheless, the government had a mass of further information in its possession. As an example of this, he went on, "The House may have heard that the other day there was a demonstration in front of the British Embassy at Washington. That can be connected with instruction received from Russia that there should be demonstration of anti-British feeling in front of the British Embassies and Legations."

THINKS JAPAN SHOULD BACK CHIANG PARTY

Japanese Premier Believes That Nanking Government is Strongest.

WILL CONTROL CHINA.

To Hold Conference on China at Tokio on June 15th.

TOKIO, May 27. — The conference on China to which M. Yoshizawa, Minister to Peking, and other Japanese officials in China, have been summoned will meet here on June 15th. Since the conference was arranged its potential importance has greatly increased and it is likely to mark an important stage in the development of Premier Tanaka's China policy.

Events in China have moved rapidly since the change of government here five weeks ago, and Premier Tanaka is represented as having become convinced taht the time is approaching when Japan should recognize General Chiang Kai-shek's government and give it its moral support.

The Nanking government, he believes, embodies all that is healthiest and strongest in the Nationalist movement. It has freed itself from Russian influence and will apparently soon control the greater part of China, he thinks, and Japan, therefore can, and ought, to deal with it, the premier believes.

This policy was placed before Marquis Saionji, during Premier Tanaka's recent visit to Kyoto and gained that elder statesman's approval. Actual decisions will depend on the information which the delegates to the conference bring from China but all signs point to the substitution of a positive policy for former Foreign Minister Shidehara's passive neutrality.

Accepts Non-Intervention.

Baron H. Tanaka came into power with clear ideas concerning Japan's China policy. He accpts the principle of non-intervention and he holds that the Nationalist movement is the only live thing in China, but he refuses to carry his neutrality so far as to allow Nationalism to be made a cloak for the development of a subversive Russian policy.

He admits that Michael Borodin has been a valuable adviser to the Southerners and that he has assisted Canton to reach its present position but holds that Borodin has made China the tool of Russia's policy and has forgotten that Japan cannot afford to see China come under any foreign influence.

Accordingly when Baron Tanaka became Premier his first utterance was a warning that Japan could not remain indifferent to Communist influence in China and was prepared to cooperate with the other powers in opposing it.

Baron Tanaka believes that this warning has been heeded in China. Since it was spoken Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists have definitely parted. Chinese generals who were watching events, officials here say, have abandoned the Left Wing government at Hankow and Communist influence seems to be waning.

LABOR CABINET AGAIN AT ODDS

Dissolution of Parliament Refused New South Wales Premier.

ELECTION IN SEPT.

SYDNEY, May 27.—Following weeks of political friction in the New South Wales Labor cabinet, Premier Lang yesterday requested Governor Dechair to dissolve parliament. The other ministers, however, with the exception of Mr. Lang's henchman, Willis, opposed any appeal to the people at this time, so the governor, being guided by a majority of the executive council, thereupon refused dissolution.

Premier Lang then tendered his resignation, but was recommissioned to form a new ministry conditional upon an early dissolution, which will be one year before it is scheduled.

To-day's events mark the climax of a long chain of domestic quarrels among the Laborites, which have extended for the past year.

Dissolution is expected in August, with a general election toward the end of that month or early in September.

OBITUARY.

RICHARD ANDREWS.

LAKEFIELD, May 27.—The death occurred very suddenly at 6.30 yesterday morning of Richard Andrews, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Fred Richardson. Mr. Andrews has lived all his life in Norwood, and at the time of his death was visiting Mrs. Richardson. He was down street the night before his death and was apparently in the best of health. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. George Hamblin of Norwood, a half-brother. Mr. McMillan of Norwood, and a half sister, Mrs. Andrews of Norwood.

A short service was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Richardson, conducted by the Rev. S. A. Kemp, and the remains were taken to Norwood, where interment will be made Saturday afternoon, with service at 2.30.

GLADYS JEAN RENNIE.

PONTYPOOL, May 27.—The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. Rennie, owing to the loss of their baby daughter, Gladys Jean, who passed away in Peterborough Hospital. The funeral was held from the United church on Friday, the Rev. Walker officiating. Four little girls, Ethel Malley, Marjorie Jessop and Patsy and Olive Dunn acted as bearers. Interment took place in Pontypool cemetery. She leaves to mourn her loss beside her parents, one brother, Andrew, and one sister, Hazel.

JAPAN CONSIDERS SENDING TROOPS

Cabinet Discusses Despatch of 4,000 Men To North China.

TOKIO, May 27. United Press. — The dispatch of 4000 more Japanese troops to North China will be discussed by the Cabinet to-day. Cavalry and railway telegraph and transport corps would be included.

MANY MAROONED BY BACKWATERS

Failing To Heed Warnings Hundreds Flee Before Flood Waters.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 27.—(Canadian Press.)—Hundreds of persons in the upper tip of Pointe Coupee parish were marooned yesterday by backwaters from the McCrea crevasse on the east bank of the Atchafalaya river as sweeping torrents streamed over a railroad embankment on which they had relied for protection.

Failure to heed flood warnings had kept the residents in the district until the backwaters became threatening. Hundreds of persons were brought out yesterday on the last train operated by the Texas and Pacific Railroad, but it left other hundreds, unable to leave except by boat. Wast deep water poured over railroad embankment a half mile north of Morgansea as the train left.

The rapid spread of the flood brought consternation to many who had remained serenely in the threatened area, confident that their homes would not be flooded and a steady stream of refugees poured from Pointe Coupee parish into concentration camps at Baton Rouge yesterday.

THREE CONTINENTAL POWERS MAY JOIN IN SOVIET RUPTURE

Paris, Rome and Berlin Been Investigating Activities of Communists.

PREPARE CASES.

Plan Existed Between Offices Break With Soviet Was Advisable.

PARIS, May 27. — There exists a possibility which may become more than a probability within the month that the principal nations of the Continent will follow the example of England in breaking off diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Interestingly enough, this possibility existed before the raid on the Arcos headquarters in London which led to Premier Baldwin's announcement in the House of Commons. For some months the Governments of London, Paris and Rome, as well as Berlin, have been gathering evidence of serious Communist efforts to undermine the Governments of those countries, and that in violation of pledges given by Moscow when de jure recognition was extended to the Red regime.

There existed between the London and Paris Foreign Offices a plan to convince not only Italy, but Germany as well, that a break with the Soviet Union was advisable. Two months ago Premier Mussolini began to fall in line, and pressure, or rather persuasion, was brought to bear on Germany, when the Right side of the British Government, led by Winston Churchill, forced action in London. As matters stand now both Paris and Rome are preparing a case against Soviet Russia similar to that which the British Prime Minister presented.

Aimed First to Convince Berlin.

Both M. Briand and Sir Austen Chamberlain had wished to wait until Germany was convinced of the wisdom of such a step. These two statesmen have been pushing the policy of Locarno in Europe and that policy made it quite plain that any joint step by France and England, whether or not Italy joined it might have results brinering Berlin and Moscow closed together at the expense of the Locarno plan. This they both wished to avoid. Sir Austen's hand was forced in London.

Now M. Briand, probably with the agreement of Premier Mussolini, is planning to bring Dr. Stressemann, the German Foreign Minister, around to his point of view, namely, that if a clear case of Soviet Russia plotting against the Government of any country can be made out, diplomatic relations should be broken off. M. Briand will see Dr. Stressemann in Geneva at the meeting of the League Council next month as will Sir Austen also, and in diplomatic quarters it is expected that they will work toward common action toward Moscow.

Poincare Pushes Soviet Issue

Apparently the Poincare Government is going to bat on the issue raised by the activity of the Communist deputy, M. Doriot, in China. So far, the Chamber committee has refused to raise the parliamentary immunity of M. Doriot, but Poincare has made it plain that the issue must come before the Chamber and every one take his responsibility.

The Minister of Justice, Louis Barthou, appeared before the Chamber committee and asked that the Government be authorized to try M. Doriot for sedition and plotting against the Government, since part of his propaganda called for an uprising in Indo-China.

The issue which must come before the Chamber," said M. Barthou, "is whether immunity of Parliament should be extended to agitators who boast of receiving their orders from abroad, or whether we must insure for all full respect of our laws and national security."

Two Men Are Killed In Fall From Roof

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 21. — (A.P.)—Two men were killed, two were unaccounted for last night and nine others were injured in a fall of roof, followed by an explosion in the Woodward mine of the Glen Alden Coal Company here yesterday.

The bodies of Herbert Mensch, of Forty Fort and Felix Klosiko, of Edwardsville, were removed late yesterday. Search for Henry Carpetner, fire boss, and William Evans, section foreman, has failed to locate them. The nine injured, many of them burned, were taken to the Nesbitt Hospital.

The squeeze occurred about 800 feet underground and followed a week's effort to prop up the roof in the 1 and 2 west gangways in No. 3 shaft. The workings affected lie directly under the flood-swollen Susquehanna river and miners who came from the mine said they had heard rumblings just before the fall occurred.

NEW MRS. HILL.

This is the new Mrs. Hill. A few minutes after being granted a divorce from his first wife, Walter Hill, son of the late railway builder, James J. Hill, married Mildred Richardson, former Ziegfeld Follies star, at Livingston, Mont. Miss Richardson is the daughter of Mrs. C. R. Meyers of Long Island, N.Y. Her father, W. Earl Richardson, is a financier of Saskatchewan.

Police Conduct Hunt For Canadian Singer

BEMIDJI, Minn., May 27.—(A.P.)— City and county officers here were conducting a search for Cyril Rice, Canadian singer, who escaped from a train at Sagley, Minn., Wednesday, as he was being taken to Grand Forks, N. D., from Ashland, Wisconsin by Deputy Ed Hough, to answer charges of cashing worthless checks. Communicating with the Sheriff's office here to-day by phone Hough said that Rice had been traced to within two or three miles of Bemidji. In escaping Rice leaped from a window of the wash room as the train was pulling out of Bagley.

NEWS OF BETHANY

BETHANY, May 23.—Mrs. Roy Jarvis and children, of Guelph, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sisson, for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis and daughter, Mildred, also Mr. and Mrs. Sid Johnston and son, Kenneth, of Peterborough, motored to Bowmanville on Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis.

Mrs. Coulter, Mr. Jemison, Mr. Flett and Miss Hazel Jackson, of Peterborough, were guests of the Jackson family on Friday.

Mr. Fred Brereton and family, of Toronto, visited friends in the village on Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Poulter were business visitors to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Monk and Mr. and Mrs. St. John, were visitors to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Fitch, who has been visiting with friends in the community, recuperating from a serious operation performed in Toronto several months ago, has started on her return journey to her home in Dunkirk, Saskatchewan, while in the village she visited her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Flack.

The members of the Women's Institute gathered on Tuesday afternoon on the town hall grounds and planted shrubs, flowers, etc. They also raked the grass, altogether the place looks much improved.

The fire bell was erected on Wednesday by Mr. Nelson Whitesides.

Mrs. Alfred Driver spent Thursday with the Misses Kelly's in Cavan.

NEW HOTEL.

The latest addition to the chain of Canadian Pacific hotels, the Hotel Saskatchewan at Regina (above), was officially opened on May 24 by E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. The new hotel is a modern ten-storey building, faced with Tyndal stone quarried in Western Canada.

Sunken Treasure of Schooner "Jeune Henri" Goal of Divers Planning to Explore Reefs

ROCHEFORT, France, May 27 (Canadian Press).—Sunken treasure, reputedly a huge fortune, is the goal of divers who plan to explore the dangerous reefs of the Ile de Oleron, off the West coast of France. The treasure consists of many boxes of diamonds, gold and other precious metals sunk in the wreck of the three-masted schooner "Jeune Henri."

The fortune was the result of the thirty-year residence in the United States of the Compte de St. Paul, Lord of the Vendee, who fled to the United States during the French Revolution. For years he submitted to the usual tribulations of the pioneer, but finally lucky investments brought him an immense sum of money. Then he decided to return to his native country.

The "Jeune Henri" met with fair weather until just off the French coast, when a tremendous storm drove her on the reefs of Oleron. The Count and his family escaped, but the gold was lost and the wealthy emigree died a short time later in poverty. Now an enterprising company of divers is seeking to locate the treasure.

Had Made Charitable Donations Totalling $100,000,000 in 25 Years.

GREAT SPORTSMAN.

NEW YORK, May 27. — (United Press.)—Payne Whitney, 51, millionaire sportsman, who died suddenly Wednesday, after collapsing during a game of tennis, left a fortune of from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000, it was estimated yesterday.

Many friends of Whitney, who was a brother of Harry Payne Whitney, were surprised to learn of the extent of his fortune, although in 1924 he paid an income tax of $2,041,951, third largest in the country, being exceeded only by the taxes paid by John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford. In 1925 his tax was fifth largest.

It was also revealed that Whitney was one of the nation's greatest philanthropists, one close friend, who preferred to remain anonymous, estimating he had given away close to $100,000,000 in the last twenty-five years.

Whitney was a familiar figure at race tracks. Mrs. Payne Whitney, the former Helen Hay, of Washington, is proprietor of the Greentree stables, and Whitney himself owned several horses.

Funeral services will be held at Christ church, Manhasset, at 12.30 p.m. to-day.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM ACCIDENT

W. M. Fowld's Clothing Catches in Machinery of Elevator.

HASTINGS, May 27. — H. M. Fowlds met with what might have been a serious accident on Thursday. While in the grain elevator working down stairs at the shaft the sleeve of his coat came in contact with the shaft, and the machinery being in operation, he was drawn quickly towards the shaft. One of the employees, Charles Lynch, came to his assistance and it took all the strength of the latter with what assistance Mr. Fowlds could give to disengage him from the machinery. It was impossible to shut down the machinery as that task had to be done upstairs in the main part of the elevator.

No bones were broken and no flesh torn in the accident, but the muscles and ligiments are badly strained and a considerable part of his clothes was torn off.

Medical aid was summoned and the patient is doing nicely but it is necessary for him to remain in bed.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Many Farmers In Emily Held Up By the Wet Weather.

EAST EMILY, May 27.—The recent heavy rains which have fallen in this locality have been a great drawback to the farmers who are not finished seeding. There are quite a number of the farmers finished with their spring seeding, so they don't have to worry so much about the wet weather.

SAYS AWAITS INSTRUCTIONS FROM RUSSIA

Longin F. Guerus Unable To Indicate What Action Would Be Taken.

BREAK IN RELATIONS.

Could Not Say Whether Would Be Possible To Continue Trade.

MONTREAL, Que., May 27 (Canadian Press)—"I have asked my government for instructions, and pending a reply I am unable to indicate what action is to be taken," said Longin F. Guerus, Soviet trade commissioner to Canada, last evening when asked by the Canadian Press what his next step would be in view of the severance of relations between Canada and Soviet Russia. Whether it would be possible to continue to trade or not Mr. Guerus could not say. "Previously," he declared, "I was the official representative of the Soviet government in Canada, buying on their behalf and trading in their name. Now—I am plain Mr. Guerus, with no standing whatever as far as the Canadian government is concerned, consequently I can not now act in trade matters in the name of Russia."

Mr. Guerus told of his interview with Premier Mackenzie King at Ottawa Wednesday. He had urged the Prime Minister very earnestly, he said, to give him (Mr. Guerus) a chance to allow his government to probe the charge laid by the British government, but the prime minister had taken the stand, said the Soviet commissioner, that although there was no accusation against the activities of the trade delegation in Canada, information furnished to the Canadian administration by the British government had been of a nature that justified the Canadian government in taking the step they did.

Canada was in partnership with Great Britain, the prime minister had declared, said Mr. Guerus, and had adhered to the trade treaty which did not now exist. The abrogation of the treaty by Great Britain rendered it nugatory in Canada Soviet Russia was placed on the basis of still being able to trade in Canada, but the Russian government was considered as not now having any official representative in this country.

Reads Despatches

Mr. Guerus went over the despatches from London which gave the speech of Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin in the House of Commons, and said that when he read of the incident where the Scotland Yard officials had found instructions with regard to establishing Communist cells among seamen, he "blushed for Mr. Baldwin." The British Prime Minister had quoted from a letter allegedly addressed to Dzerjinsky, the date of which was November of last year. Dzerjinsky had died last July, so that apparently the writer of that letter was communicating with a dead man, said Mr. Guerus. The trade commissioner intimated his opinion that this letter was a fake.

Telegram Is Fake

He spoke of the telegram regarding Michael Borodin and pointed out that the officials at Arcos House had invited the British government to search the files of the Central telegraph office for this telegram. The British government would find, said Mr. Guerus, that no such communication existed.

As far as correspondence with Arcos House was concerned, Mr Guerus asked if it was reasonable to make a person responsible for the letters written to him by someone else. If the mounted police ever raided the Soviet headquarters in Montreal they would find some startling letters, he said—in fact, he had shown some of them to Mr Mackenzie King himself. But he Mr. Guerus, could not accept responsibility for anything written to him by outsiders.

The Soviet trade commissioner deplored the step taken by the Canadian government. Within the last eight months, he said, trade between Canada and Russia had increased two hundred and fifty per cent and now stood at $3,000,000 for that period He felt that the loss of Russian trade would be a serious thing, and asked why Canada should arrogate the treaty in such a manner because of allegations which, he declared, had not been proved.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE MIDDLE OF THE WEEK.

My man imagines that he seems
His best in Sunday gear,
But there's a time he never dreams
My man is twice as dear.
I like him when he's Sunday dressed
And off to kirk we go,
But when I really love him best
He'd be surprised to know.

For, oh, I think I like him more
I love him better still,
When I can see him at the door
A-coming from the mill.

There may be grease upon his cheek,
And common clothes are his,
But in the middle of the week
He seems the man he is.

And all the while he's cleaning up
He talks of this and that,
And then we all sit down to sup,
And then we sit and chat.
I like his arms around me then,
I love his hungry kiss;
Let others have their fancy men,
Give me a man like this.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By Geo. McManus

OLD MASTERS

All loved and lovely women dear to rhyme:
Thais, Cassandra, Helen and their fames,
Burn like tall candles through forgotten
time,
Lighting the Past's dim arras with their names.
Around their faces wars the cage dark
Wherein all other lights are sunken now,
Yet, casting back, the seeker still may mark
A flame of hair, a bright immortal brow.

Surely, where they have passed, one after one,
Wearing their radiance to the darkened room—
Surely, newcomers to Oblivion
May still descry in that all-quenching gloom,
Rare faces lovely, lifted and alight
Like tapers burning through the windy night.

TYPHOID FEVER EPIDEMIC OVER

Will Be Completely Stamped Out in Short Time, Says Official.

MONTREAL, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Positive assurance that Provincial intervention in the typhoid situation has resulted in suppression of the source of infection and in preventing the occurrence of new cases was given by the Hon. Athanase David Wednesday. The Provincial Secretary stated that he and his officials were convinced that the source of infection had been located and cut off absolutely; that adequate remedial measures were being taken; and that within one month the epidemic will be completely stamped out.

ASSEMBLE FLEET TO AID REFUGEES

Rescue Workers Prepare To Take People Out of Danger Area.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Fleets of boats were being assembled in the area of the break in the Atchafalaya River at Moora Pointe, Coupee Parish, Wednesday night to aid those who have refused to leave in the face of warnings of their danger.

Hundreds of persons in the Parish clung to their homes as the flood waters moved up on them. One hundred and fifty square miles of land had been inundated since the break early Tuesday. More rapidly than had been expected, the torrent, pouring through the broken barrier, had spread over swamp lands and extended in a gradually expanding lake for more than 20 miles south of the breach.

Foch and Joffre Praise Lindbergh—Guest of Aristide Briand.

VETERANS PAY TRIBUTE.

PARIS, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Capt. Charles Lindbergh was the honored guest yesterday of two famous Marshals of France, Foch and Joffre. He also found time in the day's busy programme to make a trip to the Hotel Des Invalides to greet a delegation of Belgian war wounded who have been visiting Paris.

After a visit to Versailles he was the guest of Aristide Briand at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

"Your effort has been a great one," Marshal Foch told the New York-Paris flier, "because it shows what a young man can do when he is well prepared for his attempt and has the courage to see it through."

Lindbergh's visit to Marshal Joffre was more or less impromptu. The hero of the Marne threw his arms around the airman and kissed him on both cheeks. The airman was much touched by the reception given him by the Belgian wounded. "You're a great boy," said one, while another chimed in, "You are the greatest flier in the world."

CONTROL BILL LAW NEXT WEEK

Will Probably Be Proclaimed in Ontario Gazette on June 4.

STRICT WITH TOURISTS.

TORONTO, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Further regulations under which the Liquor Control Act of Ontario will be administered were approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council yesterday afternoon, and it was indicated that the final proclamation bringing the law into effect will be made on Saturday, June 4. The regulations adopted yesterday cover numerous details in connection with the operation of the law, and will be published in The Ontario Gazette on Saturday next when they will be effective.

The Ontario Liquor Board has no intention of issuing liquor permits to tourists in the immediate future, D. B. Hanna, the Chairman, stated yesterday.

People who come across the line for the express purpose of indulging in a "blow out" will be disappointed, the Chairman intimated. Liquor cannot be purchased without permits, he pointed out, and only bona fide travellers and tourists will be able to obtain these certificates.

BETHANY SCHOOL HAS CELEBRATION

Empire Day Is Observed In a Fitting Manner By Children.

BETHANY, May 27.—The scholars of the Public School celebrated Empire Day on Friday afternoon. An interesting program of music, readings and recitations was given, under the directions of the teacher, Mrs. Ida Carscadden, Miss Leone Dawe acting as chairman for the occasion. The pupils of the Junior room and their teacher, Miss Olive Nelson were invited to attend as guests of the Senior room. All spent an enjoyable afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid of the United church held its May meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. F. C. Dawe on Friday afternoon; eighteen ladies were present, Mrs. Dawe presiding. After the devotional period and reports it was decided after discussion to hold the annual garden party on the church lawn, Friday, July 8. Committees were appointed to arrange for program, etc.

Mrs. George Spencer invited the society to meet at her home in June.

Mrs. Dawe, assisted by Mrs. William Byers, served a dainty tea and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

On Friday evening the members of the Women's Institute and their friends held a public meeting in the town hall, when Mrs. Lowe, R.N., of Toronto, representative of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the ladies. Mrs. E. Reynolds, newly elected president, was in the chair. Miss Laura Morton, accompanied on the piano by Miss Gladys Fierheller, gave two vocal numbers. An instrumental, "The Flash Light" was played by Miss Doris Driver.

The president then introduced Mrs. Lowe, who spoke on "Institute Work" and "The Value of Self Control." Mrs Lowe also gave some very valuable hints on first aid work, which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. Lowe also explained that a course in Home Nursing would be given free of charge if the Institute members desired it. A brief report of the local work was given by the secretary. While in the village Mrs. Lowe was the guest of Mrs. Arthur Flack.

STRAWBERRY SOCIAL TO BE HELD IN JUNE

Omemee United Ladies' Aid Holds Regular Meeting.

OMEMEE, May 27.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Trinity Church was held in the Sunday school room on Thursday afternoon. Many items of business were discussed, following the opening exercises in which the president was assisted by Mrs. Overholt in the reading of the Scripture lesson found in Psalm 5.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $271.43. Several bills were presented for flowers sent to the sick and small furnishings for the parsonage, and a motion was passed instructing the treasurer to pay them.

It was decided to hold a strawberry festival some time in June.

Mrs. A. Rutherford and Mrs. R. H. Williamson were appointed a committee to purchase some new silverware.

The renovating of the walls and ceiling of the Sunday school room was discussed at length, but was left over for another meeting.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. H. Lamb.

BURNBRAE Y.P.S. GOES TO STIRLING

Young People of Presbyterian Churches Have Enjoyable Joint Meeting.

BURNBRAE, May 27.—The young people of St. Andrew's, Burnbrae, visited with the society of St. Andrew's Stirling, on Friday evening, and report a most enjoyable evening. The Burnbrae folks put on the program after which the Stirling young people served lunch and a happy social hour was spent.

In spite of almost continuous rain one realizes that spring is surely here, with the early fruit trees in blossom, and the whole countryside a riot of color. The warm showery weather has been ideal for rapid growth, and spring crops, fall grain and hay and clovers are all coming along in fine style. A bountiful hay crop is almost assured now, while with reasonable weather through June the early grain should be good also. Some few fields that were not sown two weeks ago will not likely be seeded this year as the ground is very wet. Little or no corn has been planted, with the exception of garden varieties, as the land is hardly in shape for the thorough cultivation necessary for successful corn-raising.

With cows out on pasture the milk-flow is increasing rapidly and should be well-sustained, as the prospects are good for pasture crops. The first fatality from alfalfa occurred last week, when Mr. Lorne Hay lost a valuable five year-old cow from bloating. This danger is very great at this season, when cows are greedy for the fresh clover.

NEW MEMORIAL FOR CANADIANS

Those Living in the United States Who Served To Be Honored.

MONUMENT AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—A memorial to the Canadians resident in the United States who served with the Canadian forces during the Great War will be placed in the main hall of the Parliament Buildings, it was announced Wednesday, following a conference between Dr. Tait MacKenzie, Canadian sculptor, and the Government. The memorial is being donated by the Canadian Clubs in the United States.

CANADA TERMINATES AGREEMENT.

No time has been lost by Premier Mackenzie King in announcing that Canada will follow the example of the British Government and terminate the trade agreement with Russia.

The Canadian Premier points out that the statement of Mr. Baldwin and evidence in the hands of the Canadian Government leaves no doubt of the guilt of the Soviet in violating certain sections of the agreement.

Canada was the only overseas Dominion to accede to the treaty when it was passed in 1921, and the promptness with which the example of the British Government has been followed will undoubtedly bring satisfaction to the Motherland and dismay to the Soviet, which had been counting upon the Canadian administration to refuse to break the treaty.

So far as trade relations between Canada and Russia are concerned the termination of the agreement need make no difference.

The ordinary channels of trade are still open, although diplomatic privileges enjoyed by the Russian Trade Commission to Canada will be cancelled.

THE FEMALE VOICE CHOIR.

The local Female Voice Choir is an unique organization in several respects.

In the first place, it is the only purely feminine choir in the city.

Secondly, all the money that it earns through its enjoyable entertainments are devoted to charitable purposes.

Last year, for instance, the Female Voice Choir succeeded in netting the sum of $231, which was divided among local social service organizations.

These facts should be remembered in connection with the announcement that the sixth annual concert of the organization is to be held in the Canadian Legion Hall on the evening of May 31, and the proceeds are to be given to the Canadian Legion to be expended in relief work among returned soldiers and their families.

The Female Voice Choir deserves liberal patronage on this occasion, not only because of the interest and variety of the programme they will offer, but also because of the generous manner in which the organization has furnished financial assistance to deserving local organizations.

CARELESS CAMPERS.

When Save-the-Forest articles were appearing in Canadian newspapers recently there was a tendency on the part of many people to imagine that the papers were unduly excited over the part played by hunters, fishers and campers in originating forest fires.

The Examiner, however, felt that the message should be directed chiefly to those who go into the north woods on pleasure bent, and the research department of a well-known American manufacturing company, which has been investigating the matter, has issued a bulletin that shows that campers rank third on the list of the major causes of forest fires.

Carelessness on their part has caused more fires than any other agencies, save only lightning and railways.

With motor tourists penetrating deep into the Northland and camping out each night, the element of fire risk is greater than ever before, and the bulletin already quoted from sets out four simple rules that should be observed by every camper.

(1) Make sure no hot embers are left after extinguishing camp fires.

(2) Always pour water over the camp site before breaking camp.

(3) Break all matches in three pieces after using.

(4) Stamp down solidly all cigars and cigarettes.

AVOIDING ACCIDENTS.

The Ontario Safety League, ever active in its campaign to arouse the people of the Province to the need of working to prevent accidents, issued an effective bulletin the other day for distribution in the schools of the Province.

It is to be hoped that the children will pay some attention to the advice as to how accidents may be avoided.

The pledges they are asked to take are as follows:

I will look both ways before crossing the street.

I will be careful always—that means safety.

I will not "hook rides." That is dangerous.

I will not play tag where I may be run over.

I do not want to be burned or to cause a destructive fire therefore.

I will not play with matches or explosives, kindle bon-fires or handle fireworks carelessly.

I will think first before I act because caution prevents accidents.

I will, when I can, keep others out of danger, for if I can save my companions from being hurt or killed I shall be of great use in the world.

TASTES DIFFER.

(The Financial Post)

Taxes on luxuries are only right and proper, but when such levies are raised to a point where the progress of a particular industry is retarded and the Government loses revenue, something should be done to right the matter.

Take the case of cigarettes—a luxury in the opinion of some people, a necessity in the opinion of others. In 1918 a stamp duty of $3 was imposed, which was later increased to $6 and then again to $7.50. Reaction to the latter charge was almost immediate, not only in decreased consumption but also in a loss of revenue to the Government. The $6 duty was reinstated and an improvement both in revenue and consumption took place.

Smokers cannot afford or will not pay the high prices asked for manufactured cigarettes. Now they are rolling their own. At present sales of cigarette tobacco in Canada amount to more than 3,000,000 pounds per annum. On three pounds of this tobacco, which is required to make 1,000 cigarettes, the Government gets in total revenue $1.30. On the 1,000 cigarettes the Government would get a revenue of $7.30 exclusive of sales tax.

Furthermore, the fact of the Canadian stamp duty being double the United States rate necessarily means that in the United States cigarettes of the same class and quality are very much cheaper than in Canada. This has resulted in an enormous increase in smuggling of American cigarettes, which is now estimated to be about 600,000,000 cigarettes a year, on which the revenue to the Government, if collected, would amount to $2,500,000.

Manufacturers are petitioning the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation for a reduction of the stamp duty from $6 to $3, or the same rate as in effect in the United States. If this is done, they claim that the smokers who now roll their own will again buy cigarettes and that smuggling will die out once the incentive is taken away. Thus the industry would benefit by greater production and the Government by an increase in revenue.

CANADA'S FUTURE POPULATION.

In a booklet issued by the Ontario Government in connection with Empire Day and the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation it is said that if Canada were as densely people as the British Isles the population would be two billions, but that Canada will never reach this figure since large areas have an arctic or sub-arctic climate. Making due allowance for this, an estimate of one-twentieth of the number, namely a hundred millions, would be very modest. It is to be borne in mind that in times past it was supposed that climate would prevent the population and settlement of the territory now occupied by the three Prairie Provinces. When the union of this region with old Canada was proposed, one Canadian newspaper said that the fertile spots were small and separated by immense distances, and that the Red River region was an oasis in the midst of a desert, "a vast treeless prairie on which scarcely a shrub is to be seen." The climate, it was declared, was unfavorable to the growth of grain. The summer, though warm enough, was too short in duration, so that even the few fertile spots could with difficulty mature a small potato or cabbage. At a still earlier period the same opinion was held as to the whole of Canada. Sir Guy Carleton, one of the early Governors, came to the conclusion that Canada would never be the home of any considerable number of English-speaking people. Why should the English settle in this northern region when they had open to them under their own flag (this was before the Revolution) the warm and pleasant lands which stretched southward to Florida? Even the northern part of the United States south of Lake Ontario was regarded as doubtful, as is shown by a passage in Lord Durham's report: "If I am rightfully informed, the Utica Railroad, in the northern part of the State of New York, is used throughout the winter."

These notions were dispelled by experience. Agriculture was extended westward, then farther and farther north, with the result that the prairie region is now one of the famous granaries of the world. In the booklet issued by the Dominion Government it is said that for ten years after Confederation the Canadian wheat crop rarely, if ever, exceeded 25 million bushels, not enough for domestic requirements, so that imports of wheat and flour exceeded exports by nine million bushels. It was not until 1898 that the wheat yield exceeded 50 million bushels, and the export rose to 24½ million bushels. In 1890 the area under field crops for all Canada was 15,663,811 acres. The estimate for 1926 was nearly 57,000,000, an increase of 263 per cent. in 36 years. In part this is due to the discovery of early ripening wheats. The farther north agricultural development goes, the better the wheat. It is gratifying to Ontario to note that it still holds its own as the leading agricultural Province of Canada against its young and lusty Western rivals.

Sometimes there is discouragement over what seems to be the slow growth of population in Canada. That will right itself in time. There are still prophets who hold that Malthus was right, and that population is outrunning the means of subsistence. The one cause of discouragement may be set against the other. Canada will help to stave off the evil day of starvation, and at the same time Canada will benefit by the increased demand for wheat and other staple foods. It is said that in the United States the point of saturation is approaching, and that at no distant date the country will be unable to feed itself. That will mean that it will buy more food from Canada, and that the surplus population will drift northward. There is practically no other outlet, for Americans will surely prefer Canada to Mexico when they leave the Republic to seek new homes.

Of course, there will always be prophets of gloom. When Canadians migrate to the United States, that is declared to be the beginning of annexation. When Americans come to Canada, they are described by the alarmists as invaders, who will swamp the British population, and vote us into annexation. One would imagine from their grumbling that the proximity of the United States was a drawback and a source of danger to Canada. Any Australian could tell us that we are to be envied, that the neighborhood of a great English-speaking nation is an advantage which Australia would be only too glad to enjoy. The people of the United States are equally to be congratulated on having so good a neighbor.—London Advertiser.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, May 27.—With practically everything cleaned up at the close of Wednesday's trading, there was but a small market yesterday of four or five loads of fresh cattle, and two or three cars of hogs.

The market closed firm and unchanged from Monday's slight advances on the best types of butcher cattle. Wednesday's finishing up sales included a couple of loads of prime beef steers at $9.75. Several other loads sold up to $9.35 to $9.50. Good loads of choice butcher steers and heifers steady from $8.75 to $9.25.

Choice handyweight butcher steers and heifers firmer at $8.75 to $9.25; fair to good butcher, $7.75 to $8.25.

Cows, good to choice, $6.50 to $7.50; medium, $5.50 to $6.50.

Bulls steady, $6.50 to $7.25.

Calves a shade firmer at $10 to $11.50 tops.

Hogs, steady to firm. Sellers asking 25c higher, but market unsettled at noon.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., May 27 (Canadian Press) — The export trade in grain here yesterday was again dull. There was practically no demand from foreign buyers for supplies.

The local trade was quiet. A few sales of odd lots of Tough No. 3 Canadian Western Oats sold at 4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg July option and some No. 3 Barley brought 9 1-2 cents per bushel over the May option, C.I.F., Montreal. Car lot business was slow but the undertone was firm.

The undertone to the spring wheat flour market was firm and prices were sustained in light business. The movement of winter flour was also slow. Prices for this commodity were unchanged.

Prices for millfeed and rolled oats continued steady. Business was quiet and prices were unaltered.

The baled hay market revealed a firm undertone. Prices were unchanged.

The egg trade continued quiet and the undertone was easy, but there was no change in prices. The receipts were 2,675 cases.

Prices for potatoes were well maintained under a small demand. Car lots of Quebec White B grade sold at $2.50 to $2.60 per bag, and Reds at $2.10 to $2.30 per bag of ninety pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The strength which prevailed in the local butter market on Wednesday was again the feature of the trade to-day and prices scored another advance of 1-2c to 3-4c per pound. The volume of business was small. The receipts were 2,110 packages.

The market for cheese was weaker and values scored a fractional decline. This was attributed to the absence of any important demand. The receipts were 6,006 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 27 (Canadian Press)—Wheat prices took a swift upward swing yesterday, but reacted in the face of heavy profit taking. The chief immediate cause of the advance was an authoritative estimate that wheat seeding in Canada this season had been reduced, 6,500,000 acres. Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, 1-8 net lower to 1 1-2c higher, with corn and oats both unchanged to 1-4c off and provisions varying from 20c decline to a 5c advance.

Brisk general buying of wheat quickly developed on announcement from Winnipeg that a leading statistian estimated the wheat territory thus far seeded in Canada as totalling only 16,000,000 acres, compared with 22,500,000 acres last year.

Corn and oats followed the trend of wheat. Unfavorable advices from a wide area relative to corn planting were current, but it was also apparent that weather conditions in the corn belt had improved.

For the most part, provisions held steady in line with the hog market.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Squire, of Norwood, Honored on Anniversary.

NORWOOD, May 27.—Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Squire, "Woden House," King street, Norwood, Ontario, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Friday afternoon, May 20. The bride and groom of fifty years ago held a reception from three to six o'clock, when a large number of friends and admirers called to offer congratulations and best wishes.

The rooms were profusely decorated with daffodils, tulips and roses, the color scheme being carried out in gold and white. Mrs. B. W. Squire received those calling at the door, while Mrs. Coleman Elliott, of Peterborough, ushered them into the living room, where the bride, dressed in purple satin and wearing pale yellow roses, was seated beside the groom, who looked as happy and contented as he had a half century ago. Mrs. T. H. Squire, of Peterborough, a sister-in-law of the happy couple, Mrs. Haynes of London and Mrs. Pace, of Montreal, assisted in receiving the guests. Mrs. W. H. Harper, of Norwood, lead the guests to the tea-room where tea was poured by Mrs. John F. Elliott and Mrs. E. C. Squire, of Norwood.

Telegrams of congratulation were received from Wolverhampton, Eng.; Spokane, Wash.; Shokapee, Minn.; Regina, Sask., London, Toronto, Arnprior and other places.

Mr. Squire, who was born at the New Invention, in the Borough of Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, Eng., in 1850, and Mrs. Squire, whose maiden name was Mary Ann Pace, and who was born in 1857, at Lancy Green, Shareshill, Staffordshire, were married at the old historic church at Bushbury, May 20th, 1877. In 1882 they came to Canada, and after a short time spent in Montreal they came on to Norwood, where they resided for a short time. They have crossed and re-crossed the ocean nine times and some few years ago they retired and again settled in Norwood, where they have many staunch friends, who now extend to them best wishes for their declining years.

A banquet in honor of the occasion was held in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Squire, Queen street, when relatives from Windsor, Montreal, London, Peterborough, Havelock and Norwood, were present. Thirty-two guests sat down at a T-shaped table, spread in the spacious living rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Squire, the guests of honor, were seated beneath an arch decorated with plum blossoms and gold streamers and with a white wedding bell suspended from the centre. The table was prettily decorated with gold candlesticks, and gold candy baskets with cut glass vases of daffodils and roses.

T. H. Squire, of Peterborough, brother of the groom, was master of ceremonies and proposed a toast to the bride and bridegroom. In responding, Mr. Squire spoke of many things that had happened during his life and told of many interesting things about his parents. Speeches were made by E. C. Squire, B. W. Squire, J. F. Squire and E. C. Pace, all nephews of bride and groom, also by a number of grandnephews and nieces.

Many beautiful gifts were received among them being 150 daffodils, 50 roses, a purse of gold and three four-hundred day clocks.

GARDENS DO WELL

BETHANY, May 27.—Gardens are coming along well in the village, peas, beans, onions, etc. are up. Apple trees are in bloom and rhubarb is plentiful.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE BALL

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The first rule in golf is to keep your eye on the ball.

More broadly stated, the maxim may be applied to every affair of life.

Keep your eye on the main issue. Do not be led away by affairs that are not important.

One of the most important distinctions between a successful man and one who has not succeeded is that the successful man makes his every act count. He has a purpose in life and to that purpose all other things must bend.

If you are a wife, the most important thing for you is to retain the affections and loyalty of your husband. Do not let unimportant matters divert you from this end. You know that every time you nag him or pick at him you are gnawing away the foundations of your happiness.

Keep your eye on the ball.

Let the main issue of your existence always be kept in mind.

If you are a business man, do not let the passions of a moment divert you from the main object of your business.

It may be flattering to your vanity and it may appeal to your self-conceit to indulge in vituperation once in awhile, but all such outbreaks have a tendency to weaken your main purpose, which is to succeed in life.

Many a man who might have been successful has ruined himself by some little act that was unimportant.

Keep your eye on the ball.

Always hold in mind the main thing that you have to do, and do not allow exterior matters to interfere.

The man who allows himself to be diverted by passion or prejudice is like a sailor who guides his course by the shifting waves instead of by the ever fixed star.

You have a course to pursue, you have an end in view. Make everything subservient to that and do not allow yourself to be turned away from the main issue.

Keep your eye on the ball.

If you are tempted to do anything that you may regard as unimportant, ask yourself, what effect your act will have upon the main issue that you have in mind.

Let every minor thing subordinate itself to the main issue.

The chief trouble with us is that we are led astray into by-paths and hence we do not reach our destination.

Keep your eye on the ball.

CATARACTS CAN BE PREVENTED.

There are no two pair of eyes exactly alike. Some are too thick, and others too thin, some too round, and others too flat. These different shapes of the eye balls account for the differences of vision with various people and races.

We could all get along very nicely if we did not read or do any work which taxed the eyesight. If is doubtful if primitive man had any serious eye defects, but man has gradually learned to read and do work which required more delicate sight.

There were many years during the dawn of civilization when those with impaired vision were considered so useless that they were either banished or put to death. Finally, the use of artificial lenses was discovered, and but for this discovery, the majority of our old people would now be blind because of the strain to which their eyes are put in this busy scientific age.

Eyes fitted only to use in looking over green fields are now forced to see objects close at hand. The walls of the city buildings hem us in and obstruct our distance vision, making it necessary for the eyes to focus on so many small objects near by. This puts a constant strain upon the eyes which can often only be relieved by the wearing of suitable glasses.

What used to be the art of prescribing lenses for the eyes is now a very accurate science, and the optometrist who specializes in this work is required to study at least two years, and in many states, three years, before graduating and being permitted to take his State Board Examination to practise. Many people do not realise how far the science of optometry has developed, and still purchase their glasses in the five- and ten-cent stores, trying on one pair after another until they find a pair which seems to suit them. Glasses sold in such places are made from good optical glass, but have been discarded by the optical companies because of some defect or mistake in the making. No one can fit their own eyes properly by guess-work.

Cataract is simply a thickening in one portion of the eye, due to continued irritation which may be caused by not wearing glasses when required or from wearing improperly fitted lenses. Enervation and a poor condition of health, of course, hurries the cataract forms in much the same manner as a corn forms on the toe from the constant irritation of tight shoes.

If you can't afford to change your glasses often enough, you must stop reading and doing close work with the eyes.

My best advice for those who wish to avoid cataracts is to live on a good diet, wear properly fitted glasses, and take eye exercises for developing a better tone of the eye muscles.

(In another article I will tell you how to take these eye exercises.)

IT IS ONLY A FEW HOURS' JOURNEY TO GEORGIAN BAY

Why don't you go there for your holidays?

You can have a lot of fun around the Thirty Thousand Islands of Georgian Bay. Whether you stay at one of the hotels or choose to camp on one of the islands you are sure of a continuous good time. You can have splendid swimming, boating and other water sports or you can spend your whole time fishing—it is a famous fishing district for black bass, lake trout and maskinonge.

In the evenings there is good music and dancing at the hotel resorts.

There is a fine booklet just off the press, describing this vacation territory in detail, giving hotels, rates, etc. Ask any Canadian National Railways Agent for one.

A better piston seal in— HAVOLINE ~the power oil

Does not only increase power in any specially built racing car or aeroplane but increases power in YOUR car

Your motor will run smoother and deliver more power by using the right grade of Havoline. Havoline seals the piston regardless of heat. This perfect oil seal prevents lost compression—lost gas and oil dilutions and delivers the extra resulting power to the rear wheels.

No other oil has actually stood the test as Havoline has done for extra power—longer life, greater economy and better lubrication.

60,000 tests right out in the open on the Wasson Motor Check on all makes of cars proved Havoline the superior power oil, recording from 10% to 30% added power in each test.

A trial crankcase will convince you. Make your own test to-day. Actually feel for yourself in your own car the increase power that Havoline gives. There is no substitute or equal for Havoline Oil. Try it to-day.

THREE IN BOAT WHICH UPSETS

Lakefield People Have Narrow Escape When Sail Boat Tips Over.

IN WATER OVER HOUR.

LAKEFIELD, May 27. — Three young people of Lakefield had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon when their sailboat was upset just above the narrows, near Lonely Island. Miss Evelyn Northey, L. H. Dunston, and Harry Stabler, all employees of the Royal Bank, were in the water for an hour and a half before they managed to get their boat to shore at the narrows.

The three started out for a sail after the bank had closed. Their accident was caused by a sudden gust of wind. All three can swim, but the cold water and high wind made their attempt to reach shore difficult. Miss Northey is still feeling the effects of her cold swim but the two men are able to resume their duties.

LOCAL STUDENT SCORES SUCCESS

Pupil of Peterborough Business College Attains Noteworthy Speed.

The outstanding performance of Louise Letellier, a pupil of the Peterborough Business College, in a typewriting examination held recently, is a decided tribute to the efficiency of the principal and his methods of instruction.

Miss Letellier, although practically a beginner yet, as she only entered the college 3 months ago, last week during a school test maintained a speed of 55 words a minute for 15 minutes, with only 3 slight errors, almost perfection.

Mr. McKone told The Examiner that this constituted an excellent record for a beginner and declared that he believed a brilliant future lay ahead of this pupil in the typwriting world.

CHURCH MEETINGS

Regent Street United.

LAKEFIELD, May 27.—The annual congregational business meeting of Regent Street United Church was held on Tuesday evening, May 17th at 8 o'clock. Reports of the church's work, financial and spiritual, were given and the financial reports of the various organizations.

The year has been a successful one for all, and the reports were extremely gratifying.

The report of the Mission Band was given by Miss Marion Wagar, who reported $30.60 raised during the year.

The Trail Rangers and Tuxis Boys had no financial statement, but the year's work was excellent and both organizations were in a healthy condition.

Miss Marion Wagar presented the report of the C.G.I.T., who have raised $114.70 during the year.

Miss Frances Fairbairn reported that the choir has a balance on hand of $15.10.

Mrs. Elwood Northey reported that the W.M.S. had raised $270.67 during the year.

The Ladies' Aid raised $717.11 during the year reported the treasurer Mrs. S. Spence.

H. Wagar, Superintendent of the Sunday School, reported that $180.00 had been raised during the year, and the balance on hand was $24.70.

The report of the Finance Committee was given by Percy Spence. E. H. Northey gave the Envelope receipts as $3206.63. The balance on hand is $23.84.

Mr. Northey refused to accept the salary allotted to him as treasurer and asked that it be used in the general church fund. Mr. Northey received a vote of thanks and a hearty clap of hands for his generous spirit.

The matter of an electric blower for the organ was discussed, and the quotations of Dawson Bros and E. Lyle and Sons, were voted. It was decided to purchase a motor and a collection taken up to pay for it yielded a good proportion of the cost. A committee consisting of Messrs. H. Wagar, E. H. Northey and A. E. Higgins, was appointed to collect the balance due. The following were appointed district visitors: Messrs. A. Darling, S. Edwards, S. Harrison, N. Payne, E. J. Milburne, E. H. Northey, George Harrison, E. J. Millage, S. Millage, Gordon Robinson, W. J. Northey, Jr., W. Lane, J. Reid.

The Society representatives were W. J. Northey Sr., W. J. Madill, W. H. Down, F. Richardson, Roy Bullock, W. A. Payne, W. W. Leonard.

George Harrison was appointed to attend the conference in Oshawa.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, May 27.—The bridge spanning the river on the west of the village has been recently re-floored.

Mr. M. C. Burgess, of Belleville, visited Deloro on Wednesday.

William McInroy, of Bonar Law has been recommended to the Grand Lodge of I.O.O.F. as District Deputy Grand Master for District No. 45.

Under the auspices of the local Council, C.O.C.F., a special picture "The Overland Stage," is being shown at the Town Hall on Empire Day.

Miss Lita Campion spent last week end with Miss Linda Pry, at Norwood.

Mrs. Brooks and children, of Belleville, are visiting the former's sister Mrs. Archie Jones.

Miss Eileen Cuddy, of Kingston, is on a visit to her brother, Mr. Phillip Cuddy.

Researches into the history of women's hairdressing through all the ages are said to show that at every period when short hair was worn short dresses were also in vogue, and when long hair returned to favor longer dresses came with it.

STAGE FAVORITE HAS ROUGH TIME

Sari Fedak, CENTRE, former Budapest stage favorite, now in this country, has suffered a series of reverses lately that have made oft-acted tragedy very real for her. Beautiful Miss Darvas, Hungarian dancer, LEFT, inflicted the first of the series when she supplanted Miss Fedak as star in the dramas of Ferenc Molna. Later, Miss Fedak, then divorced from Molnar, her playright husband, discovered Tibor Mindszenthy, who, she thought resembled the late Rudolph Valentino so much that she brought him to Hollywood but his success there was far short of her expectation. She blames Vilma Banky, a compatriot and film beauty.

LOCAL CRICKETERS BEATEN ON HOLIDAY

Lose To Bell Telephone Team of Toronto in Good Game.

The local club entertained the Bell Telephone Club of Toronto on Tuesday (Victoria Day.) This club was the runner up of the Dominion championship last season, so that the local club never dared to expect to win this match and considered themselves fortunate in having their first eleven come down to play.

The weather was very cold and cheerless and the wicket decidedly favoring the bowlers.

The visitors won the toss and elected to bat. As they had brought thirteen players with them it was decided to bat thirteen and field eleven. By magnificent fielding and very good bowling the locals were fortunate in getting the twelve visitor wickets for a modest 73. Of this total were two individual innings of 24 by MacNab and 20 by Holland—no others reaching double figures. F. Dyer was the most successful bowler for the locals, taking five wickets for 19, with Thorpe and Elliott each taking three wickets for 22 and 5 runs respectively.

To this total the locals replied with 18, Dunkerley and Hammond contributing a total of 12. It was a sad tale of woe the way the Peterboro wickets fell. The bowling of the visitors was deadly, which the analysis shows, as F. Buckley bowled 11 overs, two of which were maidens, taking six wickets for only one run. Byrne took the remaining six wickets for 17 runs. That there were no extras testified to wonderful wicket keeping of T. Hoyle, the visiting captain.

At the close of the Peterboro innings the visitors sent the locals in again, and they showed up better this time by scoring 41.

It was a day of good cricket, and had the day been at all warm and bright, the numbers of enthusiasts at the Oval, who braved the weather as it was, undoubtedly would have been considerably increased.

The visitors were entertained at Coleman's Paragon rooms, where lunch was served, and had tea on the grounds.

The individual scores were as follows:

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

MILTON SILLS IN "THE SILENT LOVER"

"The Silent Lover" is the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end, with Milton Sills in the title role. It is one of those peculiar productions that has various elements of dramatic interest in it, but seems to be rather inept as a whole. The emphasis laid on Milton Sills and his prominence in the forefront at all moments possibly gives it a tiresome atmosphere, and his performance is not as excellent as usual. He is just a little bit too old for the role and there is a suggestion of faulty direction in the manner in which his lined face is shown in strong relief. A softer delineation would be more in order for this veteran actor.

As Count Tornai, he appears first as a roue of the first water, dissipating his energy and funds in search for pleasure. There are colorful scenes in the embassy in Paris, with brilliant costumes and episodes. Finally, Tornai embezzles trust funds and finds himself confronted by the alternative of death or dishonor. He seeks a middle course by enlisting in the Foreign Legion and taking command of a Northern Africa post, harassed by Ben Achmed, a desert sheik of the first water. Achmed's favorite wife, Scadza, is purchased on the slave market by Tornai, and then given her freedom. However, she prefers to remain with him, and does good service later by serving as a hostage to appease the wrath of the warlike Achmed, prepared to demolish the Legion's fort. Vera, the heroine, is a ladylike vamp, who takes a violent notion to Tornai and captures him in a manner distinctly dramatic in its procedure.—Jeanette.

AT THE REGENT.

EVERYBODY DELIGHTED WITH SERIO-COMIC FILM, "PRIVATE IZZY MURPHY."

George Jessel, famous for his portrayal of "The Jazz Singer,' one of the spectacular Broadway hits of the past year, is now starred by the Warners in a semi-comic heart drama of the days of the World War, "Private Izzy Murphy."

Izzy Goldberg, having to leave his quarters in the Ghetto, adds drawing appeal to the customers of the Irish neighborhood into which he moves, by renaming himself "Murphy." His delicatessen business thrives to the point of making it possible for him to bring papa and mamma from Russia. They come. Are delighted with their son's success. All goes well. And then—the World War!

"Izzy" joins up with an Irish regiment, still keeping the Hibernian name with which he has also courted pretty Eileen Cohannigan, and goes overseas. Word comes that he has been killed in action. But after the armistice, when the boys are parading up Fifth Avenue among the cheering crowds, when confetti drifts like snow, and bugles blare —the Goldbergs go wild with joy to see their boy among the rest. Cocky, helmeted, gun on shoulder, "big as life and twice as natural!"

The complications which follow (with Eileen's father, Moe Ginsberg, the marriage broker, doughboys, neighbors) are so mirth-provoking, so human, that everyone in the audience forgets that such things as rancor and prejudice can exist in the world! It is one of those rare plays which have universal appeal. It is as American as baseball. As all inclusive as the circus!

"Private Izzy Murphy" was directed by Lloyd Bacon, son of Frank Bacon, author and star of "Lightnin'," and a genius in his own right. Vera Gordon, famous as the mother in "Humoresque," plays the part of Izzy's mother.

Patsy Ruth Miller is "Eileen Cohannigan," the pretty Irish sweetheart, and the supporting company make the play a riot of mirth, a rough-and-tumble of all things American. It is human and tender and fine, the sort of play which makes us want to live and let live! You'll be cheer-leader for "Private Izzy Murphy."

FOWLER HEADS PREVENTIVE MEN

Will Have Charge of Border From Manitoba To Kingston.

OTTAWA, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—George B. Fowler, Ottawa, has been appointed division chief of the reorganized customs excise preventive service for the Province of Ontario, it was announced by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue.

Mr. Fowler, whose headquarters will be in Toronto, will have charge of the investigation staff, the border patrols, and the investigating officers along the Ontario frontier.

Approximately fifty-five men will be under his jurisdiction and all officials from the Ontario-Manitoba boundary as far east as Kingston will report directly to him. All officers of the Preventive Service east of Kingston, will report direct to the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa.

One fast patrol boat will shortly be placed at Fort Frances, Ont., under the direction of Mr. Fowler, it was announced, while ten or twelve fast motor cars will be spread along the Ontario frontier, particularly in the vicinity of all bridge heads and ferry landings.

Mr. Fowler, who has been in the government service for a number of years, has recently been acting divisional chief for the Province of Quebec and located at Montreal.

Expectations are that a new divisional chief of the Preventive Service for the Province of Quebec will be named within the next day or two, as a further step in the Dominion wide reorganization of the Canadian Preventive Service.

LOCAL DELEGATES ATTEND CONGRESS

Peterborough To Be Represented at Meeting of Social Hygiene Council.

Peterborough, it is understood, will be among the municipalities represented on Wednesday, June 1st, when representatives of the local branches of the Ontario Social Hygiene Council from all parts of the Province will meet in Toronto in their annual convention.

This health and hygiene congress marks the inauguration of an intensive educational campaign throughout Ontario which will be carried on by means of moving pictures, series of study courses, the distribution of specially prepared literature and addresses by a group of outstanding speakers.

The Ontario Council in turn is a branch of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council which superintends similar activities from coast to coast. The exact function of the Council in all its branches is to act as a voluntary auxiliary to the Federal and Provincial Health Departments as well as local health officers and boards.

Social problems and the campaign against preventable diseases are two phases of the work receiving the greatest attention.

Among those interested in the Council's endeavours, locally, are Dr. G. R. Scott, Chairman of the Local Committee, Dr. N. H. Sutton, D.O.H., Mrs. Morris, F. M. DeiaFosse, Mrs. Mowat, and others.

Confederation and After— Sixty Year Of Progress

THE CHALLENGE OF THE NORTH.

Since Confederation the wilderness frontier of Canada has entirely shifted. Then the prairies, which now sends a substantial representation to the House of Commons, were known only to Indians, fur traders, missionaries and a few explorers. The first task of the newly formed Canadian government was to arrange for a transcontinental railway to link up the infant settlement in British Columbia; and as astute men as Edward Blake argued earnestly against the folly of wasting money laying a railroad across such permanently uninhabitable areas as the southern parts of the present provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. As late as 1874 Sir William Butler wrote a forbidding description of the site of the present city of Prince Albert to prove that Europeans could never live there the year round.

The wealth and habitability of the southern prairies are now common knowledge. To-day the push is north. Northern Quebec and Northern Ontario have attracted miners and farmers. Settlers are raising vegetables, grains, cattle and even fruits far north of Hazelton on the Skeena. Away to the north of Edmonton the fertile Peace River Valley is rewarding its pioneers. The push to the north is continent wide, and is on in earnest. We dare not predict what, by the end of the century, will be the population of those great central regions, which have all been proven valuable.

The Arctic and sub-Arctic plains alone remain a challenge to the pioneer, central regions, which have all been proven valuable.

The Arctic and sub-Arctic plains alone remain a challenge to the pioneer. Already, thanks largely to Stefansson, this vast expanse is losing its mythological terrors. Here are one and one-half to two million square miles of grazing lands, with their native mosses, lichens, ferns and 762 species of flowering plants. Yukon is yielding her gold; but in Alaska the annual catch of fish now far exceeds the products of the mines in value; and Canada's Arctic waters teem with fish.

The reindeer industry in Alaska has proved so profitable that Lomen & Co. alone ship annually 10,000 carcasses that bring a higher price than beef in the cities of the United States. Inspired by Stefansson, the Hudson's Bay Company has leased for raising reindeer the southern half of Baffin Island—an area the size of the British Isles. If the project of domesticating the musk-ox is carried out, a new source of food will be available that will put to profitable use great tracts of our Far North. Oil has been found between Fort Norman and the Arctic Circle.

What else the Far North will give, only time will tell. But the Canadian Polar regions are not as cold as Siberia, which is being voluntarily colonized. And as the climate of the Atlantic Coast once presented terrible difficulties to the French colonists, and yesterday that of the southern prairies seemed an insuperable obstacle to our fathers, so the belief, in which we were brought up, that the Far North was an impossible region of perpetual snow is fading in the light of scientific knowledge that the whole of Canada is habitable and productive. One of the greatest problems of the younger generation is to discover ways and means of making the north an integral part of Canada, instead of the hinterland it has been.

REGULTIONS ARE

facturers whose premises have not a capacity for 1000 gallons of wine annually.

An unexpected provision is one to enable people to secure an individual permit by mail without having to come to the office of the board. The applicant must write to the board for a form. This is made out, signature witnessed and then certified to by a postmaster, justice of the peace, or magistrate. There is space at the bottom of the form for two signatures of the applicant for identification purposes.

No Branch Agencies

Wineries may not have branch agencies. Sales of wine must be from the premises on which it is manufactured. The same provision against advertising applies to native wines as well as to other liquors, with the exception that the manufacturer may circularize by price lists through the mail.

One wine maker may not sell grape or cherry juices to another, and his finished products plants must be open to inspection. No window display is permissible except as approved by the board, and manufacturers may print price lists in approved forms, but must not advertise by mail, poster, hand bill, circular letters, in the press, or otherwise.

All wine sold must bear the name and address of the purchaser on label, said label also to show date of delivery and how delivered, if by mail, common carrier, express or to purchaser personally at the winery. Manufacturers are enjoined to guard against fictitious names and addresses.

Annual Statements

Statistical annual statements in forms approved must be filed with the board by each manufacturer, and sales for each month must also be reported before the tenth of the succeeding month. The liquor seal of the board will not be placed on native wine parcels. All previous native wine regulations and restrictions are repealed.

On Tuesday he will address the English Speaking Union at Louisville Ky. He will leave Washington on Sunday.

You could not mix a Feed like this

Even if you had all the ingredients, you could not mix a feed that would be so economical, for it could not be so well balanced.

Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash is the profitable feed for growing chicks because of the way it makes them grow. You will have bigger-boned, fleshier and healthier birds if you feed it.

The Cod Liver Meal in it sharpens the bird's digestion of the oatmeal and other grains, the proteins and the minerals. Thus the nutriment is assimilated QUICKLY and COMPLETELY.

To get biggest broilers and earliest layers, feed Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash.

For little chicks up to six weeks old, feed Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter. It contains Cod Liver Oil, too, which wards off chick diseases so often fatal.

SPLENDID BOAT BUILT IN CITY

Speed Boat Put Out By Peterborough Canoe Co. Runs Easily.

FAST AND STABLE.

A new boat that has been develped and built by the Peterborough Canoe Company here bids fair to making the city known as the home of the plant that made speed boating possible for almost everybody to indulge in this sport of sports.

Hitherto this sport has always been considered in the millionaire class, and its thrills and pleasures have consequently been enjoyed by but few people. However, this new craft has revolutionized this sport that it is possible at a price lower than that of the cheapest car, and at the same time of such construction that it is possible for even an amateur to handle it with perfect safety.

None of the safety features, or the seaworthiness, that have made Peterborough craft a household word where boats are used have been sacrificed in designing this unique craft. While of light construction the craft is designed so that it possesses a degree of strength and sturdiness that places it in the category of the family boat making it ideal for the many uses of the ordinary boat. Fitted with a Johnson Outboard motor, there is no vibration noticeable at the various speeds, the boat travelling through the water as if propelled by a magic hand.

A noted expert from the United States who visited the Peterborough plant recently when the preliminary trials were being made, inspected the craft and was even more enthusiastic about its possibilities than the executives of the company. He declared that he would not have believed it possible for such a craft to be constructed, and that the construction was much stronger than anything he had seen in boats that are designed to travel at this speed. Usually in boats built for speed work, everything is sacrificed for speed, and as a result only an expert can handle them with any degree of comfort.

Appropriately named the "Playboy", the boat is designed with a flat botton, somewhat similar to a punt, so that tipping is practically an impossibility.

An Examiner representative ventured forth in the craft this morning full of misgiving at first, a condition that rapidly changed as the steadiness of the boat became apparent. Covering Little Lake at a speed of thirty miles an hour is a novel sensation and a real delightful experience when it is accompanied by a feeling that the boat is absolutely reliable. Around the piers at a lightning speed, cutting through the swells made by the boat, and every conceivable stunt that a boat of this kind can be put through was indulged in with no more concern that a person has handling his car on the highway. The remarkable ease with which the speed could be cut down was a most noteworthy feature. The boat travelled just as easily at a snail's pace as it did at its limit, and even when travelling at its fastest clip, once the engine was slowed down, the boat came practically to a standstill almost instantaneously.

The boat is truly a tribute to its designers and will surely extend the name of Peterborough even further than has already been accomplished by the Peterborough Canoe Company.

PLAY AND DANCE WELL ATTENDED

Evening Activities at Millbrook on Holiday Not Affected By Weather.

MILLBROOK, May 27.—That the young people of the district, especially, were keenly disappointed by the calling off of the races, ball games, etc., in which they had hoped to participate, was evident by the number to be seen on the streets, particularly in the afternoon, quite a 'squad' of 'teen age boys coming from Peterborough on bicycles. The younger element worked off their enthusiasm by setting off giant fire-crackers in large numbers, and Councillor J. R. Eakins, with other members of the municipal body, was kept busy trying to have these noisy 'amusement makers' exploded somewhere other than in the vicinity of the local hospital.

The Town Hall was filled to capacity for the play, "The Path Across The Hill," put on by the Young People's League of the United Church, Bailieboro, Harold Tate, President of the Agricultural Society, being chairman.

The entire action of the three-act play, which lasted two hours, took place in an eastern village, and there was but one interior scene required, the living-room at Ruth Conrad's home. Every character took his and her part well, the colored maid, Zuzu (May Earle), creating plenty of fun by her clever acting and pointed speeches. The cast included:

Samuel Crawford (Fred Barnard)—Grandpa.

Robert Post (Will Lang)—The Visitor

Walter Conrad (Geddes Harper)—Ruth's Brother.

Dr. Jimmie Reid (Karl Lang)—With Ambition.

Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones (colored) Charlie Barnard—Zuzu's Choice.

Mrs. Davis (Lottie Earl)—Grandma.

Ruth Conrad (Edna Wallace)—Nicknamed 'Bobbie.'

Flo Gray (Dorothy Falls)—Ruth's Cousin.

Lutie (Kathleen Bateman)—A Neighbor; and in love with Walter.

Zuzu (May Earle)—the Cook.

Stuart Widdess' orchestra, of Peterborough, furnished music between the acts, and while the audience was gathering. Financially, receipts were satisfactory, the Agricultural Society receiving 60 per cent and the visitors, who put on the entertainment, 40 per cent.

Widdess' orchestra also played for the dance in the Armouries, which was well attended, and which immediately followed the concert in the Hall, a most enjoyable time being spent.

FISH HATCHERY CLOSED.

About 80,000 Young Lunge Put Into Pigeon River.

OMEMEE, May 27.—The fish hatchery, which has attracted many citizens for the past few weeks, broke up last week. During the time of hatching, many people visited the scene which was only a short distance down the river and watched with interest the method used by government officials. It is estimated that between seventy and eighty thousand maskinonge were hatched and let loose in the Pigeon River, but it requires about three years for them to develop before they are large enough to catch, and many of them are food for the larger fish.

SPLENDID PLAY IS PRESENTED

Young People From Ennismore Put On 'The Luck of Derryveraugh."

AT LAKEFIELD.

LAKEFIELD, May 27.—"The Luck of Derryveraugh" was the title of a four-act play given in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, May 24th, under the auspices of the young people of St. Paul's church by the Dramatic Society of St. Martin's church, Ennismore. The attendance was large in spite of bad weather and several counter holiday attractions. The play was remarkably well acted and was one of the most finished amateur performances ever given in Lakefield. Those taking part not only knew their lines perfectly and acted well but they appeared to actually live the parts. There was not a weak character in the entire production.

The scene of the play was laid in Derryveraun Castle in Ireland where lived The Master, Lord Derryveraugh, and his youngest sister Maurya and a young girl, Deidre Doyle, sister of The Master's daughter-in-law, Eileen, who with Terence, his son, were dead. The scene opens with the household expecting the arrival of The Master's granddaughter from America, Kathleen, daughter of his favorite son, Dominick, who, by his marriage to a beautiful peasant girl, Mollie O'Leary, incurred the wrath of his father and was promptly disinherited. Kathleen, now an orphan, returns to her father's home, a beautiful and winsome young girl who passionately loves Derryveraugh and Ireland. Kathleen arrives just as a fearful thunderstorm bursts and later the same storm brings a handsome young stranger seeking refuge; he is taken in and his sprained ankle cared for, and he becomes a great favorite with the household with the exception of Deidre, who hates him because he has fallen in love with Kathleen, of whom she is furiously jealous. Deidre contrives to make trouble by disclosing his secret.

Kathleen wins all hearts by her sunny disposition and her sweet winsomeness, even the stern old Master finds himself melting under her affectionate caresses. The luck of Derryveraugh was an exquisite emerald brought generations ago from India by an ancestor of the Master, and tradition said that if the stone left the house the luck went with it, only to return with the return of the stone. The emerald disappears during the play and the story of its theft and return form the climax of this splendid melodrama. A thrilling love interest is given by the fact that the handsome stranger who loves and is loved by Kathleen proves to be Larry O'Leary, adopted son of the late Tim O'Leary, The Master's bitterest foe. It is the story of Montague and Capulet over again. The love story of Maurya and Fergus, faithful lovers despite the passage of years and the opposition of The Master is brought to a happy ending by the efforts of Kathleen. Other characters were Bridget, Dominick's old nurse who adores his pretty daughter; Norah, a pretty parlor maid who captures the heart of Mike Kelly, who is the right hand man of Larry OLeary; Sheila, the poor demented girl with a strange gift of divination; and Fergus who has been faithful to his boyhood's sweetheart for many years.

The cast of characters is:

Brian, Lord Derryveraugh, The Master—Mr. P. J. Scollard.

Maurya, his sister—Miss Margaret Mulviehill.

Kathleen, his granddaughter from America—Miss Agnes Cavanagh.

Deidre, an adventuress—Miss Mary Harrington.

Larry OLeary, an Irish American—Mr. Joe McGuire.

Fergus, a neighbor and friend of Derryveraugh—Mr. John Harrington.

Bridget, a garrulous old servant—Miss Bernice Scollard.

Norah, the parlor maid—Miss Margaret Holland.

Sheila—Miss Madeline Flaherty.

Mike Kelly, Larry's servant—M. J. Cavanagh.

The parts were all well taken, the characters all spoke clearly and distinctly and could easily be heard all over the hall. The part of The Master was exceedingly heavy but was depicted splendidly by Mr. Scollard. The part of Kathleen was also exceptionally good, the winsome girl who brought sunshine to the gloomy old house and the part of Maurya was wonderfully fine ,depicting the part of the woman who allowed herself to become merely a cog in the wheel with no individual opinions or diversions. Thanks to Kathleen's influence the worm turned and in the last act when Maurya, for the first time, asserted herself ,the acting of all three was exceptionally good. While one specially mentions these three as being the real stars, it might easily be termed an all star cast as each individual member left nothing to be desired. St. Martin's young people are to be congratulated on their dramatic society. Rev. V. J. Macauley accompanied the young people. An orchestra furnished music between the acts and Messrs. McManes and T. Sullivan gave a step dance which was so popular that they were compelled to respond to an encore. Following the play a social evening was spent, the ladies of St. Paul's serving refreshments.

NEAL SENTENCED.

Goes To Penitentiary For Three Years For Breaking Jail.

TORONTO, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Norman Neal, jail breaker who was recaptured at Oakville, near here, recently, was sentenced yesterday to three years' imprisonment for breaking from the Toronto jail.

WEDDING BELLS

PARSONS—ROSS.

OMEMEE, May 27.—The following Toronto wedding is of interest locally. The bridegroom being a grandson of Mr. T. J. Parsons, Omemee, and having spent as a child his summer vacations here, he is now very well known.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. James' Square United church on Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Frederick S. Dowling, when Flora MacDonald Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Ross, White Church, Ontario, became the bride of Cecil Orlando Parsons, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parsons, Humberview Road, Toronto.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father to the majestic strains of the wedding march, looked charming in her bridal gown of white georgette, beautifully beaded with opalescent pearls, crystals and ivory sequins with silk fringe draping the skirt. Her long silk tulle veil, handsomely embroidered, was arranged in coronet effect with orange blossoms in side clusters. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet of sweetheart roses, lily-of-the-valley and baby's breath, with streamers of embroidered satin bound tulle. White satin slippers and matching hose completed her costume.

Miss Mary Adeline Ross attended her sister as bridesmaid, looking very chic in her period frock of orchid taffeta and georgette with picture hat to match. Her bouquet was an armful of ophelia roses.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Harold Harding as best man while Messrs. Lionel Keeler and Percival Burt acted as ushers.

During the signing of the register the leader of Bond street United church choir, a former Westminster Abbey soloist, sang the same solo used by him on the occasion of Princess Partricia's wedding, "Be Ye Faithful Unto Death."

After the ceremony a reception was held at 28 Humberview Road, where the happy couple received, with Mrs. Ross, mother of the bride, gowned in black crepe romain with gold trimmings and hat to match and a corsage of mauve sweet peas, and Mrs. Parsons, the groom's mother in a French gown of biege georgette with picture hat of apple green and corsage of multi colored sweet peas.

During the afternoon an orchestra rendered appropriate music.

Immediately after the buffet luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Parsons left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for a motor trip to New York and the Eastern States, the bride travelling in an ensemble suit of maroon French velour with handkerchief felt hat to match, beige fox fur, blonde shoes, gloves and bag completed her smart costume.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will take up residence at Centre Island for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Childerhose, 199 Dublin street, were hosts last night to the members of the Vimy Ridge Lodge L.O.B.A. The evening was spent in the enjoyment of progressive euchre and dancing, followed by the service of dainty refreshments. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. S. Anderson and Mr. Ranges. Convenors of refreshments were Mrs. Childerhose, Mrs. C. Wright and Mrs. G. Foster.

Miss Mildred Morphet, Hunter St., was hostess last evening at a bridge party and handkerchief shower given in honor of Miss Edna Borbridge, whose marriage takes place next week.

After Evensong service at St. George's Anglican church last night, the members of the congregation adjourned to the basement to spend a social hour in the enjoyment of games, music and refreshments. Vocal numbers on the programme included selections by Rev. J. L. Hughes, Mrs. E. W. Cooper, Miss Mabel Scott and Mr. Charles Cole. The main feature of the evening was the presentation to Miss Dorothy Butler, a member of the choir, and one of the Sunday school teachers of the church, whose marriage takes place shortly, of gifts from the congregation, choir and Sunday school. Rev. Mr. Hughes spoke of the fine record in church service made by Miss Butler, whose place, he said, will be hard to fill. On behalf of the members of the congregation, Mrs. J. Brownlee then presented Miss Butler with a rocking chair, upholstered in real leather, accompanied by an address from Mr. A. Cuffe, and a handsome silver flower basket from the choir and Sunday school teachers of the church was presented by Mrs. T. Monks, with an address by Mrs. W. Andrews. Miss Butler acknowledged the gifts in appropriate terms.

This is an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrologers who find the influences not at all to be feared.

There is a fairly good sign for buying and selling to-day, which should be favorable to planning and preparation.

Under this rule those who lead thought are fortunate and instructors in colleges as well as the clergy everywhere should benefit.

There is a sign making for specializing in science and the arts, which are to develop famous American experts in the next decade.

International events are to cause gradual changes in the public mind, here in this country, where large opportunities and experiences are foretold.

A London astrologer again prophesies that President Coolidge is to astonish this country by an unexpected change of policy.

All the seers forecast a summer of tremendous events and great prosperity in the United States.

This is a day good for any sort of mental exercise and should bring to writers something like true inspiration.

There is a fair chance for those who seek employment but if good pay is desirable delay until there is a more propitious rule is advisable.

Repeated warning has been given by astrologers that the coming summer will be a time of earthquake shocks, cyclones and unusual weather conditions.

Hotel proprietors in certain parts of the country will benefit for there will be much travel to the mountains.

Music is to be employed in novel ways and artists are to profit before the end of 1927.

Persons whose birthdate it is after the augury of success and attendant rewards for previous hard work.

Children born on this day probably will enjoy steady prosperity. They are born under uncommonly good planetary conditions.

Alice Stebbins Wells, for 17 years a member of the Los Angeles police force, was the first woman college graduate in the United States to become a policewoman.

SAINT and SINNER
By ANNE AUSTIN

"Chris tried to abduct me on the night of September 14—Tuesday night," Cherry answered clearly. "It was late—one o'clock at night.

"I had been out driving with Mr. Hathaway that night—it was the night I met him; he was our supper guest, brought to our home by my father. When I came in Faith told me that someone had called. I knew it was Chris and I called him up. He came to the house. I talked with him on the front porch and suddenly he picked me up in his arms and ran down the path with me toward his car. I screamed, and my father and sister came running to my assistance. Chris got away, and I begged Faith not to tell my father who it was. I lied to him, said I didn't recognize the man.

"On Friday, October 1, Mr. Cluny came to my home for the first time, and asked my father and mother to consent to our marriage. My father refused his consent, but I had talked to mother—" she raised her handkerchief to her lips to hide their trembling—"and she had consented, because I made her believe that it was for my happiness. She—she liked Mr. Cluny. It was with her consent that I began to get ready my trousseau, charging purchases at three shops where Mr. Cluny had opened charge accounts for me."

"Just a minute, Cherry," Churchill interrupted, "Was it at Mr. Cluny's suggestion or your own that these charge accounts were opened?"

"At Mr. Cluny's, of course!" Cherry raised her voice indignantly. "He knew that we were poor people, that my father had a large family to support, as well as a sick wife. And Mr. Cluny himself had insisted that I quit work after we were engaged. He went shopping with me, made me buy far more expensive clothes than I normally would have chosen."

"Did your fondness for Mr. Cluny increase during your engagement?" Churchill asked.

"I did, with every day that I knew him. But—but I did not fall in love with him, the kind of love I mean that makes a girl want to marry a man. Several times—every time I was with him, in fact, before our engagement was announced in the papers, I tried to break the engagement, but he would not listen to me. He was very happy, he said, and he looked younger every day."

"Go on with your story in chronological order, Cherry," Churchill directed her.

"Well, on Saturday, October 2, when I realized that the engagement would be announced in Sunday's papers, I felt desperate, trapped. I wanted to get out of it any way I could. I asked Mr. Hathaway to take me to a dance at the Marlboro Country Club and he did. I was introduced to Mrs. Seymour Allbright, and her husband and daughter, Muriel. Mr. Cluny's daughter," Cherry explained. "It was a sudden wild impulse that made me try to trap Bob Hathaway in a compromising situation. I did throw my arms around his neck and kiss him and say, 'My answer is "yes" Bob, darling,' because I knew Mrs. Allbright was in the library, was overhearing me. I didn't intend to make Bob go through with it; I just wanted Mrs. Allbright to tell her father what she had seen, so that he would break our engagement. Later I was sorry and ashamed, and I—I lied when Ralph—Mr. Cluny—asked me about it. I still wanted to be free of the engagement, but I couldn't bear to hurt him so terribly. And Bob had already told Mrs. Allbright that I was just showing him how I had accepted his uncle."

"Did you try again to break the engagement with Mr. Cluny before November 25?" Churchill asked.

"No, the engagement was announced in the papers the next day, and on Monday I received an anonymous letter which made me so angry that I decided to marry Mr. Cluny in spite of everything—my own inclinations or my family's disapproval or anything else," Cherry stated quietly, as if she did not realize what a sensation she was creating.

FROCKING MISS TWO TO SIX

(Models courtesy of Best and Company)

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

Fashion designers specializing in little girls' clothes might well have believed in the old adage, "Children should be seen and not heard."

For they have made little girls' clothes so attractive and becoming this spring that little sister, all dressed up, will be a treat to see even if she does not say a word.

Little Miss Two-to-Six has a realm of fashion all her own. While she borrows ideas from older sister's school clothes and mother's costumes, she still preserves certain style features that belong only to her small self.

Four Requisites.

Extreme simplicity, a certain crisp freshness, fulness to give her small legs room for running and materials that in their color and small figured patterns suggest childhood are the four requisites of the wardrobe.

The fussy dress is distinctly not the smart attire for the little girl.

Plain colors or finely figure materials should fashion her clothes. This year's cambrics, English prints, chintzes and crepes in tiny flowered figures offer hundreds of suitable small patterns.

Colors should have a clear quality and be sun-fast. Pinks are always good for the little girl. Sun yellow, the new lavender-blues, and greens ranging from sea-foam to hunter's are all suitable. The child's complexion should determine choice of colors.

For Morning.

For mornings this year there are play dresses of figured prints, plain colored linens, ginghams and silks that tub. They come either in yoke-effect, with set-in short or long sleeves, or may have panel front or back with tucks giving fullness on the shoulders.

The smocked dress, with raglan sleeves, is good, too, and always has a flare that becomes the little girl.

For street wear there are little sweater suits like mother's, of striped silk or wool jersey, pleated silk skirts and blouses like the skirt. There are, too- coats of elegant simplicity that for chic have double breasted effects, or surplice openings or other adult style points.

The pantie-frock is still a favorite, made of hand-blocked linen, prints or gingham, for beach wear. This frock takes its own bonnet of self-material to set it off and often a matching bags for toys or a bit of lunch.

In case little Mary is invited to luncheon with mother, she should have an afternoon frock of pastel washable silk, organdy or dotted Swiss or lawn. If of plain color it should have perhaps a miniature jabot, like a grown-up, down its front panel. Or it may take a flower in appliqued colors on its skirt and repeated on one side of its yoke. If of figured material, a tiny banding of plain colored material will suffice for trimming.

Of course there is the party dress in every well-dressed little girl's wardrobe now.

This may be a French import, of ecru batiste with the entire hemline, yoke and puff sleeve of handworked pattern in lace and tucks. It may be of organdy with faggotting, of georgette fashioned simply. Its color will be its biggest feature in that instance.

Children's hats should always be simple. Ribbon trimming on plain or novelty felt, silks or straws are best. Flowers are really too ornate for the little girl. Feather trimmings, except for the smart feather tip stuck in a hat-band, are out of the question.

Accessories for little girls increase apace with mothers'. But the sensible woman will refrain from loading many on her little girl. Jewelry, vanity cases and other extra-extras are out of place on Miss Two-to-Six. Child's fashions that are fashionable do not include them.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

Will Asks Cremation And Burial In Ocean

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 27.—(United Press).—Relatives of John Joseph Sturzinger are undecided whether they will exhume his body, have it cremated, and drop the ashes into the ocean with a pocket cigarette case for a coffin. Sturzinger, a fashion designer who left his relatives $10,000, died May 10 but his will was not opened until Wednesday.

The odd provision of cremation and burial in a cigarette case, morticians said, is impossible to fulfill because the ashes of a human body average more than could be contained in a cigarette case.

SELF-EDUCATION

(J. H. Burnham.)

Many young people are at a loss to know the meaning of the expression so often used nowadays by scientists, "atomic energy." If the atom has so much energy bottled up in it, why doesn't it let it go? The atom holds back its energy just as gunpowder holds back its energy—until something happens to it which causes it to "let go."

Beyond, believing that atoms had in themselves this enormous quantity of stored-up energy (Gr. ergon—work, power to do work), Scientists did not know how much energy was thus stored up. But the discovery of radium showed, for the first time, a substance splitting up its own atoms and releasing that energy, and from this fact it has been calculated that a few pounds of atoms suddenly split up and released would blow the North American continent to pieces. Radium, uranium, etc., in disintegrating release hardly more than one atom at a time, in nature, otherwise it would be all up with us. If experimenters ever discover how to cause the atoms o substances to split up and release suddenly, the energy of a large number of them, then war will really end, at any rate for all but the owners and manipulators of this power. Scientists say that they are not far from the discovery at present.

Becquerel, a French savant, happened to have some uranium salts in his pocket one day and noticing that they displayed a form of energy which he was unacquainted with, handed them over to M. and Madame Curie, of the Sorbonne, who discovered a substance that radiated its split-up atoms which they therefore called radium. M. Curie died and Madame Curie kept up the investigation until at the end of four years she isolated it and prolominum, a kindred substance as well. As she was a Pole by birth, she called this new substance polominum. Radium however, was very difficult to find, and as it existed only as one part in ten million in pitchblende the quantity secured was only small. She said at the time that she believed its chief value would be curative, and that has proven true. Its active properties called radio-activities, are the chief beneficial properties of some mineral springs where the sick drank the waters, and were greatly helped, nobody knowing that it was not the commonly-known chemical properties of the waters that benefitted them, but something else altogether. Those who jeered at mineral springs as a fad, and offered substitutes that were "just as good" were put to confusion by the facts exposed, even if the so-called cures had not convinced them.

The use, however, of all these new substances for one such reason or another is not in it with the fact of the energy in them. If all matter is made up of units of energy instead of solid substances, then the study of energy is the chief end of scientific study, and so it has become.

The emphasis in this way being laid more and more by science on the explanation of nature and its inherent powers, the moral and religious philosopher will be compelled to get back to his own domain and cease meddling with nature and the confusing of nature and religion. The recent tendency having been to make religion "practical" and to apply it to the solution of the mysteries of both physical and spiritual life is at the same time receiving such a set-back that it will probably fade away as quickly as it has arisen.

Physical evolution, or the gradual age-long development (or change) of things as they are, from things as they were, is all but generally admitted. We have a few Bryanites with us still, those who would limit the Creator to their own ideas of things. But, of course, physical evolution has nothing to do with religion, and when this is realized, time will relegate these enthusiasts to the limbo of the ridiculous, if not of oblivion.

Atomic energy will, when understood, and its release provided for, as is now done with the energy stored up in coal by the application of an exciter which enkindles the heat, which bursts into a flame and continues of its own accord, enable the great steamships to cross by means of a few pounds of coal or a few gallons or less of oil instead of as at present. Somebody will discover how to apply an agent, as we do fire, which will produce not only change as at present, but instantaneous disintegration of the atom itself. Instead of applying a match to enable substances like wood or coal to combine with the oxygen of the air and thus produce heat and the expansion of water (or gas) which in the bursting form of steam gives pressure that does work and runs our engines, which in turn do other forms of work, we will have pressure arising from the expansive power or striking power of the electrons in the atom. It will be difficult to monopolise or control this form of energy and it may prove embarrassing. Instead of gasoline (petrol) distilled from petroleum, we should have a thing like a watch, enabling us to rush through the country so fast that we wouldn't know whether we had been in an accident or not. Those of us who used to think that a man driving a horse at ten miles an hour should be fined for furious driving now go forty miles an hour without thinking any such thing.

Atomic energy will also enable a and that too, by simply pushing a button. This will mean that people will ose their muscular strength if not their nerve and that in a long course of time aprocess of devolution or development backwards will land us whence we came some few hundred million years ago. It is this increasing facility of getting work done that has deprived so many of employment and that will, in the end, leave us the pre-millenialist and the prohibitionist as the only two to disturb the silence of the night, and our confidence in the wisdom of the Creator.

As heat is only a form of energy, the heat developed by the releaseing the energy of atoms will also greatly reduce coal bills.

Atomic energy simply means that few to do enough work for all the instead of producing expansion and therefore energy by the more or less sudden development of heat in or when applied to a few substances we shall have the same power developed from every substance by the application of the means of disintegrating the atom, as in radium, but with greater speed and sudden general action.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Peter Undaunted by Persecution

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 29. Peter Undaunted by Persecution. Acts 5:27-42.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist.

Persecution has almost invariably been the lot of those who have given allegiance to new truth, particularly when they have dared to proclaim it. Jesus long ago reminded those who prided themselves upon their own attainments, who built the tombs of the prophets and garnished the sepulchers of the righteous, and said, "If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets," that by their very words they were witnesses that they were the children of them that had killed the prophets.

Generations are not unalike in their spiritual pride and in their resentment of anything that opposes custom, tradition, and self-interest. The pioneers of science have suffered along side the pioneers of religion, and the pioneers of political and social progress have paid the price in the same way. There is no lesson that humanity learns with so much difficulty as the lesson of tolerance and especially the lesson that tolerance is itself a means of knowing and understanding the truth.

Two Noble Exceptions.

Here in our lesson we find the disciples facing persecution because of their Christian faith and witness. Purity of principle, and beauty of character, love and devotion to God and man, have been no protection against the spirit of persecution, and saddest of all is that the persecutor, even in his opposition to purity and goodness, has often fully believed that he was doing God service, just as Paul believed this when he was participating in the stoning of Stephen.

Here in our lesson, however, we have two noble exceptions to this spirit. We have first of all the courage of the Christian represented in Peter, the determination of allowing nothing to turn him from the course that faith and conscience dictate. Surely there is no stronger evidence in human history of the power of God than in the strength that he has given men to suffer that they may uphold his truth and upbuild his kingdom. Why the truth and the kingdom must make their way through such toil and tribulation we do not know, but there are birth pangs of truth and rightcousness in the physical world.

And along side Peter's courage and intensity of conviction we may place the breadth and humanity of Gamaliel. Here was a man who had not come to Christian faith, but who had found in the truth that he knew, as he put it into his life, something both enlarging and enlightening. The spirit of common sense will guide men and help men even though their opinions may falter, if they will earnestly strife to keep themselves free from the spirit of bigotry. It is a great thing to have a confidence in truth such as Gamaliel had, a fear of interfering with the plans and purposes of God.

Two Kinds of Faith.

Peter and Gamaliel represent two phases of faith that ought to be in every good man—the spirit of courage and intensity, willing to suffer on behalf of truth; and the spirit of breadth and tolerance that keeps man free from blindness and bigotry in his conquest of truth or in his manifestation of his own religion.

Gamaliel was one of those who, whatever his name or sign, belonged to Christ's sheep. His breadth and liberality have attained for him a distinction in history that he little realizedwould ever come to him. While we seek to imitate our Master and his disciples it might be well to remember that this noble-minded Pharisee, a doctor of the law, is set down in Scripture as an example for us. The modern world, with all its racial and religious hatreds and bigotries, has profound need to learn as much from the example of Gamaliel as from that of Peter.

Text: Acts 5:27-42.

And when they had brought them, they set them before the council: and the high priest asked them,

Saying, Did not we straitly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us.

Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, we ought to obey God rather than men.

The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged in a tree.

Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a prince and a saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.

And we are his witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

When they heard that, they were cut to the heart, and took counsel to slay them.

Then stood there up one in the council, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a doctor of the law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apostles forth a little space;

And said unto them, Ye men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what ye intend to do as touching these men.

For before these days rose up Theudas, boasting himself to be somebody; to whom a number of men, about four hundred, joined themselves: who was slain; and all, as many as obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

After this man, rose up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the taxing, and drew away much people after him: he also perished; and all even as many as obeyed him, were dispersed.

And now I say unto you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought:

But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God.

And to him they agreed: and when they had called the apostles, and beaten them, they commanded that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go.

And they departed from the presence countsd worthy to suffer shame for his name.

And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ.

FINANCIER DIES.

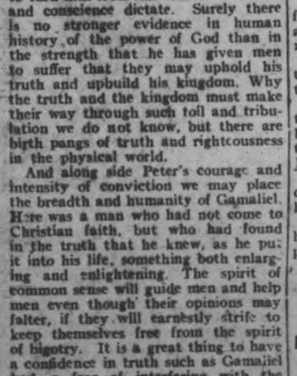
Payne Whitney Was One of the Richest Men in the United States.

MANHASSET, N. Y., May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Payne Whitney, financier, philanthropist, sportsman and one of the richest men in the country, died of a heart attack while playing tennis at his country estate, Greentree, Wednesday. Mr. Whitney was 52 years old.

He was the brother of Harry Payne Whitney and son of the late William C. Whitney, Secretary of the Navy under Cleveland. Estimates of his New York estate ranged in Wall street from $100,000,000 to $400,000,000. In 1924 he paid an income tax of more than $2,000,000, only John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Henry Ford paying more.

A clever move made in the silk stocking trade is an offer made by the makers of one well-known brand to mend free of charge their silk stockings of the higher grades. An elaborate invisible mending department has been organized, and the woman who wants her stockings repaired has only to take them to the store where she bought them, and they will be mended—once—without charge.

Many eminent medical specialists are adopting the idea of decorating their waiting and consultation rooms in bright colors to help the patient forget his gloom and ill-health.



YOUR FORD

~give it the care it deserves

WHEN you bought your Ford Car, you made a wise investment in Transportation; an investment that is worth protecting. The most important protection you can give that Ford is to see that it is properly lubricated. And proper lubrication means Marvelube "F."

This is the special grade of Marvelube which our engineers, after careful experiment and research, have definitely designated as the oil that will most effectively lubricate the Ford engine.

Marvelube "F" protects all bearing surfaces against destructive heat and friction—lubricates all the parts where oil is needed—gives your Ford a chance to operate with smooth efficiency.

Drain your crank-case and fill it with Marvelube "F." The immediate result will be a new satisfaction in the car's operation. The ultimate result will be dollars saved through repair bills cut and dollars gained through the car's lengthened life, and the enhanced re-sale value which only correct lubrication can ensure. THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

By O. McM.

It has been my pleasant task lately to obtain some information regarding the work that is being done at the Public Library. I came away from my visit greatly astonished at the varied amount of good that this public utility of our city is accomplishing.

Like many people who have passed its doors for years, I had often walked by looking idly at the inscription over the door and not pondering for one moment what these words really signified. To me, as to many others, the Public Library was just an institution, possibly a useful one, but one which did not seem to specially welcome the visitor. There seems to be something so exclusive and learned about the term, "Library." To say that I was agreeably surprised, and that my visit opened my eyes to many things unthought of before, is putting it mildly. I was very much impressed with its value to the public.

In my talk with the Librarian, Mr. Dela Fosse, I discovered many interesting facts. First in regard to books: I found that fiction, as in every other library, is most read. In the Peterborough Library we have nearly twice as many books of fiction as those dealing with other subjects. I was told that the trouble with fiction is that while it could do such an immense amount of good in teaching the public higher ideals, it so often sinks to the lowest levels and of course does more harm than good. It is the hardest thing in the world nowadays to pick out a high order of fiction.

On the average, the popular book of fiction circulates about thirty times. Sometimes, if it has the good fortune to fall into worthy hands it will last much longer; some books have been circulating for fifteen years, and again, others have not lasted for three months.

The fiction that chiefly appeals to the public is of the detective variety. These at any rate are usually clean, and if some of them may be over-exciting to the sensitive mind they are, at any rate, not harmful to morals.

Outside of fiction, history, travel and literature are most read and of these perhaps Travel is the most popular. Although history is not as extensively read as is travel, yet its appeal to the general public is increasing. Many students find pleasure as well as profit nowadays in reading of the life-history of some historic figure. At present, Canadian history, especially that dealing with Confederation, is being very much taken up. This in itself is a valuable asset as it is an excellent means of getting the young people better acquainted with the history of their country.

The Library contains books from which information may be obtained on almost every mentionable subject. All the books dealing with the different topics are placed in special classes and as each book is tabulated it is easy to find the one desired on the shelves.

Juvenile Section.

There is a juvenile section in the Library where the demands of the little ones are ably looked after. At present there are 1907 active readers in this section, while up to date about 16,762 children have joined this juvenile department.

The Librarian in charge informed me that for a long time girls wanted nothing but school stories, but lately they have acquired a taste for mystery stories, and camping and outdoor stories. The boys, on the other hand, like nature stories, Scout stories, stories about frontiersmen, pirate and sea stories; in fact anything adventurous appeals to them. Occasionally, a boy wants a love story, but he usually hides his intent by saying that it is for his sister.

There is a very large collection of folk-lore and nursery rhyme readers for the little ones. The children are trained to appreciate and use the Library and so there is little trouble from bad behaviour.

Many of the parents visit the department to look at the collection of books and to ask advice in the buying of them. Sunday school teachers come to the department for suitable stories, and many Normalites and young teachers use the reference books contained there.

We cannot think of children without thinking of their unlimited supply of questions, very often in connection with their school work, and every effort is made to find books for them which will answer their demands.

The Librarian is asked many amusing questions. Recently one child asked her if she had a book called, "Easter Favorites," and after much questioning she discovered that the book he wanted was "Aesop's Fables." Oftentimes a young reader will ask for a book by its colour rather than by its title, for example, "I'd like the red book with the horse on it that Willie had a week ago." Strange to say, the desired book can usually be found.

I think that this juvenile section cannot be over-estimated as a valuable aid to education. If it were only for it alone the money expended on the Library may be considered well spent, because in providing this means of supplying the little ones with the excellent information found here, the foundation of their education is being strengthened in a way that would not be, perhaps, possible otherwise.

An Adolescent section was started last year, and this is also being well patronized.

The Museum.

The Museum has always been an attractive feature in the Library. Its importance also cannot be over-estimated. Latterly, the Normal School has made use of the specimens contained in it in order to teach art to its students.

The system of cataloguing clippings and miscellaneous pamphlets has proved very useful to the pupils of the Collegiate Institute, Public Schools and others. The amount of information stored away in the seven or eight hundred envelopes of clippings is astonishing.

The Library also strives in every way possible to obtain information from outside sources if it is not procurable in the Library, and it really acts as a sort of Information Bureau as well as a Library. Altogether the Reference Library is one that we may well feel proud of.

The Lecture rooms are often used by societies for meetings. The Women's Canadian Club, a most thriving institution has been holding its meetings in the Library since its inception, and many notable lecturers have spoken under its auspices.

It is not generally know that fyles of the Globe, Mail and Empire, Montreal Star, New York Times and Peterborough Examiner can be seen in the Library. Copies of the two first named are on fyle dating from 1921, and of The Examiner from as far back as when it was first published. The Library is able, through its New York Times Index, to obtain information of the greatest importance in a reference sense, as it gives the daily news of the world. It has been found most serviceable. The Canadian Patent Office Records are also on fyle and can always be seen by applicants. The magazines and newspapers in the reading rooms are very well patronized, and always have been.

When I inquired if the Library was patronized by people living outside the city I was told that farmers' families are using it very little indeed. A fee of two dollars a year entitles people living outside the municipality, to obtain books on exactly the same terms as residents and every concession that can possibly be made, is made, in the endeavour to get the rural population interested. My own opinion, frankly expressed, is that the wives, sons and daughters of our farmer friends do not know what they are missing.

As the city expands to the south there are many living within its limits who find themselves a good deal cut off from the advantages of the Library. It may be that in a very short time the growth of Peterborough will render the establishment of a branch library imperative.

In conclusion, let me give a word of praise to the worthy Librarian, Mr. Dela Fosse, and also to the members of his staff. Words alone do not seem to express the thanks which is due Mr. Dela Fosse for his unceasing efforts in making the Public Library what it is to-day—one of which Peterborough may well be proud.

From coming in contact with teachers and pupils of all grades of all schools and with many of our prominent business men, as well as the general public, I have found that the courteous and generous services which Mr. Dela Fosse and the members of his staff are rendering daily are thoroughly appreciated by all.

For many months there reposed in the window of a shop in Bristol, England, an old blue and white ginger-jar which many collectors examined but none would buy. Eventually, the shopkeeper was glad to get rid of it for the sum of three dollars. Recently, it was sold at auction in London for the enormous sum of $30,000." Experts found that it was one of the finest hawthorn jars in existence.

BETHANY MAN HAS LEG BROKEN

Wall of Barn Gives Way, Covering E. Fallis With Debris.

WAS BEING REPAIRED.

BETHANY, May 27.—A very unfortunate accident happened on Monday at noon on the farm of Ernest Fallis, when Mr. Fallis had his leg broken between the knee and ankle.

Mr. Fallis was having some repairs done to the foundation of the barn where it had given way, and he had the cement mixer to help put in a new piece of a wall. The forms had all been put in, and one barrow-load of the mixture put in place when the whole side of the wall, about 40 feet, gave way with a loud noise. Mr. Fallis was buried up to his waist in the debris. Mrs. Fallis, working in the house, heard the noise and rushed to the scene of the accident. Seeing what had happened she called Dr. Hamilton, while the men who were helping with the work dug Mr. Fallis out of the wreck. Had the wall given way a minute sooner, Tom Ward, who had put in the barrow of cement, would have in all probability been killed, or very badly hurt as the wall fell over where he had been working. It, is thought the accident was due to so much wet weather, which left the ground soft, along with the vibration of the mixer.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Fallis for being laid up just at this time with the spring season facing him, and a great deal of repairing to the buildings planned.

PONTYPOOL PERSONALS

PONTYPOOL, May 27.—Lieutenant Rayfield, V.C., Mrs. Rayfield and family, Mr. D. Bowins and Mr. J. Payne, motored to Toronto on Sunday to witness the garrison church parade held in that city. It was one of the largest ever held in the city, Lieut. Rayfield, V.C., has a commission with one of the Toronto regiments and took an important part in the big parade.

An event of some importance, and of a military nature was performed at the home of Mr. Chas. Hickling, 416 Brunswick Ave., when the baby daughter (Isabella Anne) of Lieut. W. L. Rayfield, V.C. and Mrs. Rayfield, of Pontypool was baptized by the Rev. Capt. Lambert, padre at Christie street hospital. Mrs. Chas. Hickling, grandmother of the child) and her sister, Mrs. Jenkinson, were sponsors for the child. The baptism took place at 6.00 p.m. Sunday, after the military parade. Others who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. Chas. Hickling, Miss Gladys Hickling, Master Victor Charles Rayfield, Mr. John Payne and Mr. Delbert Bowins. After the ceremony a dainty supper was served by the hostess.

Quite a number were present at the Decoration service held at the cemetery on Sunday evening. A goodly number of the graves were nicely decorated by flowers and several were present from outside points who had friends buried in the local cemetery.

Anniversary services in connection with the United Church will be held on the 2nd Sunday and Monday of June.

REGISTRAR DEAD.

A. C. Garden, registrar of the supreme court and clerk of the county court, is dead at Hamilton. He was formerly M.L.A. for West Hamilton, and was recently in the limelight over his appointment as registrar. It was charged that patronage had secured him the position.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Major and Mrs. Kendall Will Conduct Services at S. A. Temple.

Major and Mrs. Kendall, who are known all over the Dominion as revivalists, will conduct special services at the Salvation Army this week-end. They have just concluded campaigns in Ottawa and Walkerville, which have been attended by large crowds of people. They are officers of many years' standing in the Salvation Army and have been used by God in the winning of many souls.

PLANES PAINTED.

Students Flock to the Aviation School Conducted By Captain Ayres.

The planes that will start flying at the Aviation School as soon as the ground dries are being painted in the J. J Duffus shop this week-end, and will be ready to take the air in a few days.

Students are arriving almost daily, and tents were being pitched today to shelter them.

SPRING PAINTING

Around this part of the year a slight frown appears on the noble forehead of the head of the house. It is an annual affair, and keen observers, from experience of previous years, are able to forecast the various phases through which the phenomenon will pass. The frown is visible for several days during which its owner is obviously struggling to overcome the inertia of middle age. The issue is in doubt for some time, and the "native hue of resolution is overcast with the pale cast of thought." But, at length the old spirit is triumphant and the dilapidated straw hat, which, like the old grey mare, is not what it used to be, appears once more in the sunlight, paint brushes which had lain in the innermost recesses of the cellar emerge from their winter hibernation, and all the latest and newest in paints and cleansers are brought into requisition. Long unused muscles painfully protest the unaccustomed exercise and an overworked spinal cord groans its agonizing plaint. But the undaunted devotee, determined to propitiate the Goddess of Spring (Cleaning) labors on until that moment when he can look around and survey harmoniously colored woodwork and shining metalwork and draw a deep breath as he tells himself,

"Now is done thy long day's work
Fold thy palms across thy breast,
Fold thine arms, turn to thy rest,
Let them rave."

LINDBERGH MAKES FLIGHT OVER PARIS

Will Leave To-morrow For Brussels and London—Objects To Title.

PARIS, May 27.—(Canadian Press.)—Capt. Charles Lindbergh flew over Paris in a French military scout plane for more than an hour this morning without the knowledge of the general public. He made a perfect ascent and landing. During the flight he paid homage to France's unknown soldier, descending at one time to within 150 feet of the tomb in the Arc De Triomphe.

Advices from Brussels indicate a rousing welcome for Lindbergh in the Belgian capital to-morrow. As soon as he lands he will be presented to King Albert and members of the Royal family.

On Sunday the American aviator expects to fly from Brussels to London, where he will meet King George and members of the British Royal family and take part in numerous social functions which are being arranged in his honor.

For the first time since he made his historic flight, Lindbergh yesterday stated his objection to the term "flying fool." He said it was unjust.

Given Military Honors.

Lindbergh was the guest of M. Painleve at the Ministry of War luncheon to-day. Military honors were rendered by a platoon when he mounted the stairs to greet a distinguished company, which included General Pershing, General Gouraud, and Marshal Foch.

"You have," M. Painleve told the aviator, "realized an impossible dream and glorified the heroism of humanity to the dimension of the planets. You have thrown across the ocean between our two cities, between our two nations, and between our two continents, an invisible link that never more will be broken."

Lindbergh was given the same military honors by the guard when he left as when he arrived.

wholly in favor of the pursuit of legitimate trade between the two countries."

The Premier said he welcomed the opportunity of repeating that the step taken by the Government was "solely because we found that their (the Soviet's) interference in our domestic affairs was intolerable and because we found that in every part of the world their agents invariably engaged in hostile or unfriendly proceedings against us.

"Our decision was not the result of a deep laid plot to get up a world combination against Russia," he said. "On the contrary, as the Foreign Secretary has said, we refrained for a long time from breaking with moscow out of consideration for our continental allies and friends.

"But Soviet Russia made it impossible for us to retain that attitude by their refusal to listen to our repeated warnings. It is part of their propaganda to represent our policy as one which aims at war and which is based on forgery."

Soviet Expects Further Steps.

MOSCOW, May 27. — (Canadian Press.)—The conviction obtaining in all Soviet political circles and widely disseminated through the press is that Great Britain is embarked upon a war of intervention, of which the severance of relations with the Soviet Union is the first gun. The next step is expected to be, the papers say, an effort toward a financial and economic blockade calculated to weaken the Soviet Union.

Troops Mobilized.

TOKYO, May 27.— (Canadian Press.)— Despatches from Harbin to the vernacular newspapers say the Soviet military commissar has ordered the mobilization of troops along the Far Eastern frontier, which is interpreted in some Soviet quarters as a preliminary to Anglo-Soviet hostilities.

Staff Called Home.

MONTREAL, May 27.— (Canadian Press.)— Longin F. Guerus, head of the Soviet staff in Canada, has received the following cable from M. M. Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, at Moscow.

"If the Canadian government does not want to maintain the treaty made by the Soviet and the British Government in 1921 and applied to Canada, close your office, take all your staff and go home."

Mr. Guerus said the above cable referred to the diplomatic offices of the Soviet in Montreal. He was waiting, he said, for advices from the commissar for foreign trade as to what he was to do with the trade commission offices here.

LEGION NOTES

Arrangements are proceeding smoothly for the big convention of the Ontario Provincial Command, to be held ... Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Plans already made call for a Memorial Service on Thursday, followed by a banquet to the delegates, and a Smoker to which all ex-service men will be invited.

Delegates and visitors will be invited to witness the Cadet inspection on Thursday afternoon.

A movie cameraman representing Pathe News will take pictures of the Convention proceedings, to be shown all over Canada.

Merchants are asked by the Canadian Legion to make patriotic displays in their windows next week, and to fly their flags on the three Convention days.

Several committees are working on arrangements for the reception to the distinguished visitors, including General J. H. Gunn and Sir Richard Turner, V.C. "Welcome" arches are planned at the stations and on George Street.

Many manufacturers and merchants have contributed through advertising to the Convention programme, which will be issued early next week.

What the Legion Stands For

The first article in the Aims and Object of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League reads: "To bring about the unity of all who have served in His Majesty's Navy, Army, Air Force, or any auxiliary force."

This has been achieved by the amalgamation of the Great War Veterans' Association and several other organizations of ex-service men into one body known as the Canadian Legion. The membership of the local veterans' organization has increased since this union was effected and continues to show steady growth. C. H Ackerman is President of the Peterborough Branch, and he has a very able executive.

Unity was desirable in order that the interests of disabled veterans should be safeguarded effectively, and to continue the splendid spirit that animated all of Canada's soldiers in the Great War. This the Canadian Legion is doing.

Mine Prices Steady On Featureless Market

TORONTO, May 27. — (Canadian Press.)—Business was fairly light on the standard mining exchange to-day and the market was featureless. Prices were steady, with declines and gains being equally distributed over the list. Argonaut Consolidated lost 2 1-2 at 50 1-2 and Area gained the same amount at 33. Atlas was 3-4 over at 6 and Barry Hollinger was down 1-2 at 29 1-2. Hollinger Consolidated gained 10 at 20.00, Kirkland Lake was down 1 at 133 and McIntyre was up 50 cents at 25.50. Stadacona declined 1-2 at 18 3-4 and Vipond Consolidated was down 4 at 91. On the unlisted market, Amulet gained 10 at 159.

Wheat and Corn Rise Following Liverpool

CHICAGO, May 27 (Canadian Press).—Wheat and corn both jumped early to-day to the highest prices that deferred deliveries have yet reached this season. An unexpected sharp advance in Liverpool wheat quotations was the chief bullish factor, with further rains in Canada and the corn belt. Opening at 7-8 cent to three cents higher, Chicago wheat scored further gains. Corn started at 1¼ to 3¼ cents advance and later showed some additional upturns. Oats were firmer. Provisions also displayed strength.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May, 152 5-8; July, 147 1-8. Corn, May unquoted; July, 95¼. Oats, May unquoted; July, 50½.

New York Trend Irregular With Main Move Upward

NEW YORK, May 27. Canadian Press. — Pre-holiday re-adjustment of speculative accounts imparted some irregularity to to-day's market, but the main trend continued upward. Impressive demonstrations of group strength were given by rails, public utilities and chemicals. Nearly two score specialties were marked up to record high levels.

The strength and activity of rails was rather surprising in face of the publication of the relatively poor April earnings statement. New York Central led the list of about a dozen highs. Wabash was again heavily bought, but Pittsburg and West Virginia broke nearly six points. Steel shares held firmly steady despite the reported reduction of 25c a ton in iron and steel scrap in the Chicago district and the slackening of output in other centres. Motors, which were freely sold yesterday, received better support to-day.

Commercial Solvent's 'B' had extended its gain to 12¼ points before the end of the third hour.

Among the many new highs were such diversified shares as Collins and Aikman, United States Distributing, general refractories, Otis elevator, Columbia gas and Worthington Pump "B."

Abitibi's Rise Features Toronto Exchange To-day

TORONTO, May 27. Canadian Press. — Establishing a new high for all time of 97, Abitibi Pulp and Paper was the feature of the Toronto stock and exchange to-day with a gain of 3 points over yesterday's closing price. The issue, however, was overshadowed in the point of trading by nternational Nickle, which again underwent a storm of selling, declining ¼ at 68 after more than 12,000 shares had changed hands. The market was of a spasmodic character with prices mainly firm. Industrial alcohol was very heavily dealt in and gained 5-8 at 31 5-8. Massey-Harris common down 1-8 at 37 7-8; Goodderham and Worts, up 2 at 61; Hiram Walker, up 1 3-8 at 54¼, and British American Oil, down ½ at 25¼, all bore the brunt of heavy selling attacks. Brazilian lost ¾ at 148¼, after opening at the new high point of 149.

LEVEES SAFE ON EAST BANK

Engineer Says Danger Has Passed Below Old River.

MORGAN CUT OFF.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 27 (Canadian Press)—Danger to the levees on the east bank of the Mississippi below the old river probably has passed, Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, said to-day.

The vast amount of water being diverted from the Mississippi through the Atchafalaya as well as the crevasses further up the river was believed to have assured the safety of the levees along the east bank.

Further rise of the flood waters from the McCrea crevasse cut off the town of Morgan late last night. McCrea is approximately 130 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi. Trains over the Texas and Pacific have been discontinued past New Roads, the parish seat of Pointe Coupee parish.

SAUVE REMAINS LEADER FOR TIME

Will Hold Position Until Provincial Convention Has Been Held.

MONTREAL, May 27.— (Canadian Press.)—In a statement here to-day Arthur Sauve, leader of the Quebec Provincial Conservative Opposition, declared that he would not resign from the leadership of the party at present and that he would at least retain that position until the proposed Provincial Conservative convention was held.

In his statement the leader of the Opposition stated that after having studied all angles of the situation, he considered it his duty to continue as leader of the party.

Three Chances To Guess Whose Car Stepped Out

The first automobile that ever made its debut to Peterborough would have caused as much amazement to the citizens as a driverless car did this morning.

Careening down George Street past Hall's Store this morning was a Ford, apparently out for an airing, without a driver. Slowly but surely it turned out to the car tracks, evidently taking pity on the populace who have no street cars and in a humble way offering substitution.

But like the old "hero" who stopped runaway horses, a brave man ran to the car, and leaping to the running board turned the key off, taking his life in his hands, as the car was probably going one or two miles an hour!

The owner then appeared on the scene, but could give no explanation of "Lizzie's" behavior. He is a prominent aviator in the city and it is to be hoped that none of his planes will get the inspiration "to step out."

STORES IN GALT OPEN ON HOLIDAY

Merchants Decide Unanimously To Remain Open on July 2.

GALT, May 27.—Though Saturday, July 2, has been proclaimed a public holiday in celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, the Galt stores will remain open, that being the unanimous decision of the merchants at a meeting held yesterday. It was agreed that the provision stores would have to remain open anyway, because of the fact that the Old Boys' re-union will be on at that time.

BABY DROWNED.

Irene Rose Falls Into Small Creek Near Her Home.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., May 27.—(Canadian Press.)—Irene Rose, 1 1-2 years old, was drowned late yesterday when she fell into a small creek near here. The child's mother had left her with older members of the family and the baby toddled away. After an hour's search, the body was found in the creek.

DRIVERS MUST HAVE LICENSES

Permits For Driving Cars Will Be Required After July 1.

TORONTO, May 27—Every motorist in Ontario will, after July 1st next, be required to carry a driver's license. An order-in-Council to this effect was passed yesterday at the Cabinet Council meeting of the Ferguson Government and announced last evening. It fixed a fee of one dollar for the license and provides that it shall be valid until the end of 1928.

The proposal for a driver's license for motor car operators has been heralded for some time past by Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways. The intention originally was to make it effective at the beginning of the present year, but clerical difficulties in the department prevented it being handled then, due to the rush incidental to the issuing of the motor license plates. It was stated at that time, however, that the license would come into force about mid-summer.

The license will be granted automatically upon payment of the one dollar fee to experienced drivers, into which class all persons who have driven 500 miles or for six months will be admitted. Inexperienced drivers will be required to pass the scrutiny of inspectors, who will be appointed by the department in the various centres of the Province. Examination by these inspectors will cost the individual who is securing his first permit one dollar, which will be retained by the inspector as his remuneration for his work.

The Government is estimating that it will issue an average of two drivers' permits for every motor vehicle in the Province. On this basis the revenue from the licenses would be somewhat in excess of $600,000.

Leafs Win Opening Game of Rochester Series

SCORE HEAVY FROM COLTS

Pohl's Aggregation Gather in Eight Hits For Seven Runs.

LEAFS OPEN SERIES.

MAPLE LEAF STDADIUM, May 27 — Rochester opened their three-day four-game series here yesterday afternoon before a few hundred fans, threatening rain keeping the attendance to a minimum. Toronto used Jacobson in left. He only reported yesterday morning, and was anxious to get going. Bratchi was in right, Webb at third and Harrington back at second. Faulkner for Toronto and Schoffner for Rochester, were the opposing pitchers, both left-handers.

Jess Doyle is expected to report in time to pitch one of the two games Saturday.

The line-up:

Rochester—Silva, c.f.; Groh, 3b; Murphy, r.f.; Head, c; Onsolw, 1b; Manger, l.f.; Maranville, 2b; Jones, s.s.; Shoffner, p.

Toronto—Spencer, c.f.; Webb, 3b; Jacobson, l.f.; Hargrave, c.; Lamotte, s.s.; Alexander, 1b; Bratchi, r.f.; Harrington, 2b; Faulkner, p.

Umpires — Finneran, Clarke and Carpenter.

Baltimore at Jersey City, rain.

Syracuse at Buffalo, rain.

Reading at Newark, rain.

TEAMS ARE TIED IN FOOTBALL GAME

Neither Team Able To Score in Pontypool-Lotus Game.

PONTYPOOL, May 27.—The postponed game of football, Pontypool versus Lotus, was played at Lotus on Wednesday under more favorable weather conditions.

The result of the game was a tie, neither team being able to score. Pontypool had the edge of the play the most of the game and threatened many times to score but last year's winners have as strong a back line as ever. Pontypool team have a different personnel on their team this year and have what promises to be one of the fastest forward lines in the league.

A fair crowd was present for the game and the game was refereed by Mr. W. Hanna, owing to the illness of the regular referee. The line ups:

Pontypool— E. Webb, goal; J. Malley and S. Webb, backs; W. Scott, A. Fowler and F. Graham, halves; G. Smith, M. Getchel, A. Harris, J. Payne and P. Getchell, forwards.

Lotus—W. Gray, goal; M. Gray and A. McGill, backs; E. Gray, R. Stinson and Scotly, halves; H. McMullen, V. McMullen, H. Brown, L. Strong and Jeff, forwards.

Baseball Notes.

The local baseball club had their initial workout on Friday evening and by all appearances will have a much stronger team than usual. They intend entering in a league composed of some teams to the north and west of here, but no schedule will be drawn up till after Victoria Day.

TURNESA LEADS IN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Continues Steady Game in Metropolitan Golf Association's Open Play.

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., May 27 (Canadian Press)—Joe Turnesa continued his steady game and came home at the head of a field of 45 qualifiers in the Metropolitan Golf Association's twentieth open championship yesterday. His 74 was not the best of the day but with Wednesday's 72, for a 146, it was just one stroke better than the second place scores of Johnny Farrell, of Quaker Ridge; William Burke, of Greenwich; Bobby Cruickshank, of Progress, and Willie MacFarlane, of Oak Ridge.

Scores of 159 and better were good enough to qualify and virtually all the top-notchers remained in the running.

Robert Nettlefold, of Hobert, Tasmania, defeated Dennis H. Kyle, of Stoke Poges, four and three.

Roger Wethered, former champion, defeated Captain A. G. Pearson, of the Royal and Ancient Club, two and one.

R. H. De Montmorency, of Stoke Poges, defeated J. E. Dawson, of Troon, Scotland, 3 and 2.

D. E. Landale, of the Royal Liverpool Club, defeated Dr. J. D. MacCormack of the Hermitage Club, by one hole.

GERMAN GIRL STAR AT COURTS

Helen Contoslavos Eliminated By Cecilia Ausemm 6-0, 1-6, 6-3.

WAS FAVORITE.

ST. CLOUD, France, May 27 (Canadian Press). — German tennis players were the chief centre of interest on the St. Cloud courts yesterday as with one exception they played victoriously through their rounds in the international hard court championships. The most remarkable performance of the day was that of Fraulein Cecille Aussemm, who eliminated Helen Contoslavos, 6—0, 1—6, 6—3. Mlle. Contoslavos was the favorite to reach the semi-finals with Didi Vlasto. Eileen Bennett of England, Senorita DeAlvarez of Spain, and Frau Neppach and Frau Freidleben are now considered Mlle. Vlasto's greatest rivals for the title.

The day was altogether auspicious for the Germans and, their re-entry into tournament play here after a lapse of thirteen years. There were tears in the eyes of Otto Froitzheim, veteran of the courts, as he was cheered after winning his match over Carrearas of Spain, 6—1, 6—2, 6—0.

H. K. Lester of England eliminated a trans-Atlantic threat yesterday by beating J. H. Van Alen, 6—2, 6—1, 2—6, 6—8, 9—7, while Condon of South Africa accounted for Sidney Wood of the United States, 6—3, 6—1, 6—4.

Big Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter remained as American contenders for the singles title.

Results

Condon of South Africa defeated Wood of the United States, 6—3, 6—1, 6—4.

Dr. Heinrich Kleinschroth, one of Germany's "first ten" players, was hard pressed to defeat Wuarin of Switzerland, 5—7, 3—6, 6—1, 6—2, 6—2.

Frau Neppach scored over Madame Sepranze of Spain, in the women's singles, 6—1, 7—5, while Frau Friedelben disposed of Mlle. Beauge of France, 6—2, 6—1.

Nicholas Mishu of Rumania eliminated Count Ludwig Salm-Hoogstraten, 6—2, 3—6, 6—8, 6—2, 6—2.

H. K. Lester, England, eliminated J. H. Van Alen of the United States, 6—2, 6—1, 2—6, 6—8, 9—7, in a third round match.

FRANCE LOSES SOCCER GAME

England Winner 6-0 in Annual Tilt Played at Paris.

SHOW MORE FINISH.

PARIS, May 27 (Canadian Press Cable).—By a score of six goals to nothing England defeated France in an annual soccer tilt here before 25,000 spectators yesterday. The game was played in glorious sunshine. The English eleven were vastly superior in every department of play to the Frenchmen, and four minutes from the opening, Dean of Everton had begun the scoring, repeating ten minutes later. For the remainder of the half, the French staged a stubborn rally and defended vigorously, and the interval found the count standing at two-nothing in favor of the Islanders.

On the resumption the French pressed stoutly, but showed weakness in finishing. England's third goal came when Brown (Huddersfield Town) took a centre from Page (Burnley) while the fourth was the result of a misfield by the French goalkeeper of a pass from one of his own backs. Rigby of Blackburn Rovers netted the fifth and sixth, the last score coming following an injury to the French centre-forward who left the field.

PIRATES WIN EIGHT IN ROW

Strengthen League Lead By Defeating World Champion Cards 2-1.

CUB DEFEAT REDS.

NEW YORK, May 27 (Canadian Press). — The Pirates strengthened their hold on the league pinnacle yesterday by trouncing the world champion St. Louis club at Pittsburgh by 2 to 1, giving the Pirates eight victories in a row. This is the longest streak in the circuit this season.

Vic Aldridge held the Cardinals to three singles while his mates collected eight off the combined offerings of Haines and Keen, the former giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. Wright doubled in the first inning, scoring Cuyler and Paul Waner but was out at third trying to stretch the blow.

The Cubs slugged themselves to an 11 to 2 victory over Cincinnati at Chicago yesterday by hitting Rixey all over the lot and forcing him to retire in the fifth inning. Kolp, who replaced Rixey ,held Chicago scoreless for the remainder of the game. Root pitched a steady game, the visitors being able to bunch hits off him only in two innings.

Boston-Philadelphia, rain.

HOLLINS ELIMINATED.

Miss Maureen Orcutt Winner in Semi-Finals Women's Golf.

ROSLYN, N.Y., May 27 (Canadian Press) — Miss Maureen Orcutt, of White Beaches, N.J., the defending titleholder, yesterday eliminated Miss Marion Hollins, former National champion, 3 and 2, in the semi-finals of the metropolitan women's golf championship at the Engineers' Country Club. In the other semi-final Miss Helen Seitz, Gedney Farms, defeated Mrs. J. L. Anderson, Cherry Valley, 2 and 1.

NO ASTRONOMERS GOING TO ENGLAND

Toronto Bureau Not Sending Men To Observe Eclipse There.

TORONTO, May 27.—(Canadian Press).—Sir Frederick Stupart, head of the local Meteorological Bureau, stated yesterday that he did not think that any Toronto astronomers would leave for England to observe the total solar eclipse of the moon, which will take place next month. "Observations will be taken by us here along the line of totality where it extends up into the far north," he said.

WHITE SOX WIN FROM TIGERS 4-3

Winning Run Scored on Metzler's Single To Centre.

BRAVES DIVIDE BILL.

NEW YORK, May 27 (Canadian Press).—The Chicago White Sox remained on the heels of the Yankees by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 3, in twelve innings at Detroit yesterday. Red Faber went the entire distance for Chicago, shutting out Detroit in the last nine innings. The inning run was scored on Metzler's single to centre. Clancy had reached first on Gehringer's fumble and advanced to third on Ward's single.

Boston divided a twin programme with Philadelphia at Boston, nosing out the Athletics in the closing engagement by 4 to 3 after losing the first contest by 3 to 1. Grove pitched shutout ball in the opener up to the ninth when the Sox grouped three hits for a run. Buddy Myers' single off Sam Gray in the last of the ninth of the second game drove Haney across with the winning run.

The Cleveland Indians and the Browns shared honors at St. Louis, each winning one game of a doubleheader. A spectacular home run by O'Rourke in the tenth inning gave the Browns their victory in the first. Two were down when he cleared the bases. Miller of Cleveland gave nine hits, and Stewart of St. Louis allowed eight.

In the second game the Indians faced about and scored three runs in the ninth by aid of a double steal, Burns going home on one of them.

Only games scheduled.

In some parishes in England the old custom of distributing the "Pax Cake" is still kept up on Palm Sunday. Plain cakes are given in church, the idea being that those who have quarrelled during the year should "break the Peace Cake" together, saying "peace and good-will," thus ending their disputes befor the Easter Communion.

GOLDSMITH LETTER FOUND.

Her interest aroused by a guest who was reading "The Deserted Village", a woman at Athlone, Ireland, not far from the poet's birthplace, recently revealed that she has found a letter written by Oliver Goldsmith. The letter, dated August 15, 1758, was addressed from the Temple Exchange, near Temple Bar, London, to a kinswoman at Carrick-on-Shannon, and was sent to acknowledge an appreciation of favors shown. Goldsmith, however, took care to let his correspondent know that his gratitude was not to be interpreted as a sense of favors to come. It is a lengthy epistle, written in a neat hand, and couched in the beautiful language characteristic of the poet.

CANUCKS DEFEAT OTONABEE TEAM

Fast Exhibition Game Won By Local Boys 6 to 4.

Johnnie Burke's Canucks defeated the Otonabee boys in an exhibition game last evening at Otonabee by 6 runs to 4. M. Clancy, pitched for the Otonabee and T. Westbrook and Quirrie pitched for the Canucks. Although the evening was cold, a large number of spectators witnessed the game.

Mr. Westbrook of the Lock Works accompanied the boys from the city.

OBITUARY.

PATRICK DALY

KINGSTON, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press).—Patrick Daly, for more than fifty years a printer, dropped dead at his home here late yesterday after motoring with his daughter from Ottawa. The late Mr. Daly was over forty years editor of The Canadian Freeman, retiring about eight years ago. In the past few years he had been employed in the reading room of the House of Commons.

GEORGE B. SPRAULE

Information was received by wire last night of the death yesterday at Helena, Montana, of George B. Spraule, formerly an alderman of this city. Mr. Spraule attended school here as a boy. When he reached manhood he started in business as a photographer, carrying on operations for a number of years.

He was a charter member of Otonabee I.O.O.F. Mrs. Sarah Haggart of this city is a sister. Interment will be made at the Helena Cemetery tomorrow.

CLIFFORD SELKIRK.

The death occurred last night of Clifford J. Selkirk, 175 London street, after a very short illness. The deceased was twenty-five years of age.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and infant son, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Selkirk, of Warsaw. He also leaves one brother, Verne, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Choate, of Warsaw.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his parents' residence. Interment will be made at the Warsaw cemetery, with the Rev. Mr. Herrington officiating.

FREDERICK ERNEST ALDOUS.

The death occurred this morning at his residence, 387 Rogers street, of Frederick Ernest Aldous, after a long and painful illness. The deceased was a veteran of the great war, having served in France with the 28th Battalion from 1915 to 1919, and his death is a direct result of a disability incurred during service. He is survived by a sorrowing wife, and one son, Jack, a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sharpe of this city, and his mother, three brothers, and one sister, all residing in England.

The funeral will take place on Monday, and will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, of whom the deceased was a faithful member. A short service will be held at the family residence at 2 p.m., followed by a public service at St. Luke's church, the Rev. G. J. Bousfield officiating.

OBITUARY

THOMAS JOSEPH PARROTT.

The friends and customers of Thomas Joseph Parrott will regret to learn of his death, which occurred to-day. Mr. Parrott had been twenty years in Peterborough and had a wide circle of acquaintances. He is survived by two brothers.

The name of Parrott is probably unfamiliar to the great majority of the citizens of this city for Mr. Parrott was generally known as the crippled man who sold candles, gum and other small articles in the alleyway between George and Water streets, on Hunter street. He had carried on a business there for many years and was generally found at his stand in all kinds of weather. Lately he has been unable to be there through sickness. He was of a very genial nature and had a good word for everyone whether they bought from him or not. All he desired was to earn an honest living in the fairest way possible.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

SIR JOHN WILLISON

TORONTO, May 27 (Canadian Press) — Sir John Willison, noted publicist, former editor of the Toronto Globe and the Toronto News and Canadian correspondent for the London Times, died in the General Hospital this afternoon following an illness of some weeks' duration. His condition became critical to-day.

Sir John Willison was one the best known newspapermen in Canada, an author, public speaker, and magazine writer of high repute. He was born in the village of Hills Green, Huron County, on November 9, 1856, and was educated in the public schools. He obtained his vast store of knowledge through native studiousness and through his newspaper experience and contact with the world.

He married Rae Wood Turner, of Tiverton, Ont., in June, 1885. Two sons were born to them, William, who was killed in the war, and Walter, also a journalist. He was knighted in 1913. Lady Willison died in January, 1925, and in April, 1926, Sir John married Marjorie MacMurchy, of Toronto, prominent newspaper woman and authoress, who survives him.

TARIFF BOARD IS EXPLAINED

W. H. Moore Addresses Kiwanis Club at Weekly Luncheon.

TELLS OF ACTIVITIES.

A very lucid account of the aims and tasks of the Tariff Advisory Board was given by the Chairman of the Board, W. H. Moore, at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel this afternoon.

There had been considerable misunderstanding on the nature of the Board, said Mr. Moore, who related a conversation which he overheard in a hotel as an illustration of the real function of the body. Two guests were discussing the Board, he said. One of them in explaining the duties of the Board compared it to a buffer placed between two colliding trains in order to lessen the force of the impact. There had been clashes of interests in the past, he said, but he believed that these would be fewer in number in the future.

Canada does business with practically all parts of the world. When we sell anything abroad that never disturbs anyone but often when we buy we find evidence of serious misgivings. It was the duty of the Board to reconcile the interests of the home producer with the interests of those abroad, as for example those in the Old Land with whom business was done from this country. The Tariff Board did not initiate any inquiry. Inquiries were always held at the behest of consumers or business men who made application to the Minister of Finance. A great many of these requests were with the object of securing a downward revision of the tariff. Before investigations were held, all the interested parties were notified and all arguments for and against the proposals were heard.

The Tariff Board existed to find out all the facts. It worked under no set rules; held a second hearing if necessary and was prepared to hold a third, fourth or even a fifth hearing in order to accomplish its purpose.

He thought sometimes nations were inconsistent so far as Government was concerned. It took five years to train a lawyer to interpret the law and for the training of the men who were to make the laws a three weeks' election campaign was often all that was considered necessary. It was the duty of the Tariff Board to give the Parliament information. "You have seen to-day the chairman and the secretary of the Board and you can see that they are not any more intelligent looking than the average M. P.," remarked Mr. Moore.

He urged his hearers to get behind the Board and give it all needed support, promising that it would play the game according to the best spirit of all that was fair, decent and honest in its labors to prevent economic conflicts and to promote harmony among the diversified interests of Canada and the Empire.

Kiwanian Joseph Wearing, who introduced the speaker, gracefully referred to Mr. Moore as having gained distinction as an author and as having done more than any other man to promote the Bonne Entente between Ontario and Quebec. The thanks of the club to the speaker were expressed by Kiwanian C. Saunders.

A pleasing part of the proceedings was the presentation of prizes in the drawing competition to the winners: Claire Sullivan and Miss B. Galvin, both pupils of St. Peter's School. The duty of handing over the prizes was fulfilled by Kiwanians V. Morphet and H. McCannon. Kiwanian R. Haddow was the booster for the day, prize winners being J. Wearing, F. Stinson, and K. McDonald. Two solos "Little Mother of Mine" and "Danny Boy," were sung by A. Kimmel, uncle of Kiwanian Art Kimmel. Other visitors were J. J. Duffus, J. F. O'Brien, Peterborough; C. Reid, Montreal; J. B. Nelson, H. B. McKinnon, Ottawa, secretary of the Tariff Board; J. Sullivan, Peterborough; L. Pearsall and Dr. Moir, Peterborough.

MASONS' EFFORT SUCCEEDING WELL

Large Amount Promised For Construction of New Temple.

Optimism pervaded the atmosphere of the supper room of the Masonic Hall last night when the reports of the canvassers of the Masonic Foundation Fund, were presented to a highly appreciative and enthusiastic audience.

Fifteen thousand dollars was the gratifying response to the first canvass, according to the reports read last night, and with a great deal of ground still to be covered, all those present freely expressed themselves as being confident that the objective of $40,000 for the construction of a Masonic Temple would be attained all right. As Mr. J. J. Turner put it this morning, the enterprise is the most popular step taken for many years by the members of the craft. W. J. Henry occupied the chair.

AROUND THE CITY

The Fire Department responded to a chimney fire at 576 Rogers street, at 4.51 yesterday afternoon. A false box alarm at 7.15 last night for a fire at the Court House brought out the whole brigade for nothing. Another chimney fire was responded to this morning at 8.47 to 551 Gilchrist street.

CITY FATHERS CHOOSE PAVING OF TWO KINDS

Will Use Bitulithic For Resurfacing Main Streets of City.

FOR WELLER STREET, TOO.

Amiesite To Be Given Trial on Water and Smith Street.

Warrenite Bithulithic pavement will be used for resurfacing George Street from the C.P.R. to Charlotte street, Water street from Hunter to Brock streets, and Aylmer street from Charlotte to Hunter street, and for paving Weller street from Park street west to the boundary. Amiesite will be used on Water street from London to Antrim street and Smith street from George to Water street. This was decided last night at meetings held by the City Council and Board of Works

Some weeks ago it was decided to use asphalt in the reconstruction work, but last night the agreement was passed calling for bitulithic paving Asked to explain the reason for the change, Alderman Fife said that when this type had been used in residential districts, and it was supposed to be the best, it seemed absurd to use a cheaper grade on the main business streets of the city. His contention was upheld by all the aldermen present except Ald. Hancock.

Amiesite To Be Tried

Later, in the Board of Works meeting tenders were opened for the new pavements. The Warren Company quoted $2.90 a square yard for the bitulithic, with 77 cents a running foot for curb and gutter, and 22 cents a square foot for any sidewalks to be rebuilt. The Amiesite people asked $2.70 a square yard for pavement, 65 cents a running foot for curb and gutter, and 22 cents for sidewalks. Several of the aldermen wished to try out the amiesite, although feeling that the difference in price between it and the material whose qualities they knew was not sufficient to warrant a great deal of experiment, so it was decided to do the two short pieces with amiesite and the long stretch with warrenite.

The Council reached an agreement with the Canadian General Electric Company for paving part of Park street, between the company's siding near Albert street and a point 75 feet north of Rink street. The city has purchased 75 feet of the long narrow lot between Rubidge and Park streets at that corner and will eliminate the awkward curve at present existing. The company will pay for paving the stretch on Park street between its lots in annual instalments over a period of ten years, assuming the whole cost of the work.

Advertising Arranged

A proposal to pay Frederick G Clarke of Toronto $200.00 for the distribution of 500 copies of a circular advertising the City to American firms was adopted. The agreement, as made out, called for the payment when the work had been done, but the Mayor said that a letter received yesterday from Mr Clarke had asked for payment in advance. Instead of complying with this request the Aldermen voted to strengthen the agreement by calling for a statutory declaration from Mr. Clarke with proof of the completion of the work before paying him.

Alderman Fife was opposed to the proposition. He claimed that a man working for a number of cities would be of little value. He would probably send men to the city and want the Council to visit places in the United States, but it would be squandering money. Alderman Phelan explained that the method followed would be to recommend several cities to any manufacturer seeking a location and let him pick which one he found suitable, the city chosen to reward Mr. Clarke according to his contract. The agreement contains a clause whereby he is to be paid on a graduated scale for any factory obtained for the city, the reward to be based on the number of employees.

A grant of $500 to the Canadian Legion for the entertainment of the delegates to the convention of the Provincial Command was made. Ald. Ackerman explained that the number of delegates will not be as great as he had promised when he asked the Council for this sum, but the advertising value will be large as the proceedings are to be filmed.

Applications for eating house licenses were laid over until the regular meeting. Two applicants who had tents last year have more permanent quarters this year, one in the front room of her house and the other in a matched lumber building. Opposition was expressed to the granting of permits for those in wooden booths, as it was felt that other would follow this example.

TWEEDELL WINS TITLE.

Stourbridge Doctor Victor In British Amateur Tournament.

HOYLAKE, England, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Dr. William Tweedell of Stourbridge won the British amateur golf championship here to-day. He defeated J. E. Landale of the Royal Liverpool Club in the 36-hole final match by seven up and six to play.

Radio Advertising Refused By Council

Radio broadcasting apparently does not appeal to the aldermen of Peterborough as a paying way of advertising. A proposition from a Canadian firm quoting a price of $465 for four periods of one hour on the air was read at last nights meeting. Mayor Holloway referred it to the Manufacturers' committee, which considers such matters, but the chairman of that body was swift to move that it be received, without action by the Council, and his motion carried unamiously.

SCHOOL SECTION NO. 3 OF SMITH WILL NOT BUILD

Residents Adjacent To City Continue To Pay Present Fees.

9 MINORITY VOTES.

Township Assumes Responsibility For Balance Between Two Fee Standards.

School Section Number 3 of Smith will not undertake any building operations for a year at least. This compromise which reconciled two divergent opinions as to the best method of solving the problem which faced the ratepayers of the section when intimation was received from the Board of Education of Peterborough that rural pupils attending the city schools would be required to pay 80 per cent. of maintenance, was reached at a meeting held last night in Milburn School when a motion by Vivian Milburn, seconded by E. Sanderson, that residents in the section adjacent to the city be asked to continue paying the present fees, the balance to be paid by the section, this arrangement to hold good for one year only, was carried over, an amendment from Smith Milburn, seconded by George Edmison, that an addition be made to the present school.

A spirit of sweet reasonableness pervaded the meeting; and the issues were frankly discussed from all angles. A crowded schoolhouse testified to the interest taken in the question and a number of residents from adjoining sections were interested spectators. Norman Edmison and Thomas Shields, school trustees, were elected chairman and secretary respectively of the meeting. R. F. Downey, school inspector, Bert Middleton, Reeve of Smith and Warden of the County, and Percy T. Udy, clerk of the township, were present and supplied the meeting with facts and figures. Mr. Downey presided over the preliminary business of election of officers for the meeting.

Mr. Shields read the minutes of the previous meeting the resolutions of which, he explained, were not legally binding in view of the informal nature of that meeting. Mr. Shields related that a consultation had been held with a builder in the city who was of the opinion that the addition which the making of the school into a two room building would entail would cost four or five thousand dollars. Robert Scott, former reeve of the township emphasized the wise wisdom of the section running its own show. There was nothing to hinder the city boards from raising the fees 100 per cent. In the case of any lack of accommodation the country pupils would be the first to go.

Speaking on behalf of his motion V. Milburn expressed the belief that the problem had been caused primarily by lack of accommodation for the outside pupils who came from Monaghan and Smith. They had been assured that there was abundance of room in the schools on the north of the city. He knew that there were men in Peterborough who wanted to make the Collegiate serve the whole community. They would even like to make it free but naturally they found it impossible. He pointed out that if the decision to build were taken debentures would have to be issued over a period of years and the community would be committed to expenditure from which they would find themselves unable to draw back if they so desired. North Monaghan had decided to build. This would relieve the Anniversary Of Dedication Service To-morrow

Is Fifteenth Anniversary of Dedication of Murray Street Baptist Church.

To-morrow will be the fifteenth anniversary of the dedication of Murray street Baptist church, to the worship of God, and Rev. J. R. Webb, of Kitchener, formerly pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit for both morning and evening services.

To Mr. Webb is due in a great measure the credit for the handsome edifice now occupied by the Baptist community at Murray street, and he will be greeted not only by former members of the congregation, of which he was the head, but by citizens generally, by whom he was much respected.

METHODS OF RAILWAY BOARD COMPARED TO SOVIET SYSTEM

Counsel For Province of Ontario Making Appeal On Telephone Rates.

WORSE THAN CZARISM.

Treatment of Lawyers Opposing Increase Like That of Soviets.

OTTAWA, May 28 (Canadian Press).—W. A. Reid, for the Province of Ontario, gives thirty-one reasons why the decision of the majority of the Board of Railway Commissioners in the telephone rate hearing should be set aside. He alleges that the Board refused to hear oral argument by himself and other counsel opposing the application of the telephone company for increased rates. The whole appeal will come for hearing before Premier King and members of his Cabient on Wednesday morning.

"It is submitted," states Mr. Reid, "that no tribunal in Canada has any such Russian Soviet or Russian Checko powers or authority to thus debar counsel from arguing and presenting his case orally in person and verbally before the said Board of Railway Commissioners."

On this point, Mr. Reid further declares: "For the Board of Railway Commissioners to arrogate to themselves the power to decide whether parties having business before the Board shall be or be not allowed to argue their cases verbally in person or by counsel is somewhat extraordinary and smacks of Russian Soviet or Russian Checko procedure."

Later, Mr. Reid says: "The refusal of the Board to allow counsel the right to argue the Bell Telephone case orally smacks of the worst element of Kaiserism It is even worse than that—it exhibits all the tyrannical methods of Czarism—it contains all the biased features of Sovietism and demonstrates in a manner which will not be long tolerated by the people of Canada what we may expect under the dictatorship of Communism and it illustrates every other kind of unjust, illegal, improper, oppressive, and unconstitutional methods that the body politic is or can be heir to by such methods.

"Lenin and Trotsky abolished the legal profession in Russia, while Mussolin will allow only Fascist lawyers to plead in the Italian courts. These are about the nearest parallels that may be compared with tyrannical and autocratic procedure adopted towards counsel by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada in the Star Chamber proceedings which resulted in counsel for the people being prevented from presenting oral argument before that tribunal."

PINEDO CONFIRMS REPORT OF SAFETY

Will Arrive at Horta Some Time To-day—Forced Down By Tempest.

LISBON, Portugal, May 28 (Canadian Press).—A radio message received this morning from Commander De Pinedo aboard the Italian steamer Superga said he expected to arrive at Horta, Azores Islands, some time to-day. He confirmed that a tempest had forced him to alight on the sea last Monday while flying from Trepassey, Nfld., to the Azores on his homeward flight to Rome.

Sixteen-Hour Transatlantic Plane to Carry 170 Passengers Designed By German Expert

BERLIN, May 28.—Transoceanic flights, such as the Paris to New York non-stop hop, are possible with the present plans and apparatus, according to Professor Rumpler, head of the Rumpler Airplane Construction Company of Dessau. However, he sees in this accomplishment only a sporting stunt, without any other significance. The only reason they are being attempted is a mad chase for records, he says.

However, Professor Rumpler, who is considered one of the best authorities on airplane construction, believes transatlantic flights can be put on a commercially practical basis by building planes many times the size and power of the present ones. He states he has prepared plans for a machine capable of crossing the Atlantic in sixteen hours, carrying 170 passngers and propelled by a battery of ten motors, each generating 1,000 horsepower.

His estimates show any four motors could cease to function without affecting the plane's lifting power, nor would the speed be cut materially. He virtually discarded designs for a 100-passenger plane, planned a year ago, in favor of the larger craft, believing the present giant will seem dwarfliks within a decade.

Professor Rumpler says he has worked for the last five years on his new plans. With a machine of this type transocean flying would not entail more risks than crossing by liner, he believes. Even in case of a forced landing at sea the craft would be seaworthy and the passengers would be assured of comfortable living quarters until help was summoned by radio.

CITY USES FOOD PRODUCTS IMPORTED FROM MANY LANDS

Early Fruits and Vegetables Come Here From Southern States.

NEW ARRIVALS.

California Cherries and Bermuda Tomatoes Here For First Time.

Around this part of the year, the average man begins to think of rearranging his diet, and just at this time the arrival of many seasonable delicacies affords him an opportunity to gratify his tastes to the limit of his purse.

As might be expected from the earlier arrival of fine weather, in these districts, many of the first arrivals of fruits and vegetables are imported from the Southern States.

New potatoes are to be seen for sale in the city at 25c a measure. They are products of South Carolina. Bright red strawberries, the acme of freshness, are brought from Kentucky, and displayed here, under a 35c tag per basket. California oranges in the city are priced according to size, unusually large ones reaching as high as 75 cents per dozen. Forty, fifty or sixty cents per dozen are the prices most generally prevailing. Water melons have begun to arrive and increasing quantities are expected as the season advances: From Cuba come the pineapples which are seen in the city stores—priced at 25c each, with some of larger size at 30. Grape fruit, two or three for 25c, according to size and tomatoes at 20c per lb., come all the way from Florida. A new arrival in the line of tomatoes, so far as this city is concerned, is a variety from Bermuda, which looks like a hot-house grown product, and sells for 40c per lb. New carrots and new beets are on hand from Florida and change owners at 25c per bundle.

Selling around 30c per lb., are some Louisiana vegetables—waxed beans and green beans. Home grown hot house products find a place in the local stores—tomatoes at 50c per lb., and cucumbers at 25c and 30c. California cherries make their initial appearance in this neighborhood, selling at 90c per lb.

Ontario Apples?

Strange to say, in spite of the vast annual production of apples in Ontario, the local dealers all agree that it is impossible at this season of the year to procure a consignment of Ontario apples, which an up-to-date storekeeper who prides himself on quality, would like to pass on to his customers. Evidently there is still a great deal to be done in this province to develop a promising line of endeavor. British Columbia, however, is well to the fore and large supplies of B. C. apples are available here at 50c per dozen. Home grown asparagus is on display in the best stores at 15c a bunch.

Sugar Prices.

One of the commodities in which the thrify housewife is interested at this season is sugar. Inquiry at a local store this morning disclosed the price of the best Redpath or St. Lawrence sugar at $7.25 per hundred weight, the soft granulated Cuban sugar selling for 50 cents less per hundred weight.

WAITERS' SCHOOL.

LONDON, Eng. — To keep up with the times, English cafe waiters and cooks are going to school again to learn the new joints of their jobs.

An old-age record was created in the London bankruptcy court the other day when a woman of 93 went through the legal steps necessary to be freed of her debts.

Drunk Pronounces Sentence Himself

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 28. — (United Press).—Having been regularly in and out of jail for drunkenness since 1914, James Welsch, 55, sentenced himself to five days in the workhouse yesterday in Essex Market Court.

Welsch, who had been picked up at the Bowery and Second Street, pleaded guilty before Magistrate Delagi, but asked for "one square deal from a judge." His record showed eighteen arrests and convictions with terms from one day to six months.

The Magistrate said: "Sentence yourself, Jim."

Thereupon Jim said, with judicial solemnity, "Five days."

FIRE DESTROYS FINE FURNITURE

Gasoline Used To Kill Moths, Explodes, Causing Serious Fire.

AT 51 ROBINSON STREET.

Awakened by a report that sounded like an explosion this morning at 3.40, the lady at 51 Robinson street roused her husband to go downstairs to see what was the matter. On reaching the front room he discovered it to be in a mass of flames, and he immediately phoned the Fire Department. The cause of the fire is a mystery, but an explanation from the owner concerning the use of gasoline in the afternoon throws some light on the real cause. It seems that she had noticed an article in one of the women's magazines telling a sure way to kill moths, by sprinkling gas on the upholstering, and letting it dry over night. But how this could possibly catch on fire without any heat near it will probably never be solved.

When the firemen reached the scene smoke was pouring out of the front windows and for a while it was almost impossible to enter the house, and when they did enter they found that any effort to save the furniture would be futile as the fire, intensely hot, had gained much headway. A Chesterfield suite has nothing left on it but the charred wooden arms. A baby grand piano was ruined by the fire and water, and practically all the furniture in the room was demolished including a china cabinet.

Damage will amount to between twelve and fifteen hundred dollars. The owners of the house wish to congratulate Chief Gimblett and his men from the prompt response with which they answered the alarm, or as the lady at the house remarked to the Chief last night, "We had no sooner called than you were here."

Chief Gimblett once more warns the citizens that gascline should not be used around the house for anything. The only spectator of the fire was a small boy who lived nearby.

THE WEATHER

Last night was again quite cold, the temperature going down to 42°. White frost could be seen by the early riser. It is not likely that we will swelter to-morrow as we did on Sunday, a week ago.—W. P.

PETERBORO MALE VOICE CHOIR HOLD SEVENTH ANNUAL BANQUET

Many Amendments To Constitution Passed—G. S. Parlour Elected President.

REPORTS READ.

Will Give Concert in Victoria Park Next Friday Night.

The seventh annual meeting and banquet of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir was held in the Paragon last night with about 40 members present. G. S. Parlour was elected president for next year. Many amendments to the constitution were passed and the report of the various officers and chairmen of committee were read.

Walter Gandy, the president, in his address, thanked the members of the executive and the members of the choir in making the past season the best in the history of the organization. He asked that the same spirit be maintained through the coming year so that higher heights might be attained.

Vice-President Parlour gave the credit for the success of the year to the active members on the committee and said that in the new constitution the exact duties of the various committees were designated.

Treasurer's Report

A. McLeish, the treasurer, submitted a very fine and comprehensive report on the financial standing of the choir. The total receipts for the concert were $921.65 and expenditures amounted to $527.42, leaving a balance of $393.67. The balance at the end of 1925 was $227.54, and this year there is a balance of $371.92. The choir also has assets valued at $759.75 and $146.83 in a trust fund.

Neil Porter, chairman of the membership committee, said that at the beginning of the year the choir had a membership of 75 and during the year 11 members dropped out. The publicity committee report showed a balance of $90.92 and the total attendance at the various practises and concert was 1,219.

Will Give Concert

A honorarium of $175 was granted to M. Chenhall, the musical director, also $25 to the secretary, and $10 to the treasurer. It was decided that the choir would give a concert in Victoria Park next Friday night and that they would pledge themselves to do their part at the Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

The following officers were elected:
Hon. President—Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—J. J. Turner, R. J. Kidd, Mayor Holloway, James Dutton and L. D. W. Magie.
President—G. S. Parlour.
Vice-President.—Paul Manning.
Secretary—C. H. Crowe.
Treasurer—A. McLeish.
Librarian—F. E. Kerr.
Chairman of Membership Committee—Neil Porter.
Chairman of Music Committee—Harold Foster.
Chairman of Publicity Committee—W. White.
Chairman of Social Committee—S. J. Ridyard.
Musical Director—M. Chenhall.
Auditors—Messrs. Cutmore and Pitchford.

The winners of the ticket selling contest were Tom Pitchford, Walter Stocker, F. E. Kerr, Herbert Rush and John Speer. G. S. Parlour sold the most tickets, but being a member of the executive, could not qualify for the prize, but won the fountain pen donated by W. Stocker.

All members of the choir and those seeking membership will have to pass a voice and reading test before the season opens in the fall.

PAR KCONCERTS BEGIN IN JUNE

Union Concert To Be Given Next Friday Night in Victoria Park.

SCHEDULE DRAWN.

The concert season will open on Friday of next week with a combined programme shared between the Peterborough Rangers' Band, the Machine Gun Corps Band and the Male Voice Choir. These three organizations will take part in the Jubilee celebrations on July 1, engaging in combined activities as directed by the chairman of the Music Committee of the Jubilee central body, Alderman J. M. Greene who is also chairman of the Parks Committee of the City Council.

The Examiner also understands that the Millbrook Band (twenty pieces) has been engaged for the Jubilee ceelbrations, thus bringing the total number of bands secured up to nine. All these bands are expected to take part in the parade.

Concerts will also be given by the local talent on the following dates. Peterborough Rangers, June 10, 17, 24, July 15, 27, 29, August 5, 12. On August 19, the last concert, the Rangers and Machine Gun Corps Bands will share the programme.

By-election Shows How Wind Blowing

LONDON, May 28.—The Bosworth by-election, which is now being fought, with polling set for next Tuesday, is being watched with great interest as an indication of how the country regards both the Trade Unions bill and the breaking off of diplomatic relations with the Union of Soviet Republics.

The Trades Unions bill is the principal issue in the three-cornered contest, and the election is being taken very seriously locally. It is expected to provide a record poll.

SOVIET READY FOR WARFARE OFFICIALS SAY

Only General Preparation Can Restrain England, They Believe.

WILL GATHER RESOURCES.

Paper Says Canada Must Be Disappointed in Hope of Trade.

MOSCOW, May 28 (United Press)—Two members of the Soviet Russian Government today spoke of the danger of war and the necessity for increasing Russia's readiness to fight in discussing the action of Great Britain's severing diplomatic relations with Moscow.

War Commissar Voroschiloff, speaking at Pavlograd in Southern Ukrane said, "Assuming that England systematically has been preparing for two years to surround the Soviet Union, then the danger of war is not excluded. Only general preparation can restrain England from attacking."

Nicolai Brjukhanov, finance commissioner was more explicit.

"Our reply to England," he told the press to-day, "will be to strengthen our military and economic fighting readiness, will rivet our attention along the financial front and upon interior credits where there are great untapped possibilities.

"Mobilization of internal resources now is more than usually our means for self defence. There are still many means hidden intact in boxes and stockings which are without profit to their possessors. The Soviet Union cannot afford the luxury of leaving unused even a small part of its internal resources. These must be gathered and used at the front of our economic rehabilitation."

Comment on Canada

LONDON, May 28 (British United Press)—The Moscow Isvestia, official organ of the Soviet administration, to-day comments editorially on Canada's decision to follow Great Britain's example in severing official trade relations with the Union of Soviet Republics. It says:

"Mackenzie King hastened to declare that the Russo-Canadian break does not mean a break in trade. Canada evidently wanted to keep faith as a great British dominion and simultaneously profit through continued trade relations with this country, but she must be disappointed."

LIQUOR PRICES ARE REDUCED

Control Board Announces Rates For Whiskey and Beer.

SCOTCH SELLS AT $3.55.

TORONTO, May 28 (Canadian Press)—Prices of liquor and beer to be sold by the Ontario Liquor Control Board were officially announced by D. B. Hanna, the chairman, today and they indicate a lower rate in the main than Ontario citizens have been paying the dispensaries under the O.T.A. Scotch whiskey, that used to be $5.25 a quart, is now to retail at $3.55 a quart. Whiskey may be bought for $3.75, compared with the former price of $5.40. The price of grain alcohol was $5.75 per imperial quart and is now down to $4. Beer is to be sold at fixed prices by the stores and also by the breweries when they deliver direct on an order from the government stores. Beer is seventeen cents a pint or six quarts for $1.75. A dozen pints delivered by a brewery is $1.90, with 35 cents allowed for the bottle returned.

TEXT OF NOTE SENT TO ENVOY OF THE SOVIET Requests Charge D'Affaires and His Staff To Leave Country.

/ERE GIVEN CHANCE.

Raid Conclusively Proved Subverse Activities Directed From 49 Moorgate.

LONDON, May 28 (Associated Press).—Following is the text of the note which Foreign Minister Chamberlain sent yesterday to M. Rosengolz, Soviet Charge d'Affaires, "suspending" Anglo-Soviet relations and requesting M. Rosengolz to leave the country within ten days:

"Sir,—The recent police examination of Arcos, Ltd. (the Russian trading organization) and the Soviet trade delegation has conclusively proved that both military espionage and subversive activities throughout the British Empire were directed and carried out from 49 Moorgate. No ostensible differentiation of rooms or duties was observed as between members of the trade delegation and employees of Arcos and it has been shown that both these organizations have been involved in anti-British espionage and propaganda.

"But the matter does not end there. Your government and you will recognize the messages which were read by the Prime Minister to the House of Commons Tuesday.

"I would remind you that your own telegram, in which you request material to enable you to support a political campaign in this country against His Majesty's Government was despatched within a few weeks of the warning conveyed to your Government in my note to you of February 23, adducing specific instances of anti British propaganda and requesting its cessation.

"His Majesty's Government had hoped that the Soviet Government would take that opportunity, given them in accordance with the provisions of Article 13 of the trade agreement of 'furnishing an explanation or remedying the default.'

"They did neither; on the contrary, the hostility of the Soviet Government together with the subversive propaganda carried on by their associates, the Russian Communist Party and the Third International in the United Kingdom itself and in the British overseas territory, has continued unchecked to culminate in the abuse of diplomatic privilege revealed by your attempt to interfere in the domestic affairs of this country.

Warned Before.

"There are, as I warned you in my note of February 23, limits to the patience of His Majesty's Government and of public opinion here, and these limits now have been reached.

"In view of the facts stated above, His Majesty's Government must now regard themselves, in accordance of the provisions of paragraph three of Article 13 of the trade agreement, as free from the obligations of that agreement. The privileges conferred on M. Khintchuk (President of the Central Union of Co-operative Societies) and his assistants in accordance with the agreement are hereby terminated and I have to request their departure from this country.

"His Majesty's Government, while compelled to take this step for the reasons stated above, do not wish to interfere with the ordinary course of legitimate Anglo-Russian trade and will therefore place no obstacles in the way of genuine commerce between the two countries. They will raise no objections to the continuance of the legitimate commercial operations of Arcos, Ltd., in the same conditions as those applicable to other trading organizations in this country, and with this object they are prepared to allow a reasonable number of Russian employees of the country, whose names will be communicated to you, to remain in this country provided that they comply with the law of the land and confine their activities to legitimate commerce. But His Majesty's Government cannot suffer the existence here of a privileged organization which, under the guise of peaceful trading, carried on espionage and intrigues against the country in which it is established.

Relations Suspended.

"Finally, His Majesty's Government has decided that they no longer can maintain diplomatic relations with a Government which permits and encourages such a state of things as has been disclosed.

"Existing relations between the two governments are hereby suspended and I have to request that you will withdraw yourself and your staff from this country within the course of the next ten days. I am instructing His Majesty's representative at Moscow to leave Russia with his staff and should be glad if you would request your government to afford to him and to Mr. Preston at Leningrad and to Mr. Patton at Vladivostok the necessary facilities for the departure of themselves and their assistants. Suitable arrangements, the details of which will be communicated to you in due course, will be made for the departure from this country of yourself and your staff and the Russian members of the trade delegation.

A record of nearly 30,000 crossings of the English Channel is held by Walter Hastings, a boat steward, recently retired after 44 years of service.

SOVIET RUSSIA WOULD MOVE ARCOS OFFICES TO GERMANY

Ambassador Krestinski Confers With Stresemann To That End.

WANT STAY TEMPORARY.

German Embassy To Take Over Moscow's Interests in Britain.

BERLIN, May 28—Fears of difficulties and embarrassments which Germany may have to face in maintaining neutrality in the Anglo-Russian breach were revealed as realities to-day when it became known that the Russian ambassador, Nikolai Krestinski, conferred with Foreign Minister Stresemann about transferring the great Arcos headquarters from London to Berlin.

Stresemann agreed to Russia's other request that the German embassy in London take over Russian interests there, but it is understood nothing was settled regarding the Arcos proopsal. It can be stated authoritativelyy, however, that the German Government would much prefer that if the Arcos comes to Berlin it stay only long enough to clear up its outstanding business in Great Britain.

Tenure Not Permanent

In view of this feeling here and the fact that the Soviet Government must obtain the permission of the German Government to establish the Arcos here ,it is questionable that the tenure of the establishment would be allowed to be permanent. In well-informed quarters the fear is expressed privately that if the Arcos is established in Berlin on a permanent basis the German Government always would be open to complaint from London that the Russian agency was carrying on anti British propaganda under the protection of Berlin and that a continuation of such a situation would be harmful to Anglo-German relations.

On the other hand, it is possible that German industrial interests are likely to favor the establishment of the Arcos here in the interests of Russian trade.

JAP WILL TRY PACIFIC FLIGHT

Head of Aviation School Is Sure He Can Make Long Flight.

TOKIO TO SEATTLE.

HONOLULU, May 28 (United Press)—K. Ando, a leading Japanese civilian aviator, intends to attempt a non-stop flight from Tokio to Seattle within the next few weeks, according to a radio dispatch from Tokio to Hawaii Hochi Sha, a Japanese newspaper here.

"I have a powerful sea plane in which I can easily negotiate the 4,500 miles," Ando declared. He conducts an aviation school near Nagoya.

According to Hochi's information Ando seems assured of adequate financial backing. The aviator was quoted as saying that the United States "has all the fame in aviation and it is time Japan asserts her supremacy in the air."

The flier refuses to consider the possibility of failure, maintaining the flight is a simple one.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE SUN GOES WEST

I used to lie awake at night
And think about the day's distress,
Yet never made one wrong thing right
And never made one hurt the less.
When other folks were fast asleep
I used to lie awake and weep,
And rise upon a morning dreary,
Heart-hungry still, and body-weary.

My window faced the fading west,
Looked out upon the world around;
And then the reason of unrest
One lonely night at last I found;
For I had watched the sunset skies,
For I had looked where daylight dies,
Yet had not seen, when dark descended,
The things of this to-day were ended.

The sun goes west. Oh, let it bear
Day's troubles with it when it goes,
The words unkind, the grief, the care,
Where no one hears and no one knows.
Now, when I see the setting sun,
I know that all this day is done,
And sleep without a thought of sorrow,
To dream about a fresh tomorrow.

Five Men Killed In Mine Explosion

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 28 (AP)—Five men were killed at the Delagua mine ,12 miles from here, yesterday when an explosion occurred in No. 3 shaft, badly wrecking the opening of the mine and broke windows out of nearby buildings.

One hundred and twenty-seven other miners at work escaped through an air shaft at the other end of the mine. The mine is owned by the Victor American Fuel Company.

WILL LEAVE FOR BRUSSELS TO-DAY

Lindbergh To Leave French Capital After Week of Triumphs.

PARIS, May 28. — Canadian Press —Captain Charles Lindbergh, still scheduled for more triumphs last night was closing the greatest week of hero worship that any young man of his age has ever experienced.

To-day the young aviator, who left New York last Friday and arrived in Paris on Saturday night, will leave the French capital, after having received such adulation as almost to defy comparison.

Heaped with all the honors that the French people and their government could bestow upon him, the slim son of the middle west will climb into his historic monoplane to fly to Brussels, where another really royal welcome has been prepared by King Albert of Belgium and his people.

Captain Lindbergh will leave the soil of France a little after noon, from the field at Le Bourget, on which he brought "the Spirit of St. Louis" to rest last Sunday night at the end of his triumphant non-stop flight from New York. It is his intention to circle for half an hour or so above Paris, and then turn the nose of his plane towards Belgium, leaving behind him the capital that has made a hero of him for seven days and seven nights.

Captain Lindbergh is leaving Paris in a great blaze of glory. He has not worn out his welcome, however worn out his body may be. Yesterday, indeed, he was busier receiving honors from the high and the cheers from the people than he has been at any time since the soul stirring instant when he brought his monoplane out of darkness on the Le Bourget flying field.

Paris has praised him as no young foreigner was ever praised by the French. From the president of the Republic he has received the Legion of Honor; two members of the Cabinet have been his hosts at luncheon, and every other member of the Cabinet, including Premier Poincare, has personally congratulated him on his exploit.

REBEKAHS HOLD SOCIAL.

Good Programme Given at Anniversary of Loch Lomond Lodge.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28.—The fourth anniversary of Loch Lomond Lodge of Rebekah's was fittingly celebrated here on Thursday night. A large and varied program was excellently rendered and immensely enjoyed by the many present. Tasty refreshments were served and there was a riot of color in the flower decorations of the hall. It was 2 o'clock in the morning when this very interesting anniversary celebration was brought to a close.

OLD MASTERS

From too much love of living,
From hope and fear set free,
We thank with brief thanksgiving
Whatever gods may be,
That no life lives forever;
That dead men rise up never;
That even the weariest river
Wind somewhere safe to sea.

Then star nor sun shall waken,
Nor any change of light;
Nor sound of waters shaken;
Nor any sound or sight;
Nor wintry leaves nor vernal,
Nor days nor things diurnal;
Only the sleep eternal
In an eternal night.
—Algernon Charles Swinburne: from "The Garden of Proserpine."

NEW PASTOR WELL KNOWN

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe Has Had Charge of Two Churches.

STUDENT AT COLGATE.

Rev. Joseph H. Sutcliffe of Colgate University, Hamilton, New York, has accepted an invitation from Murray Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, to become pastor of the church.

Mr. Sutcliffe was born in Philadelphia, Pa., of English parentage and received his primary education in the public schools of that place. In 1920 he graduated from Keystone Academy, Factoryville, Pa., and from 1921 to 1924 he was student pastor of Waterville Church, New York, during the time he was taking his theology course in Colgate University, from which he received his B.Th. degree in 1924.

He became pastor of the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church, Troy, N. Y., in 1924, and was ordained soon after entering on the pastoral duties there. He remained in Troy until 1926 and has received the highest commendation for the splendid character of the work he did while in that charge. He left Troy church to continue his studies at Colgate University, and expects to receive his M.A. degree in June.

Mr. Sutcliffe is a married man with one child, and he will be moving to Peterborough so as to be in a position to undertake the duties of the Murray Street pastorate on August 1st.

VOTE UNION OF TWO SCOTTISH CHURCHES

Restoration of Old Church of Scotland Under New Constitution.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 28 (Canadian Press)—Union of the two separated Scottish churches and the restoration of the old church of Scotland under a new constitution, was voted by large majorities by the assemblies of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland meeting separately.

A spokesman of the United Free Church, explained that with the emancipation of the church from interference by the civil authorities there was no longer any barrier to union.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS HELP A PRIZE WINNER

Baby's Own Tablets are without an equal for little ones. From the new-born babe to the growing child they are an absolute safeguard to health. Once a mother has used them she will use nothing else. Thousands of mothers always keep them on hand.

Among the mothers who state that Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for little ones that they know of is Mrs. Russell Hill, of Norwood, Ont. Her experience with the Tablets should be of great benefit to any mother who has not already given the Tablets a trial. Mrs. Hill says:—"I have five fine healthy children, and from the youngest to the oldest they get no other medicine but Baby's Own Tablets. When our baby girl was eleven months old she won second prize at the Norwood Fair, and when she was a year older she won first prize in competition with twenti-eight other babies. It was the Tablets that gave her the health and development to carry off these prizes. I always delight in telling other mothers what the Tablets have done for my children."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FINDS JAWBONE.

MILES CITY, Mont., May 26. — Emil Anderson a rancher, is wondering whether his land was formerly occupied by unusually windy politicians or by prehistoric monsters. He has just found a jawbone three feet long embedded in the bank of a river on his place.

Queen Visits Mother Of Missing Aviator

PARIS, May 27 (United Press). —The Queen of Belgium visited the mother of Charles Nungesser, the missing French aviator, yesterday, to express sympathy over the fate of her son.

Thinks Wheat Pools Should Co-operate

EDMONTON, Alta., May 28.—(Canadian Press). — That the wheat pools of Canada could work in conjunction with the pools of Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa in the marketing of wheat to the United Kingdom and to Europe, is the firm opinion of Hon. T. H. Bath of Perth, Western Australia, one of that State's delegation to the International Wheat Conference held recently in Kansas City. Mr. Bath is in Edmonton at present on his way home.

Nobody at the great Kansas City gathering went there with any idea of the establishment of a world pool for the marketing of wheat, added Mr. Bath, but as a result of the discussions, he and his fellow-delegates from Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa felt that there were great possibilities ahead for a co-operative marketing movement between those countries and the Canadian pools.

EXPRESSES REGRET BREAK WITH SOVIET

MARGATE, Kent, England, May 28 (Associated Press).—Former Premier David Lloyd George, addressing a Liberal demonstration here last night, expressed great regret for the break in Anglo-Russian relations.

"Having broken relations," he exclaimed, "what's left? There is only one thing left, that is, the thunderbolt of war. What folly! What madness!"

Referring to rumors that the Trade Union Bill and the break with Russia meant the dissolution of Parliament and a general election, Lloyd George said that he doubted whether even Premier Baldwin knows in advance what he is going to do.

The former Premier bewailed the failure to pass the Irish Home Rule when it was first introduced because, he said, had Home Rule been on the State books in 1914, "we shouldn't have had the Great War, for it was owing to the quarrelling at home and the threat of civil war that the German staff arrived at the decision that Britain was out of the reckoning."

FINED $100.

Canadan Boy Singer Convicted On Charge of Passing Worthless Checks.

GRAND FORKS, N.D., May 28 (Canadian Press)—Cyril Rice, Canadian boy singer, was fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in jail yesterday for passing worthless checks. Rice, who escaped from a deputy at Bagley, Minn., while being returned here from Ashland, Wis., was recaptured near Bemidji, last night. He said that he broke away from the deputy because he has a "great disliking for jails."

CONVENIENT NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO POINTS WEST OF TORONTO VIA CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

The popular fast afternoon train of the Canadian National Railways from Montreal to Toronto, the "Inter-City Limited," is now operating daily instead of daily except Sunday as heretofore. This train, arriving Toronto 8.30 p.m., makes excellent connection with the New Toronto-Chicago train, the "Maple Leaf," leaving Toronto 8.55 p.m., arriving Chicago 10.15 a.m. following morning.

It also provides convenient additional service from points east of Toronto, such as Brockville, Gananoque, Kingston, Napanee, Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa and Whitby and to points in Western Ontario, such as Hamilton, Brantford, Woodstock and London.

The "Inter-City Limited" carries a standard sleeping car Montreal to Chicago for the benefit of through passengers and a radio-equipped observation parlor car Montreal to London, which latter will be attractive to those not going further west. Both these cars operate on the "Maple Leaf" from Toronto.

Tickets, reservations and further information may be secured from your nearest Canadian National Agent.

FLOOD EXTENDS ITS DOMINION

Over 200 Square Miles in One Parish Covered.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 28. — (United Press.) — More than 200 square miles in Pointe Coupee parish was covered with flood waters yesterday and thousands were made homeless.

Hundreds on the upper tip of the parish were marooned, but were being rapidly removed to safety by small power boats which ply through the flooded section. No casualties have been reported, and it was believed all those marooned would be moved to safety shortly.

Flood waters pouring into Pointe Coupee parish are from crevasses on the Atchafalaya river, which is widening hourly.

Most of the residents caught by the water had failed to heed warnings to flee. The majority of the home owners, however, migrated.

Water yesterday was spreading over parts of Iberia and Assumption parishes and several small towns were in the path of the flood.

The break in the crevasse is more than 100 miles from New Orleans.

ITALIAN STEAMER TOWING AIRPLANE

Definite Word of Pinedo's Safety—Headed For Horta.

LISBON, Portugal, May 28.—(Canadian Press.)—The Italian steamship Superga, with Commander Francesco de Pinedo's seaplane in tow, last night was slowly making way toward Horta in the Azores. When last reported, the vessel was about 90 miles distant.

A radio message from the vessel, aboard which the Italian aviators have been taken, said the progress of the ship was slow because of the rough seas and winds and the desire to avoid further damage to the seaplane, one of whose wings already was broken. The message added that it was impossible to estimate when the Superga would arrive at Horta.

WEAK, LISTLESS GIRLS

Need Such a Tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills To Restore Health.

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and sallow ,especially if at the same time she shows inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply. But an anaylsis of the blood is not needed—the physical signs are plain. Among these signs are a pallor of the cheeks and lips, dark circles under the eyes, easily tired and breathless after slight exertion. Poor appetite, headaches, and sometimes fainting spells follow; often the patient is nervous and is startled at the least noise. In all run-down conditions there is no other tonic will build you up so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statement of Miss Dorothy Lumblin, Bush Island, N.S., will bring hope to other weak girls. She says:—"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is in a run-down condition to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. About a year ago I was a weak girl suffering from impoverished blood and run-down system, with many of the attendant symptoms. I had often read of Dr. Williams Pink Pills and decided to take them, and after using six boxes I feel as well and strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my standby in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to others."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEW FORD CAR IS ANNOUNCED

Production of a Different Low-Priced Type To Be Begun Soon.

ISSUE STATEMENT.

DETROIT, May 28. — The Ford Motor Company issued the following statement yesterday regarding its plans for the production of a new Ford car:

"Early production of a new Ford car superior in design and performance to any now available in the low-priced, light car field, was announced to-day by the Ford Motor Company.

"Henry Ford, designer of the car, and Edsel Ford, president of the company, both said that within the next few weeks they will give a complete description of the new model.

"The famous Model T Ford, which still leads the automobile industry after 20 years of manufacture, will continue to be a substantial factor in Ford production, in view of the fact that about 10,000,000 cars of this model are still in use and will require replacement parts and servicement.

"'The Model T car was a pioneer,' said Henry Ford to-day. There was no conscious need of motor cars when we first made it. There were few good roads. This car blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It is still the pioneer car in many parts of the world, which are just beginning to be motorized. But conditions in this country have so greatly changed that further refinement in motor car construction is now desirable and our new model is a recognition of this."

ENTER PROTEST.

Asking Immigration Department To Exercise Careful Distribution of Immigrants.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 28 (Canadian Press)—A protest, asking that the Dominion Immigration Department exercise a more careful supervision with respect to distribution of incoming immigrants, was made yesterday to the Federal government by the provincial authorities.

Because no provisions had been made for caring for immigrants after their arrival, many of them were congregating in the cities where they found themselves without employment.

Hon. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works, said the situation was becoming aggravated in the urban centres of Manitoba.

ALL SAINTS' S. S.

Joint Services To Be Held With Church During Summer.

To-morrow morning the members of All Saints' Sunday school will begin their summer schedule, meeting at 11 a.m. at the same hours as morning prayer. Primary Sunday school will meet in the Parish Hall, while the other classes will assemble in the church for the first part of the regular service, dismissing into their various classes for the teaching of the lesson.

CANADA IS A NATION.

Canada is a nation, some day in the near future she will be a great nation, and it is within the range of possibilities that she will be the greatest unit of the British Empire. It is a wonderful country, a country, of unlimited resources and magnificent possibilities. As a nation she celebrates her sixtieth anniversary this year. What better way for you to celebrate it then by taking a trip "Across Canada and Back", and seeing for yourself the reason for this optimism about the future. Prof. Laird of Macdonald College, Que., has arranged with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a special train of sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 25th, cross the continent and get back to Toronto on August 15th, and in that space of 21 days to see all the principal cities, and the noted beauty spots of the West. After Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and the principal cities of the prairies,there is the magnificence of the Rockies, and those famous beauty spots, Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and Yoho Valley. Then there are two wonderful motor drives, from Banff to Windermere 104 miles, and from Field to Lake Louise 40 miles. The Kootenay district of which Nelson is the capital, and Okanagan Valley fruit country in which is located Penticton will be visited, and Vancouver and Victoria, those rapidly growing Pacific Coast cities, will delight everyone.

An illustrated booklet descriptive of the tour is now ready, and can be had on application to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, or to Prof. Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By Geo. McManus

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

THE NONSUCH PROFESSOR has been spending some time at the manse, during which he has regaled me with some of the finest food for mind and heart. Friendship is one of life's treasures which may be as much the property of the poor as of the rich. And poor though I be, I have always counted myself rich in my friends! The friendship of this old sage and saint has been one of the rarest blessings ever bestowed upon one who often site musing at a manse window. We talked about many things of a more personal nature over which I shall let the curtain of silence rest; but there was one thing of a wider interest, which kept us talking far into the night, which I am going to set forth here in the hope that it may be of as much interest to others as it has been to me. He was endesvoring to prove to me why a Christian should do more than others, and took for his text these words. "What do ye more than others?" (Matt. 5:47).

THE LAW.

In a mountain the law was propounded to Moses, in a mountain the law was expounded by Jesus; the former to a man of God, the latter by the Son of God; the one to a prophet of the Lord, the other by the Lord of the prophets. As the works of Christ were miraculous, so the words of Christ were mysterious; toey were such a depth which none could sound but those whom God had furnished with the plummet of an enlightened understanding. Before any one can peruse the Scriptures to profit the Lamb of God must open the seven seals.

In this chapter the soul-justifying Saviour condemns the self-justifying scribes and pharisees. Never did men make more boast in the law, but never had men less cause. They knew but little as to the letter and less of its spirit. They were better acquainted with the customs of nature than the canons of Scripture. Alas, how shall the blind see when the Seers are blind? They who should have put the eyes of others in had put their own out. The righteous laws of God cannot connive at the unrighteous lives of men; they not only require truth without but within also. The rays of this sun enter the most secret chambers of the heart; therefore, he is a murderer whose heart is full of hatred though his hands be free from violence.

BEGINNING WRONG.

He who begins religion where it should end will end religion where it should be begun. But as the suburbs direct to the city, and the portal leads to the palace, so the context will guide us to the text.

As he talked and I listened I thought to myself: What would I not have given to have had you for my professor in homiletics. With you for an instructor in those formative years, how much richer would my ministry have been afterwards!

"If ye love them that love you, what reward have you? Do not the publicans the same?"

As an echo returns the voice it receives, so many will show kindness where kindness is shown; but shall publicans be as godly as the Lord's disciples? Shall the sons of men equalize the sons of God? Shall the law of nature swell to so high a tide as the law of grace? This were for the dribbling rivulet to vie with the drowning ocean; this were for royalty to degenerate into beggary; and for the meridian sun to yield no more light than midnight shades.

"If you salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others?"

With an earnest look in his eyes, he said: I shall not curiously dissect these words lest I should present to your view a frightful skeleton; nor shall I lavishly paint these windows lest my deep colors should put out the light. The native comeliness of Scripture scorns the unnatural color of a bewitching Jezebel. One rough diamond is of more value than many smooth counterfeits. My subject treats not of oratory, but divinity; and my design in it is rather to express affections than to affect expressions. Though the sweetness of the sauce may yield pleasure to the palate, yet it is only the soundness of the meat that can administer nourishment to the blood. This text is like a precious jewel, small in quantity but great in quality. It enjoins you, not only to salute your friends, but your enemies also. Party esteem is but withered fruit, and falls rather from Sodom's than Sion's trees.

SINGULAR CHRISTIANS.

"What do ye more than others?"

I have always known that in these words as uttered by our Lord there was a question proposed which plays the part of scales or batances in which our motives as well as our actions were weighed. But the quaint way in which my friend the professor discussed these words gripped my imagination. He said: "Take these words for a text some morning and ask the people what abundant or singular thing do ye?" It will always be true that singular Christians will perform singular actions. This is the well from which I shall draw the water, and the foundation upon which I shall raise the superstructure. You cannot rationally imagine that you will be supplied with bitter streams from so sweet a spring, or that I should make a bowing wall or tottering fence with such choice materials. Those who collect pearls from this spot will leave as many behind them as they carry away. As the disciples of Christ are more than others, so the disciples of Christ do more than others. A hypocrite may move beyond a Sodomite; but a Christian moves beyond them both. Though the naturally dead can do nothing, yet the spiritually dead may do something. Though they can do nothing to merit the grace of life, yet they may do something as to using the means of life.

LIVING LONG AND DOING LITTLE.

Cicero complains of Homer, "That he taught the gods to live like men," but grace teaches men to live like gods. It is lamentable that we should live so long in the world and do so little for God; or that we should live so short a time in the world and do so much for Satan. Other creatures are not more below a sinner than a saint is above a sinner. Man is the excellency of the creature, the saint is the excellency of man; grace is the excellency of the saint, and glory is the excellency of grace.

THE BEST OF MEN.

Believers are among others as Saul was among the Israelites, the tallest by the head and shoulders. Their birth is truly low who are not born from above. What are such earthly shrubs compared with heavenly cedars; or such thorns of the world's brake to the willows of God's brook? Those trees which have their top branches of hope in heaven will have their lower boughs of activity on earth. Those who look for a heaven made ready, will live as though they were already in heaven. Grace not only makes a man more a man, but it also makes him more than a man. The primitive Christians were the best of men. None were more lowly in their dispositions or more lovely in their conversation. Noah was a just man and perfect in his generation. He was not a sinner among saints, but he was a saint among sinners. Who would have looked for so fair a bird in so foul a nest? Though he once acted as the sons of men do, yet he was numbered with the sons of God. A field of wheat may be good and yet have a weed in it. A saint is not free from sin, that is his burden; a saint is not free to sin, that is his blessing. Sin is in him, that is his lamentation; his soul is not in sin, that is his consolation.

There are some who pretend to believe, but work not; there are others who work, but believe not; but a saint does both: he so obeys the law as if there were no gospel to be believed; and so believes the gospel as though there were no law to be obeyed. Religion consists not singly in believing, or doing, but in both.

Some other day I shall give more of what the professor said. His way of saying things is somewhat quaint; but the quaintness of his speech may be an asset instead of a liability.

—Allan Fairbairn.

Strong Speech

WE live in an age that is most censorious, and yet in an age that is least religious: where there are any faults, men are more skilful to find them, than careful to mend them. But shall we turn the sun into darkness because of its motes or the moon into blood because of her spots? It is in vain to look for clear light where God Himself will have a shadow. Good meats displease none but distempered palates; and must wholesome dishes be barred the table, because they offend aguish stomachs?

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

Cheapening Life.

PREACHING on "The Symmetry of Life" at the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Conn., the rector of Grace Episcopal Church, New York, gave the following diagnosis of recent student suicides:

"Lacking a sense of life as something high, we have made it seem so mean and cheap that even boys and girls who ought to feel life beautiful are sometimes sick of bearing it. They have never been taught to understand the real dimensions in which life ought to move; and the very instinct in them which might make their living high and fine, being smothered and denied, turns into the poison of blind discontent."

It is the truth of this indictment that hurts! We know that the much talked of revolt of youth is largely due to the loose thinking and low-level living of those who ought to know better and act differently.

Our Ignorance of Heaven.

ACCORDING to Dr. Buchanan, the question as to whether heaven is an actual place or a state of mind is left unanswered by the Bible. The limits that God has put upon us here are necessary. There is a curtain between us and God like the curtain in a playhouse. When the curtain goes up we shall see Him as He is. As an unborn baby cannot understand the pleasures of life, so we cannot understand the future life.

Does the Ass Still Speak?

WHEN a minister, even a Unitarian minister, speaks as one has just spoken in New York one scarcely knows whether to label it blasphemy or the impertinence of ignorance. It is an accepted fact that on one occasion an ass did speak! But a comparison of what the ass said with the utterance of this minister seems to me for intelligence and devoutness to be all in favor of the ass. If you are interested and want to know what the ass did say you will find it recorded in Numbers 22:28; and The New York Times tells us what the minister said:

"The character of Jesus and the greatness of his teachings are both highly exaggerated in the current Christian view. Jesus, even in the gospels, is not an ideal character. Much of his teaching is both unreasonable and untrue. Taking the gospel representations, we must regard him as a religious enthusiast, with a touch of insanity. A person who should make such statements as the gospels ascribe to Jesus would be regarded as a megalomaniac. It is often said by defenders of the doctrine of the deity of Jesus that He was either what He claimed to be or else the world's greatest impostor. But neither of these views is a necessary alternative. He was sincerely deluded, as many another religious leader has been."

Profit in Our Losses.

IF life teaches anything it certainly instructs us never to yield our confidence in the triumph of the best over the inferior. The unexpected change is often the fortunate chance. Our spiritual sportsmanship is being appealed to, if we but knew it, and our response is the vital thing at the moment. That is the meaning of the strange truth that often there is more gain in our losses than in the interest on our savings. It is not an easy philosophy to learn, but it has its place in real life, and we should be ready for it, if it comes our way. Thus spake Dr. Reiland, rector of one of New York's leading Episcopal churches.

Unrest and Fear.

MY friend, the rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New York, preached a sermon on "Casting Out Fear" the other Sunday from which I am culling some things which deserve an even wider publicity than they have got. Among other good things, he said that of all base passions fear is the most accursed, that fear which is based upon a perverted idea of God and of man's relation to God, that it is only the things we can handle and see that are the things that really matter for man's life. The cause of the unrest which is prevailing everywhere has first its origin in nothing less than fear, the fear in individuals, in classes, which breeds suspicion and sees an enemy in a rival, that suspicion which very soon becomes envy, hatred, ill-will, and which finds its expression in war, even though we say it is peace.

Children's Corner — TELL US A STORY

WHEN Athens was ruled by the thirty tyrants, Socrates the philosopher was summoned to the Senate House, and ordered to go with some other persons, whom they named, to seize a certain man of rank and fortune whom they had determined to put out of the way, in order that they might enjoy his estate. This commission Socrates flatly refused, and, not satisfied therewith, added also his reasons for refusal. "I will never willingly," he said, "assist in an unjust act." Cherides sharply replied, "Dost thou think, Socrates, to talk always in this style and not to suffer?" "Far from it," replied he. "I expect to suffer a thousand ills, but none so great as to do unjustly."

ALL AT IT

IT WAS always a puzzle to me how one man could preach and get three thousand converts at a single service, but Peter and his Pentecost are no mystery now. Of course I knew it was because of the Holy Ghost poured out, and yet I knew, with all that, there must be some secret to the wonderful success. And secret there is, and it's bound up in the one hundred and nineteen, who, with Peter, made the one hundred and twenty in the upper room. They went out, as well as Peter, full of the Spirit, and without waiting to ask if those they met belonged to their town. They began to tell of the wonderful works of God. On an average, I suppose, each spoke to about twenty-five people. Men and women ablaze with holy zeal, anxious for souls, full of faith, bold and courageous, followed up their mighty prayer-meeting with personal work. Then evidently came the discourse of Peter with its glorious harvest. Hearken! I believe it, as much as I believe the sun rises in the east, that if a Preacher, Teacher, Evangelist, or chosen worker of God by any name, can get one hundred and nineteen to join him in ten days of prayer, and then follow with a bold dash of pointed personal Christian work, followed by a sermon on Christ such as is given in Acts 2, then will come another Pentecost.

Try it; oh, try it!

WITHER BOUND

THERE is a deal of serious thought concerning the career of the soul when it can no longer remain in the body. I doubt if there has ever been an age when a solution of spiritual mysteries was more eagerly sought than now, or when mankind had a keener interest in everything pertaining to the next life. However, glad we may be that we are here, and however anxious to remain as long as possible, we recognize the fact that the swift current is bearing us to eternity, and that fact urges us to discover all we can concerning the to-morrow that lies beyond to-day. Given to us a chart and a compass. Along with these we may have a Guide. That chart and that compass is to be found in the Word of God; and the Guide is God in Christ, our Saviour and Friend. The right attitude to these will give a faith that cannot be shaken an a hope that cannot be dimmed.

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.

—Abraham Lincoln.

IT is toward evening, about the time that men come home when the day's work is done. Where have all the people been today? They are returning to the town in numbers, but instead of the noise that generally goes with a crowd, there is a wonderful silence—the voices are very quiet and subdued, and any excitement showing itself is at once suppressed. They have not been mere sightseers today; they are dusty and toil-stained, and certain things in their hands speak of serious and dangerous work. No enemy is pursuing them, yet the crowd has no appearance of victory or triumph—there is a general air of depression and sorrow abroad, and when a crowd of men look sad there is a great reality in the gloom. Now they approach the town, and every voice is hushed, every footstep as soft as can be. A mournful sound falls upon their ears; they glance upwards, and then at each other. "What we have been told is true indeed," seems to be the thought that each would utter if they dared to speak. And now with the old distress a new feeling shows itself, and across the face of many a one steals a look of disappointment.

Satin Among Saints

"And Satan came also among them." (Job 2:1)

WHENEVER the sons of God come to present themselves before the Lord, Satan is never far from the assembly. It is when hearts are touched to the finer issues of life that the greatest opportunity is presented, both to the spirit of God and the spirit of evil. Thus it is that our holiest hours are frequently invaded by unspeakable temptations. He who lives closest to God becomes a target for the fiery darts of the devil, who knows well that if such a man can be laid low the kingdom of darkness loses a potent foe. The strategic design in every temptation is the thwarting of powerful hostility to organized evil and the frustration of blessing to the world.

Temptation takes many forms; and so skilful is the adversary in disguising himself, that often the very elect are themselves deceived. When the tempter comes as he came to Christians in the Valley, whispering blasphemies, he is easily recognized and repulsed. When, however, he comes as an angel of light, seducing the children of God by fair promises, he is not so readily discovered. Our surest way of avoiding fatal error in this respect is by keeping as close to Christ and to His word as may be. This is both our responsibility and our safeguard. For He who is our surety both answers for us and empowers us to overcome. A positive instinct is created and strengthened by union with Him, so that the enemy is discerned through his disguises and put to flight without parley. Thus is true growth in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord.

FAITH

FAITH in man is a duty as well as faith in God; in fact, our general conduct every day in our intercourse with our fellow-beings depends at every turn on our faith in our fellow-beings. When that faith ceases, society ceases with it, and a rule not of men with moral natures but of tigers and foxes in the guise of men, commences with it.

Childhood Coronation

FOR childhood at least, the new age dawned when He, whom men thought a celestial person, came according to their apprehension, from the heavens to the earth, not in the fulness of power and supremacy, but amid the very humblest conditions which ever invest a human birth. That was, for the world, the coronation of childhood; and from that time, not only the cruel abandonment of it by parents has been made impossible, but the shelter of its weakness, the culture of its delicate but prophesying power, have been chief ends in all the societies into which the inspiration of Jesus has entered.

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1927.

SIR JOHN WILLISON.

The death of Sir John Willison brings to an end a career crowded with useful activities and studded with triumphs.

Sir John Willison was one of Canada's most distinguished journalists, a virile forcible writer whose opinions were generally respected and whose pen was always used on behalf of a better and more prosperous Canada.

First editor of The Toronto Globe, then for fifteen years editor of The Toronto News, promoter of the Canadian Press Association, Canadian correspondent of The London Times, Chairman of the Ontario Commission on Unemployment (1914-16), Chairman of the Ontario Housing Commission (1918-19), President of the Canadian Reconstruction Association—these were some of the important positions in which he contributed great service to his fellow-citizens.

His knighthood in 1913 by His Majesty King George was an honour richly earned by Sir John's outstanding record as an editor and journalist.

Among the most important of his books is, "Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal Party, a Political History."

Sir John's last contribution to Canadian literature was the founding of the monthly which bears his name.

In his passing this country has lost a great journalist and a great citizen.

JOE PARROTT PASSES.

Joe Parrott has passed on, and with his going a well-known figure in Peterborough's down-town life has disappeared forever.

Nearly everybody knew Joe and his unique place of business in a Hunter street alley-way, where in all kinds of weather he sold chocolate bars and cigarettes, shoe laces and other small wares.

He was a daily topic for the down-hearted and the pessimistic.

Crippled so badly that he got about by means of a wheeled chair, Joe Parrott might have been pardoned if he had given up the fight to earn his own living or if his outlook on life had grown sour.

But he was not built that way.

His little outdoor store enabled him to support himself, and he had an inexhaustible reserve of cheerful optimism that kept him ever bright no matter how gloomy the weather.

No customer ever heard him complain; he had a cheery word and a smile for all who passed his way and that Hunter street alley-way will lack something henceforth.

The brightness that radiated from a personality big enough to triumph over the bludgeoning of fate is gone.

But the memory of Joe Parrott's cheerful fight against circumstances will live on to encourage others who may be inclined to feel that life is dealing harshly with them.

NEXT WEEK'S CONVENTION.

Peterborough is to be honoured next week by being given the opportunity to act as host to several hundred delegates to the Ontario Provincial convention of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League.

The local committee should have every assistance in entertaining these worth-while visitors.

The merchants particularly, it is hoped, will co-operate not only by arranging to have their flags flying during the three days of the convention but also by seeing to it that their windows are appropriately decorated for the occasion.

The visit of two or three hundred selected representatives of the thousands of Ontario men who fought in the Great War is an event of importance, and nothing that will tend to convince the delegates that Peterborough is genuinely glad to welcome them should be neglected.

Outstanding among those who will attend the convention is General Sir Richard Turner, the well-known Canadian soldier who won the Victoria Cross in the South African war, and who played a prominent part in the Great War.

The Canadian Legion, part of an Empire-wide league of ex-service men, should contribute very useful service to Canada's veterans, and Peterborough should be proud to have the Ontario convention of this important body meet here.

DRIVERS' LICENSES.

Ontario will on July 1st launch a new policy designed to create safer driving conditions.

After that date every motor car driver in the Province will be required to have a license.

Those who have been driving a car for six months and have driven at least 500 miles will be furnished with a license without examination, but new drivers will have to pass a rigid test under the observation of competent examiners before they will be given permission to operate a car in this Province.

The new regulations, it should be understood, do not mean simply a driving license for the car; they make it necessary for every person who intends to drive to pay $1.00 for a license.

Thus if three members of a family are accustomed to drive all three will have to be licensed.

So far as new drivers are concerned, the licensing system should prove of considerable benefit, but it is to be feared that many people now driving cars could not pass an examination if they were to be called upon to do so.

However, the fact that all drivers are under license will give the Provincial authorities better control over motorists, and people who by reckless or careless driving show themselves unfit to operate a car are likely to find the privilege of driving suddenly taken away from them.

Incidentally, the license system will add at least half a million dollars to the Provincial revenue.

CANADIANS ALL.

Members of the Loggia Generale Umberto Nobile of the Ordine Figli d'Italia observed Empire Day and the anniversary of the Italian entrance into the World War with impressive war ceremonies yesterday.

Border Italians paraded to the Cenotaph at Giles boulevard and Ouellette avenue. Flags of Canada and Italy were carried at the fore of the procession. A wreath was deposited on the memorial as a tribute to those who had given their lives in the war. Speeches were made by prominent Italians, Edmond G. Odette, M.P., Mayor Cecil E. Jackson, and members of the Council.

Every speaker, both Italian-born and Canadian-born, stressed the citizenship of true Canadians. The Canadianism of the coming generations was looked upon as the great factor in the building up of Canada, the new country. The old land would never be forgotten. But the new land is the land where a livelihood is gained, and the land to which loyalty and patriotism is due.

The people of Italy have much to bring to Canada. Their country is steeped in historic achievement. The glory of the Caesars. The art of the masters. The home of the opera. The land of authors. The birthplace of philosophers. Italy is indeed a homeland of which any man might be proud. And the Italy of today is rapidly becoming one of the foremost nations in Europe. Italians are forging on to accomplishments that will rival the greatest deeds of their forefathers.

These things the people of Italy bring to us. They will merge these glories into the customs of the new land. They will take on the attributes of Canadians. The Italians will become our own, and we will become theirs. And in the process of assimilation Canadians will gain something from the people of Italy, even as they will gain from us.

The members of Umberto Nobile lodge are to be congratulated. They are striving to raise the ideals of citizenship in Canada. They have the heartfelt good wishes of every true Canadian.—Border Cities Star.

OUR CHINESE BROTHERS.

The world never seems so busy but somebody has time to take up some "cause" or other.

Down Montreal way is an organization calling itself the "Hands Off China Council." The Council issues a "Hands Off China Weekly," but who the members of the Council are does not appear in the four-page sheet which has come into this office.

However, we note that the Council has a double-barreled slogan: "China for the Chinese," and "Refuse to Fight Your Chinese Brothers."

We have never heard of any Britishers who want to fight their Chinese "brothers." Nor have we noted much of "brotherly" feeling on the part of Chinamen in China—or Chinamen in Canada for that matter—towards British people; not even towards missionaries.

Among other things, the Council demands: Full diplomatic recognition of the Nationalist Government in China; non-participation by Canada in preparations for war.

Perhaps the other nations will give full diplomatic recognition to the Nationalist Government in China when the Chinese people themselves recognize it. Meantime, can anybody tell where or what is the Nationalist Government in China?

Nor does there seem to have been any war-like preparations in Canada.

Throughout the Weekly there are phrases such as "the brutal gunboat diplomacy of Great Britain," "typical British brutality," and other expressions detrimental to the humane instincts of the British or almost any other civilized nation.

Of course, the Weekly omits to mention such trifling incidents as the murder of peaceful Canadian missionaries, men and women, or the ill-treatment of them. There appears to be no such thing as "typical Chinese brutality."

And yet, but for the presence of the soldiers of "the imperialistic powers," as the Weekly calls them, there would have been a wholesale slaughter of Canadian, British, American and other citizens. Not a single soldier was sent to China for the purpose of shooting anybody. Their sole function was, and is, to protect the lives of our own people. Even under deliberate provocation the troops did not fire a shot; they simply jabbed the front ranks of the mobs with the butt ends of their rifles, or, as "Big Bill" Thompson might put it, they used their fists and "busted a few Chinamen on the snoot."

The Weekly has much to say about the "capitalistic exploitation" of China. But it forgets that but for the foreign capital which gave China railways, electric street cars, electric light, water supplies, and a host of other public services, China would still be as much in the dark as she was a thousand years ago.

All the economic and social progress that China enjoys she owes to the "foreign devils" who risked their capital in China and were given certain rights so as to ensure the repayment of the money. These powers are quite agreed that some of those concessions should now be revised.

The Weekly speaks of the time "when the inevitable declaration of war takes place." Well, war certainly does not seem inevitable. If ever any fighting has to be done, it will be because the Chinaman starts to slaughter innocent citizens on a general scale.

However, affairs in China seem to be petering out, and when it does, the "Hands Off China Council" and its Weekly will peter out too.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

MUSIC BY THE LIGHT SOCKET

By Dr. Frank Crane.

It is now announced by the press that the electric light socket will become a thrust for the radio.

All you will have to do will be to plug in on an ordinary light socket and you can hear music furnished by the special program people and thus your electrical equipment will furnish you light and sound at will.

The messages will not come through the air, but along the electric wire, and will be delivered to the electric cables through microphones by a special process at certain central offices.

It is proposed to pay for the expense of this by charging the user of the device a small rental.

This intrigues the imagination. The radio itself was a wonderful thing and how any one could bring a little box into his room anywhere or carry it in his automobile and have it catch the whispered messages of the air for him is something still to marvel at.

There seems to be no limit to the uses to which electricity may be put. Some people say that life itself is but a form of electric energy. Certain it is that the whole universe is filled with this strange power we call electricity.

No man knows what it is. He can only tell how it acts. It is like the wind, "Thou knowest not where it cometh nor where it goeth, but only hearest the sound thereof."

Electricity is more and more entering into the field of transportation. Automobiles are thick throughout the country and electric trains in some sections carry passengers.

More marvelous than this, however, is to see a huge load of sand or brick whisked along the highway by electric power.

There seems to be no limit to the capabilities of this strong giant. Since the days when Franklin drew the electric fluid from the clouds by a kite and a silken string down to the present time, electricity has amazed mankind by its development.

The transportation of power through the air without wires is not a remote possibility.

The coming age may well be called an electric age just as the past was the age of steam and coal.

The electric battery, storage battery, for moving automobiles and tram cars has not been perfected so as to become universally practicable, but the end is in sight and some of the most ingenious minds of the race are engaged in the problem

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 28.—The holiday on Tuesday of this week probably reduced the total receipts enough at all events to account for the slightly higher prices paid for the choices butcher cattle offering in Monday's market. The advance was fully maintained in subsequent markets. Fancy loads sold late in the week up to $9.75.

Choice butchers' heifers, $8.75 to $9 Good killing cattle, $8.50 to $8.75. Fat cows were in good demand, choice selling at $7 to $7.50, with the odd cow higher. Good sows, $6.50 to $6.75; medium, $5.75 to $6; canners and cutters met with good trading at steady prices. Baby beeves were numerous and quality very good, tops selling at 11 to 11½c; 10 to 10½c; medium kinds, 8 to 9c; choice butchers' bulls of the lightweight type sold readily at 6½ to 7c; good heavy butchers' bulls, including export type, $5.75 to $6.25.

Heavy coarse types of cattle are less in demand than the lighter well finished types.

Springers and milkers—There is a good demand for choice springers at from $90 to $115, with a few fancy at $120 to $125; good springers, $70 to $85; choice milkers, $75 to $90; good, $60 to $70; common milkers hard to dispose of.

Stockers and feeders—One load of western steers sold at $7.40, fairly breedy, but quite thin. Stockers and feeders are becoming scarcer.

Calves—Market fairly active, prices steady at 11 to 11½c for choice, with the odd fancy sold to local butchers at 12c; good, 9 to 10 cents; medium to common, 6 to 8½c.

Sheep and lambs—Choice spring lambs sold readily, if fat, and over 60 lbs., at $12 to $14; good, 9 to $10; common not wanted at any price. Choice yearling lambs, wool on, at 14 to 14½ cents; clipped, 11 to 12 cents; balance sold as yearlings, 8 to 9 cents, choice butchers' sheep, 6 to 7 cents; good, 5½ to 6 cents; heavy sheep and bucks, 4 to 5 cents; cull sheep, 2½ to 3 cents.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 28 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in grain on the Montreal market yesterday continued dull, and the only sales of importance in the domestic market were a few loads of Tough No. 3 Canadian Western oats at 4¼c per bushel over the Winnipeg July option, c.i.f. Montreal.

Owing to the further advance in corn futures at Chicago, spot prices here for the cash article were marked up 2 to 5 cents per bushel with car lots of Argentine corn quoted at $1.04, and American sample corn at $1.05 per bushel, ex-store. The market for oats was also strong in sympathy with the sharp rise in values at Winnipeg and they were advanced here 2 cents per bushel.

On account of the pronounced strength that developed in the cash wheat situation at Winnipeg yesterday, a decidedly strong feeling featured the local Spring wheat flour market, and prices were marked up another 30 cents per barrel.

In sympathy with the above the market for Winter wheat flour also displayed considerable strength and prices were advanced 20 cents per barrel.

The trade in millfeed was quiet but the undertone was firm. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was inactive, but values were firm.

Prices for all grades of potatoes were firmly maintained under a quiet inquiry. Car lots of Quebec White B grade were offered at $2.50 to $2.60 per bag, and Reds at $2.10 to 2.30 per bag of 90 pounds, in bulk, ex-track.

The egg trade was quiet and the undertone continued easy, but there was no change in prices. The receipts were 1,763 cases.

The butter trade continued quiet but prices were steady. The receipts were 5,130 packages.

A firmer feeling prevailed in the cheese market, which was attributed

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

WILBER YOUR WIG

The beauty culture clan has decided that Americans should wear wigs. A great help for the eyes of the chorus folk who nightly brave the glare off Row A . . . Wigs will be in colors according to moods. Thus at breakfast blue; on the golf course red—but what color is a man supposed to wear when paying the income tax? . . . Many a well-meaning burgomaster in a lapis lazuli toupee shall find himself ostracized because he should wear purple to match the lines in his nose. . . . This wig movement is probably a part of the propaganda to make Nick Longworth president of the United States.

EXERCISING THE EYES

The eyes are constantly used every moment of our waking hours, but, like the rest of the body, the eye muscles are seldom exercised systematically. One who wishes to have strong eyes should know that they can be exercised just the same as an athlete exercises to develop the strength and endurance of any particular set of muscles.

It is a wise thing for everyone to study and practice physical culture movements and exercises for every part of the body. If all the body is developed symmetrically, one is then able to stand any sudden shock or injury and be at all times ready for an emergency.

If the eyes are only required to do the work of reading and making irregular adjustments of seeing objects at different distances, they will not develop their highest degree of strength. The eyesight may be increased and maintained by graduated exercises, if a few minutes' time is taken each day.

Those who do not think that they have any defective vision will, perhaps, not be interested in this article, but should be—if they wish to avoid future trouble. You who are wearing glasses should be interested enough to take them off five minutes during the day and take the following exercises:

Place a checker-board in front of you on the table—about three feet from the eyes. The middle of the board should be about level with the eyes. At the start of this exercising look at the upper left-hand corner—without moving your head, suddenly concentrate your gaze upon the right-hand corner. After two or three seconds, suddenly look directly at the lower right-hand corner—then across to the left hand corner and up again from where you started.

After making a round-trip several times, to these four corners, try jumping the vision diagonally across the board. For instance: Look steadily at the upper left-hand square for two minutes—then suddenly look to the lower right-hand corner. Practice different exercises of a similar kind, looking from one square on the board to another and back, and for several times—each time holding the vision on one particular spot for two or three seconds, during which time the eye muscles will have a chance to adjust themselves.

Next, sit in a fairly large room and practice looking from one object to another; always holding the gaze long enough as I have already instructed.

The next exercises are really not exercises in vision, but will help the circulation through the eyes. With the eyes open, roll them around—looking as far as possible in every direction. Next, look up as high as possible and down as low as possible, shifting the gaze backward and forward rapidly. These movements should be continued for only about 30 seconds and the eyes gently massaged afterwards. A good after-treatment is to apply real cold water to the eyes. This will further stimulate the circulation.

After taking these exercises for about a month, make another call on your optometrist and you will be surprised to find he will tell you your vision is improving. You may then be able to change to weaker glasses or be able to discard them entirely.

Facility to see and know Ontario better

This intangible contribution is the greatest the highways have made

The greatest contribution the good roads have made to Ontario is the facility they provide the people to see and know their own Province better.

Even more valuable than the easier and more convenient transportation they have afforded for merchandise and farm produce is the intangible benefit thus conferred.

Without the highways, the radius of the automobile would scarcely be greater than that of the horse and buggy. We would still be living in a 25 mile circle, except for our trips by train.

But motoring is a more intimate way of travel than by railway train. The motorist comes into closer contact with the country through which he passes, and the people who live there.

Good roads, with motor cars to run on them, make it possible for the people living in one part of this great Province to know the people in other parts. Thus they bring together all sections of the Province and create a better understanding among the people. They enable country dwellers to know the town and they open up to the people of the towns the beauties and pleasures of the country.

Higher Speed Limit means more Caution

The faster moving traffic under the new speed limit thrusts a greater responsibility for caution on automobile drivers.

Recklessness or carelessness in driving, now deserve and will receive more stringent punishment.

Care must continue to be exercised in going through villages, past pedestrians, and at cross roads, railroads, curves and bridges.

Courtesy in traffic is expected.

Ontario Highways have been built safe. The Department relies on motorists to keep them safe. Those who offend the law may expect to be treated as law breakers, even to the extent of imprisonment and loss of license.

Rich Returns in Healthful Pleasure

Every hill opens a panorama of well-tilled farms, industrial towns, market villages, or natural beauty unadorned.

Every valley brings you intimately into touch with colorful nature or the interesting works of man.

Along the highways of your own Province there is scenery which has no parallel. Plan to see Ontario from your car this year.

The highways will bring to your family rich returns in healthful pleasure.

BETHANY PERSONALS

BETHANY, May 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Byers and Mr. Robert Dewell of Oshawa were guests of the McMullen family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rowan spent Sunday with Peterborough friends.

Mr. W. A. Brown spent Sunday with Millbrook friends.

Mrs. R. Howden and Miss Lillian Stoneham of Peterborough spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. William Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown of Grafton spent the 24th in the village and attended the annual field day and concert.

Mrs. Lamb has returned to her home in London, Ont. after spending several months in the village. She was accompanied to her home by her mother, Mrs. William Mulligan who expects to remain for some time.

THEY GET THEIR PERMITS

Although liquor was not available at once, there was a rush at some points for liquor permits under Ontario's new law. Above are shown Mrs. J. Clark and children of Windsor, first woman to receive a permit, an officer inspecting her permit. Below is O. K. Davis, head of the Ontario Moderation League, who was the first to receive a permit. A million permits have been prepared for the first year, the slips being available to tourists also for a $2 fee.

JAPAN MOVING FORCE IN CHINA

Two Thousand Soldiers To Be Transferred From Manchuria To Shantung.

FOR PROTECTION.

TOKIO, Japan, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Orders were issued to-day for 2,000 Japanese troops to proceed from Manchuria to Tsingtao, China, for the purpose of protecting Japanese lives and property in the Shantung railway zone. The troops for the most part will be concentrated at Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung Province.

For Protection Only.

LONDON, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Despatches from Tokio today emphasized that the Government was sending the troops to China merely for protective purposes in the event of emergencies.

The Government is said to be prepared to send a naval force to Tsingtao in Shantung, but warships will not be despatched unless there is need, the Government being determined to adhere to its policy of non-intervention.

AN EASTERN HOLIDAY IN A PLEASANT PLACE.

Pictou Lodge, Pictou, N.S.

Pictou Lodge, near Pictou, Nova Scotia, will solve the problem of your eastern holiday this year. Imagine spending a few weeks by the ocean with a log bungalow colony as a home.

This delightful Lodge caters to those who wish a really different vacation setting. It nestles amongst the pines, and round about are smooth courts for tennis, broad driveways for motoring, swift streams for fishing and a tricky course for worth-while golf.

SPARKS CIRCUS IS HERE JUNE 11

Advance Car Arrived in Peterborough To-day With Billposters.

MANY SPLENDID ACTS.

The Sparks Circus advance car No. 1 arrived in the city today, and the gaily-colored posters announce the coming of this world famous show for afternoon and night performances in Peterborough on Saturday, June 11.

J. M. Randolph is manager of this advertising car and he has with him twenty-five billposters, lithographers, and members of every department of the advance. The car itself is one of the most modern used for this purpose, being seventy feet long and all-steel in construction. Its equipment even includes a motor truck, on which the men make the country routes. Within twenty-four hours there will not be a cross-road within seventy-five miles at which the coming of Sparks' Circus will not be heralded.

Sparks Circus now ranks as the largest tended organization in America, giving a free street parade at 11 a.m., and in equipment and the high merit of its performance it is second to none. Eight hundred people and five hundred horses are carried with the show this season,and it has the largest collection of wild animals now on exhibition.

Among the feature displays are the greatest troupe of educated and high school horses the world has ever known; John Guilfoyle's fighting lions; a group of Polar bears working in the same arena with Great Dane dogs; Frans Woska's twelve tiger act; LaVerne Smith and her group of seven leopards; Sparks' Alaskan seals; the Bibb county pigs; and a notable array of the greatest performers in the circus world, including the famous Riding Guices; the Aerial Walters; Naida Miller, wire artiste; the Alexander Troupe and the Sells Trio-Comedy acrobatic act, and three score famous clowns, headed by Paul Wentzel.

Seats can be secured Circus Day at Bond's Drug Store, at the same price as at the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, May 28.—Mr. Harry Seaborne is the newly appointed policeman, appearing in uniform while on duty for the first time on the night of May 24th.

Mrs. Frank Curtis' condition is improving and hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howse, Toronto, spent Victoria Day at the parental home.

Mr. E. H. Fairbrother, Mr. and Mrs. Spence and Miss Margaret have returned to Toronto after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Fairbrother at their cottage.

TOLSTOY'S 'RESURRECTION' HAS ROD LA ROCQUE AND DOLORES DEL RIO IN CHIEF ROLES.

Tolstoy's "Resurrection," the flesh-and-blood drama of Prince and peasant, love sacred and profane, brings Rod La Rocque and Dolores del Rio to the screen of the Capitol Theatre Monday in the Inspiration-Edwin Carewe film version offered by United Artists.

The most widely read classic of modern times, enjoyed wherever people read books, translated from the Russian of Leo Tolstoy into eleven languages in the past thirty years, "Resurrection" is of unusual interest to film-goers because it is a drama strong and absorbing enough to have made Tolstoy beloved by the masses of the world. Edwin Carewe satisfies a seventeen-year-old ambition at last in bringing to the screen this story, which has fascinated him since he played Prince Dmitri himself in a stock company in Kansas.

Rod La Rocque is the star of "Resurrection," playing the role of the Prince who sinned and sorrowed. Dolores del Rio is Katusha Maslova, the peasant ward of his two maiden aunts, the girl whose love is defiled and sullied, only to be won again through the remorse of the Prince. Miss del Rio is afforded her greatest screen opportunity to date and her work is done under the direction of the same Edwin Carewe who discovered her in Mexico City in 1925.

The very human story of "Resurrection," the film, is identical with that of the novel, no major liberties having been taken, even with the logical ending. There is the despoilation of the Prince's pure love for the peasant maid, the evil companionship and the mad carousing of the Prince at St. Petersburg, and the Prince on the jury that tries Katusha Maslova, the girl he himself has betrayed. Finally, there is that grand march to Siberia, Prince and peasant alike laboring over the steppes as the chains of exiles clank and hoofs thud on the hard-baked roads. The final scenes are exact renditions of those in Tolstoy's novel. Edwin Carewe had in Hollywood the invaluable assistance of Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the author of "Resurrection," while making the film. As a matter of fact, the Count portrays his father in a prologue to the film proper.

The cast includes, aside from Rod La Rocque and Dolores del Rio, Marc McDermott, Clarissa Selwynne, Vera Lewis, Eve Southern and Count Ilya Tolstoy. Rita Carewe, daughter of the director, plays a part. The adaptation was written by Mr. Carewe and Count Tolstoy, the scenario by Finis Fox, and the titles by Tom Miranda. Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and Edwin Carewe jointly present the film through United Artists.

A Bad Case of Eczema

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how relief was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. E. Gibson, Box 1124, Midland, Ont. Write her if you desire. "I had a very bad case of eczema on my face and neck, also scalp. Could not find anything to give me relief. One small bottle of D. D. D. gave me great relief, so then I secured a large bottle, and I am now without a blemish."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Try one $1.00 bottle of D. D. D. today on the positive guarantee. And D. D. D. Soap, too.

"KID BOOTS" HAS CANTOR, GRAY, CLARA BOW IN CAST

For years Broadway claimed Eddie Cantor as its own. A million and a quarter people saw the musical comedy star in "Kid Boots" during its three year New York run.

Now, Paramount, through the medium of a superb motion picture version of Florence Ziegfeld's "Kid Boots," has brought the much lauded show and its star to the screen. "Kid Boots" opens at the Regent Theatre Monday.

Cantor himself is authority for the statement that the screen offers far greater comedy possibilities than the stage. The critical public has acclaimed "Kid Boots" enthusiastically wherever it has been shown, lauding the film as the year's most convincing laugh compeller.

Clean, free-moving comedy, effervescing with funny situations, which clip merrily through a story rent with heart throbs, blend into the picture.

Inimitable Eddie Cantor as the "come-on" of a second-hand store, competing for trade against two burly neighbors, lends ample latitude for the introduction of ingenious comedy. With the entrance of entrancing Clara Bow and her husky would-be lover, Malcolm Waite, Eddie finds himself fairly wallowing in trouble.

The rapid transition of the advancing story to a luxurious apartment, then an exclusive golf club and finally to the court house in a round-about route which winds through city traffic and over mountain trails and cliffs, causes the laughs to build up in elaborate fashion.

Clara Bow is as subtly impertinent and refreshing as ever as the swimming instructress, and "Kid Boots" introduces the heroine of "Mantrap" in a new surprise to her fans — a bathing suit. Other featured players include lovely Billie Dove, and handsome Lawrence Gray. Frank Tuttle directed from Tom Gibson's screen play.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

(Report of M.H.O., Toronto, Continued from Thursday

Objections to Pasteurization

(1) It has been claimed that, all the lactic acid bacilli having been destroyed by pasteurization, the milk will not sour but rots. This is incorrect, as has been repeatedly demonstrated by bacteriological tests. Pasteurized milk will keep longer than unpasteurized milk, but when decomposition starts it sours the same as unpasteurized milk—all the lactic acid bacilli not having been destroyed.

It is interesting to note what the British Minister of Health has to say in his report, which in substance, is as follows:

"In properly pasteurized milk the lactic acid bacilli which survive, ensure that the milk on being kept will go sour like ordinary milk before pasteurization occurs."

(2) Some have expressed the fear that pasteurizing will have a tendency to influence people to relax in their efforts to secure an absolutely clean milk. This is another fallacy. No municipality should countenance the pasteurizing of milk of an unknown source or quality. Milk must be up to a certain standard and free from barnyard contamination, as determined by the dirt test, before being accepted as fit for pasteurization. This is the method used in the Department of Public Health in Toronto. In fact, I can say, without fear of contradiction, that no city on this continent approaching the size of Toronto has a better organization for safe-guarding its milk supply.

(3) Then we occasionally hear the objection to the taste of pasteurized milk, but we hear this proportionately as frequently about certified milk. The complaint usually is, that none of the milk tastes the same as it used to. This complaint is for the most part well founded, but the change in taste is due to the absence of dissolved cow manure, which for generations—until recent years—has been an almost constant ingredient of market milk.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE — CXCII—Weather Follies. — by MAX HAHN

Jungle Breath

COPYRIGHT 1927 by NEA SERVICE

ILLUSTRATED by Paul Kroesen

by Ben Lucien Burman

She was a very beautiful person. Her hair was black; her skin tinged with olive; her eyes possessed that soft luster peculiar to women of the tropics. She saw the old man, to his surprise turned and blew him a kiss, then rode on down the highway.

THE man who said romance was dead must have died without leaving the bed in which he was born. The events which are described here happened to take place in South America; with a few variations allowing for locality they might have occurred in Africa, the interior of Australia, Mongolia or any one of those numerous regions where civilization suddenly stops short and the primitive as suddenly begins. Where a half-clad native comes to a rattle-trap moving-picture show, see American pictures not more than a year old, listens to jazz made on a squeaky American phonograph, then goes off to his home in the jungle which marks the end of the main street and has to be very careful that a tiger does not spring upon him from the bushes or a dark shadow looking like a tree branch suddenly come to life as a huge anaconda searching for a pleasant supper.

I got my first hint of this tragic but fascinating case from a very casual conversation with the conductor of a train of the Brazil Central Railroad when I was going up to Manaos to get some background for a rubber story. It struck me as so vivid and so extraordinary that as soon as I had the opportunity I went to considerable trouble to get as many of the details as possible from anyone left in Porto Verde—or anywhere else for that matter—who could tell me anything.

As a one-time newspaper reporter and editor, specializing in the criminological, I have written or read probably more detective cases than falls to the lot of the average newspaper man; and I have come upon some which could properly be called bizarre. But I did not dream how bizarre and mysterious a case could be until I encountered this. I claim no credit for the narrative. I have merely visualized and tried to put down in as dramatic a fashion as possible what I saw and what I heard from the lips of persons whose authority was unquestioned.

Some few persons who read Spanish or Portuguese may hve seen some mention of the case in South American newspapers; other will not have done so for nations naturally try to suppress news of the calamitous or horrible, just as the official communiques during the war suppressed the news of defeats. In fact, the correspondent of one of the New York newspapers at Rio de Janeiro told me afterwards that he tried to get some word of it through and was gently informed that even though some of the persons concerned were Americans, it would be infinitely more tactful not to send any report.

The curious may find details which I may have passed over in the "Jornal do Commercio," published at Rio de Janeiro or the "La Razon," at Pernambuco. For obvious reasons the names of the Americans involved have been changed. Those of the Brazilians have not. But I am wasting time talking about the story and not telling it.

The case began in Porto Verde, a small town in the more mountainous section of West Central Brazil on one of the lesser tributaries of the Amazon. Despite its smallness, it is really a New York in its cosmopolitanism. Its native population is Brazilian, of course, ranging in color from coal-black to mild-white—the color not always indicating place in society as there is no color line in Brazil. Besides these, are Italians who have come to work on the coffee plantations nearby. Germans who have come to farm, English to develop the rich industrial resources of the region, a few Americans who have journeyed there to co-operate or compete with their fellow Anglo-Saxons, and a few others, pioneers in spirit, who seek the adventurer's ever-shifting frontier.

Like so many of these tropical cities, the settlement seemed to exhaust its energies on one or two buildings, making these magnificent and letting the rest manage for themselves as best they might. There was a splendid municipal building that would have been a credit to a city ten times its size, built of a sort of red volcanic rock abundant in the region; a very creditable theater which every man, woman and child in town must apparently visit every night to prevent a dreadful deficit; a fair hotel, and beyond that nothing but shacks of every description, shacks of wood, of battered pieces of tin, and even of thatched rushes, in whose every door fat negro women sat grinding corn or shouting affectionately at their naked children playing in the mud.

It was a city of contrasts. Here was a shop where for outrageous prices could be bought American soap, razors, chewing gum or a single second-hand watch; across the street from it was the unescapable American cinema where the latest exploits of the kings of Hollywood waited all who had the necessary number of reis. But between these two buildings walked a huge black savage whose only clothing was a breech-clout and whose ears were pierced and lobes widened, until they could hold heavy steel ornaments as big as saucers.

Around his neck he wore a string of human teeth which probably represented at least four victories over his jungle enemies; if spoken to, he could only answer with a series of grunts. Next door to the shop which displayed the watch was a store where, if one had a little money and knew the proprietor, he could enter a back room and be shown a collection of dried heads. These he could buy if he felt so inclined, though the transaction must be a trifle surreptitious for the traffic is banned by the government in far-off Rio de Janeiro.

If the watcher stood for even an hour before the stately city building, the concrete for whose sidewalk had come from the state of Washington, the likelihood is that he would see at least one cascavel, the beautiful and deadly Brazilian rattlesnake, dash across the road for a frog or chameleon on the other side; if he chanced to be a native, and left a pet goat out in his yard one night, he might wake up in the morning and find nothing but the bloody tracks of a great puma.

The contrast extended to the landscape. Here and there on the low hills surrounding the valley in which lay the town, showed a field plowed with an English plow, fenced with American fence; but everywhere else, behind, in front, in back, beside, wherever man's hand had stopped, was jungle, green, dank, poisonous, a monstrous infinite legged octopus, waiting only till the intruder's vigor had slackened for an instant, when it would dart out its swift green tentacles and claim its own once more.

As convenient a point as any at which tobegin the story is with the arrival of one of the principal actors in the tragedy, not because his arrival in itself is important, but because it happened to coincide with events that began to mark the case's climax.

He was a little man of perhaps 65 or 70, with a sleepy, kindly look in his round brown eyes, one of the few features of his gentle face which could be seen, for the rest was much obscured by heavy nose glasses. The lower part of his head was bordered by a slight fringe of beard, very scanty, but whose well kept appearance showed his pride of ownership. His quick, rather jerky movements, as he got off the steamboat that chugged into Porto Verde, betrayed him at once as a man of nervous temperament, which, together with his appearance, marked him almost certainly as a scholar; a figure a bit unusual in Porto Verde, but quite common in Cambridge or any other university town.

He listened with apprehension to the grumbling of the black, shining Brazilian who took his bag and began dolefully trudging off with it to the hotel. "Don't tell me . . . er . . . any more," he said, after a moment, speaking in jerks much like the movements of his wispy body. "You've told me . . . er . . . quite enough . . . Quite. . . . It's absurd, really . . . absurd. I don't know whether you are trying to frighten me or not. But I certainly do not think you are a wise . . . er . . . choice to receive visitors here. Not wise. If I took all your gloomy . . . er' . . . prophecies seriously, I would take the next steamboat back to . . . er Rio de Janeiro and the next steamboat from there to New York."

He wiped his wrinkled forehead with a tiny immaculate handkerchief. "Don't you . . . er . . . frighten me any more. You save your energies for carrying that . . .er . . . bag of mine. You're letting it drag the ground every other foot. Yes, every other foot."

The Brazilian shrugged his shoulders apathetically. "No fright you," he mumbled thickly. "Why Frascito fright you? Tell truth. Frascito always tell truth. Anybody come here Porto Verde big fool. Bad people here. Murder. Theengs here. Evil theengs. Theengs which kill. One month, one peoples. Two months, two peoples. Three months, three peoples. And how? Knows nobody. Kill more peoples two, you see. Give Frascito tip for tell you this. Huh?"

The newcomer hesitated, put his hand into his pocket and, drawing out a coin, gave it to his gloomy servitor. They reached the hotel from whose brick walls the plaster and paint had begun to fall, and entered. The newcomer wrote in a tiny, very legible hand, "Lincoln Nunnally, Ridgewood, New Jersey, U.S.A."; saw his luggage safely deposited in his room, took out a package of artistically labeled cigarets of a mildness which a teamster would have laughed to scorn, obtained a light after many futile, nervous attempts, then sauntered outside to a blistered balcony where a wooden blind flapped feebly in the hot wind, and looked down upon the narrow, shack-lined street.

He had been watching the motley passersby who made up the town's population for perhaps half an hour, when a young woman drove by in a sort of chaise. Beside her sat a negress holding in her arms a fine-featured, dark-skinned child of perhaps two years, which, judging by the young woman's affectionate glances, might be her son or daughter, though she seemed extremely young to be a mother.

She was a very beautiful person, Nunnally thought, as he watched her graceful movements. Her hair was black and strayed shiningly around her delicate ears; her skin was tinged with olive; her black eyes possessed that soft lustre peculiar to women of the tropics; he might easily have mistaken her for a lovely high caste Brazilian had not her informality of dress and the fact that she herself held the reins of the roan horse and drove in most vigorous fashion instantly betrayed her as American. She saw the old man, to his surprise, turned and blew him a kiss, then rode on down the highway.

Nunnally chuckled amusedly and watched her drive round one of the great royal palm trees which grew everywhere along the road. Then his glance drifted to the window of the house opposite, where a tall individual of a decided Italian cast of countenance with a patch of red-grafted skin on his left cheek and an ugly protruding Adam's apple, stood pointing furtively in the direction of the girl and making some queer signals with his fingers. The old man, who could make nothing of these signs, at first thought they were intended for himself. Not satisfied, he looked about and saw that they were being directed toward an individual in the second story of a shabby dwelling adjoining the hotel. This man, like the other was decidedly Italian, with a ragged stump instead of an arm and a mouth in which four of the upper teeth had been broken off as though he had been struck by a belaying pin or a crowbar. As Nunnally saw the second man, the signaling abruptly ceased. Then the doors of both houses opened quietly, the two men stepped out and, taking opposite sides of the road, began skulking through the brush in the direction of the carriage.

Nunnally's first impulse was to hasten and tell the hotel people of the scene he had just witnessed. Then he realized that he was in a strange country, that he knew nothing whatsoever of the meaning of what he had seen, that he would probably be interfering in some perfectly innocent matter of two of the natives, and that he would undoubtedly make himself ridiculous.

"Everything is . . . er . . . queer down here," he murmured to himself. "Nothing normal since I landed at Rio . . . nothing. Everything seems somehow mad, but they all seem . . . er . . . happy. So I shall not worry about it."

He remained on the balcony a few moments longer, then rubbed his hand inquiringly over his feeble beard, strode downstairs and through a door in a corner of the hotel where a sign in Portuguese proclaimed a barber shop. He nodded to the barber and to the richly dressed Brazilian planter he was shaving, then sat down to await his turn. The face of the barber instantly attracted him, and with nothing else to do but smoke one of his dainty cigarets, he began to study it.

"This city is a gallery of . . . er . . . rogues," he murmured to himself. "I doubt whether I should . . . er . . . entrust myself to that barber. I . . . er . . . doubt it."

It was undoubtedly an odd face, a face such as one sees only in the meeting places of the world where racial mixtures are common. Such a face as might be found in the obscure cafes of New York's Mott Street or Mulberry Bend, or of Paris' Montmartre or La Villette. To exaggerate slightly, for it is sometimes only by exaggeration that an accurate picture can be given, it was such a visage as might have resulted if a sculptor had begun to mold the head of one of the swarthy round-skulled Oriental races, but in the midst of his task had changed his design and completed it with a long, angular head of an Anglo-Saxon.

The hair sweeping down over the high forehead was black, but the bushy eyebrows were in striking contrast blond; a thin fine mouth showed below a long hooked nose and heavy cheekbones; brilliant blue eyes flashed from deep-set sockets. But the line of these eyes was distinctly slanted and Chinese. About this there was no exaggeration, no doubt.

Further bizarreness was added by the left ear, which at the base was sharp and triangular as though the lobe had been smoothly slashed off with a razor. Yet with all its bizarreness, it was not a cruel face, though it gave the old man an uncomfortable feeling that he had seen it before.

At length the planter departed. Nunnally took the vacant chair. He noticed the barber glance singularly at him, but thought nothing of it and stretched out in his chair, closing his eyes as one resigning himself to necessary torture. He felt the other's deft fingers coursing over his cheek and was rapidly sinking into a doze when a few quiet words from the barber caused him to sit up in open-mouthed astonishment.

"What did you . . . er . . . say?" he demanded.

"I said, my dear Nanny, that I was wondering when you would come," the barber repeated in smooth, cultured accents. "And I added that you were always bad at remembering faces. Even such an unusual one as mine. When you've recovered I suggest that we shake hands."

Recognition flashed into Nunnally's wrinkled visage. His thin hands seized the other's wrist. "Vilak!" he exclaimed. " . . . Er . . . Vilak . . . er . . . really. . . ." He jerked out his handkerchief again and wiped the bald top of his head. "You're very . . . er . . . unpleasant. My vocabulary's totally inadequate to . . . er . . . describe you. Do you realize that the shock you gave me will take at least ten years off my already . . . er . . . short life? You have a sense of humor which is . . . er . . . perverted . . . Really, perverted."

"Unfortunately too true. Too true, my dear Nanny," Vilak replied blandly as he flicked the razor against the other's lamentable beard. "But I'm afraid it can't be helped. What do you expect when a wild and strenuous manufacturer goes to the Balkans to sell a lot of steel rails, falls in love with a lovely Balkan princess, supposedly with a streak or Turkish or Chinese blood in her veins—there's more Tartar in the Balkan races than most people realize—sells the rails, marries the princess, and they baptize their only child Vilaka Pennington West? Doesn't that only child—none other than myself—have to develop a sense of humor in order to keep from withering like the leaf?"

The old man shook his head in bewilderment. "I suppose it is you. You are always . . . er . . . where you ought not to be. Though I think I can be excused for not recognizing you after ten years . . . ten years. I had no reason to expect to see anyone I knew here . . . er . . . in this wild place, and a . . . er . . . barber especially. Tell me, why are you . . . er . . . following an occupation so . . . er . . . unusual . . . yes positively . . . unusual? And what are you . . . er . . . doing here in any case? . . . It is a most . . . er . . . astonishing coincidence . . . yes, astonishing."

"It isn't a coincidence," Vilak replied suavely. "Quite the contrary. I sent for you."

CHAPTER II.

A new wave of surprise wrinkled the skin around Nunnally's sleepy, gentle eyes. "You're jesting . . . jesting. . . . I was sent for by the . . . er . . . Porto Verde Development Company. . . . It owns most of the coffee plantations and mineral developments in this section of the country. . . . So I've been told. I've the letter . . . er. . . . in my pocket." He put his hand in his coat.

Vilak checked him. "Don't bother, Nanny. I'm the Porto Verde Company. In this case, anyway." When the other opened his mouth to protest, Vilak daubed his face with lather. "If I could have as effective a way as this to keep everybody from asking too many questions all my life, I'd be happy. You see, my cousin, Elise Marberry—the Hasting-Marberrys if you know your New York social register, which I pray to God you don't—happens to own the Porto Verde Company. And what's my cousin's is mine."

"But that tells me nothing . . . er . . . Vilak . . . nothing. . . . Why—?"

"You talk too much." Vilak swabbed his soapy brush liberally about the other's lips. "Listen, and I'll explain. If anyone ever explains anything. When Elise's father died, he left his property to her and her elder sister. Elise was in college at the time, her sister had just been married. But they were both very energetic young women and decided to come down here and take more or less personal charge of the property, the elder sister bringing her new husband with her.

"It was a terribly foolish thing to do, for the climate here is devilish for certain physiques and within a year and a half, both the husband and wife died, leaving a baby—affectionately called Tinky—and this enormous place for Elise to take care of. She did it extremely well, too. Marvelously well for a youngster, for that's all she is, really—little more than a child. You saw her driving by this afternoon. She wanted to meet you at the boat, but I forbade it. I wanted to meet you first and see if you would remember me."

He stropped his razor an instant, then went on. "Elise was getting along here without the slightest difficulty when, a few months ago, some queer, almost uncanny, things began to happen. Three of her workmen were killed in very mysterious ways; then, before long, she began to feel that she herself was menaced and received a letter which proved that her feeling wasn't imagination. It came after she had made an unsuccessful attempt to visit a rather extraordinary American who is living in the vicinity. It consisted merely of an old Portuguese proverb, 'She who eats in her own kitchen may dine well many a day.' It was speared to the kitchen table with a dagger. Very subtle, eh?

"Well, I was resting down in Havana, after a rather strenuous expedition to the Orient—which cost me this bit of my left ear, by the way—and she asked me to come down to Porto Verde to see if I couldn't straighten things out a bit. I came, of course, and instantly advised her to get out. Things aren't pretty here at all. They're bad enough normally in any of these jungle-frontier towns. Here hardly a day goes by without something violent taking place, but Elise is a stubborn little vixen and won't make the slightest move to leave."

The old man's face tingled with excitement. He tried to lift his head, but finding this impossible slumped back into the chair in resignation.

"I saw something . . . er . . . queer a little while ago . . . queer. Perhaps it may be connected in some way with your cousin. I would tell you if you would . . . permit . . . permit me to talk."

"All right. Go ahead."

"Two men . . . highly unpleasant . . . er . . . unpleasant. One had a patch on his . . . er . . . cheek and an . . . Adam's apple enormously enlarged . . . enormously. The other had many . . . er . . . broken teeth and one arm. They were making signals to each other when your . . . er . . . cousin passed. Then they began following her through the . . . er . . . brush."

"I know the chaps you mean. The first is Pasquale Branza and the other's Detto Cicerone. They're town characters. Not the only queer people here."

He wrapped a towel about the other's face, then stood gazing reflectively out of the window until a movement from the restless old man caused him to turn back to his duties. "Yes, yes, customer, you'll be through in a few minutes. I hope you see now what I'm doing down here. As far as you're concerned the story is easy. I noticed in the newspapers that you were one of the American delegates to the Pan-American Scientific Congress at Rio de Janeiro, so I had the company send the telegram asking you to come here."

"But those . . . er . . . manganese deposits the telegram mentioned. Don't they exist?"

"Of course they do, my dear Nanny. I never lie. There are too many facts and statistics of all sorts to make crude lying necessary. They have found some manganese deposits they will be very grateful to have you examine. But I mentioned them only to get you here. I knew that a chemist of your attainments would be much too infernally busy with your work in New York to be sensible and voluntarily take a few days off for a much needed vacation with an old protege and friend.

"I'm awfully fond of you, Nanny. And it's been a long time, a very long time, since I saw you. It seemed absurd to have you so close without doing something about it, particularly since I didn't know when I'd have the opportunity again. I suppose I ought to feel a little guilty for bringing you down to this beastly hole that I advised my cousin to get out of, but I think it'll be good for you to get a taste of the adventurous side of life. And I know you've always wanted it. So you see, there's your coincidence gone. Annihilated."

"But why should you be . . . er . . . concerned in such unusual matters? And why . . . er . . . why are you a . . . barber? Yes . . . barber?"

Vilak put away his razor. "Your two questions come to the same. You don't know, of course, that about two years ago after I left your laboratory for something more exciting than a chemical retort—no, no, don't interrupt me; I know that's exciting, but the criminology I drifted into is still more so. Love of problems, adventure, change, call it what you will made me do it, I suppose. Or perhaps it was the mixture of Tartar and American in my blood; the hustling American part of me reveling in the action and excitement accompanying investigations while the contemplative Oriental side of me revels in the deductions necessary to make clues valuable. That story of the Tartar strain in my ancestry is undoubtedly true. It explains a lot of things in my character.

"At this moment I'm a barber—an American barber; Robert Riggs, if you please—for a very definite reason; it's one of the best ways of getting information. There are enough American and English on the nearby fazendas—that's what they call the plantations here—to keep me busy even if the Brazilians didn't patronize me, which they do. I'm making myself the fashion."

"Have you learned . . . er . . . anything through it?"

GOOD ROADS IMPORTANT FACTOR IN GOOD COMMUNICATIONS NEEDED IN DEVELOPMENT OF A COUNTRY

Have Played Great Part in Canada's Porgress From Days of First White Settlers, Who Built Earliest Roads in the Dominion.

INDIANS DEPENDED ON TRACKS WORN BY THEIR OWN PASSAGE OR BY ANIMALS

Materials and Methods Have Been Greatly Improved as Greater Demands Have Been Made By the Heavier Traffic of Modern Times.

It is difficult to overestimate the importance which avenues for accommodation of travellers and the carriage of commodities play in the development of a country like Canada in its progress from a hunting economy, through the stages of agricultural and pastoral development to modern industrialism. The many arteries of this continent are entirely the work of the white race.

Among the many virtues and endowments of the Indian possessors of the land, the ability to make roads was by no means included.

The roadways of times anterior to the Romans, at least in Europe, were merely the tracks worn by the feet of pedestrians and animals, or by the wheels of vehicular traffic. An example of this is to be found in our own neighborhood; the genesis of Chemong Road was the little path marked by the feet of countless generations of Indians tramping from the settlements on the lake shore to the plain in which the city now stands.

The earliest roads about which anything definite is known, so far as construction is concerned, are those of ancient Rome, one of the oldest and the most celebrated being the Appian way. Roman roads are remarkable for preserving a straight course from point to point regardless of obstacles which might have been avoided. Thus the petitions of the local councils in 1920 that the Peterborough-Port Hope highway be carried over the incline from Scott's Corners to Springville, rather than follow the wet and springy diversion that had been used for many years, was following a classical precedent.

The almost incredibly bad state of the roads of Great Britain up to the latter part of the 17th century have frequently been commented on by historians. This was due largely to the state of the law which compelled each parish to maintain its own roads by statute labor. Little improvement was effected in the following century by the establishment of turnpike trusts and the maintenance of roads by tolls.

The turnpike roads were generally managed by ignorant and incompetent men until Telford and McAdam brought scientific principles and regular system to their construction and repair. The name of Telford is associated with the pitched foundation of the type used on the Peterborough-Port Hope highway, which he did not always employ and the name of McAdam often characterizes roads on which all his precepts are disregarded. Both insisted on through drainage and on the use of carefully prepared materials, and both adopted a uniform cross section of moderate curvature; but while Telford paid particular attention to a foundation for the broken stone, McAdam cared little for the foundation, contending that the sub-soil, however bad, would carry any weight if made dry by drainage and kept dry by an impervious covering. It is to the efforts of these two men whom we may paradoxically describe as working side by side on unparallel lines that the present excellence of our best roads is due.

The tar macadam road—made of broken stone mixed with some bituminous composition—has been found very suitable for suburban roads and for towns where the nature of the traffic requires smooth roadways reasonably free from noise and dust. A further development was the use of concrete macadam, composed of rocks such as granite and syenite used in combination with Portland cement. The experience of this community supports the theory that gravel roads go a long way towards ensuring a satisfactory medium of highway transportation. Smooth rounded gravel, however, is unsuitable for roads unless a large proportion of it is broken, and about an eighth part of perruginous clay added for binding.

Early pitched roadways consisted of pebbles or rounded boulders (cobblestones) bedded in the natural surface or in sand or gravel. The next step in advance was to employ roughly-squared blocks; but the wide and irregular joints admitted the water to the sub soil; the mud worked up and the stones sank irregularly under the traffic. Telford saw the necessity of cutting off all connection between the sub-soil and the paving stones. He recommended paving stones of considerable depth and he was the first to point out the importance of working the stones flat on the face and square on all sides, so as to joint close and preserve the bed or base as nearly as possible of the same size as the face, and of carefully placing together in the same course stones of equal breadth. Pavements consisting of broad, smooth, well-jointed blocks of granite were first tried in London and have been very successful elsewhere.

Since 1885, brick as a paving for carriage ways has been adopted to a considerable extent chiefly in the form of shale bricks, in American cities.

Asphalt was first used for street paving in Paris in 1854. It was introduced to London in 1869 and since then has been extensively used in Europe and North America for paving both streets and footways. The great recommendation of the system as used in America is its freedom from slipperiness, and this freedom is really the one quality in which asphalt pavement as first used, was seriously deficient. As far back as 1839 wood pavements were first used in England. Hexagonal blocks of fir, 6 to 8 inches across and 4 to 6 deep, were bedded in gravel laid on a foundation previously levelled and beaten.

Comparatively noiseless pavements have been formed with bricks made of cork granulated and mixed with fibre and asphalt; they are set in pitch and seem to be suitable for rather steep gradients.

The necessity for making roads dustless has been rendered urgent by the advent of the automobile. The oldest and least efficacious method is to convert the dust into mud by the aid of the watering cart, at the best however, the improvement is temporary, though attempts have been made to obtain more lasting results by using a solution of some hygroscopic salt such as calcium chloride, but the most promising treatment for existing macadam roads consists in distributing tar by hand or machine in fine weather when the roads are dry.

Not until the beginning of the present century were the methods evolved which secured roadways which fulfilled the requirements of their day and generation.

So far as this country is concerned, practically all the various stages of two thousands years of development have been compressed into one century.

The first settlers journeyed over sandy wastes rock strewn declivities and corduroyed swamps or crossing gullies by means of trees felled to take place the place of bridges.

In opening up a new country, roads temporary or permanent, must be made with such materials as may happen to be at hand. The plank road, often used in Ontario's pioneer days, made an excellent track for all kinds of traffic. Log roads, the familiar corduroy roads well remembered by many of Peterborough veterans were formed across swamps by laying young trees of similar length close together. Good temporary roads may be made by laying down half logs roughly squared upon the ground, close together or with spaces between into which earth is well rammed.

When fuel is available good roads can be formed of burned materials. Clay is burned into ballast for foundations, or for a temporary track. Especially south of the line, charcoal roads have been largely used, the charcoal being burned and raked down so as to form a 15 feet road of a well-rounded section. These roads are dry and hard and otherwise satisfactory.

Such roads, however, while serving the needs of the small communities were anachronisms in the scheme of things of a nation rapidly forging to the front and both Dominion and Povincial Goverenment awoke to the necessity of adequate transportation and the good roads movement was born. Governments, however, were hampered by the unwillingness of local authorities, who in many cases failed to co-operate. In this connection the sorry confession has to be made that Peterborough county was the list in the province to step into line on the march of reform and reorganization. About 1919 signs were in evidence that Peterborough had become aware of its shortcomings. As has been often the case, the lead came from civic Peterborough rather than county Peterborough.

A meeting on Saturday, May 5, 1919 was arranged by Alderman Phelan, then chairman of the Boards of Works, in an effort to bring about a working partnership between urban and rural dwellers and a resolution was passed endorsing the Government's good road system so far as Peterborough was concerned.

The movement reacted favorably in other ways and the tide of Good Roads enthusiasm began to swell. Road improvements went on in Cavan and Hope townships and the Examiner of May 1919, chronicled the advent of a log drag working in the streets of Millbrook, with splendid results.

On July 2 the County Council approved the Good Roads scheme for the townships of North Monaghan, Asphodel and Otonabee and a special levy of 2 mills on the dollar was passed for these townships to defray their local share of expenditure. Before the month was ended two other townships Belmont and Methuen signified their willingness to join.

Later in the same year, on August 5, the eight southern townships of the county met and discussed the Dominion and Ontario Good Roads proposition. Of the reeves and deputies who attended only two votes were cast against the scheme. Following this decision a 3 mill rate was levied on these municipalities and this rate was confirmed at a meeting of the Good Roads Committee of the County Council in April 1921.

The movement was otherwise accelerated as was shown by an arrangement in the fall whereby 9000 cords of stones were collected from the farms and roadsides of North Monaghan and plied up ready for the stone crusher in the following spring.

In 1920 the County Good Roads by-law was passed and funds amounting to $25,000 were provided for the operation of the spring of that year.

The local authorities were now looking for fresh world's to conquer and pressure was brought to bear upon the Ontario Government asking the Department of Highways to assume the responsibility for the Peterborough-Port Hope road as a Provincial Highway.

The "Gravel" road was at last taken over by the Highways Department in August, 1920. In the spring of 1921 the construction of culverts and bridges and the making of the road-bed was commenced. One of the reasons which prevented the macadamizing of the surface of the whole road was the faulty drainage of many parts of the roadway—a defect very common on the highways of the entire continent.

The road between Peterborough and Lindsay next came in for attention. As early as March 10 a deputation from the local councils waited on the Hon. Mr. Biggs in Toronto asking that the road between these two points be made a provincial highway. The minister's reply was not very satisfactory and the deputation retired feeling very much out of humor with itself and with the Government. For years afterwards rumors as to the taking over of the road by the government invariably accompanied the ripening of fall wheat until last year, the welcome announcemnt was made that the Government had taken the plunge, and the sight of surveyors on the road last winter cheered the hearts of passers by even on the coldest days of the season.

There are almost 50,000 miles of road in Old Ontario. Twenty per cent of these roads carry 80 per cent of the traffic. These roads may be divided into four groups: provincial, county, suburban and township.

Townships roads are wholly under the control of the township councils, the county roads under the county councils and the Provincial Highways under the sole control of the government. All of the road work of the townships and counties, however, is subject to inspection by the department if provincial subsidies are to be secured, but the department does not assume the responsibility for the direct management of this work.

Suburban roads are under the joint direction of government, city and county—a commission of three, one representative from each authority which contributes to the upkeep of the road, being charged with the duty of supervision.

STUDEBAKER Offers Canadians

A Fine Quality Small Car

NOWADAYS bulk is no gauge of worth with Canadians of good taste. Fine thin watches have displaced the bulky ones. Compact comfortable homes are replacing huge Mid-Victorian mansions.

And now comes the first fine quality small car! The Erskine Six offers you big car smartness and style—big car luxury and comfort. But in small car fashion, it is agile and deft in traffic—most economical to maintain.

There's a silken sixty-mile gait tucked under its lacquered bonnet—ready for use in a flash when you want it. This lively car volleys ahead at a touch of your toe—acceleration of 5 to 25 m. p. h. in 8¼ seconds! Canada's steepest hills flatten out for this rugged performer—it climbs a stiff 11% grade in high gear!

The Erskine Six turns in an 18-foot radius, parks effortlessly in a minimum of inches. It is exceptionally sparing on gasoline, oil and tires. All except 19 inches of its entire wheelbase is made up of cradling springs—which is one reason this car makes rough roads feel smooth.

Come in today. Compare the Erskine Six with more costly cars. See with your own eyes the wealth of included equipment, listed below. Drive this new-type automobile yourself—the Erskine Six has so much to tell you on the road.

To Those Who Know Canada

Ten Minutes' Thought and Your Opinion May Win for You One of These Beautiful Motor Cars Absolutely FREE

As a Canadian, you know something of the factors that have helped to make Canada a great nation. How well do you know those factors? Will you spend a little time thinking about your Canada to win a new 1927 model automobile? Below are twelve factors which have contributed in a large way to Canada's development. Can you place them in their correct order of importance—placing, for example, the factor which in your opinion has made the greatest contribution first, the one which has made the next greatest, second, and so on.

That's all you have to do. No need to give reasons—just make up your mind and then make up your list. Everybody has an equal chance. No catches, strings or hidden meanings, and nothing else to buy after you have sent in your answer, in this great "Canadian Magazine" Confederation Contest.

Here is the List

(In this list there has been no attempt to classify or to indicate what we think is the relative importance of any factor.)

The Great War
The United Empire Loyalists
The Act of Confederation
The Liberal Party
The Conservative Party
The Canadian Pacific Ry.
Agriculture
Mining
Forest Products (lumber, pulp, etc.).
Manufacturing
The Hudson's Bay Co.
Membership in the British Empire

Check over the list carefully, weigh all the factors impartially, decide which factors have made the greatest contribution, the second greatest, the third greatest, and so on, for the whole twelve factors. Then write out your arrangement on the form below. This will be an interesting and instructive experience for all who try it—and for the prize winners a decidedly profitable one.

How the Answers will be Decided

To keep this contest absolutely fair, the contestants themselves will decide the winning answer. To illustrate—should the majority of the answers give the Great War first place, Agriculture second, U. E. Loyalists third, Mining fourth, Act of Confederation fifth, Manufacturing sixth, Conservative Party seventh, Liberal Party eighth, Hudson's Bay Company ninth, Membership in the British Empire tenth and C.P.R. eleventh, Forest Products twelfth, that would be the winning answer or the Master List, as we shall hereafter refer to it.

Should no contestant send in the winning answer, then the prizes for both Class "A" and Class "B" will be awarded to those contestants, in each class, whose answers correspond most nearly to the Master List.

The awarding of prizes in Class "A" in no way affects Class "B" contestants, and vice versa. A separate set of prizes will be awarded for each class.

Extra Special First Prize Class "B" Dodge Sedan—Value, $1,369.00

Very newest model completely equipped, including balloon tires, bumpers, bumperettes and spare tire, etc.

Special First Prize Class "B" Chevrolet Coach—Value, $872.00

Newest model completely equipped, including balloon tires, bumpers, bumperettes, spare tire, etc.

First Prize Class "B" Ford Tudor—Value, $728.00

Complete, equipped with new hot plate vaporizer, balloon tires, bumpers, bumperettes and spare tire.

Class "A" Prizes — Open only to those who send in one or more three-year subscriptions.

1st Prize. Essex Super Six Coach		4th Prize	$75.00 Cash
2nd Prize	$150.00 Cash	5th Prize	$50.00 Cash
3rd Prize	$100.00 Cash	6th to 10th Prize each	$15 Cash

NOTE: If the 1st prize winner in Class A sent in one 3-year subscription only he or she will be awarded the Essex Super Six Coach. If two 3-year subscriptions were sent in the Star Sedan will be awarded for 1st prize in place of the Essex Coach. If three 3-year subscriptions were sent in the Chrysler 60 will be awarded for 1st prize in place of either the Star Sedan or Essex Coach.

Class "B" Prizes — Open only to those who send in one or more yearly subscriptions.

1st Prize	Ford Tudor	4th Prize	$50.00 Cash
2nd Prize	$100.00 Cash	5th Prize	$25.00 Cash
3rd Prize	$75.00 Cash	6th to 10th prizes each	$10 Cash

NOTE: If the 1st prize winner in Class B sent in one 1-year subscription only he or she will be awarded the Ford Tudor. If two 1-year subscriptions were sent in the Chevrolet Coach will be awarded for 1st prize in place of the Ford Tudor. If three 1-year subscriptions were sent in the Dodge Sedan will be awarded for 1st prize in place of either the Chevrolet Coach or Ford Tudor. In the event of the 1st prize winner being a "Special Class B" contestant (see Rule 5), the 1st prize awarded will be the Ford Tudor.

Here are the Few Simple Rules

(1) All answers (except as provided for in paragraph 5 below) must be sent in on the coupon below. Extra forms will be supplied on request, and any contestant may submit as many answers as he or she wishes, provided the rules are complied with.

(2) Contestants may send in as many answers as they wish, but each answer (except as provided for in paragraph 5 below) must be accompanied by at least (a) $3.00 for one three-year subscription to "The Canadian Magazine" to make the contestant eligible for prizes in Class "A"; or (b) $1.50 for one twelve-months' subscription to "The Canadian Magazine" to make the contestant eligible for prizes in Class "B."

(3) In either class, contestants may send in as many subscriptions with each answer as they wish—their own or others. The more subscriptions you send in, the better the car you stand to win. For example, if you submitted the only winning answer and it was accompanied by one three-year subscription, you would win the Essex Coach. If you submit three answers each accompanied by one three-year subscription, and one of your answers is the only winning answer, then, instead of the Essex or Star cars, you will win the much higher priced Chrysler "60" six-cylinder coach. The same method applies to Class "B" cars also.

(4) No contestant may win more than one prize. Should a contestant send in two answers both alike, but one with a one-year subscription and the other with a three-year subscription, and those are the only winning answers submitted, he or she will be awarded the Essex Coach in "Class "A," and the first prize in Class "B" will be awarded to that contestant in Class "B" whose answer is nearest to the prize winning answer. In the event of a tie the following gentlemen, who are not in any way connected with the "Canadian Magazine," will be asked to determine the winner—Mr. Harold N. Sheppard, instructor in English and History, North Toronto Collegiate Institute; Rev. W. E. Mackey, acting rector St. John's Anglican Church, Weston, Ont.; Mr. Gordon Lemon, executive, Norris-Patterson Limited Advertising Agency, Toronto.

(5) Contestants may solicit friends for subscriptions and send in an answer with each of such subscriptions. These friends may also, with extra cost, qualify for the prizes in Class "B" if they wish to send in an answer. Such subscribers will be grouped as "Special Class 'B' contestants" and must NOT use the regular contest forms, but use instead plain paper, one sheet only, with their answer, their own name and address, also the name and address of the contestant through whom they subscribed, written on it on one side only.

(6) This Confederation Contest closes June 20, 1927. Entries received post dated later than that date will be returned.

(7) Full remittance for subscription must accompany answers. Make cheques and money orders payable to "THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE."

(8) In entering the contest, contestants agree to abide by the rules and regulations of the contest as herein set forth.

Special Points to be Remembered

You may send in as many subscriptions as you like—and with each subscription an answer. The more answers you send in the greater your chance for a car, and the number and value of the subscription will determine the kind of a car you will win. Classes "A" and "B" will be competed for separately. Class "A" is for those who send in three-year subscriptions—no matter how many. Class "B" is for those who send in one-year subscriptions, no matter how many, and for those who subscribe through contestants and wish also to compete for Class "B" prizes as per paragraph 5 in the rules.

Remember, this contest is not being conducted by a small company launching a new magazine. "The Canadian Magazine" is the eldest magazine in Canada. This is its 34th consecutive year.

It is published by one of the strongest and oldest publishing houses in Canada; for more than forty years publishers and owners of several of Canada's best known business papers.

The "Canadian Magazine" is 100 per cent. Canadian and British; fit to be read in any home, and absolutely free from the stories and articles that are wielding a powerful an influence in moulding the minds of our young to foreign and often anti-British and anti-Canadian ideas and ideals.

Its policy of carrying the works of internationally famous Canadian and British authors and artists, of preaching real Canadianism by interpreting one part of Canada to the other, and publishing stories of the personal successes of Canadians has given "The Canadian Magazine" a unique place in Canadian homes.

This is your opportunity for a handsome award. This unique, interesting and instructive contest positively closes Monday, June 20th. Don't put this aside. Start your list now.

FLOWER SERVICE AT CHRIST CHURCH

Children of Sunday School Give Flowers For Sick Children's Hospital.

OMEMEE, May 28.—The service in Christ church, Omemee, on Sunday evening was of unusual interest, it being the annual flower service in connection with the Sunday school. The children preceded the choir up the aisle of the church, each carrying a bouquet of wild flower and sat with their teachers in the centre front pews. Following the first part of the service wherein the Scripture lessons were read by Mr. Horace Hill, the children marched to the front and placed their offerings on a large tray and these were sent on Monday to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, where they will help to brighten many a little child.

Rev. Mr. Marsh took his text from the words found in Deut. 6-7: "And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." Following an impressive sermon, Mr. Marsh had the honor of presenting a pair of brass offertory plates to the church on behalf of the Sunday school, on which was inscribed: "Donated by Christ Church Sunday School to the Glory of God and in Memory of William H. Curry, who for forty years was an officer of Christ Church Sunday school, and entered into rest July 25, 1925."

Mr. Marsh in making the presentation spoke feelingly of the deceased gentleman, having known him for over half a century. He also expressed regret at the rector's absence and extended sympathy to him in his bereavement, caused by the death of his father.

The offering was in aid of Sunday school work and was very generous. The lenten offering amounted to $55 which is a credit to a Sunday school membership of this size.

The officers and teachers and members of the Sunday school feel that much credit is due to the superintendent, Mr. Harry McQuade, who is always in his place and willing to give of his services and especially at this time did he put forth every effort to make the service the success which it proved to be.

In the early days of Christianity it was the custom to hang up hot-cross buns as a talisman against evil. The buns were kept from one Good Friday to another, being regarded as a cure for various ailments.

PLAY AT OMEMEE ON VICTORIA DAY

Concert Given By Peterborough People —Many in Attendance.

OMEMEE, May 28.—Many were the disappointed citizens and people from the surrounding district when the "24th" celebration had to be cancelled on account of rain. The Athletic Association had made preparations for a full afternoon's enjoyment, and, had the day been fine, a good crowd was assured. As it was the business section of the town was lined with cars, the occupants roaming around after the weather had cleared. In the early morning hope was held out that some of the events might be run off, but after a consultation of the executive, it was felt that the field was in terrible shape for any athletic event, even though the rain did cease.

It is not known yet whether a future date will be selected for the celebration or not.

The concert in the evening in Coronation Hall under the same auspices was the only attraction of the day, and drew a full house.

The Scotch entertainers from Peterborough were well received and loudly applauded for their many vocal and piano numbers.

By request two catchy choruses were rendered by six young ladies, "In A Little Spanish Town" and "The Red, Red Robin". The latter drawing rounds of applause after two little girls had acted the part of the robins while the chorus was rendered.

Following the musical programme a one-act comedy entitled "Which is Which" was well dramatized by local talent. Those taking part were Misses Mary Faulkner, Violet McBain and Marion Dickson, and Marion Dickson and Messrs. S. J. Mackey, Horace Hill and E. Marsh.

The proceeds of the evening were in the neighborhood of $170.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 3,000; forced market on most killing classes; due to preholiday influence; fed steers and she stock weak to 25c lower; most fresh steers in run sold.

Hogs 22,000; market generally 10 to 15c higher; light lights and pigs 15 to 25c higher; spots up more; all interests bought freely; closing trade strong at early prices; top $9.70; paid for strictly choice 180 to 190 pounds weight.

Sheep 12,000; fairly active; generally steady with Thursday on desirable kinds; in between lambs and sheep draggy; bulk good California spring lambs $15.75 to $16.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 28 (Canadian Press). — Excited buying yesterday brought about a wild general advance in all grain and provisions. Radically adverse conditions for wheat and corn crops combined with talk of war possibilities between Great Britain and Russia, hoisted wheat nearly 6 cents a bushel in some cases, and corn more than 5 cents.

Closing quotations on wheat were greatly unsettled, 4¾ to 5½c net higher. Corn finished 4¾ to 5½c up; rye at 3c to 5¾c gain; oats showing 1¾ to 2½c advance, and provisions a rise of 17c to 55c.

Reports of dust storms in Kansas choking the wheat fields made a striking contrast meanwhile with Illoinois advices that sheets of water were standing in low spots and that from Springfield to Chicago less than 30 per cent of corn acreage has been planted, whereas June 1 is usually counted a deadline. Under such circumstances, some deliveries of corn jumped over the dollar a bushel mark. Oats went higher with corn, and rye ascended with wheat.

Provisions were affected chiefly by the strength of grain and of hog values as well.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May 27 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand 4.84 15-16.
Sterling cables $4.85 7-16.

SAYS DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS CAN BE REDUCED AT HOME

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

If you or any relatives or friends are worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even Piles are quickly absorbed. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., McDermid & Jury sell lots of it.

INVENTORS, PERFECTORS AND OVER 25 YEARS MANUFACTURERS OF THE FIRST AND FINEST INNER SPRING MATTRESS

Built to Give Greater Comfort and Last Longer

You will enjoy the marvellous comfort which can only be had from the gently yielding support of from 725 to 1,000 tiny steel springs of enduring resiliency. The springs are enclosed in stout cotton pockets and "nested" to permit the use of more springs and their free independent movement without noise, tangling or getting out of position.

Patented sanitary bow-knots take the place of dust-collecting tufts.

Soft cushioning of hair or cotton felt, according to grade of mattress, covers the soft flexible spring centre. Extra durable heavy woven ticking is used.

The wholesome cleanliness of breathing ventilators keep the interior of the Marshall always fresh, clean and sanitary.

Marshall Spring Mattresses are made in five grades and guaranteed for five years.

You too, will be proud of your MARSHALL!

Years ago your friends welcomed their first Marshall. Today their beds are still distinguished for their superb neatness—a neatness only possible through the enduring superiority of the famous Marshall Spring Mattress.

To a mattress so remarkably well made you can look for a new kind of comfort all its own—for complete relaxation, for restful, healthful sleep year after year.

This kind of sleep is unknown in ordinary stuffed mattresses that all too soon become packed, sagged and uneven. Ordinary mattresses do cost less to buy—but more in the end—and you never can be proud of them!

A little more for a Marshall now and you are repaid the difference many times over in extra years of service. When others are replacing their ordinary mattresses your Marshall will be as good as new, both in appearance and comfort qualities.

Members of Trinity Church, Norham, Give F. H. Huycke Arm Chair.

NORHAM, May 28.—On Tuesday evening about fifty members of the Sunday School and congregation of Trinity United Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. W. Huycke to spend a social hour and express their sympathy with Mr. Huycke, who a couple of weeks ago sustained a broken shoulder from a fall received while a team with which he was working attempted to run away having become frightened. During the evening Mr. Huycke was presented with a leather-bottomed arm chair. Short speeches were made by Oscar F. Laver, John Diamond, Lorne Evans, and the pastor, the Rev. J. F. Everson, all of whom expressed their appreciation of the services Mr. Huycke had rendered in the church as a worker in the League, on the Trustee Board, and in the Sunday School and choir. The programme closed with singing 'He's a Jolly Good Fellow." A sumptuous lunch was served by the ladies present.

W.C.T.U. OFFICERS.

Mrs. A. J. Throop Re-elected President of Local Branch.

Election of officers to the W. C. T.U. took place yesterday afternoon, in the green room of the Y.W.C.A., when Mrs. A. J. Throop was re-elected to the office of president, and vice-presidents were appointed in Mrs. M. A. Morrison, Mrs. George Rowe, and Mrs. Thos. Barrie. Miss E. Might was elected as recording secretary, Mrs. E. Wand as treasurer, Mrs. J. Speer as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Rowe as pianiste.

A feature of the meeting was the exceptionally fine address given by Mrs. Helen Barton, ex-parish councillor of Glasgow, Scotland, who is on her way home to her own country after a two years' tour of British Empire points, including Australia and Canada. Mrs. Barton in a delightfully interesting and humorous address, recounted some of her experiences in various countries visited during three tours around the world, with emphasis on the work of the W.C.T.U.

SCHOOL SECTION

strain on the city schools. If the city lost the fees of 100 or 150 country pupils there might be some tendency to woo them back but they had to give it time to adjust itself.

He estimated that if the section agreed to make up the balance between the present fees and the new fees the increase would amount to five and seven tenths mills on the dollar. If a grant of $600 could be secured from the Township council the increase of the tax rate would be about three and a half mills on the dollars.

The Warden, whose opinion was asked as to the possibility of securing the $600 grant, said that S.S. 3 had helped the other sections in the past, and he thought that it would only be fair that the others should come to its assistance now that it was faced with a difficulty. He was not, however, prepared to express an opinion at the moment as to the legality of such a grant.

Smith Milburn spoke briefly in behalf of his amendment. He thought that if the money was to be spent it should be expended on an addition to the school. They would then have something for the money.

A resident in the neighborhood of the city then said that even if the additions were built, he would not send his children on the long walk to the school, and would continue to send them to the city.

Only nine votes were recorded for the amendment.

E. Brummel, on behalf of the residents of the urban area, thanked the meeting for the decision taken.

The meeting terminated with votes of thanks for Messrs. Downey, Middleton and Udy for their assistance and with cheers for the trustees.

OBITUARY

DANIEL PETHERICK.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, May 28.—There was laid to rest in Zion Cemetery on Thursday afternoon another of the pioneers of Seymour Township, in the person of the late Daniel Petherick, who passed away on Monday last at the age of 80 years and 9 months. Besides the sorrowing wife, there remain to mourn the loss of a kind father, six daughters and six sons. Mrs. Fred Johns of Craik, Sask., a daughter, was able to be present, as were all the other members of the family. The sons acted as pall-bearers. Service was conducted in Zion Church by the Rev. C. D. Daniel.

JOHN RELLIS

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28—With shocking suddenness came the wire from Toronto yesterday afternoon announcing the death of John Rellis at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Giroux, where he has been visiting for the past week.

The late Mr. Rellis was one of Campbellford's oldest and genuinely well liked citizens; always ready to help along any worthy cause to the utmost of his ability. Born in Hastings 75 years ago, he came to Campbellford in 1875 where he has resided continuously. For some years after coming here he was an employee of several harness makers, but a number of years ago went into the harness business for himself and had built up a profitable business.

The deceased was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, and an ex-member of the Northumberland Regiment Band.

Besides his wife there remains to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate father, three sons and two daughters: Dr. James Rellis, of Montreal; Peter, teller in the local branch of the Standard Bank; and Edward, on the staff of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto; Mrs. Giroux of Toronto, and Miss Mac, of Syracuse, N.Y., who are all now en route here for the funeral.

While definite arrangements have not been made it is expected the funeral will be held on Tuesday morning, the body arriving from Toronto to-morrow night. The funeral will be to St. Mary's church and interment in St. Mary's church cemetery.

Much sympathy is being expressed throughout the town for Mrs. Rellis and family.

MRS. MARY GIBSON

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28.—Mrs. Mary Gibson, widow of the late Benjamin Gibson, was suddenly called by death at 11 o'clock last night at her late residence on Canrobert Street.

The deceased, who was in her 76th year had been confined to her home for a short time with a slight cold, but engaged in her regular household duties. After supper yesterday she looked at the pictures in the papers —as was her custom before retiring. Shortly after retiring she was seized with a hemorrhage and died within half an hour.

The late Mrs. Gibson was born in Percy Township 76 years ago, and has resided in Campbellford for the past 50 years. She is survived by two sons, Michael, of Omaha, Neb., and James, of town. A brother and sister also survive to mourn her loss, John Noonan of Hastings, and Mrs. William Lee of Thorold.

The deceased was a faithful member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and was beloved by all with whom she came in contact.

The funeral takes place on Monday morning to St. Mary's Church, and interment in the church cemetery.

ZERO WEATHER FAILS TO HALT SOFTBALL GAME

Mill and Clerks Pile Up Big Score in League Battle.

FINAL COUNT 25-24.

Clerks Have Single Run Margin In Heavy Scoring Match.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28.—With the weather verging upon the freezing point, the wind blowing a gale, and the rains descending, the scheduled game, Mill vs. Clerks was played on Thursday evening on the Fair Grounds.

The game was called at 7 o'clock, with Mill to bat. Ayrhart made the first hit and being brought home safely, also scored the first run. Bell, superintendent at the Mill, made the first star play by a dandy catch in left field in the last of the second inning.

Some little kicking was done about the Clerks playing Ibey(star pitcher in hard ball), it being claimed that the league committee by a 4 to 1 vote placed Ibey with the Outlaws. However, Ibey was allowed to play the game through. In the first of the 6th Blake, playing left field for Clerks, made a brilliant catch. In the last of the 7th Mill pitcher put on his wind breaker. Rev. Daniels, plate umpire, wore a couple of sweaters throughout the game, and John Massey, base umpire, had on a heavy overcoat with collar turned up. In the 2nd of seventh Runions, known as Campbellford's star hockey player, made a triple, bringing three in. In the 2nd of the eighth a free-for-all took place at third base. The girls called upon them to look at the rainbow that had just made its appearance, and the fight ended—Ain't Nature grand. The real feature of the game was in the last of the 9th; with bases full, Vic Cochrane made a home run.

The Rev. Mr. Daniels, one of the umpires, had a rough time of it more than once during the game, but he made his decisions stick. If anyone knows the good old game of baseball, it is the padre. Baseball was a popular pastime among the ancients. We are told that Noah in anticipation of the opening of the season following the historic high water, carried into the ark a brace of bats and a generous assortment of fowls and flies. Away back in the Genesis of things it is related that Rebekah came out with her pitcher. And only two chapters later we find that Isaac "pitched" in the valley of Gerar. Then we read in the fourth book of Moses "Every man shall pitch by his own standard," and from this we conclude that the spitball was not in taboo. Like to-day's fight on third base is the account of II. Kings where we read that "The Chaldees did break the bases in pieces"—what was done to the umpire is not told. We have every reason to believe that kings took an interest in the game, for we read that King Ahaseurus "advanced Haman" but unfortunately the score does not reveal the batting order, and there is no evidence as to whether the son of the Agatite scored on the king's sacrifice hit. Evidently David was being coached to take a long chance and steal a base, for did he not call back saying, "I will not slide." Sliding was evidently in vogue, as it is a matter of record that "Israel did slide back." There were critics in those days, too. The manner in which Daniel fielded his position seemed to be under discussion and according to the record "Neither was there any error or fault found in him." There is abundance of evidence that stealing bases was under no ban, for Judas was there communing with the captains "because he was a thief and had the bag." The old time teams must have been composed then as now, for in Luke the question is asked "Where are the nine?" Paul credits Timothy with a "Homer" and "rejoiced that he had not run in vain." Saul seems to have been something of a busher, according to all report, and gave a good account of himself, in a game with the Archers, but the opposing team seemed to get onto his style of pitching and according to the baseball extra, "The battle went sore against Saul, and the Archers hit him." Is it any wonder, therefore, that the umpire in the Mill vs. Clerks game at his finger ends and was able game at his finger ends and was able to make them stick?

Here is the line up:

Clerks.—Thomas, p; McArthur, c; Denike, 1b; Ivey, 2b; Gay, 3b; Blute, ss; Blake, lf; Atkinson, cf; Maguire, rf.

Mill—Runions, p; Lambert, c; Montgomery, 1b; Cochrane, 2b; Ayrhart, 3b; W. Blake, ss; F. Blake, lf; Stocker, cf; Bell, rf.

Score—Clerks, 25; Mill, 24.

SAINT and SINNER

Court was adjourned for the day immediately after Cherry's sensational reference to the first of the four anonymous letters which Lola Gonzales had written, at the dictation of Alexander Cluny, son of the murdered man. When Cherry took her seat for the short interval between the court's order for adjournment and the customary warning of the jury not to discuss the case, she leaned her head wearily against Faith's shoulder. The golden eyes closed as if they were weighted with lead, and the pallor of death spread over the small, white face.

Faith put her arms about her sister, holding the quivering little body tight, as she whispered: "You were wonderful, darling. I—I was never so proud of you."

"I told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," Cherry's ashen lips moved faintly. "I'd made up my mind not to tell even a tiny white fib, so that they would have to believe me when I tell them to-morrow that I had nothing to do with the murder."

After Cherry had been led away by the guards, Faith and Bob and Mr. Lane sat on at the counsel table, until the courtroom was cleared of all except lawyers gathering up their papers, and a few reporters who hung about in the hope of getting interviews with the family on their opinion of Cherry's testimony.

"Well, Faith," Churchill turned to the girl and spoke in a low, confidential voice. "She's made a perfect witness for herself, didn't she? If she can hold up as well tomorrow, when she gets to the story of her visit to Cluny and her marriage, we'll stand an excellent chance of getting her off scot-free. Did you notice the jury? Every man Jack of 'em looked as if he'd like to dandle her on his knees."

When the reporters fell upon them, the four of them—Churchill, Faith, Bob and her father—expressed complete confidence in the outcome of the trial, declared their pride in Cherry's performance as a witness in her own behalf, and consented to pose, smilingly, for their pictures. It wrung Faith's heart to see Jim Lane straightening his bowed shoulders and jerking his trembling lips into a grimace of pleasure, for she knew that his heart had never before been so full of grief and pain.

Junior and Fay were waiting outside to take Jim Lane home and Faith and Bob left Courthouse Square in Bob's car.

"We'll drive past Lincoln Park on the off-chance that old Phil is shaking his tin cup today," Bob said with forced cheerfulness, in an effort to distract Faith's overwrought mind from the useless contemplation of Cherry's plight.

"He's there!" Faith cried exultingly, when the car turned the corner of the park. "Don't drive any nearer. He may see us and recognize us, from our pictures in the papers. If he really has any connection with the murder, you can be sure he's keeping up with the trial."

Bob did not kill his engine, but kept his hand on the gear shift, ready for instant action if the crippled beggar summoned his taxi. It was a long, tense wait, but finally at five minutes past five a yellow and brown taxicab, bearing the license plate for which their eyes had been straining, swerved around the corner past their own parked machine and drew up to the curb, as the cripple's right forefinger beckoned.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

Sunday, May 29, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Until afternoon the planetary conditions are threatening to-day, according to astrology, which finds the evening rather more favorable than the earlier hours.

While this configuration prevails there may be a tendency toward introspection and even melancholy.

This is a sway under which to exercise out of doors and to commune with nature, which heals the mental hurts.

Unusual interest in religious subjects is indicated for the coming summer when there will be much Bible study and many teachers of philosophy.

All the signs appear to indicate great intellectual awakening among all classes of men and women in this country.

Education is to enter a period in the United States more promising than any in history, it is foretold, and many foreign savants will come to this country.

Dancing is to be again a popular craze, the seers foretell, a sign that the nation is to meet serious problems that disturb the people.

Discussion of subjects vital to general welfare will engage attention all through the summer, it is foretold, and oratory will be prevalent.

Neptune is said to be in a place that encourages agitation of the prohibition issue, which will be exceedingly troublesome to politicians.

In Great Britain revision of the prayer-book is to become a matter of widespread dissatisfaction, it is prophesied.

One of the odd prophecies is that new materials that become precious jewels will be put on the market to compete with diamonds, pearls and emeralds.

Colors that have an astrological significance will be much worn in the summer when fashions and manners will be less loud than formerly.

Persons whose birthdate it is will enjoy friends and journeys in the coming year, which will be of great importance.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of pleasure and able to indulge in their tastes.

Monday, May 30, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This is a day sinister in its planetary influences, according to astrology. The early hours, however, should be conducive to clear thinking.

Under this sway losses are likely to be sustained and disappointments may be numerous.

Farmers may find much to deplore in weather conditions at this time and they may lose certain crops through bad weather conditions.

There is a sign read as indicating profits for stockmen, for there is to be a big demand for horses and mules, as well as beef-cattle.

Exports of foodstuffs are likely to be large, for there is an aspect that appears to foreshadow famine in distant lands.

Physicians and surgeons now come under a planetary government presaging tremendous demand for their services.

Health should be safeguarded for epidemics will be imported from abroad, the seers foretell.

The Orient may suffer severely through some sort of plague that may become a peril to America, if the stars are wisely interpreted.

For the coming months the United States will be wonderfully fortunate, it is prophesied, for while there will be many startling events this country will be the most fortunate in the world.

This is not a lucky wedding day, since it presages domineering methods on the part of either the husband or wife.

Love affairs are not well directed at this time which encourages wooing and retards marriage.

Among the good influences read in the star is one that will incline women toward natural devices for the attainment of beauty and will prevent them from artificial attempts to improve.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be uncommonly careful about all business matters in the coming year. Those who are employed should be extremely diligent.

Children born on this day probably will be endowed with splendid mentality. Both boys and girls may arouse jealousy but they overcome evil influences.

Sophia Rasputin, the pretty and talented daughter of Gregory Rasputin, the monk who played such a prominent part in the history of Russia just before the revolution and the overthrow of the monarchy, and who himself met death at the hands of assassins, is now living in England and dedicating the rest of her life to works of piety and charity.

As a result of increased participation in outdoor sports and recreation the average height of Japanese women has increased two inches in the last 20 years.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

A summer frock of flaming red crepe de chine is worn with a matching straw hat and a knotted kerchief of white background spotted with red hearts. The buckle on the belt is of white enamel with red hearts. Flesh-colored stockings and red shoes finish the ensemble.

You may feel perfectly convinced that bright red is a very warm color, and that theoretically it should have nothing whatever to do with summer clothes. You may have made up your mind in getting together your wardrobe for warm weather that you will confine yourself to cool greens, to a greenish shade of lemon that is as cool as any green, to shades of blue, gray, mauve and pink. But there are red frocks and coats and hats now on display at the milliners and dressmakers which are so tempting that once you see them you will yearn to wear them.

One of the French dressmakers has made red jumpers to wear with navy-blue skirts for midsummer—little one-piece pleated georgette frocks of red are shown in some of the shops here—frocks that you may wear at the seashore, at the mountains, at the country club. There are impertinent, informal little frocks of red chiffon or georgette for dancing that seem somehow guaranteed to bring dance partners to the shyest girl.

After all we may be wrong in feeling that red is all wrong for summer. Poppies bloom in the warmest weather and hold their heads up gaily in heat that would wither the lightly tinted blossoms of spring.

One thing you should remember in connection with these red things for summer. They may be worn with really good effect in the country—at the shore or other resorts—but they really are out of place and a little painful in the city. The American who visits Paris in warm weather concludes that French women all wear black or subdued tones in summer—later she may see the same French women at Deauville or other popular resorts and conclude that no women like colors better than the French.

Red is or ought to be considered a color of youth. There comes a day in the life of every woman after which she ought bravely to stifle any hankering she may have to wear this fiery color. After that time a red frock or a red hat will make her look much older, faded, foolish. But the age varies with the individual. Some women ought not to wear red after they are twenty—some can wear it to their grandchildren's weddings.

LIQUOR STORES TO BE OPENED ON WEDNESDAY

Eighteen Will Begin Operations on June 1—Six in Toronto.

ONE FOR MAIL ORDERS.

Sale of Permits To Be Taken Over By Vendors on That Day.

TORONTO, May 28. — Ontario enters upon the government sale of liquors at ten o'clock next Wednesday morning, when six stores will be opened in Toronto and twelve at different centres in the province.

The stores opening are:

Toronto—Wellington street, Dundas Street West, Church-Lombard, 170 Danforth Avenue, Queen Street-Woodbine Avenue, Queen Street-Elm Grove.

Ottawa—Kent and Sparks Street, Banks Street.

Kingston.

Hamilton—Charles Street, King Street East

London—Talbot Street, Dundas Street (mail order.)

Windsor—Sandwich Street, Wyandotte Street.

Kitchener, Brockville and Fort William.

Between now and Wednesday morning the Liquor Control Act will be proclaimed, and the Ontario Temperance Act will automatically go on the statute books.

Tuesday evening, James Hales, K.C., who for six years has been the Chairman of the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario, and Chief Enforcement Officer John A. Ayearst, will leave the government service. Both were well known temperance workers prior to their entry into the governmetn service, and since warm in their support of the Ontario Act. Frank E. Elliott will be Chief Enforcement Oficer under the new law.

Mr. Hales returns to the practice of law. Prosecutions under the new law will be conducted by the Attorney-General's Department through officers of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Store Sale of Permits.

After this evening the sale of permits will be carried on at the stores, and after Wednesday next consideration will be given to applications from tourists for permits.

Chief Commissioner D. B. Hanna last evening issued his first written statement since he took office two months ago. In it he appeals to the people of Ontario to exercise the same moderation in visiting the stores as has been evidenced in the purchase of permits. Mr. Hanna also emphasized the difficulties encountered thus far in making regulations, and pays a tribute to the help and assistance secured from the organization in carrying on under the O.T.A.

All the premises now known as Ontario Government Dispensaries under the O.T.A., will be government liquor stores on Wednesday next. Both the Wellington street and Dundas street premises will be Toronto stores. The most central store in Toornto is at Lombard and Church streets.

Mail Order Store.

With large number of centres in Western Ontario are not served with stores in the first announcement, but permanent residents may obtain supplies from Dundas Street, London, where a mail order store will be conducted. Other stores will be opened as alterations are completed. By June 15 several more stores will be in operation, including Brantford and North Bay.

"The Liquor Control Board of Ontario will on June 1 take over the liquor traffic of the Province and administer it,' the statement says. "On that date only a few stores will be opened in more or less strategic points, and others will follow in the important centres as the work of remodelling each store is completed and equipped for business.

"The fact that only 18 stores will be opened the first day is due to the great time and effort necessary to find suitable locations in the various cities, approve leases, see that the stores had suitable and dignified, if not pretentious, fronts, arrange for necessary desks, wickets, counters and shelving (all of which had to be constructed in order for each individual store) and a thousand and one other preliminary arrangements made before stocks could be sent to these stores, and the staffs chosen, appointed, instructed and trained to handle these stocks.

"Stores at a number of places are now being altered to suit our requirements and will very shortly be completed and made ready for business. In addition to this a further number of places have been selected and will commence very shortly, and be opened for service within a reasonable time after June 1.

Onerous Task.

"The task set before the Commissioners has been an onerous one, and to the extent of what has been accomplished they are indebted to the loyal assistance of the organization carrying on under the O.T.A.

"Much has yet to be done, and if the Commissioners again appeal to the good sence of the people of Ontario to exercise the same moderation in visiting the stores as has been evidenced in the purchase of permits a splendid impression will go abroad that the banner Province of Ontario is at heart temperate, and will wisely use the privileges to be enjoyed under the new act."

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

THE NEW STATUE AT ALBERT

The temporary church at Albert, the gateway to the Somme battlefield. Ruins of the old Cathedral prresbytery in the foreground.

DEAR MAC:

When I planned to visit the Somme battlefields, I pondered the map for no inconsiderable time, debating with myself just how I should approach that once-familiar zone. The ways of peace are different from the ways of war, in that there are now open railways and roads which, in 1916, were tangled masses of rubble and steel, routes very different from those we followed in the old days.

Thus one might approach the zone from Arras, charming, pathetic, old-world Arras. Bapaume, too, offered advantages, and even less familiar Peronne might be the ideal starting point. Ultimately, practical considerations yielded to sentimental impulses, and I decided to enter the Somme as most soldiers entered it, via Albert, the battered, blasted little town, which, in 1918, was just a heap of red rubble lying athwart that rivulet of evil repute, the Ancre.

Thus it was, on a recent morning, I heard, as in a dream, the French porters crying "Al-bear," and I alighted at an imposing new station of four platforms, complete with white-tiled subway, buffet and bookstall.

One did not alight at Albert station ten years ago. It was not done. The only arrivals at Albert station were substantial shells which came via the Poizieres ridge. As a result, the new station is not the old one reconstructed, for there was nothing to reconstruct, but an entirely new structure, a little to the South of the ruined station, of which no trace now remains.

Albert's War-story is a double tragedy. For nearly two years, prior to 1916, the enemy sat on the ridge above the little town and flung heavy projectiles into it, using as a ranging point the Cathedral, whose massive walls of brick and stone, rising to a campanile, were visible to the naked eye from his observation posts. Then, with the opening of the offensive, the town came in for special concentrated "hate", for the enemy guessed, and rightly, that its cellars were crammed with men and that its streets, at night, were alive with troops and transport. When the battles of 1916 had pushed the accursed guns far beyond the Bapaume ridge, Albert enjoyed a little peace in which men moved its tumbled houses from the roadways and tidied up the place so that it had some semblance of its former shape.

Later, many civilians returned. Shops and villas were rebuilt or repaired, and it was good to come to Albert after a spell of duty before the Hindenburg Line. General Byng made his headquarters here.

Then, in 1918, the unbelievable happened, and the enemy hordes came, with incredible speed, over the hills that separated Albert from Cambrai. Peronne fell. Bapaume followed, and soon shells again came screaming over the Poizieres ridge. The new plate-glass windows of Albert were shattered, its new roofs were breached. Worse followed. The town was mercilessly bombed from the air, and finally captured.

With Albert within the enemy lines, it must perforce suffer from the guns of those who for so long had defended it, and it was a sorry heap of ruins that met the eyes of the troops who recaptured the place at the bayonet's point in 1918.

During the whole time that British troops held the town, its distinguishing feature was the "Leaning Virgin" on the tower of the Cathedral. High above the clustered houses, the effigy had stood, in times of peace, holding aloft triumphantly the Holy Child. In early bombardments, the base of the statue was hit, and the figure fell forward, so that it was parallel to the street, ready, at any moment it seemed to dash the Child on the cobbled, shell-dented square below. Instinctively, one walked clear of its shadow.

The Virgin Re-appears.

Thus there grew up a legend. "When the Virgin of Albert falls, the War will end," said the French. In April 1918, the effigy fell to British guns, obliged to bombard an obvious enemy observation post. The figure was never found, and another legend came into circulation. Prosaic people say that the mystery is no mystery to the enemy officer whose duty it was to salve metal and dispatch it to the German munition factories.

To-day, on the temporary church, you may see a brightly-gilded effigy of the Virgin, holding the Child heaven wards, as in the old times: But this is not the original figure. It is a replica, considerably smaller, for the little bell-tower of this church would not support the great piece of statuary that crowned the old campanile. Close by, the ruins of the old Cathedral remain much as they were in 1918, save that they have been made secure, and that the tomb of the patron saint, near the high altar, has been railed off. The floor has been cleared of the lighter debris, revealing the fact that the only piece of its mosaic which is undamaged is a section bearing the word "Adoremus" (Let us pray), a word strangely moving, seen amid the broken columns and shattered altars of the Cathedral.

The ruins of the Cathedral are now encircled by streets of handsome shops, with fine fronts and attractive displays of wares. Here and there an ugly vacant site breaks the array of new buildings, and even to-day your eye will light upon the remains of a petrol tin that may have done duty as a water container in 1916, or a piece of harness that, could it speak, might tell of a flame-lit night of horror in March 1918.

Albert, to-day claims a population larger than that which it held before the War. One reason for this increase is the establishment of an aeroplane factory employing about 1,000 men, so that even now the buzz of aircraft can often be heard above the town. Moreover, the work of reconstruction both in the town itself and in surrounding villages brings in many labourers who must have lodging.

A few days ago the annual meeting of the George Street United Church Tennis Club was held in the church parlors. The report was given and showed a splendid year all round. There were about fifty-five members, and the executive handed over a balance of $16.35 to the new officers.

The officers elected were:

Hon. President—Rev. J. E. Todd, B.A.
President—Homer Borland.
Vice-President—Ethelwyn Clysdale.
Secretary—Alda Bartlett.
Treasurer—Cecil Wasson.
Social Committee—Cyril Agnew, Eva Pusee, Eva Outram, Russell Lewis.
Grounds Committee—Ellsworth Ingall, Harold Agnew, Greta Stinson, Myrtle Stevens.
Tournament Committee — Elmer Hodgson, Carrie Cruikshanks, Jennie Frederick, Mary Squires.

This year's season is starting off with the tennis tea at the Oval on Tuesday, May 31st.

The club has again secured three courts at the Oval, which are in first-class shape for the season ahead.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Captain Charles Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic aviator, landed at the Evere aerodrome, Brussels, from Paris, at 3.15 p.m. this afternoon. His shining monoplane, the "Spirit of St. Louis" was sighted by the great throngs on the field at 3.12 o'clock. It began swooping down a moment later to land amid a great storm of cheers. He was escorted from the Franco-Belgian border by two Belgian army planes.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

HIGHLANDERS VISIT NEW YORK

Detachment From Montreal Regiment There For Memorial Day.

GUESTS OF VETERANS.

NEW YORK, May 28 (Canadian Press).—A detachment of the Fifth Royal Highlanders of Canada, consisting of six officers and 100 non-commissioned officers and men, arrived here this morning to participate in the Memorial Day parade of the American Legion on Monday.

The Montreal Highlanders, who are affiliated with the famous Black Watch, are in command of Lieut.-Col. J. D. MacPherson. On their arrival at the Pennsylvania Station this morning they were welcomed by Major Emir Yeager of the United States Field Artillery, representing the commanding officer of the 2nd Corps Area, and officials of the American Legion, British Great War Veterans Association and Canadian Club of New York.

During their stay in New York the Kilties will be guests of the British Great War Veterans' Association. An elaborate programme of entertainment has been arranged for them before they return to Montreal, on Monday night.

This afternoon the visitors were guests of the American League Baseball Club at the game between the Yankees and the Washington Senators. A brilliant ball will close the programme for the day.

GIRL IS KILLED WHILE PLAYING

Nine Year Old Child Runs Out in Front of Heavy Truck.

INQUEST ORDERED.

TORONTO, May 28.—Audrey Gertrude Holmes, aged 9 years, 1850 Gerrard Street East, was instantly killed at 6 o'clock last evening when run over by a motor truck on Gerrard Street, near Woodbine Avenue.

In company with a number of other small children, the unfortunate child was playing on the street, when, police say, she ran out on the road from between two parked automobiles in front of an eastbound truck. Norman White, 221 Leslie Street, the truck driver, said he swerved his truck when he saw the little girl in front of the wheels, but was unable to avoid striking her. The child was struck down and the heavy wheels crushed her head, causing instant death. Detectives Young and Ewing of East Toronto Police Station examined White and other witnesses of the fatal accident. The truck driver was not held by police.

Chief Coroner M. M. Crawford will hold an inquest.

Toronto Exchange Active With Gains in Majority

TORONTO, May 28 (Canadian Press).—An unusually brisk Saturday market was the order on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Gains were general. Brewery stocks were heavily dealt in and recorded gains. International Nickel was again leader and was 2⅛ higher at 71⅝. Brazilian Traction gained two at 150¼. British Columbia Fishing was up ⅝ at 1⅝ for the new issue. Page Hersey was up ⅛ at 73½, and Seagrams gained ⅞ at 26¼. Hiram Walkers gained 1 at 55, and Gooderham and Worts was up ⅛ at 61.

Prices Lower To-day On Standard Exchange

TORONTO, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Prices were weak on the Standard Mining Exchange today and declines outnumbered losses by considerable margin. Business was fairly brisk, 314,869 shares changing hands at the short session. Argonaut Consolidated declined one at 49, and Area was down two at 34. Barry Hollinger was one lower at 29, and Kirkland Lake declined four at 128. Vipond Consolidated, at 90, was down five. Wright Hargreaves was one of the few higher issues, being up ten at $6.00.

Corn Leader To-day; Wheat Loses Gains

CHICAGO, May 28 (Canadian Press).—Buying on a huge scale carried corn up with a rush today. Persistent unfavorable weather brought about the largest speculative interest in months, hoisting not only corn, but also wheat, rye and oats to new high price records for the season. Opening at 1 cent to 4 cents gain, corn held most of the advance. Wheat started at ⅛ cent off to 2½ cent up, but later receded to below yesterday's finish. Oats followed corn. Provisions also showed strength.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May unquoted, July 150½. Corn, May 96½, July 99¾. Oats, May 51, July 52¾.

New York Market Firm In Pre-Holiday Trading

NEW YORK, May 28 (Canadian Press).—With a two-day recess pending, traders were disposed to lighten committments at favorable opportunities in the Stock Market to-day, but the list revealed but few weak spots, and rose generally in a brisk manner under the impetus of urgent short selling and aggressive pool operations. While there were no new developments overnight regarding rumored competitive buying of railroad shares, heavy absorption of particular issues continued, notably Reading, Wabash and Chicago, and Eastern Illinois. The first-named sold above 121 to a new high record. Denials of competitive purchases of coal mining shares, which had a noticeable advance yesterday, brought about considerable realizing and short selling, which depressed Pennsylvania Coal and Coke five points and Pittsburgh Coal nearly three. The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

PETERBORO WOMEN'S MUSIC CLUB OFFERS PRIZES FOR POEM ON "CANADA."

The Music Club, wishing to commemorate our local celebration of "Confederation" in poetry and song, offers two prizes of five and three dollars to any pupil, over twelve years of age, attending either the Collegiate or Public Schools of Peterborough, for an original poem on "Canada." The poem must consist of six stanzas of four lines each. The Rev. Mr. Wren of Trinity Church and Rev. Mr. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church have kindly consented to act as adjudicators in selecting the two best poems. The poem winning the first prize, if suitable, will be set to music by our talented musician, Miss Agnes Logan, and sung on some public occasion by a well-known vocalist. By kind permission of The Examiner, the two prize-winning poems will also be published in its pages. We are sure there is as much budding or latent poetic talent among the young people of Peterborough as in any other city, and we hope that the subject of "Canada" will lend inspiration to the efforts of our young poets and poetesses. All poems must be sent to Mrs. Porter, 521 Gilmour Street, the Secretary of the Club, on or before Saturday, June 18th, and there must be enclosed a note from either parent or guardian certifying the poem to be the pupil's own unaided composition.

BOY DROWNED IN RESERVOIR

Ingersoll Lad Falls Into Big Tank While at Play.

BODY RECOVERED.

INGERSOLL, Ont., May 28. — Bobbie Legrice, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Legrice, Whiting street, was drowned about 8 o'clock last night in a large concrete reservoir on the premises of the Borden Milk Company here.

The boy in company with others, was throwing sticks into the water and in reaching for one he fell in. He and his companions were all unable to swim. The other boys at once ran for neighbors but by the time help arrived life was extinct. A long period of effort at resuscitation failed.

The water in the reservoir is said to be about 8 feet deep and is protected by iron piling with wire netting over which the boys had climbed.

PAINTER DROWNED IN DETROIT RIVER

WINDSOR, May 28.— Elmer MacDonald, 19 years old, of 512 Davies street, Sarnia, was drowned yesterday when he fell into the Detroit river from a scaffold while painting the side of the Huronic, Northern Navigation boat, which was moored to the Walker dock at Walkerville. The crew of the Detroit Harbormaster's tug assisted Walkerville officials in dragging the river, but the body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

Mr. Thomas Hannah has purchased a car.

Mr. Rodgers, of Belleville, visited friends in this vicinity on Sunday.

Mr. William McInroy has a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morrison and Mrs. John Morrison visited at Mr. D. Wellman's on Monday.

Edna Bateman is quite ill and is under the care of Dr. Thompson.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker are sorry to learn of the death of their infant son, which took place on Tuesday. Mrs. Wannamaker's condition is improving.

Owing to unhygienic conditions and improper feeding, infant mortality on an average is more than ten times as high in China as in America. In Ningpo there are three "baby towers," where the dead bodies of infants are thrown; or quite often they are merely wrapped in a piece of old sacking, and left in the fork of a tree.

EVENING SESSION VERY INTERESTING

Address on Reading Given at Asphodel Sunday School Convention.

HASTINGS, May 28.—The evening session of the annual convention of the Asphodel township Sunday school convention was largely attended on Wednesday evening.

The secretary gave the report of the nominating committee, as follows: president, Mr. J. Starke, of Donegal Sunday school; vice-president, Mr. J. A. Stevens, of Norwood Baptist S.S; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Edgar Clarke, of Elgin United S.S. Children's division, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, of Elgin United S.S; girls' division, Mrs. A. McNeil, of Norwood United S.S; boys' division, Rev. A. C. Hie, Hastings United S.S; young people's division, Miss Hazel McDonald, Hastings United S.S; adults' division, Mr. Thomas Clarke, Norwood United S.S. Home department, Mr. H. Thistlewaite, Elgin United S.S; teacher training, Rev. R. F. Stillman, of Norwood United. Missionary department, Mr. Harry Wildman, of Donegal Union. Temperance, Mr. G. A. Brethen of Norwood United.

The theme used by Rev. S. H. Moyer in his address was "Reading," and he expressed the importance of the matter of education and reading, and stated the material read was a training for character to help people to live more together for one great aim and purpose. Rural districts should get together more and thereby help them to live more successfully together and the reading material used in rural Sunday schools was tremendously important. It was not necessary, the speaker said, to be highly educated, to be a bookworm, and in libraries many books of biography, travel and poetry are looked over and cast aside for more modern fiction. This training of reading should start first in the home under the careful supervision of the parents and then on through the Sunday school. A Sunday school teacher has the privilege of guiding and training the direction of taste towards better reading and direct the minds in the most helpful and learned book of literature, that book being "The Bible."

In closing the speaker said it is far better to get it into the minds of officers and teachers and Sunday school workers that the Bible is the main book to be studied, to help and enable the young to accomplish more and to instruct their minds in the matter of great reading.

Another address was given by Rev. J. N. Norton on church and Sunday school life.

The musical part of the programme was in charge of Professor John Edwards, F.S.T.C. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. P. McLennan.

"Nearer My God To Thee" was sung by a quartet, Prof. Edwards, J. A. Finlay, E. C. Squires and W. J. Stairs. Professor Edwards rendered vocally "There's a Beautiful Land on High," and the quartette sang "More Love To Thee, O Christ."

Miss Anna Brethen acted as accompanist for the evening.

LAKEFIELD BOY IS PRIZE WINNER

Wilfrid Pluard Among Successful Contestants in Essay Writing.

LAKEFIELD, May 28.—Mr. Wilfrid Pluard, a pupil of the Lakefield High School, was one of the prize winners in the Essay Contest on the History of Canada.

The tulip beds at the Post Office grounds are in full bloom and present a beautiful appearance. These grounds are beautifully kept and from early spring till late autumn, there are flowers in the beds and in the borders.

The usual trip was made by the steamer "Empress" for the accommodation of those who were desirous of spending the holiday week end at the lake. Returning on Tuesday, the boat connected with the C.N.R. train at 4.40 p.m. A large number took advantage of the opportunity.

The festive fire-cracker marked the holiday, as it has done for many years. Probably no holiday is so strongly associated with fireworks as the 24th of May. On Monday evening they were heard on every hand, the small boy's first demonstration of patriotism.

Thursday, being Ascension Day, was specially observed in St. John's church and St. Paul's church.

Fish Hawk Conquers Large Black Bass

HIAWATHA, May 28.—An interesting sight was witnessed at the lake shore by some boys here, when they saw a fish-hawk dive straight as an arrow into the water, stay under for about one minute, then rise to the top with a large bass in its mouth, resting awhile before flying away.

LIQUOR STORES TO OPEN JUNE 1

Eighteen To Commence Operations That Day—Six in Toronto.

MAIL ORDER STORE.

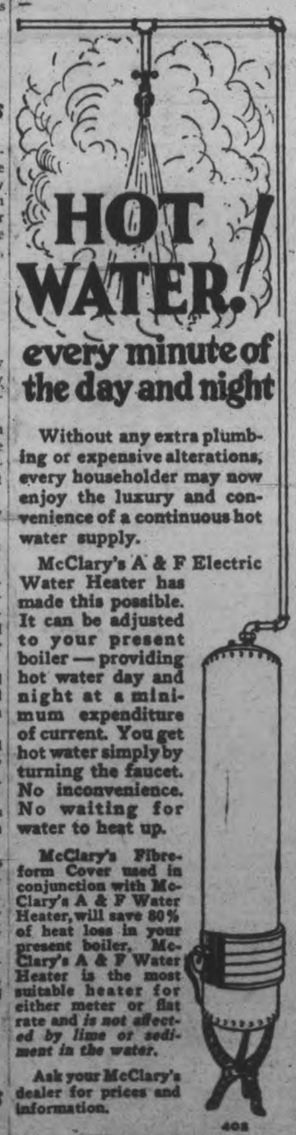
TORONTO, May 27. — The Ontario Liquor Control Commission announced last night that the hours of sale for the liquor stores throughout the province would be from 10 a. m. to 6 p.m. on week days and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. In Toronto, and if it is found advisable in other large centres, one store will be kept open during the evening to look after the late comers and presumably to cut off the last source from which the bootlegger might draw business. This store, the location of which has not been settled, will also be kept open until 6 p.m. on Saturday. The hours, Chairman Hanna explained, would be tried out for a period after the stores opened and if in the light of further experience a change was found advisable, it would be made.

The actual date of opening the liquor stores has not yet been announced officially, but Premier Ferguson yesterday confirmed the previous report that the Commission had set June 1st as the date upon which an effort was to be made to have the first sales inaugurated. Twenty-four hours after this announcement, which is expected to-morrow night, has been made the temporary offices now selling permits will cease to do business. They were only opened with a view to avoiding a possible rush," Mr. Hanna explained. "This has been accomplished, and we are going to need our staff for other work."

"It is very improbable that any permits will be issued from these offices after the end of this week," Dr Manion put in, and the chairman assented.

As soon as the stores are opened temporary liquor permits will be available to the bona fide American tourist who can establish residence in Ontario. The Commission, however, intends to investigate carefully each individual application and the Chief Commissioner yesterday issued a warning to the citizens across the border who, it is reported, are coming north on special trains to celebrate the opening of the stores.

"There are going to be no loose methods in issuing these temporary permits," he declared. "This is to be no feast of Belshazzar. Liquor cannot be bought without a permit. These people who come across the line will not be able to get permits and therefore cannot purchase the liquor. I have nothing against my American friends, but they will have to be content with standing around the tunnel and watching how it is possible to protect a liquor store with dignity and propriety."



HOT WATER! every minute of the day and night

Without any extra plumbing or expensive alterations, every householder may now enjoy the luxury and convenience of a continuous hot water supply.

McClary's A & F Electric Water Heater has made this possible. It can be adjusted to your present boiler — providing hot water day and night at a minimum expenditure of current. You get hot water simply by turning the faucet. No inconvenience. No waiting for water to heat up.

McClary's Fibreform Cover used in conjunction with McClary's A & F Water Heater, will save 80% of heat loss in your present boiler. McClary's A & F Water Heater is the most suitable heater for either meter or flat rate and is not affected by lime or sediment in the water.

No automobile, regardless of its cost —if equipped with the poppet-valve type of engine — can escape the penalty of loss in power, loss in efficiency, from the first day its engine starts to run . . .

With Willys-Knight, the direct contrary is true — it gains in power. It gains in engine-efficiency. It gains in smooth and silent running. It improves with use. The only motor-mechanism known that, to a limit never yet reached, gets better with every mile! In flexibility—acceleration—climbing power—economy—and low depreciation—this type of car is without a rival.

Even a casual inspection of the Willys-Knight Sixes is enough to excite your enthusiasm. New and finer body design is at once apparent. Lower, more graceful lines. True symmetry, perfect proportion. Roomier and more comfortable interiors. Superior finish.

And now — Ownership of a Willys-Knight is made easier than ever before with New Low Prices that bring these superb automobiles well within the reach of moderate incomes.

MORE ROOM

than any other Light Car

Judge the roominess of the Whippet from the inside. Step through the wide door opening into the surprisingly large interior. Due to its unique body and dash construction there is actually more leg-room than in any other automobile of this price class. Note too, the following Whippet features, all of them hitherto unknown in the light-car field.

Four Wheel Brakes—a safety feature demanded by modern traffic conditions.

Unequalled Economy—more miles on a gallon than any other car.

Acceleration—5 to 30 miles an hour in 13 seconds. The Whippet's flashing pick-up makes you master of any traffic situation. Low gravity centre adds safety.

Speed—more than you'll ever need. 55 miles an hour is all we claim. Many owners report 60.

Adjustable Steering Wheel—tall or short, lean or stout, the Whippet fits every driver.

Beauty—The smartest looking, most modernly designed light car on the road today. Long, low, graceful lines.

If you have never ridden in a Whippet we suggest you do so before another day passes.

ST. LUKE'S WIN PLAY CONTEST

Beats St. John's By Small Majority in Final Presentation.

GIVEN AT LAKEFIELD.

The dramatic contest, staged under the auspices of the Anglican Young People's Association of the district, which has been arousing much interest during the past few months, was concluded last night in the Lakefield Memorial Hall, when the silver cup awarded as a prize to the winning society was given to the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church, victors in the final contest.

St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. and St. John's A.Y.P.A., tied in previous contests, once more presented their one-act plays, under the auspices of the Lakefield A.Y.P.A. before alarge and interested audience, who accorded both performances much enthusiastic appreciation. That a popular verdict was rendered was evidenced by the manner in which 'The New Reporter,' the offering by St. Luke's young people, was applauded.

The actors gave a splendid account of themselves in both instances, and the verdict registered only three points difference between them, St. Luke's receiving a total of eighty-five points out of a possible hundred, and St. John's getting eighty-two points. The basis of the judging was done from five angles, with elocution, deportment, staging, memory work, and general effect considered.

The decision of the judges, Mr. F. E. Kerr, Mr. A. D. Clark, and Miss Cathleen McCarthy, was outlined by Mr. Kerr, in a comprehensive speech made at the close of the contest, Mr. Clark adding a word of commendation of the fine work done by St. John's young people, and Miss McCarthy making the presentation of the cup, which was accepted by St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. by Miss Flossie Pammett, directress of their play.

The plays, which were reported in full on their last presentation, were excellently presented in both instances. Those taking part in "The Matrimonial Agency," the vehicle chosen by St. John's A.Y.P.A., were the Misses Gertrude Hood, Lucy Nixon, Florence Hutchinson, Minnie Long, and Messrs. Wayne Wilbur, Stanton Warren, Bert Hayter, and Bert Austin, with Mr. W. E. Massey-Cooke as director.

Taking part in "The New Reporter," presented by the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's Church, directed by Miss Flossie Pammett, were Mrs. W. Hepburn, Miss Gertrude Doupe, and Messrs. Roland Krant, Morgan Perry, Douglas Bethune, Herbert Lee, Victor Sedgewick, and Howard Pammett.

A bright small orchestra, with Miss A. Horn at the piano, played during intermissions, and Miss Queenie Hope gave two loudly-encored readings. Announcements were made by Rev. W. J. Creighton, rector of St. John's Church, Lakefield, who also spoke briefly at the conclusion of the programme. Mr. Cecil Hope, chairman of the Dramatic Committee of the District A.Y.P.A., thanked the audience, the Lakefield A.Y.P.A., and the judges, in a short speech.

Refreshments were served in the Sunday School Hall of their church by the Lakefield young people and a dance in the Memorial Hall brought the evening to a close.

TRUE STORIES ABOUT LIFE INSURANCE
By a Mutual Life Representative

His Family's Future Was in the Fire

HE had need for insurance and proposed taking out a $5,000 Policy in the Mutual Life.

I asked him what was the minimum by which his widow could carry out his plans for his boys' education. How long could his family live and how much education could they have for $5,000?

"Make it ten, then," he said, "with an extra thousand for my mother—say $11,000."

I got the Head Office to make out three policies—two for ten thousand each and one for one thousand in favor of his mother.

"I can't pay for it," he said, when he saw the extra $10,000. "I have other irons in the fire."

"You have your family's future in the fire," said I. "Don't leave it there."

He hesitated, but saw the logic of the situation and accepted the full amount of the policies—$21,000.

"It will cost me $700 a year," he said, "but my family's future is worth it."

THE HOME GARDEN

A Convenient Vegetable.

Carrots are a most convenient vegetable because they will do well in almost any soil. From cow fodder of two generations ago they have developed into an indispensable standby in the kitchen. Carrots can be planted at intervals of a few weeks right up to the middle of July. The seed should be sown about half an inch deep. Thin to an inch apart, and in a few weeks when the roots have developed sufficiently to use as baby carrots take out every other one. There are early, medium and late sorts, and these should be sown according to the season. They must be grown quickly for best results, and on this account a quick acting fertilizer such as nitrate of soda should be used. Begin cultivation as soon as they are big enough to thin, and keep this up right through the season.

Handling Peonies.

Peonies, like other perennials, are often over fertilized with the result that they become soft and very susceptible to fungus diseases. Water is exceedingly important during May and June, and, if nature does not provide a sufficient supply of moisture, it is well to provide it, if necessary, by hand. It is also necessary to water abundantly following the flowering season, as this is when the top growth is getting a start. When cutting the flowers, do not sever below the second or third leaves, as the plants will suffer if too much foliage is removed. The more delicate peonies look best in the house, if they are cut in the bud, and allowed to open indoors. These flowers require full sun and plenty of room.

Zinnias.

Th Zinnia comes in assorted sizes from tiny little buttons to huge globes of glowing colour. It is one of the most gorgeous and easily grown annuals of size. Not much is gained by sowing Zinnia seed indoors, as it grows rapidly and blooms quickly. It will keep on blooming if the withered flowers are kept removed. Some fifteen colours are now listed as well as variations and mottlings. The shades of yellow and orange are unmatched in auy other annual, and the reds are particularly rich and velvety.

Nasturtiums Like Poor Soil.

The easiest way to produce a sheet of brilliant colour with a minimum of effort in the flower garden is to plant Nasturtiums. These can be procured in the dwarf varieties for edging or planting back in a bed, and also in the climbing sorts which will cover a low fence, if given support, or will do well trailing down from the front window box. It does not need very rich soil or much fertiliser after the first few weeks. The Nasturtium ranges in color from sulphur or pure yellow into rose, orange, scarlet and maroons that are almost black. It is an excellent flower to tuck in among the spring bulbs, which is will hide, when these are past their best. This easily grown flowers blooms from early summer until frost.

Tomato Culture.

The main planting of tomatoes may be risked now in any part of Central Ontario. A warm quick soil with plenty of available plant food is required for this crop. Encourage rapid, vigorous growth from the time of setting out until fruiting commences, but allows the plants to also down during the fruiting season. Nitrate of soda is a good fertilizer to use for the first few weeks. Set tomatoes two feet apart in rows three feet apart. Staking will result in earlier fruit, and give a cleaner crop. Use stakes about six feet long and drive firmly into the ground a few inches from the main stem at the time of setting the plants out. Keep all lateral branches, arising from the axils of the leaves, pinched off, and tie the main stem loosely with soft twine or raffia to the stake. When the stem reaches the top of the stake, pinch off the end to encourage ripening of the fruit.

MAN OF SIXTY FINDS THE REMEDY

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CORRECTED BLADDER AND BOWEL TROUBLE

MR. THOS. GRAHAM

Mr. Thomas Graham of Oshawa, Ont, has found the key to health. Writing about it he says: "Just a line to tell you what good 'Fruit-a-tives' has done me. I am 60 years old and tried all kinds of medicines for bladder and bowel trouble which used to keep me from work a month at a time, until I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' Thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives' I have worked steadily for four years without a sick day. I have never felt better than I do now."

"Fruit-a-tives" substitutes radiant health for sickness. It effectively overcomes constipation, bladder and kidney troubles because it is the kind of remedy that nature meant us to use—the juices of fresh, ripe fruits, intensified and combined with strengthening tonics.

You have a right to that "Glad-to-be-alive" feeling. Give "Fruit-a-tives" a chance to restore your health. If you are constipated or worried with bladder trouble begin taking "Fruit-a-tives" to-day. 25c and 50c everywhere.

REV. W. FULLER ACCEPTS CALL

Peterborough Boy To Become Rector of Church at Norton, B.C.

WYCLIFFE GRADUATE.

Rev. Wilfrid Eastland Fuller, L. Th., curate of Trinity Church for the last 14 months, has accepted the rectorship of the Anglican church at Norton and, although no definite time for the taking over of his new duties has been fixed as yet, it is understood that it will be in the near future.

The Norton congregation has been so eager to secure Mr. Fuller as rector that it has extended an invitation to him no less than three times since its former rector, Rev. Thomas Parker, M.A., resigned to accept the rectorship of Kingsclear parish about six months ago. Mr. Fuller's acceptance of the call to Norton was given on Monday of this week.

His departure from Trinity church and from Saint John will be very keenly regretted. Both as clergyman and as a citizen he has won a place of high regard during his comparatively short stay in this city.

Born In Ontario.

Mr. Fuller was born in Peterboro, Ont., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Fuller, and received his early education in the Collegiate Institutes of Peterboro and Hamilton, Ont. He served overseas during the war, enlisting in 1916 and serving first with the 38th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, and later with the Canadian Corps Intelligence branch which was charged with the responsibility of the interrogation of German prisoners and the interception of German messages with ground lines. He served with the Canadians in Germany after the war.

On returning to Canada he entered Wycliffe College, University of Toronto, to study for the ministry. In 1921 he discontinued his studies, and for a period of two years had charge of an Anglican mission in the Moosonee district in Northern Ontario, where he worked among Indians and white settlers. He returned to Wycliffe to continue his studies, and in January, 1925, was granted a special dispensation to carry on his course outside the college, while taking up his duties as curate of St. Luke's church, Saint John, assisting Rev. R. P. McKim.

Wycliffe Graduate

Mr. Fuller graduated from Wycliffe College in the spring of 1925 with high honors in theology, and taking post-graduate studies that same year, he won his degree of Licentiate of Theology from Wycliffe for advanced study in that subject. He received his degree of L. Th. at the fall convocation in 1925. He was curate of St. Luke's church from January, 1925, to March, 1926, when he accepted the curacy of Trinity church in Saint John assisting Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence.

Previous to his acceptance of the curacy in St. Luke's church, Mr. Fuller had held missionary charges in New Brunswick during three summers. Twice he worked in Eldon, Restigouche county, and one summer he assisted Rev. R. Taylor McKim in St. Mary's church in St. John.

Surpassing Last Year's Success

NOT even its electrifying success during 1926—not even its tremendous sales, which more than doubled the best previous first-year record of any new make of car.—Not even these amazing achievements can compare with the present-day triumphs of the New and Finer Pontiac Six!

The reasons for this spectacular advance in popularity are obvious. Always a surpassing value, the New and Finer Pontiac Six now towers above its field like a beacon in the night. Vivid new beauty enhances the fine craftsmanship of its new lower bodies by Fisher. Chassis refinements emphasize the thrilling performance of its famous six-cylinder motor. Fresh and original combinations of enduring Duco lend a marked note of style to its six smart body types.

Yet even with all these improvements the New and Finer Pontiac Six sells for new low prices! Never has such surpassing value been offered in a low-priced quality six. Never has any car of its price kindled such wildfire buying enthusiasm! And never has any car in its class so clearly deserved such success! PF2720

EAST PETERBOROUGH LEAGUE OPENING GAME ENDS IN TIE

STRONG FINISH BY CRESCENTS ENABLES THEM TO OVERCOME FOUR RUN LEAD OF RAYBESTOS

Darkness Forced Abandonment of Game Without Reaching Decision.

FINAL SCORE FOUR ALL.

Masterson Invincible For Five Innings—Armstrong Starts Badly.

Raybestos and Crescents did a neck-and-neck finish to open the East Peterborough Baseball League at Exhibition Park last evening, the game reverting to a 4 to 4 count when Umpire Kay called the game at the end of the first half of the seventh on account of darkness. A second runner was coming in for Raybestos when the game ended.

Art Armstrong started for Crescents and walked everybody in sight, all four runs being gifts. Jack Billingsley was called in to retire the third man in the second. This he did nicely and then proceeded to keep the Rays subdued. A wild peg by Kenneally gave Raybestos a run in the seventh and a perfectly good drive across second by Hilliard scored another counter, but as it turned out, neither tally figured in the game.

Crescents found trouble in locating Casey Masterson's slants and did not get a hit until the fifth, when, with Griffin on base after being deadheaded, Joe Jones doubled to right centre to score the first run. Then Jones drew a throw to second, and Masterson threw the ball into the garden to let Jones go home. Crescents went after their former pitcher in the sixth when Kenneally doubled to left. It was a high one, just out of reach of Oscar Nicholls, after a long run. Scully dropped a single in centre, and Ranger hit to right to score Kenneally and Scully. This tied the count. Corbett fanned but F. Jones looped one over the box. Griffin and Billingsley fanned.

Running catches by Joe and Freddy Jones and Harry Corrin featured the game. All things considered, the teams did well in their getaway, and will show big improvement when summer comes. A big crowd of fans saw the contest.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister sporting Editor:

Except that a good many dads went out in the backyard and had more fun than the kids shooting off fireworks that cost them dollars where it used to be dimes when they was young, Victoria Day was a washout here Tues., Mac. The ball game was declared blotto Mon., and the race meet of the Peterborough Turf Club was rained out. Mebbe it was just as well, Mac, for somebody had slipped me a hot tip and I was all set to shoot a coupla bucks on 1 of the races, and if I had my usual luck the old pay envelope mighta looked more anaemic than usual this week. You know me. If they was only 2 starters I could pick the wrong 1 every time.

What's become of the old May 24th weather anyway. When you and I was kids you always had to take your first swim on the Queen's birthday—if you hadn't had it back in April—but the only 1 I heard of swimmin' on Tues. was a member of The Examiner family, and if he really was in the water I'll bet a cookie somebody shoved him off of the dock. Any bird tough enough to plunge into the lake on the holiday has nerve enough to try and cross the Atlantic on a plank.

Speaking about the holiday, Mac, a fellow told me about a tough break that happened to a bunch of youngsters. I ain't had time to verify it, but it sounds true. It seems that on a certain block where 4 or 5 families from Aberdeenshire and a English family lived they was all set for a real old binge Victoria Day night. They was to be fireworks galore, and every kid on the block was right on edge for the doings. But the holiday evening failed to bring out a single bang or a coloured star shooting into the air. No, it wasn't the rain—the English family had moved outa the neighborhood the day before.

By the way, Mac, I'm glad to see everybody is taking hold of this Diamond Jubilee celebration in the proper spirit. We ain't had many celebrations on a big scale here, and the whole burg oughta look like a different place when the community cuts loose. Way back in the misty past I remember when the Canadian Wheelmen's Association held their annual meet here. They was a lotta good riders here, but the events on the track was tame to the doings uptown every night. Even the police force didn't get no sleep while the gang was our guests, and they hasn't been as much excitement since the time some birds pinched the barbecue ox from the market square, and they was no meat for the multitude. Them was the good old days.

The customers will have to wait a while for some sporting dope, Mac, and meanwhile, reservoir.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SCHEDULES FOR CITY BASEBALL

Teams in Three Series Will Start Playing During Next Week.

SEVEN TEAMS ENTERED.

Schedules for the three series of the Peterborough City Baseball League were drawn last night at a meeting of the managers of the various teams and the officials of the league. Play will start next week in all series. There are two teams in the junior series, three in the juvenile, and two in the bantam. The difficulty in every series is not to get players but to get managers and backing for the teams. Those who are running teams report large numbers of boys wishing to play, enough for several teams turning out at each practice.

All evening games start at 6 o'clock sharp. Saturday's games start at 3.

Junior Series.

All games in Junior and Juvenile to be played at the Exhibition grounds unless changed by the secretary of the City League. There will be no play off games in the Junior or Juvenile series.

Wednesday, June 1—Kiwanis vs. Rotary.
Tuesday, June 7—Rotary vs. Kiwanis.
Wednesday, June 15—Kiwanis vs. Rotary.
Wednesday, June 22—Rotary vs. Kiwanis.
Wednesday, June 29—Kiwanis vs. Rotary.
Friday, July 8—Rotary vs. Kiwanis.
Tuesday, July 12—Kiwanis vs. Rotary.

The best four out of seven games decides the winner.

Juvenile Series.

Tuesday, May 31—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Saturday, June 4—All Saints vs. Kiwanis.
Friday, June 10—Canucks vs. All Saints.
Tuesday, June 14—Canucks vs. Kiwanis.
Saturday, June 18—Kiwanis vs. All Saints.
Thursday, June 23—All Saints vs. Canucks.
Thursday, June 30—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Tuesday, July 5—All Saints vs. Kiwanis.
Saturday, July 9—Canucks vs. All Saints.

Bantam Series.

All games to be played at the Sacred Heart Grounds.

First Section:

Thursday, June 2—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Monday, June 6—Canucks vs. Kiwanis.
Thursday, June 9—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Monday, June 13—Canucks vs. Kiwanis.

Second Section.

Thursday, June 16—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Tuesday, June 21—Canucks vs. Kiwanis.
Saturday, June 25—Kiwanis vs. Canucks.
Monday, June 27—Canucks vs. Kiwanis.

Winner of the first section will play off with the winner of the second section.

SOFTBALL PRACTICE

The Examiner softball team will practice at 6.00 o'clock Monday evening at Central Park. All players are asked to be on hand.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

LEAFS TAKE SECOND GAME

Two Fohlemen Score in the Lucky Seventh Frame By Fumble.

BISONS LOSE OUT.

TORONTO, May 28. — Rochester played the second game of its series here yesterday afternoon with Toronto. They close with a double-header to-day, the Leafs taking a 3-day jaunt to Syracuse, for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Rochester made some shifts in its batting order, Fleming leading off and playing centre, Silva moving down from first to fifth, and Costello replacing Johnny Jones at short. Herb Thormahlen, the left-hander, who two years ago engaged in the famous 18-innings duel with Smith here, was selected to pitch. Toronto pitched Sorrell and had Jacobson in left, High in right.

The line-up:

Rochester—Fleming cf, Groh 3b, Murphy rf, Onslow 1b, Silva lf, Maranville 2b, Walsh c, Costello ss, Thormahlen p.

Toronto—Spencer cf, Webb 3b, Jacobson lf, Hargrave c, Lamotte ss, Alexander 1b, High rf, Harrington 2b, Sorrell p.

Umpires: Clarke, Carpenter and Finneran.

The Syracuse Stars soundly trounced the Bisons for their second straight victory of the series at Buffalo yesterday by a score of 9 to 4. The Stars jolted Jack Hollingsworth, star Bison heaver, from the mound in the fifth for his second loss in two games.

The Skeeters came from behind at Jersey City to win a well-played game from the Baltimore Orioles in the ninth inning by the score of 6 to 5.

The Bears defeated the Reading Keys in a double-header at Newark by the scores of 13 to 4 and 9 to 8. Both games were long-drawn affairs, and increased Reading's straight defeats to 27. Al Mamaux hurled fine ball in the first and just breezed through the game.

Leo Casey, pinch hitting for the Hawks, tied the score with a long home run in the second tilt. The Bears came from behind twice to win the game.

DE LAVAL DEFEAT FOURTH BATTERY

Soldiers Make Good Start, But Lacked Support in the Outfield.

Lacking support in the outfield, the Fourth Battery went down to defeat to the De Laval nine last night to the tune of 20-9. The soldier's got away to a good start in the first inning by putting out the first three men to bat, but their hopes were shattered when De Laval earned seven runs in their half of the second. Both pitchers, Anthony and Dyer showed good form, but the latter, hurling for the factory boys, had every kind of support both in the outfield and the infield. Anthony lacking in both. The following is the line-up:

DeLaval		Fourth Bat.
B. Miller	catcher	French
Dyer	pitcher	B. Anthony
J. Edgar	1b	MacIntosh
H. Fowler	2b	P. King
B. Jones	3b	Calladine
E. Jones	ss	J. Dunkerley
A. Weston	cf	Ridyard
J. Cooper	r.f.	Cordry
K. Miller	l.f.	Mahood

It was a good fast game and handled well by Umpires A. Delahaye and L. LeBarr.

PIRATES WIN FROM CARDS

Run String of Consecutive Victories To Nine At Pittsburgh.

RALLY IN SEVENTH.

NEW YORK, May 29 (Canadian Press)—The Pirates won a ten inning battle from St. Louis at Pittsburgh, 8 to 7, and ran their string of consecutive victories to nine. Joe Bush won his own game by singling in the extra frame, scoring Harris. Coming from behind in the seventh, the Pirates tied the count, pounding Flint Rhem from the box and reaching Littlejohn. McGraw relieved Littlejohn and held the Pirates in check until the tenth.

Charley Root, coming into the game as a relief pitcher, won his own game at Chicago yesterday by driving out a double in the eleventh that gave the Cubs a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati. It was Root's eighth victory of the season. Guy Bush weakened in the seventh inning when the Reds bunched hits and tied the count.

The Robins captured both ends of a doubleheader with New York at Brooklyn by scores of 5 to 3 and 5 to 1, extending the Giants' losing streak to six straight. Dazzy Vance pitched his sixth consecutive victory in the opener during which he fanned 10 batters. Petty twirled for Brooklyn in the closing struggle, allowing only six hits, one of which was a homer by Terry. Statz, of the Robins, also hit for the circuit.

Win Double Header

The Boston Braves took both ends of a double header from the Phillies at Philadelphia, winning the first game, 8-1, and taking the second, by a 13-5 margin. Bob Smith, who recently was in a 22 inning game in Boston, did not seem to have tired under the strain, and held the Phillies in check in the opener.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, May 28—The regular league service was not held on Thursday evening of this week. Next meeting on June 2nd, with softball game Khaki vs. Blue.

The softball schedule is as follows:
June 2—Khaki vs. Blue.
June 9—Khaki vs. White-Red.
June 16—Blue vs. White-Red.
June 23—Blue vs. Khaki.
June 30—White-Red vs. Khaki.
July 7—White-Red vs. Blue.

The leader of the group not playing will be chief umpire each night and will choose his own assistant.

YANKEES SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER

Defeat Washington Senators 5-0 After Losing Opening Tussle 7-2.

SOX WON FIFTH.

NEW YORK, May 28 (Canadian Press) — The Yankees split a twin engagement with the Senators here yesterday, shutting out Washington, 5 to 0, in the final contest after taking the small end of a 7 to 2 verdict in the opener. Lisenbee held the Yankees to four hits in the first game, two of them going to Gehrig who also clouted his eleventh home run of the season in the second game, tying Babe Ruth for the season's high total.

Alphonse Thomas held the Tigers to five hits at Detroit and the Chicago White Sox won their fifth successive game, thereby climbing a step closer to the leading Yankees. The score was 3 to 1. In winning his eighth victory of the season, Thomas has allowed only one earned run in his last 35 innings.

Win from Browns

Scoring six runs on faulty pitching and infield support and only one earned run, a homer by Hodapp, the Cleveland Indians won from the Browns, 7 to 3, at St. Louis. Cleveland garnered three runs in the third off one single when Jones walked four, forcing in two runs and Sisler bobbled a grounder.

Philadelphia at Boston, rain.

ENGLISH GOLFERS MEET IN FINALS

Play 36-Hole Round For British Amateur Golf Championship.

HOYLAKE, England, May 28 (AP)—The British amateur golf championship will come home to England today. Two Englishmen will meet today in the 36-hole final round.

The finalists are Dr. W. Tweddell, of Stourbridge, and D. E. Landale, a middle aged member of the Royal Liverpool Club, neither of whom ever reached the finals before. Tweddell is a practicing physician.

Dr. Tweddell is favored by the experts to win to-day, largely on account of his surprising and decisive victory in the semi-finals today over Roger Wethered, former holder of the title, by a margin of four up and three to play. Dr. Tweddell was never headed in his match against Wethered. He took the first five holes and stood four up at the ninth. This lead was too much for Wethered whose golf has been patchy all week.

Landale reached the final by beating Captain R. H. Jobson, of the Royal and Ancient Club yesterday by a margin of one hole. Josbon is a former Oxford University star, playing on the golf team there in 1913 and 1914.

A Request to Pipe Smokers

To pipe smokers, Mayfield is presented with this one request—Compare it with your favorite tobacco and be guided in your smoking accordingly.

Notice its flavor, aroma and mildness and compare—

Notice how a famous old process of manufacture brings out those fine qualities of choicest Virginia—

Comparison not argument is the real measure of tobacco merit—and on this basis it is confidently believed that "You'll like Mayfield."

The Things You Take for Granted
when you buy a
McLaughlin-Buick

ALL the really important things about an automobile, McLaughlin-Buick owners take for granted—

Because McLaughlin-Buick designers and builders take nothing for granted.

Guesswork and chance have no place in the construction of McLaughlin-Buick. The industry's most outstanding engineering experts—the greatest automobile research laboratories in the world—skilled craftsmen — vigilant inspectors — rigid standards of manufacture — these are the reasons underlying McLaughlin-Buick quality. And, back of all these is the final proof—the unending trials and tests on the great General Motors Proving Ground.

Constant seeking to improve on McLaughlin-Buick quality has resulted in some of the most important automobile advances of the century . . . the McLaughlin-Buick Engine, vibrationless beyond belief, with its triple seal against excess wear . . . the Sealed Chassis . . . the Vacuum-cleaned Crankcase, which solves once for all the problem of oil-dilution . . . the McLaughlin-Buick Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes, unsurpassed for dependability . . . the princely beauty and luxurious comfort of McLaughlin-Buick Fisher Bodies.

Because of its unvarying standard of quality, extending to every minute detail, . . . because of the relentless testing through which McLaughlin-Buick must come, with flying colors, . . . because every principle and practice is proved beyond question before it is ever offered to the public, . . . because of these the McLaughlin-Buick owner may safely take for granted all the important factors on which motoring satisfaction depends.

SOCCER NOTES.

It is uncertain whether there will be any junior football association this year, as there has been no interest shown in it. There have been four meetings called now, and there have been no representatives present from any factory or organization to enter teams.

Frank Dolph of Portland, Ore., the western amateur golf champion, is out this year to defend his title at Seattle and then he plans to go to Minneapolis to try for the national amateur championship.

MUCH PRODUCE OFFERED TO-DAY

Plants Centre of Interest on the Farmers' Market This Morning.

EGGS 26c. BUTTER 35c.

The market vendors were basking in the warm sunlight of this morning and farm produce appeared to be fairly plentiful. Plants were the main object of interest for the buyers, the available supply ranging from strawberry plants, which sold at twenty for twenty-five cents, to pepper plants at two dozen for a quarter, and Canterbury bells and mullein pinks at three for the same price. Raspberry canes of the Columbian variety were a nickel apiece.

Potatoes were quoted at $1.75 a bag, with small-sized specimens at 35 cents a peck. Gherkins in brine were 50 cents a basket, beets and parsnips were 30 cents a peck. Yearling lamb on one cart was 30 cents a pound. Little pigs were $6 apiece, and small collie pups might be purchased at $2 each.

In the basket section, eggs were selling from 26 to 28 cents a dozen and butter from 35 to 40 cents a pound. Chickens were 28 and 30 cents a pound, and a lone duck was priced at 90 cents for a four and one-half bird.

There were artificial silk flowers for coats, and natural blooms that had a ready sale, tulips priced at 3 for a quarter, and narcissus at 30 cts. a dozen.

A novelty was a piecework bedspread at $1.50.

TWO SET SINGLE HARNESS, ALSO shovel and forks. Apply 2 McGill. 2d-26,31,2-5817A

FLYER LEAVES PARIS TO-DAY

Lindbergh Makes Trip To Brussels in Little Over Two Hours.

FRENCH SAY FAREWELL.

PARIS, May 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Paris to-day said au revoir to Captain Lindbergh, new hero of the air.

There was a great roar of voices, a shrill tooting of whistles and honking of horns as the birdman, sweeping down in a great circle from Le Bourget Field, passed over the Arc De Triomphe and the Place de la Concord, circled the Eiffel Tower and then headed straight for Brussels, Belgium and new triumphs. He left the runway on the flying field at 12.49. Every open space in Paris was jammed with people eager for a sight of the flier in action. The people gave him a farewell that seemed to come from every heart.

As he passed over the Place de la Concord at an altitude of only 200 yards, Lindbergh dropped a message which said, "Good-bye Paris, you have been good to me."

In deference to his request Lindbergh had no actual escort. Military planes detailed by the government to go with him to the Belgian frontier, followed the "Spirit of St. Louis" at a respectful distance. Three other planes flanked the military planes as a personal tribute.

Lindbergh Reaches Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 28. — (Canadian Press.)— Captain Charles Lindbergh, United States' trans-Atlantic flier, arrived here from Paris this afternoon at 3.17 p.m.

CIRCLES GLOBE TO SEE FAMILY

James Boorman, of Surrey, Calling On Brother in This City.

HERE FROM SOUTH SEAS.

James Boorman of Surrey, England, is visiting his brother, J. Boorman, on McDonnell street after a separation of twenty-three years. Formerly a coach-maker in England, then turning his trade to automobiles, he retired in 1926 and since then has been making a tour of the world exclusive of the United States, visiting relatives and friends of olden times.

Leaving England in February, 1926, he went to New South Wales, where his daughter is living, and then on to New Zealand, Australia, and the Fiji Islands. Mr. Boorman has in his possession a map drawn by a student in a technical school in one of these countries of the Pacific Ocean which is almost as perfect as a professional drawing.

On being asked how he compared Canada with other countries, Mr. Boorman remarked that in all his travels had he seen better citizens than those of Canada for cordiality and attention to a visitor.

From Peterborough Mr. Boorman intends to visit his sister at Ottawa, then taking the boat at Montreal for his home in Surrey, England.

JUBILEE SUNDAY SERVICE PLANNED

Suggested Programme Drawn By Premier Approved By Committee.

OTTAWA, May 28—Sunday, July 3 was the date set by the National Committee for the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation for a National Thanksgiving Day. It is proposed that the people gather at prominent centres for services of thanksgiving for the blessings that have grown out of Confederation. The time for the commencement of the services has been tentatively set for 2.30 p.m

Premier King placed the suggestion before the committee when it met. He pointed out that while the holding of a national religious service might be regarded as a delicate question, there was no reason why Canadians everywhere should not come together on Jubilee Sunday and take part in a ceremony such as had been held at Westminster Abbey when the memorial to the million war dead had been unveiled. Various public squares could be used for the ceremony, he suggested, and it would be a splendid demonstration from coast to coast "of the faith which all Canadians have with respect to a common God and a common country."

The Premier presented a suggested program containing time-honored hymns, readings of Scripture, tributes to the Fathers of Confederation and the singing of patriotic songs.

The committee agreed with the Premier's suggestion.

WEDDING BELLS.

PALMER—FOX.

At St. James' church parsonage, on Saturday, May twenty-first, a quiet wedding took place, when Miss Evelyn Mary Fox, of Eldorado, Hastings County, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to George Armand Palmer, of 239 Princess street, Peterborough, and formerly of Eldorado, Ont.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, of Princess street, Peterborough, and Mr. Robert Earle McCoy, of Madoc, Ont.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Richardson, M.A., minister of St. James' United church, Peterborough.

OBITUARY

T. E. BURT

Residents of this city, and especially those who were intimately connected with the game of lacrosse of some years ago, when it reached its height in this district, will regret to learn of the death of Thomas E. "Giddy" Burt, Port Hope, who died at his home at Port Hope on Thursday.

Mr. Burt was a member of the famous Ontario Lacrosse Team of those days, and was a sportsman of the finest type.

He was a noted naturalist and might be called the Jack Miner of Port Hope. At his residence at the foot of King Street, on the shores of Lake Ontario, he kept numerous wild geese, wild ducks and other birds, which in destitute times came to his pens for shelter and food.

He was born in Port Hope, and was in his 58th year.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, from his late resident, King Street, Port Hope, for interment at St. John's Cemetery in that town.

HARRY EDMONDSON.

In a quiet sleep, the spirit of Happy Harry Edmondson passed peacefully away at his home on Weller Street last evening about 9.30. One of Peterborough's best known citizens, loved and respected by all who knew him, he has lived an exemplary life in our midst.

He was born at Carlisle, England, coming to Canada and settling in Peterborough at the age of 23. All immediate relatives in England predeceased him, and he was the last of his family. His wife died seven years ago, the surviving children being one son, George, at Oshawa, and four daughters: Mrs W. J. Bourne of Regina, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. Max Martin, Mrs. Hy. Wood, and Mrs. Walter Byers of Peterborough. There are a number of grandchildren, some of whom are married.

Mr. Edmondson was one of the oldest members of Court Littlejohn, Foresters, and the oldest member of the Salvation Army here. His cheerful presence, ready song, and concertina will be missed in the Army gatherings.

The funeral, under Army auspices, will be held on Monday at 3 p.m.

Adjutant and Mrs. Wallace Buntin of Windsor will be in the city on Monday to conduct the funeral, assisted by Major Kendall.

MRS. R. B. ROGERS.

One of the oldest residents of Ashburnham, Clara Mina Calcutt, wife of Richard Birdsall Rogers, passed away this morning at the family residence, "Beechwood." The deceased was born in Ashburnham on June 19, 1857, daughter of Henry and Isabella Calcutt.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband, three sons, Henry of Toronto, George of Buffalo, and Heber S. at home, and three daughters, Mrs. I. Fairweather and Miss Lillian K., at home, and Mrs. Herbert Geale of Whitby.

The late Mrs. Rogers had been a faithful member of St. Luke's Anglican Church from its foundation, and was also much interested in the work of the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, with service in St. Luke's Church at 4 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. G. J. Bousfield.

The Kidneys

are glands which take a very active part in the elimination of poisons from the blood. If the kidneys are working normally the blood is filtered by them in such a manner that the soluble wastes and poisons are removed and carried to the bladder from which they are eliminated at intervals. If the kidneys do not separate the wastes from the blood stream the system soon becomes saturated with toxins, and diseases like neuritis, rheumatism, uremia, dropsy, blood-poisoning, etc., may develop.

YOUR HABITS

of living have a lot to do in regulating the amount of work that the kidneys have to perform, so be careful to eat and drink in moderation, using mostly natural foods, but also see to it that normal nerve energy is reaching the kidneys.

MAKE SURE

that there is no mechanical or structural interference with the nerves leading to the kidneys. Improper nerve force means lack of normal function. This means poisons retained in the system. By a careful examination of the spine your Chiropractor can tell if there is pressure upon the nerves supplying the kidneys. If pressure exists he can release it by spinal adjustments. When this is done the kidney tissues will become strong and capable of functioning properly to free the system of poisons.

WELCOME IS GIVEN FLIER AT CROYDON

Lindbergh Receives Royal Ovation On His Arrival in England.

WILDLY ACCLAIMED.

Is Presented With Gold Medal Before Leaving Belgium Capital.

CROYDON, England, May 30 (A.P.).—This placid old town yesterday had one of the greatest thrills in all its centuries of existence. Captain Charles A. Lindbergh was responsible for it. The crowd which greeted the airman at the Croydon airdrome was one of the largest, wildest, most enthusiastic gatherings of men, women, boys and girls, and even infants, ever assembled in this country to welcome a private citizen of any nation.

A crowd estimated by the police at more than 100,000, breaking down the barriers, swarmed over the field just before the aviator came to earth, and almost robbed him of a landing place.

Lindbergh reached here at six o'clock yesterday evening. He circled the airdrome and volplaned down, but owing to the masses of people invading the field, rose again and made another circle, while the police endeavored to press the spectators back.

This was a task of the utmost difficulty for a time and the utmost confusion prevailed. But finally enough ground was cleared and the Spirit of St. Louis settled to the ground. The moment the machine came to a standstill it was surrounded as quick as a flash by wildly excited crowds that ran pell mell over the field and stampeded the quarters roped off for the official reception committee, thereby smashing all the carefully arranged plans for greeting the airman in a dignified manner.

As he looked into the faces of the seething mass, Lindbergh called out: "For God's sake, look out for my machine."

A moment later he hooped out of the monoplane into the thick of the struggling mobs and bobbies rescued him with the greatest difficulty.

Confusion Reigns

Lindbergh's machine came to a stop several hundred yards from where stood Sir Samuel Hoare, British Aviation Minister, and Lady Hoare; Alanson B. Houghton, United States Ambassador, and other officials who were there to receive him. In less than a minute the crush of people was so great that the Ambassador, the air minister, Lady Hoare and the others were swept in different directions. Silk hats were crushed, clothes were torn, canes and umbrellas broken, women were knocked down screaming, men fought, pulled and dragged at each other, while excited bobbies darted here and there, blowing whistles and calling for reinforcements.

Was "Worse" or "Better"

But it was too late—the crowd had taken charge and cast aside all thought of the reception formalities which for days had been so minutely thought out. Lindbergh himself, after it was all over, declared that his Croydon experience was "worse—or better"—than his experience at Le Bourget. He seemed to have in mind that so far as enthusiasm and crowds were concerned, this had been the greatest demonstration yet.

Frantic efforts were made by the crowd to carry the aviator away from the Spirit of St. Louis, but the police prevented this. Meanwhile, the crowds surrounding the monoplane grew in leaps and bounds. Those nearest surged forward, endeavoring to pat the hero on the back. They fought to touch his plane; desperately they endeavored to shake his hand, but the police finally succeeded in getting Lindbergh out of the mass by lifting him into an automobile.

Given Sendoff

BRUSSELS, May 30 (A.P.).—Captain Charles Lindbergh broke contact with the Old Continent about 3.30 yesterday afternoon, his head so full of impressions that he admitted he was unable for the moment to collect them.

"I can only repeat before taking off for Croydon," he said, "how deeply I appreciate the warm welcome I received in France and Belgium."

The trans-Atlantic flier took off for Croydon, England, in the bright sunlight, the wings of his plane glistening like burnished silver. He got into the air so promptly at the hour fixed that he surprised not only the spectators, but the commercial planes ready to follow him and the Belgian military planes detailed to escort him. Some persons who had taken passage on the regular air liners were left on earth because the pilots, who were ordered to keep close after Lindbergh, were obliged to go up before all their passengers were ready.

Pays Tribute

Before leaving Belgium the aviator paid a tribute to the United States soldiers who sleep in the cemetery at Werenghem, near Ghent. Cutting off his motor as he flew over the field, he slipped silently down to only a few

Dance Hall Petting and Fighting Hit Hard By Reform Regulations Drafted For Berlin

BERLIN, May 30. —Safeguards against petting and fighting are provided for in new proposals for reforming dancing and dance halls. The former pastime would be abolished by the simple expedient of prohibiting cozy corners, dull lighting, dark halls and curtains in halls. For the benefit of those not wishing to take an active part in dance hall brawls the proprietors must provide ample exits and plenty of free running space outside the building.

These restrictions, with others proposed to the Prussian minister of the Interior by societies for the protection of youth and by religious groups, would reduce the number of public dancing places to one-tenth the present number, it is believed. If this reform measure finds favour with the officials, practically all of Berlin's dancing floors must be enlarged. At least one-third of the entire floor area must be kept free for tripping the light fantastic, since the reformers feel that crowded floors give unwarranted opportunities for hugging. The societies have expressed a willingness to aid the police in seeing the regulations carried out, especially the section requiring owners to close their places of amusement at 3 o'clock in the morning.

FATAL INJURY IN MOTOR RACE

Driver Rushed To Hospital After Crash—Fast Time in Big Event.

LOCKHART IN LEAD.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30. — Canadian Press. — H. Kohlert, garage owner of St. Charles, Illinois, driving as relief for Leck Linder, of Elgin, Illinois, was probably fatally injured when his car tangled with the machine driven by Cliff Bergere, Coast Driver, on the south turn of the track, as they were hitting off their 190th mile. Kohlert was rushed to the hospital. Bergere's injuries were so slight that he was able to resume the race after changing a couple of smashed wheels.

With a record-smashing crowd of from 150,000 to 160,000 spectators, cheering them on to a new speed record, 33 drivers, their tiny machines perfectly timed, roared at ten o'clock to-day in the start of the 500 miles automobile race over the Indianapolis speedway.

Fred Lockhart, 23 year old Los Angeles driver, who came out of the west unknown to win the 1926 race, was a red hot favorite, with Tommy Milton ranking as a dangerous challenger.

Lockhart knocked off the first 50 miles in 28.03.32, an average of 106.993 miles an hour, the fastest time in the history of the race. He clocked the first 100 miles in 57.00.28, and had earned $4000 in lap prizes.

Before the first 100 miles were finished, there were four accidents. Norman Batten of Brooklyn, was badly burned when his car caught fire. Standing up he drove the car to the pits where the fire was extinguished, rather than jump for his life, and let the burning car dash into the grandstand.

Lockhart was still leading at 150 miles, having stepped the distance in 1.26.786, an average of 104.49 miles an hour. Bauman was second. McDonough was third.

JUNIOR HUMANE SOCIETY MEETING

Many New Members — Float Committee Was Appointed.

The Junior Humane Society met Thursday, May 26. The meeting was opened with the song "Cruel Acts." The pledge was then said. The minutes were read and adopted. Reports of kind acts were received.

Then a programme followed:

Piano Solo by G. Johnson. Speech by Mr. R. H. Turner followed. Mr. Turner congratulated the society on its good work and offered a few suggestions for a Dominion Day float. A vote of thanks was moved by Donald Howson. "Ring the Bells of Mercy" was then sung. Mrs. Chandler read a piece of literature from Humane Society headquarters entit'ed "A Tied Dog Talks." Another Band of Mercy song followed. New members took the pledge and a float committee was appointed. The meeting closed with the National Anthem. The next meeting will be held June 2.

Four U.S. Fliers Burned to Death

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 30.—(Canadian Press) — Four aviators of the United States army squadron enroute from San Antonio to Langley field, Va., were burned to death here yesterday when the left motor of their machine went dead five hundred feet above the flying field and the plane fell to the ground in flames.

The dead are: Second Lieut. Dan F. Voorhees, air corps pilot of the plane; Staff Sergeant Clifford Glenn, 59th Service Squadron; Staff Sergeant Jas. Reed, 20th Bombardment Squadron, and Corporal Melvin Andrews, 59th Service Squadron.

President Coolidge journeyed to Arlington National Cemetery to speak for the country in memory of those who died in war.

TRYING TO STOP FREIGHT STRIKE

Hon. Peter Heenan Arranges Conference Between Men and Company.

WAGE DISPUTE.

MONTREAL, May 30.—(Canadian Press.)—Last minute efforts to avert a possible strike of some ten thousand freight handlers and checkers employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, by the Hon. Peter Heenan, Federal Minister of Labor, to-day resulted in arangements being made for a conference to-morrow between company officials and a committee representing the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, of which the union men are members. The result of the strike ballot, taken recently by the men was forwarded to the Minister of Labor by Frank H. Hall, Canadian president of the Union, and the former immediately communicated with the Railway Company and arranged for a meeting to-morrow. The present situation is due to a wage dispute between the employees and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

NEW YORK FASCISTS SHOT AND STABBED

Two Italians Murdered By Assailants Wearing Red Ties.

NEW YORK, May 30. — Canadian Press. — Joseph Carisi, a tailor, and Nicholas Amorroso, a printer, two black-shirted followers of the Fascists, on their way to march in a Memorial Day parade, were stabbed and shot to death by unknown assailants at 183rd street and Third avenue. Their assailants, witnesses told the police, wore red ties, signifying their allegiance to the Italian Nationalist party.

PROMISE EVERY CONSIDERATION FOR CANADIANS ACROSS BORDER DURING THE SIX MONTHS GRACE

British-Born Canadians Not On Quota Will Be Granted Extension.

WILL CONTINUE STUDY.

Offers Co-operation With Dominion in Order To Clear Up Difficulties.

WASHINGTON, May 30. —(Canadian Press). —The United States government has replied to Canada's note on the border ruling. It promises every consideration for Canadian residents working across the border during the six months in which they must try to conform to the United States immigration law and it conveys a virtual promise that British-born Canadians who cannot get a place on the quota this year will be granted an extension of time. The note also promises continued study and co-operation with the Canadian legation to "clear up difficulties and dissatisfaction with regard to border crossing," with a recommendation to Congress next session for the removal of anything inherent in the law" which tends to affect adversely the friendly relations between Canada and this country.

The note was delivered to Hon. Vincent Massey last Saturrday afternoon. It is signed by Secretary of State Frank B Kellogg, but in regard to both the extension of time and to the recommendations to Congress, Mr. Kellogg states that Secretary of Labour James J. Davis has given assurances that his department which controlls immigration matters will co-operate toward that end.

The note is the culmination of nearly two months of strenuous efforts on the part of the Canadian legation to bring pressure to bear on the United States to modify the border ruling dated April 1 which cancelled the present border crossing privilege and ordered all Canadian residents working across the border to conform to the United States law as immigrants. This involved the payment by native born Canadians of head tax and passport fees and the subjection of non-native born Canadians to the quota law unless they had been eight years in Canada and began their employment across the border before July 1, 1924.

No Accurate Estimate.

The note takes the stand that no accurate estimate can be made of the number of workers who might be compelled to give up their jobs because of the quota law and that the proposed inspeotion of border commuters should be started to discover how many will be unable to obtain legal entry within the six months grace provided in the regulation. But the note promises to remove, so far as possible, the uncertainty which was one of Canada's chief objections to the regulations and goes on to promise that if an extension of time would permit workers to fulfill the quota law requirement, the state department will ask the Labour department to give such extension.

Referring to Mr. Massey's written and verbal communication " in which you so ably presented the difficulties in which certain citizens of Canada find themselves as a result of an order of the labour department which relates to the daily crossing of the Canadian boundary to employment in the United States,' Mr. Kellogg goes on to assure the Canadian minister of the "sincere desire on the part of this government to continue the traditional freedom of mutual travel between Canada and the United States just as fully and completely as the provisions of the laws of this country relating to immigration will permit."

Every Effort Made.

Mr. Kellogg realizes the law upon which the border ruling was based "mandatorily modifies a long established ppractice," but assures Mr. Massey that every effort was made in drafting the order to afford the most generous treatment possible under the law to all persons who acquired border crossing privileges before the effective date of the immigration law of 1924. "Further," the note adds, "every possible opportunity will be given to native born Canadians to acquire legal status in the United States by the presentation of a non-quota visa and the single payment of the head tax in accordance with the provisions of our immigration laws which are mandatory." They will continue to enjoy border crossing privileges.

Principal Difficulty.

The note goes on to say that the principal difficulty lies with the Canadian citizens who are not native born and who have acquired border crossing privileges since the quota system became effective. "It is appreciated that such persons are none the less the responsibility of your government," says Mr. Kellogg, "even though our immigration law which, unlike orders in council, may not be modified except by act of the Con-

Hi-Jackers Relieve Car of Booze Cargo

WINNIPEG, May 30 (Canadian Press).—A large automobile loaded with liquor was relieved of its cargo by a band of half a dozen alleged hi-jackers when it came to grief in the mud on a trail leading out of Morden, Man

The police have arrested five men on suspicion of being concerned in the disappearance of the liquor, half of which has been concerned in the disappearance of the liquor, half of which has been recovered. Irving Allan, driver of the car, has been arrested but released on $1,000 bail. Th quintette charged with hijacking were allowed their liberty on $1.000 bail each and will appear in Police Court next Wednesday.

The place where the car became mired in the thick mud is three miles north of the United States border.

ADVERTISING IS NOT FACTOR IN COST OF LIVING

Means Greater Production and Smaller Cost of Production, Rotary Hears.

IT EDUCATES.

Rotarian R. A. Browne Deals With Subject in Very Interesting Address.

The fallacy that the vast amount of money spent in modern advertising is responsible to considerable extent for increasing the cost of living, was effectively exploded by Rotarian R. A. Browne in the course of a most interesting talk on "Advertising," at the weekly luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club today.

Rotarian Browne maintained that while it was true that hugh sums of money were spent in advertising, there had not been as a result an increase in the price of the articles advertised, inasmuch as through advertising, production was greatly increased and the cost of production materially lowered. Quoting the appropriation of well known national advertising he was able to show that the advertising per individual article formed only a very small part of the price asked for these commodities. At the same time, modern advertising which since about 1910 had become very reliable and truthful in its character was an educational factor of importance, creating a desire in people to live better and to enjoy more of the comforts of life.

Rotarian Browne discussed in most interesting fashion the early days of advertising from the bonfires built on the shores of Phoenicia by the traders from Carthage to the town criers of mediaeval days crying their wares in the city streets. Old advertisements quaint in their language were read by the speaker, to the amusement of his hearers. A feature of early advertising was that most of the samples of ancient advertisements that had been discovered dealt with slavery or with the sale of wines and liquors. The oldest known now in the British Museum was a notice asking for information about a missing slave. This perticular advertisement was believed to have been written some 3,000 years before Christ.

The fine orchestra at St. Peter's High School were the guests of Rotary today and delighted the Rotarians with a splendid programme of four numbers. This organization is splendidly balanced and its playing reflects great credit upon those responsible for its training.

Rotarian John Crane congratulated the orchestra upon its programme and thanked the members for the treat they had given the club.

It was announced by President A. L. Killaly that members of the Rotary Club had been invited to be present at the annual inspection of the Public School Cadet Corps on Thursday afternoon.

Rotarian Doug. Fletcher called the attention of Rotarians to the convention of the Canadian Legion here this week, and asked for co-operation in entertaining the delegates and in creating among them a good impression of Peterborough.

Dr. Thompson of the Canadian Red Cross Society is to be the speaker at next Monday's Rotary luncheon.

In the first Boston directory, published 138 years ago, the names were arranged in order of prominence. Thus John Adams headed the list of "A" and John Hancock was the first "H."

Experts Believe Lost 'Quake Hit China Recall 1920 Upheaval That Killed 100,000

WASHINGTON May 30. —The terrific "lost" earthquake of May 22 reported by observatories on three continents is believed by experts of the Coast and Geodetic Survey to have occurred in the remote Kansu province of China.

No word of such an earthquake has yet reached other parts of China, which may thus get their first news of a disaster in the far interior of their country from the calculations of a group of scientists here.

In announcing that calculation indicated that the tremendous upheaval of five days ago occurred in Kansu, the National Geographic Society pointed out that in this same area, in December, 1920, occurred one of the most appalling but least noticed calamities of modern times, when an earthquake destroyed more than 100,000 lives.

The catastrophe of 1920 was marked by mountains that moved in the night, landslides that eddied like waterfalls; crevasses that swallowed houses and camel trains, and villages that were swept away under a rising sea of loosened earth.

Josef W. Hall ,who was engaged in relief work in the Kansu area in 1920, sent the National Geographic Society a first-hand account of that earthquake, which was given out in part by the Society, with the statement that the experience of 1920 may have been repeated five days ago in Kansu.

114 Persons Have Lost Lives In Flood

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 30. One hundred and fourteen persons have lost their lives thus far in the Mississippi flood, the American Red Cross has reported.

The report, made by Henry M. Baker, Director of Disaster Relief, to James L. Fieser, Vice-Chairman of the organization in Charge of Operations, and to Secretary Hoover included no reports or rumors of deaths, but only those verified by the organization.

The largest number of flood deaths occurred in Arkansas, where 59 died. Mississippi came next with 42. Louisiana 9, Illinois 2, Tennessee 2. None was reported in Kentucky and Missouri. The report said some of the dead had not been identified.

PINEDO TELLS ABOUT JOURNEY

Descent Was Forced By Contrary Winds And Lack of Fuel.

WILL RESUME FLIGHT.

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator, arrived here this morning on the Italian steamer Superga, which had his seaplane, Santa Maria 2nd, in tow. The flier and his companions had a great reception.

De Pinedo stated that as soon as his seaplane was put in order he would resume the last lap of his four Continent flight, which began on February 13 from Cagliari and carried him to Africa, South America, the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland.

After leaving Newfoundland the airman said he had to fly at a high altitude to get above the mist and when within 300 miles of Flores Island he encountered a strong contrary wind. He sighted a Portuguese schooner, and being short of fuel he decided to alight on the sea. The fliers were picked up by the schooner and the plane was towed for three days, when the Superga hove in sight and took them aboard and the plane in town.

OLD MASTERS

Old Sorrow I shall meet again,
And Joy, perchance—but never, never,
Happy Childhood, shall we twain
See each other's face forever!

And yet I would not call thee back,
Dear Childhood, lest the sight of me,
Thine old companion, on the rack of Age, should ever sadden thee.
—John Banister Tabb: Childhood.

Heart and Ankles Broken Same Day

NEW YORK, May 30 (United Press)—Mario Spiritos' heart and both his ankles were broken almost simultaneously yesterday when he fell or jumped from the fourth floor Boardway apartment where he was wooing the ravishing Filomema Mariot, a 23-year-old Spanish governess.

Spiritos had come from Stamford, Conn., to propose marriage. He told the police she refused him, and while he was urging her to reconsider he "accidentally" fell from the window.

But Miss Mariot said that his pleadings became so annoying she ordered him home from the building, whereupon with a grand gesture he flung himself through the window.

MANY INQUIRE ABOUT RESORTS

Large Proportion of Mail at the Chamber of Commerce is From Tourists.

RADIO HAS RESULTS.

Judging from the number of inquiries pouring into the office of the Trent Waterway Association, interest in the holiday resorts of the neighborhood is greater this year than ever before. Fully twenty per cent., and at times thirty per cent., of the mail received at the office of Secretary Frank Stinson, consists of inquiries for information concerning the Kawartha Lakes.

A letter received at the office today is interesting as being part of the fruit of a radio talk given in New York last January, by Mr. Stinson. In a radio talk on "Where to cruise in your motor boat," given in New York City, Ira Hand, secretary of the National Asociation of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, quoted some of Mr. Stinson's remarks. The result of this talk is seen in a letter this morning from an intending tourist from New York state, asking further information regarding the resorts on the Trent Waterway.

A large stack of booklets in the Secretary's office bears testimony to the fact that other resorts in the Dominion are reaching out in the endeavor to attract tourists from all quarters.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW ROOF

Exhibition Directors Order Top For Stand From W. Hamilton Co.

TO BE MADE OF STEEL.

The contract for building the roof over the Grand Stand at the Exhibition Park has been let to the William Hamilton Company of this city. Steel girders will be used with a corrugated steel roof. It is expected by the directors that the eastern part will be covered in time for the Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

GOVERNOR PLANS TO STAY LONGER

Lord Willingdon Will Remain in City For St. John's Tea.

In a communication received this morning by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, from His Excellency, the Governor General, His Excellency states that he will remain over for the Centenary High Tea in the Parish House at 6 o'clock on June 20th. There will be a short service in the church at 5 o'clock on that day after which His Excellency will give a public address on the grounds in front of the church. The following musical program has been arranged for the Centenary Services by the choir, "O Give Thanks," an anthem composed for the occasion by Mr. F. G. Mann. The 150th psalm by Ceasar Frank, Smart's "Magnificat" and "Nunc Dimittis." CRISIS IN EGYPT CAUSES BRITAIN TO SEND SHIPS

Egyptian Government Trying To Remove Sirdar From Office.

MUCH AGITATION.

Zaghlul Pasha Engaged in Anti-British Propaganda—Premier Concerned.

LONDON, May 30.—(United Press.)—A fresh crisis has arisen in Egypt, resulting in the sudden despatch of three battleships from Malta for the purpose of bringing to bear on the Egyptian government. The quarrel originated in an attempt by the Egyptian Parliamentary committee to deprive Major General Charlton Spinks of his powers as Sirdar or Commander of the Egyptian army. This move was obviously intended to inspire a renewal of anti-British agitation throughout Egypt.

Deeply concerned over the incident, the British Cabinet sent a memorandum to Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner, pointing out that the question of the Sirdar's powers was never entered into in the agreement whereby Great Britain granted Egyptian independence.

The Cabinet also made it clear that the leadership of the Egyptian army must in future remain in the hands of a British officer of high rank.

Meanwhile the Egyptian Parliament and press are bitterly attacking Lord Lloyd. Premier Sarwart has contended that the army never figured in the negotiations leading to the granting of Egyptian independence.

Another active figure in the present drama is Zaghlul Pasa, the 70 year old leader of of the Extremists, who was deported by the British in 1921 to Gibraltar and later forced to relinquish the Premiership following the murder of Sir Lee Stack, then Sirdar. This aged agitator is now engaged in the most violent anti-British propaganda, which is rendered extremely dangerous by reason of his influence and tremendous oratory.

As the British Government fears a further outbreak of murders, the warships were sent to overawe the extreme factions.

WRIGHT WON'T COMPETE.

Young Sculler's Father Can't Finance Trip To Henley Regatta.

TORONTO, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Joe Wright, Jr., winner of the Faragut Challenge Cup for senior single scullers in Philadelphia on Saturday, arrived home to-day. His father, the noted coach, when questioned as to whether his son would compete for the diamond sculls race at Henley, England, stated that he was unable to finance his son's trip, and consequently the young sculler will be unable to compete.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME ON FARM OF E. STOLLERY

Origin of Blaze in Seymour Township Is a Mystery.

NARROW ESCAPES.

Flames Have Good Hold On Building When Owners Awake.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30. — Fire yesterday afternoon burned to the ground the large two storey brick-veneered farm residence of Edgar Stollery on the English line, 7½ miles south east of Campbellford.

English line has had many fires in its long history but none more mysterious in its origin, nor which came so near exacting its toll of human life.

At 2.45 in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Stollery were rudely awakened from their Sunday afternoon nap by the cracking of the glass in their bedroom windows. Looking in the direction from which the sound had come, they saw flames shooting upwards. Mrs. Stollery immediately made for the bed in which Muriel, their three year old daughter, was sleeping and rushed her into the open. Returning to the building in an effort to salvage some of the contents absolutely necessary for the carrying on of dairy farm work, Mrs. Stollery in her fight with the flames saved the milking machine and some other articles, but in doing so suffered severe burns on her hands.

Mr. Stollery knowing that his wife and child were safely on the outside of the roaring furnace, remained in the upper part of the building,throwing what articles he could to safety. in doing so he came near paying for it with his life, for he was caught by the flames and forced to jump for his life. In jumping he made a grab for a telephone wire which broke with his weight, landing him on his back on the ground below. Leo Fry, one of the first neighbors to arrive at the scene of the conflagration, and not knowing but his neighbor Stollery might require assistance, made his way to the bed rooms. He, too, was compelled to jump, but this time neighbors held a mattress, in which Mr. Fry safely landed.

It was only by real hard fighting that the neighbors who formed a bucket brigade were enabled to save the drive shed and the poultry house which, had it caught, would have meant the destruction of the large barn only a few yards on the other side.

While the loss will probably total $3000, there being only $1000 insurance on the building, and $250 on contents, the young couple are not going to allow their heavy loss to drive the brightness out of life. With her heart right up in her mouth and standing by the embers of what was but a few moments before her home, Mrs. Stollery told The Examiner that Muriel had called her attention to the fact that the pump—some 25 yards from the house—was still there and that she had found her little cart! Mr. Stollery, a fine manly young fellow, while fighting hard to keep back the tears, said: "I have real neighbors," and went on to tell of how hard they had fought to save his property.

The cause of the fire is a mystery and will probably remain such. That it started in the back kitchen, which was but one storey, and adjoining the northwest end of the house,there is little doubt. This kitchen, however, had not been in use for some little time. There were no fires in any of the other stoves in the house after 8 o'clock in the morning. In the wood shed which was attached to the back kitchen, were a number of cedar blocks, in which Mr. Stollery had recently noticed mice nests. For a better reason for the cause of the fire it is surmised that a mouse had found a match, and by nibbling at the sulphur end of it had caused it to ignite.

ENNISMORE NEWS.

ENNISMORE, May 28.—Mr. and Mrs. F. Moloney, of Peterborough, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. R. Hickson.

Miss Clara Murphy, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Murphy.

Mr. G. O'Neill, of Downeyville visited friends here on Sunday.

The many friends of Miss Ethebrita Crough are glad to hear that she is recovering after her recent operation.

Miss M. Twomey, of Peterborough, was called home last week owing to the serious illness of her father, Mr. L. Twomey.

Mr. H. Pluard, of Bucknorn, called on friends here on Sunday.

Miss Rita Cavanagh, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Cavanagh.

A number from here assisted Mr. Allan B. Mann, of Smith, to prepare the ground for building a house after his recent fire.

Campbellford Mecca Every Saturday Night

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30. — By actual count 332 cars were parked on the streets of Campbellford at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, and cars streaming in from all directions. Five hundred would be a safe estimate of the cars in town on Saturday evening, and from close observation would say that there was an average of three to a car. This is just the usual Saturday night crowd in Campbellford. This crowd packs the picture house, the stores, and the restaurants, and gives the town every Saturday night a holiday appearance.

THUGS ATTACK PRISON GUARDS

Make Desperate Attempt To Escape From New York Jail.

FACED LONG TERMS.

NEW YORK, May 30. Canadian Press. — Three gangsters of national notoriety assaulted three keepers witn their own blackjacks and heavy key rings in a desperate attempt to escape from West side prison yesterday. They faced long terms in Sing Sing and are being held in New York to give evidence in court. The keeper was sent to Bellevue Hospital with a fractured jaw and possible fracture of the skull.

The keepers were unarmed, as the prison officials deem it unwise to supply them with revolvers which might fall into the hands of the prisoners. The escape was prevented by the timely arrival of John J. Bowen, a driver for the department of correction, who guarded the outside door with his revolver, while the fighting was in progress between the keepers and the prisoners.

The leader in the attempt was apparently Killiam G. Unkelback, known as "Baltimore Willie," a member of the gang led by Richard Reece Whittemore, who was hanged for the murder of a Maryland prison guard.

OBITUARY

CHARLES HETHERINGTON

NORWOOD, May 27.—The funeral of the late Charles Hetherington, whose death occurred on Thursday last at his home at Foxboro, Ont., took place on Saturday afternoon. The cortege arrived in Norwood about two o'clock, and the remains were conveyed to the United Church, where service was held. His pastor, from Foxboro came with the funeral and had charge of the memorial service, assisted by Rev. R. F. Stillman, of Norwood.

The deceased was an old Norwood boy and the remains were conveyed to their last resting place in the family plot in the Norwood cemetery by six old friends, J. R. McKelvie, J. F. Pearce J. W. Rork, W. A. Richardson, B. W Squire and J. G. Keefer.

JOHN E. BALDWIN

Mr. John E. Baldwin died suddenly Wednesday morning, May 18th, in Prospect Heights Hospital, New York city.

Funeral was held Saturday from the Chapel on State street with Rev. Father Handel in charge, to the Greenwood Cemetery, New York.

Mr. Baldwin's wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, Roger street.

MRS. PRISCILLA C. WEEKES.

NORHAM, May 30.—The death occurred on Thursday after a lingering illness of Mrs. Priscilla Cudlipp Weekes, widow of the late Allan Weekes, who predeceased her 43 years ago. The deceased was in her 89th year and was born at Consecon, Prince Edward county, where her husband died. The late Mr. and Mrs. Weekes spent the first fifteen years of their married life near Warkworth, after which period they moved to Consecon. For the past six years the deceased had lived with her only daughter, Mrs. Alexander Loomis, where her death took place and who, with an only son, Eber, of Consecon, survives her. The funeral was held on Saturday. Interment took place at Consecon.

RUTH LENORA CRAWFORD

LAKEFIELD, May 30.—The death occurred on Sunday of Ruth Lenora, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crawford, after several months' illness, which she bore with great fortitude. The young lady was a universal favorite and her death casts a gloom over the whole village, where she has lived all her life. She was a devout member of the Church of England and, until her health failed, was a member of the choir, the Chancel Guild, and the staff of the Sunday school.

She is survived by her parents; one sister, Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Farnhill, Que.; and seven brothers, Fred and Charles of Lakefield, Roland of Lethbridge, Alta., Wellington and Clarence of Ricetown, Sask., Melville of Iowa, and Ward of Detroit.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

WATCH THE KIDNEYS

Fatigue and that tired feeling is the result of poison in the blood. When the kidneys fail to remove this poison from the system it leads to backache, rheumatic pains and sometimes to that fatal ailment known as Bright's disease. When this condition exists, don't delay, go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will quickly correct the cause of your trouble.

Mr. Arthur Pinch of Smith Township states that Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills give him more speedy relief than any other preparation that he had tried.

LINDBERGH DESCENDED FROM HAMILTON PIONEERS

Canadians thrilled more than ever at Captain Lindbergh's exploits when they discovered that on his mother's side he is a descendant of one of the early Ontario pioneers. His mother was a Land of the Hamilton, Ont., Lands, the earliest ancestor having come from below the line during the days of the American revolutionary war, and built what was said to be the first hut at the head of Lake Ontario, on the site of what is now the city of Hamilton. A drawing of the historic hut is shown in the layout above as well as a reproduction of a painting of Colonel Land, and a picture of the intrepid airman taken just before he left New York on his epoch-making non-stop flight to Paris.

MORE VICTORIES FOR NORTHERNERS

Report Says Northern Generals Making Headway Against Hankow Nationalists.

PEKING, May 30. — (Canadian Press).—The northern generals in Honan claim successes against the Hankow Nationalist army but details of the fighting are not available.

The military attaches here have been holding conferences recently rearding protection to foreigners in north China but no authoritative announcement has been made as to whether a decision has been reached. It is understood that the British government takes the position that it has been doing more that its share in the defence of Shanghai and that other powers must take the lead in the north.

It is believed here, now that Japan has decided to send reinforcements to the north, Great Britain may do likewise.

Accomodation Inadequate.

HANKOW, May 30.—(AP) — Accommodations for the wounded from the battle raging on the Honan front are proving inadequate and organization for relief work is uurgently needed.

The Bishop of American Church Mission, who is willing to co-operate with the Nationalist authorities, stated that the hospitals of the London mission and the American church mission are already caring for as many of the wounded as can be accommodated.

PROMISE EVERY CONSIDERATION

gress, gives them a less favorable status than persons born in Canada." After reviewing the provisions of the United States law regarding naturalization in Canada, the note goes on to say that the number of quota aliens involved is not accurately known "and that the competent authorities express the belief that it will be found to be comparatively small." The note recognizes, however, that some will be unable to obtain visas within the prescribed time and under the terms of the order would be compelled to relinquish their employment in the United States. "This would, I admit, constitute a hardship which I sincerely regret." The note goes on to point out that under the immigration act and by every rule of fair dealing it would be wrong to take away from aliens already on the quota list their right to enter the United States when their time came. That would be the result of any attempt to manipulate the quota list in favor of Canadian residents of British or foreign birth, says the note. The note states that consuls have been instructed to give every assistance to non-native Canadians in their efforts to obtain quota visas. "Those who obviously cannot hope to receive immigration visas for some time to come because they are chargeable to small European quotas against which there exist large demands will be clearly informed of their status. In other words, a sincere endeavor will be made to reduce the uncertainties of the situation to the minimum."

The issuing of quota visas will begin July 1, the beginning of the immigration year. Natives of those countries which have a reasonably large quota (presumably Britain) will be accommodated as fast as possible. Before the expiration of the six months' grace allowed in the regulations it may be found that many who held border crossing permits cannot be accommodated this year, says the note, and adds: "Should this prove to be the case, I shall be glad at once to request the secretary of labor to allow further time in which these people may gain a status in conformity with the law and the secretary had already assured me that any such request will receive the most sympathetic consideration possible."

Will Co-operate.

From the last paragraph of Mr. Kellogg's note it is apparent that he considers the whole matter still open for negotiations between his department and the Canadian legation here. He says in conclusion:

"Meanwhile I shall be glad to confer with you whenever you desire it and I am directing the officers of this department to keep in touch with your legation and to continue their studies of the subject with a view to clearing away, so far as can be done under existing law, all difficulties and dissatisfaction in regard to border crossing." Should these studies indicate that there are difficulties inherent in the law which tend to affect adversely the traditional friendly relations between Canada and this country, I shall make it a point to have the matter brought to the attention of Congress when it convenes and the secretary of labor assures me that he will co-operate to this end."

BLACKBIRD STILL SAME

Was Rescued by Inspector Smith on Sunday, Eyewitness Says.

The blackbird which was rescued last Sunday by Inspector Smith is about the neighborhood as usual, but is still unable to stand on the leg by which he was fastened to the tree.

Miss Payton informed The Examiner that the rescue took place on Sunday morning, and not Tuesday, as Thursday's paper stated.

Previously held by a cow belonging to Dr. Hainisch, the President of the Republic, the milk championship of Austria has now been won by a cow owned by a peasant.

Teachers In Planes Will Study Country

BERLIN, May 30.—Germany's air fleet will be put to service enlarging school teachers' knowledge of their own country, if an experiment of the Federal Bureau for the Protection of Natu eau for the Protection of Nature is successful.

Twenty teachers will be shown from the air the city of Berlin with its surroundings, and the Provinces of Brandenburg and Pommern. Guides will point out the test examples of architecture, how traffic problems are solved and the distribution of forests and cultivated lands.

Being provided with maps, the teacher-students will be required to identify their location when over Stettin and to trace the return route by noting the various landmarks.

If this trip accomplishes the aims of the bureau, plans will be made for giving the entire corps of German teachers at least one long flight.

BOUND FOR FAYAL ISLAND

Rough Seas Hinder Italian Flier's Progress Towards Azores.

ARE STILL IN TOW.

ROME, May 30.—(Canadian Press) — The semi-official Steffani news agency at six o'clock yesterday announced that the Italian steamer Superga, towing Commender De Pinedo's seaplane Santa Maria II, has communicated that it was about 25 miles north-west of Fayal Island, the Azores. A strong wind blowing and heavy seas were running at the time the message was sent.

The Superga has the crew of the seaplane aboard, but is believed to be moving at a snail pace, possibly not more than one or two miles an hour—this for the purpose of protecting the plane as much as possible.

Information Lacking.

While information concerning De Pinedo's flight and its unhappy ending is still lacking and the news papers are not making any comment, in accordance with the policy of the government, persons in contact with the ministry of aeronautics explain this silence by saying that the lap from Trepassey, Nfld., to the Azores must be chalked up as DePinedo's "first knockout by atmospheric elements."

It is asserted that the wind forced the flier out of his course and that he used so much gasoline he found it impossible to make the Azores He took the opportunity offered by the presence of a Portuguese sailing vessel and came down, being taken in tow by this ship, which later was relieved by the Superga.

SHOOTING RUMOR PROVED CORRECT

Home Boy Injured While Examining Revolver on Seymour Farm.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30.—During the past few days rumor has been ripe that a boy, in or around Campbellford, had been shot on Victoria Day. Persistant enquiries at the places usually informed of accidents failed to elicit any information. Late last night, however, a clue led to the Ketchinson farm in the Burnbrae district, 7½ miles east of Campbellford. There it was found that Francis Collingwood, age 16, a home boy, had been examining a revolver on the morning of the 24th, and that while doing so, it was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking him below the chest. A Campbellford doctor was immediately called by phone and advised, over the phone, that the boy be taken to the Belleville Hospital. A Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Toronto, who were visiting in the district, rushed the unfortunate boy to Belleville Hospital in their high powered motor. On arrival there an X-ray was taken but no bullet could be located. Some time later the boy's sister discovered the bullet in one of his rubber boots. It was only a flesh wound, and the boy, after being held at the hospital for 24 hours, was returned to his home.

IS NOT SURPRISED OVER SOVIET BREAK

Assistant Commissioner Says Conservative Government Long Prepared For Rupture.

MOSCOW, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Maxim Litvinoff, Assistant Commissioner of Foreign Affairs and former Soviet Ambassador to London, in a note handed the British Charge d'Affaires yesterday, declared that he is not surprised at the British act in breaking off relations with Russia, as he was aware that the Conservative government had long prepared for a rupture.

The whole world sees that the cause of the rupture, he adds, is the defeat of the Conservative government's policy in China and an attempt to mask that defeat by a diversion directed against the Soviet. He hopes the time is near when the British people will find a way of realizing, unhampered, their ambitions for normal relations with the Soviet.

Litvinoff emphatically denies all charges of violating the trade agreement. These charges, he declares, are based on false information and forged documents with which the British Government freely operated.

An appeal issued yesterday in the name of the various Moscow unions urges workers and peasant youths to voluntary enlist in the Red army. It recommends that all unions send the best of their comrades to military schools for training.

Would Float Loans

The council of peoples' commissars has announced its decision to float two internal loans of 200,000,000 rubles each. It asks a nationwide subscription of these loans for the national defence.

Chairman Tomsky of the Soviet trades unions, asserting that the British note points to the certainty of an open attack on the Soviet, maybe in a year, declares the country must utilize the interim in the most effective manner to develop its military and economic defence.

The newspaper Pravda says the rupture "is the greatest treason to the cause of European peace since 1924," and that the danger of war upon the Soviet Union has never been more imminent since the Polish war of 1920.

WELCOME IS GIVEN

yards above the rows of white crosses and let drop a wreath of flowers, then circled the cemetery twice before going to England.

On his departure from the airdrome Lindbergh gradually mounted until he reached about 200 feet, then as a last salute to the Belgium people planed down and passed over the airdrome at a height of 20 feet. Suddenly the Spirit of St. Louis shot upward with surprising speed and when on his steep climb he had reached an altitude of 500 feet he turned toward Werenghen, and after that pointed toward Ostend and England.

The youth evidently has had a new vista of life opened to him. His lively intelligence has caught it, but lack of experience makes it difficult for him to measure it. For the moment he, like his own ship navigating in the fog, is obliged to manoeuvre to find out exactly where he is.

His last day here was to him one of the most interesting. He started it by keeping a secret engagement with King Albert and Queen Elizabeth at the Evere airdrome, to show them his plane. Lindbergh left the United States Embassy early without revealing his destination. He met the royal couple at the airdrome and took them to the shed where the Spirit of St. Louis was housed. He had the machine brought out into the open and explained every detail of it to his majesty, who showed the liveliest interest, not only in the machine, but in the details of the flight, which were told minutely.

The Belgian Crown Prince, who became a sort of chum of Captain Lindbergh at the American Club dinner Saturday evening, received a visit from the aviator soon afterward. Both Prince Leopold and his wife, Astrid, expressed their high regard and earnestly invited the flier to come again to Belgium when he could stay longer.

The heroic burgomaster of Brussels, Adolphe Max, whose name acquired world fame during the war, greeted Captain Lindbergh in the famous city hall, while 12,000 people massed in front of the building acclaimed him.

Receives Gold Medal

As he clasped the burgomaster's hand, the latter slipped a little leather case into the hand of the aviator. It contained a gold medal inscribed in English:

"To Captain Charles Lindbergh—the City of Brussels, May 29, 1927."

The reverse side bore a heroic winged figure.

A piano struck up and out of the crowd stepped the baritone, Bouillez of the famous Brussels opera troupe of the Theatre de la Monnaie. He sang the Star Spangled Banner, and Lindbergh stood at attention.

The song ended, he shook hands warmly and asked the singer if he would oblige with "La Brabanconne." M. Bouillez obliged, surpassing himself, and the heavy oak rafters of the old hall fairly range with the stirring refrain. "The king, the law and liberty."

Siberians Kill Deer Guard Against Cold

LENINGRAD, May 30.—(AP).—Alarmed over a rumor that their gods were angry and there would be no summer, the Samoyedes and Ostiaks of Northern Siberia have slain scores of precious reindeer as sacrifices, according to returned Soviet Government census officials.

They describe practically the whole membership of the tribes as being panic-stricken over the prospect of an entire year of polar darkness. Living conditions among the natives in the terrific cold were described as insupportable by the officials. During their five months' travel through the Arctic villages, they assert that the temperature never rose above 35 degrees below zero.

MISSING BOYS FOUND IN HOUSE

Lads Were Cooking Hearty Meal While Worried Friends Searched.

ON ISLAND OVERNIGHT.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30. — On Saturday morning news spread like wildfire that the waters of Bradley Bay, on the Trent, had claimed two young lives. Two young boys had been absent from their respective homes over night, and on Saturday morning one of the merchants reported having seen them in a boat on Bradley Bay late on Friday evening. Searching parties were not long in being formed, one of which went to Anderson's Island. There the party found a pair of shoes in the boat in which the two boys had been seen, and concluded that they had met their fate in the waters of the bay. They continued their search of the Island, however, and on going into Attwell's summer cottage, not yet occupied for the season, they found the two boys preparing a hearty meal for themselves. Early in the morning they had landed a large fish, and having found some potatoes, had them nicely peeled and ready for the pot. It was going to be just the swellest dinner imaginable.

It is thought that on reaching Anderson's Island, which is a mile across the bay, the boys decided that it would be unsafe to attempt the return journey in the dark, and with the night looking none too promising, decided to make themselves at home on the Island.

Many Honors Paid Aviator During Visit To England.

TO CALL ON KING.

LONDON, May 30 (Canadian Press)—The arrival here of Captain Charles Lindbergh, intrepid Atlantic flier, brought to a fever point the admiration already bestowed on him and his achievement and his doings here are destined to share with Wednesday's turf classic, the Derby, the interest of the vast public which admires sporting spirit, whether displayed on the turf or in the air.

The "knight of the air" intimated today that he is eager to get home, although he appreciates to the fullest extent the honors being bestowed upon him.

Every waking moment of his time here is booked. Tomorrow morning he meets Premier Baldwin at 10 Downing Street. From there he proceeds to Buckingham Palace to meet the King and Queen, and then goes to York House to have a chat with the Prince of Wales. In the afternoon he makes a tour of the city and has several social engagements for evening. On Wednesday he will be the guest of Lord Lonsdale, famous sportsman, at the running of the Derby.

GREAT BRITAIN AWAITS ACTION OF THE SOVIET Majority Opinion Support Policy Of Government Towards Russia.

SOME DOUBTFUL.

Share Foreboding That Action Was Leap Into the Dark.

LONDON, May 30.—Memories of a famous punning prediction made in the House of Commons by Horace Walpole have been aroused by the British Government's decision to break its agreement with Soviet Russia. Apropos of a certain measure which the Administration of his day passed with much show of enthusiasm, Walpole said:

"They are ringing joy bells now; soon they will be wringing their hands."

His prevision was justified, and it remains to be seen whether or not the present Government's action will in course of time bear good fruit or bad. For the moment the majority opinion is in favor of the course taken.

Stanley Baldwin's presentation of the facts made out a strong case, and Sir Austen Chamberlain's acknowledged desire for peace and his conservatism of judgment exercised a potent influence upon the public mind.

In matters of foreign policy it is the traditional tendency of most Englishmen to accept Governmental decisions as taken in the best interests of the country. Thus, Stanley Baldwin and his colleagues are receiving the benefit of every doubt, and final judgment will be withheld until the course of events determines whether the game has been worth the candle.

David Lloyd George delivered, perhaps, the most effective speech of all his recent career because of the restraint he showed and the high level of his criticism. Not only his own following, but a considerable section of public opinion which has little concern with party politics shares his foreboding that the Government's action was a leap into the dark and a leap into a whirlpool. Great Britain waits upon the future.

Evening Examiner Fashion

An Unusually Graceful Model

This is the smartest of frocks for daytime wear, so cleverly designed that its flaring panels give movement to the silhouette and add to its gracefulness. The shirred panels are topped with pockets fashioned of oriental embroidery, which are securely held to the frock by a row of small gilt buttons. The same embroidery is used to face the front opening and the collar, which serves a dual purpose, in that it can be worn buttoned up to the neck with the aid of gilt buttons and tiny loops of braid. The long sleeves are gathered into a narrow band at the wrist and extend into the neck, forming a yoke at the shoulders. A narrow belt is tacked at the top of the pockets and ties in the center back of the frock. No. 1226 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 3¾ yards of 36-inch, 2⅛ yards of 54-inch material for the dress without panels; or 5⅛ yards of 36-inch, or 3⅞ yards of 54-inch for the dress with panels. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

THAT PAVEMENT

They took a little gravel,
And took a little tar,
With various ingredients,
Imported from afar;
They hammered it and rolled it,
And when they went away
They said they had a pavement
To last for many a day.

They came with picks and smote it,
To lay a water main,
And they called the workmen
To put it back again;
To lay a railway cable,
They took it up once more,
And then they put it back again,
Just where it was before.

They took it up for conduits,
To run the telephone,
And then they put it back again
As hard as any stone;
They tore it up for wires,
To feed the 'lectric light;
And then they put it back again,
Which was no more than right.

Oh; the pavement's full of furrows,
There are patches everywhere;
You'd like to ride upon it,
But it's seldom that you dare.
It's a very handsome pavement,
A credit to the town;
They're always digging of it up,
Or putting of it down.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LIFTERS.

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Daddicums, will you please get me a lifter?" asked Jingle, the funny little rabbit girl, as Uncle Wiggily was eating the last of his carrot pancakes at the breakfast table one morning.

"Get you a what, my dear?" asked Mr. Longears, who, besides eating, was trying to read the paper, listen to what his wife was saying and also trying to stop Tooter from blowing bubbles in his dish of turnip pudding all at the same time.

"I want a lifter," went on Jingle.

"So do I—a red one!" added Jangle.

"I'd rather have a green one!" cried Bumble, a boy rabbit.

"And I'd like a yellow lifter," Stumble began to say, "only I don't want——" And then he fell off his chair and everybody laughed. But you need not worry. Stumble, true to his name, was always falling or tripping. The beauty of it was he never got hurt.

The balloons lifted the bunny off his feet.

"Please get me a lifter, too!" begged Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit who was visiting at Uncle Wiggily's bungalow. "All the children at school have them."

"What in the world are lifters?" asked Mr. Longears as he helped Stumble get up on his chair again to finish breakfast.

"They mean those toy, rubber balloons," answered Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You know the kind, red, green, blue and yellow—on strings. They lift themselves in the air like feathers, you know, balloons do."

"Oh, so you call balloons lifters, do you?" asked Uncle Wiggily with a jolly chuckling laugh.

"Please get us lifters! Please get us lifters! Please get us lifter balloons!" sang all the forty 'leven little bunnies in a chorus.

"Shall I?" asked Uncle Wiggily of his wife.

"Oh, do anything in reason to stop this racket!" she laughed as she held her paws over her ears. So Uncle Wiggily said:

"Run along to school now, my dears, and when you come home I shall have a lifter balloon for each of you!"

With joyful shouts the rabbit boys and girls hopped to the hollow stump school. And no wonder the Lady Mouse Teacher had to speak to them more than once, to tell them to pay attention to their books. For they were thinking so much about the lifters that they did not study.

True to his promise, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the five- and ten-cent store after breakfast and there he bought a big bunch of red, blue, green, yellow and pink balloons, or "lifters" as his children had called them. But when he started home with the bunch of balloons he found the wind lifting them so hard that, more than once, the balloons lifted the bunny gentleman right off his feet.

"This will never do," said Mr. Longears. "First thing I know I'll be lifted up to the clouds. I know a trick. I'll let all the air out of these rubber bags of balloons. I'll deflate them and put them in my pockets. They won't take up much room when the air is out. Then when I get home I'll blow the balloons up again and they'll be as good as before."

No sooner said than done. And with the deflated balloons in his pockets Uncle Wiggily had no trouble hopping along. That is he had no trouble for a while, but after a time, all of a sudden, as he was hopping through the woods, the Fuzzy Fox jumped out and caught the rabbit. And, not only did the Fox catch Mr. Longears, but the bad chap carried the rabbit off to his den.

Up to the second floor of his den the Fox dragged Uncle Wiggily and then the Fox barked three times.

"Now I'll telephone for my frjend Mr. Wolf to come over and we shall have a fine feast," chuckled the Fox, looking hungrily at the rabbit's ears. While the Fox was telephoning to the Wolf, Uncle Wiggily looked out of the window. It was too far down to the ground to jump with safety. But, all of a sudden the bunny thought of the rubber balloon bags, or lifters in his pockets.

"If I could blow them up with air again, tie the strings around the ends and then hold the bunch of balloons in my paw I believe I could jump out of the window and come to the ground so softly I would not be hurt!" whispered Mr. Longears.

Now it took the Fox a long while to get the Wolf on the telephone on account of the line being busy and the wrong number being given a number of times. So Uncle Wiggily had a chance to blow up all the balloons. And then, when the Fox had finished telephoning, all at once Mr. Longears held the bunch of balloons in his paws and jumped out of the window. And the balloons lifted or buoyed him up so he didn't get hurt jumping to the ground, and he ran safely home with the lifters for the little bunnies. And Oh! wasn't the Fox angry! I should say so!

But the little rabbits had lots of fun with their lifters.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The new jacket frock for evening is here developed in deep rose-colored taffeta for the jacket, with flowered organdie for the full, long skirt. Narrow strings of the taffeta hang down the front of the skirt and there is a narrow piping of taffeta around the lower edge of the skirt.

June and December, lambs and lions, are not more unlike than the mannish little evening jackets that a number of progressive dressmakers made and a few daring women wore a season or so ago, and the supremely feminine little evening jackets made of taffeta or lace or beaded georgette to be worn over full skirted frocks this spring and summer. These little jackets though sometimes made with a notched collar suggesting a man's dinner jacket are closely fitted and often end with a bit of a frill or peplum to accentuate the slender line of the waist. They are in fact a modification and a revival —a modification of the mannish "smoking" jacket of a season ago and a revival of the close-fitting little jackets or sacques that were so widely worn in the fashion period that we associate with Marie Antoinette in France and Martha Washington in this country. Flowered taffetas were in vogue then as now and there were delicately hued brocades and velvets. In those days the sacque frock often showed panniers at the side of the skirt and a dainty lace apron at the front. Panniers haven't been revived nor have ornamental aprons—but the fitted little evening jacket has come into considerable prominence.

Sometimes these picturesque little jackets are made with long sleeves, sometimes with ruffled elbow sleeves, sometimes with sleeves that end between shoulder and elbows and sometimes with no sleeves at all.

The jacket is usually of different material from that of the skirt. Satin may be used with a full tulle skirt, georgette covered with paillettes or heavily beaded may be used with plain georgette, taffeta may be used with figured tulle or organdie. For summer there is something especially attractive about these frocks that combine figured organdie with the taffeta jacket.

If you have any treasured strips of old brocade or figured material—pieces of some lovely dress once worn by a grandmother or a great grandmother —you may turn them to good account by using them on the ends of a tulle or chiffon scarf. One of the dressmakers who carries a side-line of unusual accessories has been showing lovely scarfs, each one of which was ornamented at one end or both with strips or insets of rare old fabrics. Sometimes there are insets of antique lace in these scarfs and one of them intended to be worn with a sports frock showed a band that had once been part of the valance of an old four-poster bed.

The Best Man Wins

(By A Peterborough Contributor)

The rivals were Campbell Lennie and Jack Howie. The prize Milly Lawrie, a vain, pert, little coquette of three and twenty with a round dimpled doll-like face of engaging simplicity, an expensive complexion and a winsome disarming smile that had made the blood rush faster through the veins of many others besides the two clerks in the head office of the D. Parker Co., Ltd.

It was an evil hour for Campbell when he brought Milly to the annual dance of Parker's office staff. For it was there, that Milly gained an addition to her wide circle of admirers, and Campbell a formidable opponent. On the face of things it certainly looked as if the "Sheik" had made a fresh conquest. With characteristic insolence he almost completely monopolised Milly, for the rest of the evening, while Campbell stood moodily apart, torn between the desire to end his own miserable existence and the impulse to perform a similar service for his rival.

Never particularly fond of one another the two men became less and less aimable toward each other as Howie's attentions to Milly were continued, and the atmosphere of the office was frequently disturbed by their recriminations originating in the flimsiest of pretexts.

At this stage, however, Timpany decided to take a hand in the game.

Timpany was the chief clerk at Parker's. He had long since passed his first youth. He ruled the office with a judicious mixture of despotic authority and paternalism and succeeded in maintaining a fair amount of discipline and order. He had always prided himself in taking a real interest in the affairs of those who worked under him, in a degree somewhat unusual among heads of departments in business circles. He had watched the growing animosity between his two subordinates with a great deal of mystification until a timely hint from a garrulous stenographer gave him a clue to the real cause of the feud.

"Oh indeed," he murmured, "that's how the land lies, is it? Well, well I must see what I can do."

He had not long to wait. Appearing unexpectedly in the office after a brief absence, he found the two engaged in a heated altercation which had arisen ostensibly because Howie had borrowed Lennie's ink-eraser without the formality of asking the owner's permission. The uproar ceased immediately Timpany appeared, but he beckoned the pair into his private room.

"Now look here fellahs" he began thrusting his fingers through his rapidly diminishing shock of iron grey hair, "I really cannot allow this to continue, I simply cannot tolerate you men scrapping here day after day like this, I guess there is something at the bottom, underneath these petty grievances that are causing so much trouble. Now I am older than either of you, indeed my years almost equal your combined ages. I flatter myself I know something about human nature. Now gentlemen, tell me the exact trouble."

He looked enquiringly at the two young men. Neither answered. Lennie looked flustered and somewhat irritated. Howie preserved his usual attitude of easy nonchalence.

This silence did not perturb Timpany in the least. Rather the reverse, in fact, for he never missed an opportunity of unburdening himself of homily and advice. He swelled out with importance as he dug his thumbs into his vest pockets and resumed sententiously.

"I am quite sure that the young lady whom I had the pleasure and privilege of meeting at the ball will not feel in any way flattered on learning that you are causing her name to be mentioned in connection with such unseemly wrangles as have occurred here of late, you see, he added, as both looked conscious I have formed a fairly shrewd theory as to the real issue between you two young hotheads. You are both—if I may put it this way—you are both standing under the same apple tree straining up to reach the same apple Well I am an old bachelor and you may think I know nothing about young women. Perhaps not, but I know this. You are neither of you adopting the right tactics to win any young woman. You have both been here several years and neither of you have advanced very far. Its up to you both to improve your position, before you can support a wife on the modest scale. "Anyway," he continued in a more judicial tone we must have order and quiet in this office. So no more of this. Remember my advice both of you, go to it and may the best man win."

Events then moved rapidly. In a few months Lennie got a step up to the head invoice clerk. Howie followed suit as chief assistant in the mail order department. And Molly got married. Thereby hangs a tale

Mr. Timpany's officious interest led him to seek out the young lady in order as he expressed it, to get her viewpoint. He discovered that Milly looked at matrimony from a very practical viewpoint. Further he discoveerd that she did not regard a disparity of a quarter of a century in age as an insurmountable obstacle. After that all was plain sailing.

As Timpany escorted his blushing bride to the automobile waiting outside the church, some of the small group of interested onlookers heard him murmur softly "The best man wins."

FROCKING MILADY FOR THE WATER

BY JULIA BLANSHARD

Bathing suits, colorful creations of arts this season and more of a joy than ever, have taken an upward step in fashion's value, as well as in length.

No longer are they just bought by size, a la step-ins or socks. Like shoes, gloves and French frocks, bathing suits are fitted before purchasing, for becomingness, size, color and general suitability. They are now articles of style.

Rumor has it that beach censors will be busy eliminating flapper swimmers who emulate Gertrude Ederles use of mere trunks and a narrow band across the bust. But a survey of the market reveals that bathing suits still have shoulder straps and still cover the body from neck to hipline, although they are shorter than ever before.

Three Classes.

Dividing suits into three classes we find those for the slender "Her" who swims, those for the stout, and those for the girl who hangs her clothes on a hickory limb but doesn't go near the water.

Honest-to-goodness swimming suits, of knitted wool, show new designs and touches. A step-in channel model has a square neck-line and no bunglesome shoulder button. Hight-necked sleevless models are startingly smart. A new type is the practical suit which combines colorful English shorts with an upper of cream or white.

Newest is the Celonese suit—a sun-and-bath. This material admits the ultra-violet rays of the sun, it is claimed, and thus serves the double purpose of giving a sun bath and, while browning the whole body, leaves no ugly burned neckline. It has the coveted slinkiness of silk and the warmth of wool.

Colors have borrowed beauty from the whole spectrum. Strong tones are best for the suit that is to go into the water Greens, blues, and reds are popular, with black ever a favorite. Appliqued figures of Pierrots, flowers or animals decorate solid colors.

Plenty of Color.

Stripes, checks and zigzag patterns in tri-colored effects, over-all embroidery in butterfly, flower or geometric design and polka dots all contribute their quota of prettiness.

For the figure no longer boyish, there are suits that allow more fullness, are a bit longer in cut and have diagonal tucks and broken designs which give chic and slenderize at one and the same time.

Ensembles are as smart on the beach as on the hotel veranda. Shorts and sports coats of Scotch plaid wool combine with cream Jersey step-in uppers to fashion some suits that are cute enough to take a dozen years from any feminine age and to make a really young girl look positively childish! Beach satin and Jersey are also combined into sports ensembles for the water.

Coolie coats, either in material matching the suit, or of flaming color to match the youth that wears them, will be really "the" covering for beach

Who'd Hang These On a Hickory Limb?

To please father Neptune: (left to right) slenderizing silver and scarlet satin in geometric pattern fashions a flare coat ensemble—a high-necked sun-and-water suit—combination of plaid shorts, cream jersey and plaid jacket—a continental blue suit derives style from a V neck, diagonal trunks and flare skirt—oriental symbols embroidered in gold enliven a black knitted ensemble with matching coolie cape—a splashy appliqued crab on a gay orange suit—Pierrot's crystal eyes dance merrily from the side of a magneta suit—a taffeta water frock of lavender-blue has a Parisian touch in a smashing bow tie and ruffled panties. Background, the beach at Newport, R.I. Poses by Marjorie Warren and Marie Conkright.

Bathing caps effect the 'ke chief rage. Rubberized prin or solid colors sometimes fasl ion French headgear that r semble toques or berets in the foldings, tuckings, creasings Everything is effeminate.

HAPPY HARRY EDMONDSON.

As the downfall of a towering, graceful old tree that has braved the elements for a hundred years leaves a gap in the landscape, so the passing of an aged citizen takes away something vital and valuable from the community life of a city.

To old residents the death of such men as Harry Edmondson—"Happy" Harry of the Salvation Army—brings with it a keen sense of personal loss.

Harry Edmondson was a link with the past.

Many of Peterborough's citizens in all walks of life can look back to the glorious days of their childhood and see again "Happy" Harry and his concertina at the Army's "open-airs" when the corps here was but a small organization.

He was the oldest of the local Salvationists, and always one of the most cheerful, radiating joy at every Army gathering.

The Harry Edmondsons of this world are all too few; they can ill be spared.

HELPING THE EXHIBITION.

The post-wedding presentation made last week by the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morrow was a graceful recognition of the very great assistance rendered the Exhibition by Mr. Morrow and by his father, the late R. A. Morrow.

It should be common knowledge that if it had not been for the most generous treatment accorded the Exhibition by the Morrow family in regard to the use of the present beautiful grounds the Peterborough Industrial would doubtless have long since ceased to exist.

The late R. A. Morrow, by reason of a deep interest in the Exhibition itself and in the welfare of the community, made it possible for the Directors to continue to use the Exhibition Grounds, and his policy has been maintained by his son, with the result that the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has become one of the largest and best in the Province.

The part played by the late R. A. Morrow and by his son in the growth and progress of the Exhibition should never be forgotten either by the directorate or by the citizens generally who appreciate the value and benefit of a successful Exhibition.

THE NEW REGULATIONS.

Some of Mr. Hanna's new regulations have already come under fire, the charge being made that the Commission is exhibiting too much trust in the brewers and distillers in the light of revelations made during the customs probe.

However, it is a little early to find fault.

The Liquor Control Board is made up of three shrewd members with almost unlimited power in their hands.

The brewer who tries to play fast and loose with such a body is likely to find himself out in the cold, inasmuch as the Control Board have an effective remedy ready to use, that of refusing to do business with a firm that cannot be trusted.

The fact that all orders for beer must be made through the Government stores, and that deliveries are to be checked by a Government official, closes a leak that has been causing trouble in Manitoba and about which some opponents of Government control here have been worrying.

It may be that some of the regulations may not prove as effective as at present anticipated, but Chairman Hanna is likely to be among the first to discover the weak spots and to apply the necessary remedy.

The majority of people are satisfied to give him and his associates a chance to show what can be done before trying to throw a monkey-wrench into the machinery.

A FINE ORGANIZATION.

The fact that the seventh annual meeting of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir has just passed into history calls attention to the successful record of the organization since its inception, a record that, judging from the enthusiasm displayed at the annual meeting, promises to be surpassed in the seasons to come.

Music-lovers of Peterborough are grateful to the choir for many most enjoyable programmes, and furthermore, for the willingness with which it has given its services in aid of worthy enterprises.

The pledge given by the members to do their full part in the Diamond Jubilee celebration is merely another proof of the public-spirited nature of the organization.

The interest shown by the members in the activities of the coming year is gratifying, indicating that the future of the Male Voice Choir is assured.

The decision that all present members and all those wishing to join must pass a voice and reading test before the season opens next autumn guarantees even more effective results in the choir's programme.

The Peterborough Male Voice Choir is a very useful unit among the city's musical organizations, and is to be congratulated upon its fine record.

MEDICINE AND THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

In his address before the Washington convention of the American Medical Association, President Coolidge called attention to the remarkable progress of the science and art of healing, to the importance which preventive medicine is assuming, and to the increasing co-operation between the medical profession and the official servants of the public.

Morally, Mr. Coolidge pointed out, "we do not do as well as we know." Practice lags behind theory or accepted truth. The reason is plain—human passions and human selfishness often find themselves in conflict with the dictates of reason. In the field of physical and mental health, however, individual self-interest coincides with the general good. Proper care of body and mind prolongs life, promotes health and general well-being, and thus conduces to happiness. The public should do as well as it knows in this sphere, at any rate. But it needs much more knowledge than it possesses.

Medicine is a progressive science. But while it still has many unsolved problems—that of cancer, for example, and even that of the common cold, which is productive of so much waste and annoyance—its achievements are not sufficiently appreciated by hosts of men and women of intelligence. Quacks still flourish, especially in new medical spheres, such as mental hygiene.

The medical profession, like other liberal professions, used to cultivate secrecy. Now it gladly shares its knowledge with the public. Popular health magazines have been established and medical men freely utilize the daily press to disseminate information regarding the conservation of health.

These are good signs. They are pledges of even better teamwork in the interest of the public's physical and mental health. As President Coolidge said, many baffling social problems would disappear if the people could rid their systems of poison and realize the old educational ideal of sound minds in sound bodies.—Chicago Daily News.

THE AERIAL MAIL SERVICE.

While English, French, American and Italian exploits in the air are receiving due notice in the press and leading to enthusiastic comment throughout the world, it is interesting to note that civil aviation in Canada is also making some progress and that the feats which Canadian airmen are performing or are about to perform, while less spectacular than those now finding record and acclaim, are none the less useful and illustrative of the strides which aviation is making everywhere.

The Postmaster-General, Hon. Mr. Veniot, has recently announced that an aerial mail service is about to be instituted between Father Point, on the Lower St. Lawrence, and the cities of Central Canada in order that delivery of mail matter reaching this side of the water by way of ocean-going steamships may be speeded. It is the plan of the department to have airplanes meet liners upon their arrival at Father Point and to wing their way up the river to Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto to give the mails a delivery in the last-named city 24 hours earlier than is now possible. Furthermore, it is proposed to institute an aerial mail service to the Magdalen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and it is quite possible that much greater expansion of these undertakings will take place within the course of the next few years. Already private airplane concerns are carrying out the delivery of mails at mining camps in Northern Ontario and Quebec which have yet to gain rail communication, and Fokker machines have recently returned from a noteworthy trip with supplies to the proposed terminus of the Hudson's Bay Railway, to which only Indians and fur traders once penetrated.

Just as the establishment of railroads revolutionized the mail service of this and other countries, gradually eliminating the stage-coach and the other methods employed in handling the mails, so does the airplane give prospect of effecting a transformation in this form of public service which may be equally as startling. It is not unreasonable to believe that many now living will see the day when the great bulk of the nation's mails will be carried through the air rather than on the rails and when the mail plane passing swiftly through the air will be a common sight instead of being the rarity that is now the case.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

HELPING THE MARITIMES.

If the Maritime Provinces ever had cause to complain of neglect of their interests on the part of the Dominion Government, the railroad companies and the citizens of the remaining Provinces of Canada, such complaint is now quite groundless. Since the adoption of legislation which removes the chief grievances of the Provinces by the sea, greater attention has been bestowed upon them than possibly ever before—greater, even, than that bestowed at the time they were being wooed to enter the union of Confederation. Halifax is to have a gigantic cold storage plant for the care of produce which moves through that port, new harbor facilities are to be created, new train services established, new steamship lines (consequent upon the adoption of the British West Indian trade agreement) inaugurated, and now it is announced that the entire line of the Canadian National Railways from Montreal to Halifax, i.e., the old Intercolonial, is to be re-laid with 100-lb. steel rails and to possess twenty new locomotives of a type, design and power not yet equalled upon the continent. S. J. Hungerford, one of the vice-presidents of the system, in making this announcement, said that it was due to the fact that during the past six months the Canadian National's business through the port of Halifax had increased by 13 per cent. over the corresponding period a year previously, and that there was the greatest hope that it would be even more greatly increased. Already imports have gained by 63 per cent., passenger business by 66 per cent. and export business proportionately.

Every opportunity is thus being given the Maritimes to take advantage of the benefits which are following the passage of the legislation so greatly in their favor. If they fail to experience a marked revival of industry and business generally, with a corresponding rise in prosperity, it will not be because every assistance has not been granted them by both the Dominion Government and by the National Railways, and because every sympathy with their aspirations has not been expressed, often in a practical manner, by their fellow-citizens of the Dominion. Private as well as public capital is turning towards the Maritimes as a field of investment and industries long dormant are commencing to return to life. When it is remembered that the Maritime Provinces stand to benefit very largely from the operation of the West Indian trade agreement and from the operation of the further agreement with Central and South American republics of the negotiation of which there is every hope, the outlook for the "blue-nose" Provinces, and for Nova Scotia in particular, seems a remarkably bright one.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, May 30 (Canadian Press).—There was no change in the condition of the grain export market here on Saturday, business in all lines being reported dull with both the United Kingdom and the Continent. Feature of the spot cash grain market was the further advance of three cents per bushel in the price of American corn owing to the pronounced strength that prevailed in the Chicago future market. Car lots of Argentine corn were quoted at $1.05, and American sample corn at $1.08. Canadian Western oats were also stronger and prices were marked up one cent per bushel.

A fair volume of business was done in Spring wheat grades of flour, and prices were firm. The tone of the market for Winter wheat flour was also very firm under an improved demand.

Only a moderate amount of business was done in millfeed, but values were unchanged. The undertone to the market for standard grades of rolled oats was strong at the late advance in prices on account of the further sharp rise in values for the raw materials, and indications are that prices will be advanced in the near future.

A fairly active business was done in eggs and prices were steady. The receipts were 2,844 cases.

A stronger feeling developed in the butter market and prices were marked up ¼ to ½c per pound. The trade was quiet. The receipts were 1,428 packages.

The demand for cheese was fair and prices were well maintained. The receipts were 1,244 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Advancing at the rate of a nickel a day for every bushel, corn sped along Saturday in a hurricane of buying, reaching as high as $1.05 per bushel for September. The market wavered a little and closed excited at 2⅜c to 4⅝c over Friday's finish, with the fate of the country's corn crop apparently depending on weather developments in the immediate future.

Wheat, rye and oats as well as corn swept upward to beyond all previous top prices for this season, but big profit taking sales forced a reaction in wheat. Closing quotations for wheat were nervous at ¼c to ⅝c net decline, with oats ⅝c to 1⅛c up and provisions at 17c to 45c gain.

Buying of oats was on a much larger scale than has been witnessed for some time. Indications that oats acreage this season has been materially curtailed was emphasized as a bullish factor.

Provisions ranged upward with corn and hogs.

A CORRECTION

May 27, 1927

To the Editor,
The Examiner.

Dear Sir—In your report of the school meeting held in May's Schoolhouse on Wednesday evening last I am credited as having expressed the opinion that: "The city school, at a lower rate than a new school could possibly be built for, was the only thing for children requiring a good education." I beg to correct the wrong impression the above words convey as to my attitude upon the school question. I spoke against the amendment moved by Mr. Webber, which amendment called for the education of one hundred children to be taken care of by the city schools. My support was given to the trustees' recommendation to build a new school in the Claraday district of the school section.

Thanking you, I am, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
REV. J. L. HUGHES.

THE VOICE OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

One can muzzle a dog to stop his bite. What can stop him barking half of the night? Summer is short enough without such a blight. Neighbors cannot sleep, either morn, noon or night. One cannot have a caller come at any time but this dog has to begin his chime. Domestic pets should not be public pests. Neighbor's dogs and cats aren't wanted for guests. Rockers, hammocks, lounges, cushions and mats are never safe from both dogs and cats. First through the dust and dew they will wade. Then around my nice clean verandah will parade. What is the use of putting out my nice flowers when from four in the morning is their loose hours. Nice dog? 'Oh yes, a present from father, we are so fond of him ,and he is no bother.' There will always be something, us to tease. Will someone suggest a remedy for these? If the dog catcher ever comes around this way he can know this one by his hateful bey.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

MEMORIAL DAY

By Dr. Frank Crane.

Maeterlinck in his "Blue Bird" has a beautiful conceit that the dead come to life when we think of them. Our thinking of them brings them to life.

Memorial Day is consecrated to those who are dead, mainly to those who have given their lives for their country.

When we think of all the boys that marched gaily some years ago in France and of the high ideals that inspired most of them, many of us would like to call them to life again. They took with them to their graves how much hope and promise! They left behind them what vacant spaces in our lives!

It is as little as we can do to call them all into life again on this Memorial Day.

We are all to apt to forget. The current of our interesting environment sweeps us on and we do not recall them, the high hopes of yesterday, and the sacrifices that we made for them. Let us pause once in awhile and bring back those smiling faces, the young lives that were thrown away.

We should not forget the lessons that war taught us, nor that Europe is staggering under an economic burden, struggling desperately to escape from its load of debt.

When we think back upon the multitude of lives sacrificed in the great conflict we are impressed with the futility of battles.

There must be some other way of settling differences of opinion besides sacrificing the flower of our youth. There must be some process of law and orderly procedure by which certain matters can be straightened out without heaping up hecatombs of dead to prove our case.

None of us would go back to the age of dueling and yet national honor is no more sacred than personal honor.

We must learn to arbitrate questions of honor in the courts quite as well as inferior questions. There can be no orderly justice unless all parties to a dispute are ready to sacrifice something.

A contribution from each nation at the beginning of the war would have been better than the enormous contribution, bringing us almost to bankruptcy, at the close of the war.

There is much, therefore, to be said for the advantage of turning our memories back for awhile and making live again in our minds those who have gone.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST

Yesterday marked the fifteenth anniversary of the erection of Murray Street Baptist Church. Rev. J. R. Webb of Kitchener, formerly of Murray Street Church, was the minister for the occasion.

His text was taken from the seventh chapter of Revelation: "I was in the spirit on the Lord's day." This text means that all who would appreciate Sunday must have the feeling that they want to enjoy going to church and keeping the day holy. To illustrate this Mr. Webb referred to Westminster Abbey, and the sacred regard that all visitors hold it. "Tourists always speak in hushed tones," said Mr. Webb, "and there is no shouting or running up its aisles, because an instinct tells them it should not be done. Just as back in Revelation when God set apart one day that man should rest, so they regard this beautiful temple as something righteous to be kept holy."

"There are no laws that keep us from doing these things both in Westminster Abbey and on Sunday," he said, "for as far as the Bible is concerned, factories and stores could be kept open, dancing can go on, and automobile riding, but there is a sacred feeling that seizes the soul in regard to this thing and makes us feel that Sunday has been set apart by God for sacred things and for rest."

Mr. Webb then went on to say that people should be thinking about things that count. To illustrate this he remarked that recently in a Toronto paper sarcastic remarks were made about the reception of the Catalina Channel swimmer, George Young, given in Toronto on the steps of the City Hall. It told of how the populace crowded and stepped all over the cenotaph erected to the dead soldiers who had died for their country in France, merely to honor this hero of a few weeks at the most.

Going back to Westminster Abbey, he stated that there was a consecrated air about it, for people do not shout there. There are other places in London to do this without going there and so like this, Sunday should be kept sacred by love and not by law.

"The first day of the week," stated Mr. Webb, "is the sign of victory, and doing things right on this day gives us an inspiration to fulfill all others alike." He then expressed his wish that members of all churches would feel for their fellows if they had any sorrow, by really showing it by methods that though it upset their plans, would make them rejoice to know that they could feel for their neighbors.

"Another thing that makes the first day in the week a blessed one is to share with others," said Mr. Webb, "in sending money to those who are doing so much in India, the missionaries; for this is the day that is the Lord's and is one for respect and love, first towards God and then to fellow men." He remarked that Sunday belonged to the Lord and should not be tampered with, for it is set apart for righteous purposes, teaching us to be in the atmosphere of the Holy Spirit, and to honor Him who died for us.

In closing, the speaker told the story of Livingstone, whose body was carried by faithful servants and placed in Westminster Abbey. "On his grave," he remarked, "is the following inscription. 'This body, brought by faithful servants over land and sea, here rests.'

"So let us all accomplish the same end by being in the spirit of the day, or hold a great respect for Sunday, the day that God set apart for rest and worship."

GEORGE STREET UNITED.

Eighty members of the Ancient Order of Foresters, headed by J. C. Hamilton and preceded by the band of L.O.L. 50, paraded yesterday to the morning diet of worship at the George Street United Church.

Special seats in the centre portion of the area of the church were provided for the guests, to whom Rev. J. E. Todd from the pulpit extended the welcome of the congregation.

Mr. Todd's sermon, "The Real Thing in Religion," was based on James 1.27, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world."

"There is a great deal of mystery about religion," said Mr. Todd. "I use that proposition advisedly. I incline to the conviction that many of our disagreements and most of the tempests and unlovely spectacles which manifest themselves in connection with our religious lives arise "about" religion rather than "in" religion. There is a vast difference between about religion and in religion." Mr. Todd suggested that much of the mystery about religion was man-made. Man theorized here and there and collected all kinds of data and confused the things he had brought together. "We make a vast mistake when we confuse the things man has brought together and those which are supported by Divine authority."

James the brother of our Lord, in the text had given definition of true religion. Was there anything so vastly mysterious about that? When a man wanted to jorney to Toronto or Lindsay or Port Hope he was not asked to become a master of transportation. All that was required was the exercise of common sense, the purchase of a ticket and care to enter the right train. The essentials of true religion were equaly simple.

The definition of religion divided itself into two parts. The first was the doing of works of mercy and the other keeping oneself upspotted from the world. Church members were only about one-third the total population of this country. Eighty-two per cent. of the workers of organization, of social reform and aid for the helpless were church members.

It was one of the evidences of the Divine authenticity of Christianity that it demanded purity of heart and soul. Our economic life, our social life and our political life and not demand purity of heart and soul in any special sense.

What were the ways of keeping unspotted? Men had answered this question by withdrawing from the world and had hidden behind the text that said, "Come out from among them and be ye separate. The world would never be saved by such use of such texts. Nor was such interpretation justified, for the Master himself mingled among all classes. "He went about doing good."

There were four provisions for the keeping of oneself unspotted from the world.

The first was an act. The act of surrender of the will of God. The second was an attitude. The attitude that regarded this world as God's and bade us to look on life from the standpoint of Jesus.

The third was exercise. The exercise of prayer. More things were wrought by prayer than men dreamed of.

The last was atmosphere. Nothing was so susceptible to the atmosphere that shrivelled or blasted as the soul of a man or woman. On the other hand it was said of Henry Drummond that whenver he entered a room the atmosphere instantly became warmer. People should look well to the atmosphere they created.

During the service the choir rendered an antehm, 'Pass Me Not O Gentle Saviour," Mrs. F. Liddle singing the solo part. Miss Daisy Murray also sang a solo, "Still, Still With Thee."

HAVELOCK UNITED CHURCH.

HAVELOCK, May 30. — On Wednesday evening, the annual congregational meeting of the Havelock United church, was held, with an attendance of 200. Before the meeting opened the younger members of the congregation enjoyed sports on the church lawn for a short time. The pastor, Rev. W. R. Archer occupied the chair and with him on the platform was G. W. Chiles, clerk of the managing board.

The financial report of the church and the reports of the various organizations were of a very satisfactory nature. Those reporting were: Maintenance and Extension Fund, Ladies' Aid, Women's Missionary Society, Choir, League, C.G.I.T., and Mission Band.

The basement of the church has recently been renovated, which with the addition of new curtains has made a decided improvement.

At a previous board meeting it was decided to allow the pastor seven weeks for his vacation this year, instead of the usual time, four weeks. This arrangement was made as Mr. Archer is planning a trip to the West, and he will furnish the supply for the three extra weeks. The congregation has been fortunate in securing as supply for that period the Rev. Dr. Brown of George street United Church, Peterborough.

After the business of the evening had been disposed of a splendid programme was rendered by members of the League, and refreshments were served.

TRENT RIVER UNITED CHURCH

TRENT RIVER, May 30. — The annual congregation meeting of the United Church was held Wednesday night in the auditorium of the church. Notwithstanding the inclement weather there was a good representation of the congregation present.

The Male Quartette of the Havelock Efficiency League was present, and gave two selections, with Miss Helen Fenell as accompanist. Wallace Denike, Havelock, rendered a saxaphone solo. George Van Volkenburg acted as secretary for the meeting. Rev. Mr. Archer was very much pleased with the givings which came directly from the people, viz., $1,000 to Extension Fund. The Ladies' Aid granted $25, making a considerable advance this year.

The first report from the treasurer though not complete, showed total receipts $1,047.78 from envelopes and collections. There was a balance on hand.

Report from Ladies' Aid, given by Mrs. T. K. Thompson: Amount carried over 1926, $119.84. Receipts $599.41; expenditures $371.26; amount in bank $219.15. Rev. Mr. Archer congratulated the Ladies' Aid on their efforts throughout the year.

Report of Sunday School was given by the secretary, Mr. Rufus Redden. Balance on hand $54.37.

Report from secretary of Young Men's Class, given by Percy Tyler, showed receipts $67.30; expenditures $62.68. Mrs. George Spencer's Class reported that it had given $3 to missions and had given money for gifts to the sick and had $3 on hand.

The Bible Class had given $10 to missions and had balance on hand of $2.15.

The Efficiency League had given $33 to missions.

Rev. Mr. Archer gave the report of Pulpit Supply Committee and stated that the services of Rev. Dr. Brown had been secured to supply during Mr. Archer's vacation which begins July 4th.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the following:

W. W. Redden, Superintendent of Sunday School; Mr. Rufus Redden, Secretary of Sunday School, and all the teaching staff.

The reorganization of Sunday School officers was talked of but it was moved and seconded that the board of management organize the school. A solo was rendered by Mr. Norman Archer.

Rev. Mr. Archer gave out a remit from the board of managers to the congregation. Inasmuch as there are only nine months left in the year, it was decided not to have a re-election of the board of managers or the session till the end of the year, when the new book of rules will be published, allowing the present officers to continue till the end of the present year. The next congregational meeting will take place early in January. A further vote of thanks was extended to Mr. J. Rutton for services in choir, also Bruce Spencer for acting as envelope steward, Mrs. Isaac Lawson as organist.

The Sunday School picnic, it was decided, will be held on July 2nd.

After the business part was concluded the ladies served light refreshments and the meeting came to a close.

AT KNOX UNITED

About sixty members of Sons of England lodge and twenty of the Juvenile lodge attended divine service in Knox United Church last night. The pulpit was draped with the lodge flag and a sermon suitable to the occasion was preached by Rev. William MacDonald. Very appropriate music was rendered by the choir under the leadership of the organist, R. J. Devey. Brother C. Coleman, chaplain of the lodge, read the Scripture lesson.

The theme which the minister took as his subject was "God of Our Fathers," and for this he based his remarks on part of the constitution of the lodge where it says: "It is your duty to uphold and maintain the Protestant religion and the principles of the Holy Bible."

"My theme is recorded in the Song of Triumph which the children of Israel sang when they were delivered out of the hands of the Egyptians by crossing the Red Sea. It has been well said that all great songs of a nation are in reality confessions of faith, for they forget the things that divide and remember only the things that unite. They are not alone songs of deliverance but of a dedication of their posterity to God."

The minister then explained the factor that the Children of Israel had which added strength to civilization and progress to the words. A similar factor in a small way may be recognised in the British Empire and that factor the speaker attributed to the Protesant religion. "Has not the balance of Great Britain's greatness centered around the great revival in religion for from this the people got responsible government."

The speaker then paid tribute to the life of the late Queen Victoria, whose whole life and reign was the embodiment of that faith and religion based upon the God of Our Fathers. "That alone can make us good." He gave credit to the British nation for being the first to have a National Anthem which put God before the King, in asking that the Sovereign might be protected.

He asked the members to forget the distinctions of rank that are found in the Old Land and to develop themselves into real Canadians with a Canadian nationality." We are not separate or antagonistic to the Old Land but the spirit which we develop should be that of progress so that all the nations which are represented in this Canada of ours will become true Canadians."

In closing, the minister exhorted the members of the lodge not to forget the religion and faith that their fathers had, but to strive in all things to be more perfect

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

The old message of salvation, based on faith in the redeeming work of Christ rather than on good deeds and the living of a good life, continues to be faithfully proclaimed from the pulpit of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and to be heard by interested congregations which, while not as large as during the winter months, are large for this season of the year. In the prelude to the regular evening sermon, in which the pastor answers personal questions received through the mail and otherwise, one of the questions dealt with last evening was, "If a good life does not save, why live a good life, why not go the limit in pleasure?" The answer was brief, namely, that salvation does not depend upon a person's works or life, but upon faith in the finished work of Christ. The reason why everyone should seek to live a good life is because every ounce of our intelligence shows it to be the best life as it applies to our mind, our body, our social relationship and to our pocketbooks. A second question was, "Ought not the church to be run on business principles?" To this the reply was "Yes, but not only on business principles." A devout spirit consecrated to Christ is required in its management.

The Sermon.

The sermon was based on the text, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear," Matthew xi., 15. At the time these words were spoken Jesus was teaching and preaching. John the Baptist had been cast into prison, where he had plenty of time to think. Apparently doubts had arisen in his mind as to whether or not Jesus was the Christ. He sent a delegation of his followers to Christ to question Him on this point. Christ called their attention to the miracles He had performed and told them to go and tell John what they had seen. In this way John the Baptist's doubts would be removed. After the departure of this delegation Christ commenced to teach His followers concerning John, and in this connection asked them a series of questions. With this as a foundation, Rev. Mr. Allan explained the nature of the questions and Christ's replies thereto.

If the people who went out to hear John the Baptist preach had expected to see a reed shaken with the wind, or, in other words, a speaker swayed by public opinion and always trying to play safe, they had not found him. If they expected to discover an aristocrat clothed in fine linen, again they were disappointed. Instead, they had found a prophet, to whom they should give heed. Christ in the same address warns the people of that day of the great advantages they had and of the extra responsibility that rested upon them on that account. Rev. Mr. Allan showed that

CHINESE FIRE ON YACHT FLEET

Machine Guns Used By Soldiers Who Inflict No Casualties.

NAVAL PATROL HELPS.

LONDON, May 30 (United Press). Chinese troops fired on a fleet of yachts yesterday, the Exchange Telegraph Company reported. The Chinese used machine guns and several bullets struck the yachts but no one was injured. The American naval patrol escorted the yachts to safety.

BRUISE ON BODY FOUND IN LAKE

Knew Great Deal About Human Anatomy and Worked Scientifically.

PAPYRUS TRANSLATED.

TORONTO, May 30. —The finding of the body of Harold Williams, aged 66, of 29 Matilda Street, in the lake, near the foot of Windermere Avenue, yesterday morning by Norman Lang and the life-savers from the Humber station, has opened up speculation in police circles as to whether Williams was drowned by accident, ended his own life, or was thrown into the water by enemy hands. While Williams was drowned, the autopsy performed by Dr. Frankish at the Morgue yesterday disclosed that he had been either struck or kicked in the stomach by someone within half-an-hour of entering the water. Dr. Frankish found a clot of blood in the back near the kidneys, which, he stated was the result of a heavy blow. The police have been informed of this, and Detective-Sergts. Hazelwood and Greaves, of Cowan Avenue, and Koster and Clarke, of Pape Avenue, are investigating. Corner McConnell has been ordered to probe the matter by Chief Coroner Crawford.

Williams had been missing for three days. Last Wednesday, he went to Woodbine races, and according to those intimate with him, fared very well. On Thursday morning, his son, Harold, says, he left the house en route for the track again, hoping to increase his winnings. Whether he reached the racetrack on that day is not known. But it is along this line that the police are investigating. Williams, having owned racehorses in his time, was well-known to the racing fraternity and it is altogether likely that if he was at the races on Thursday some one who knew him must have seen him there.

When Williams failed to return home Thursday evening, his disappearance was reported to the police. An effort was made to find him but without success.

Norman Lang was on patrol in a boat about the mouth of the Humber yesterday morning, when he saw in the depths the body of a man. Securing assistance he dragged the body out. The body was fully dressed, but an examination of the pockets of the deceased disclosed not a cent nor a document by which his identity might be established. He was identified by the police by description, and later, more definitely by his son, at the Morgue.

The police are working on three theories— whether Williams, while walking along the lake shore, fell into the water and was accidentally drowned, whether he lost his winnings in plunging at the races Thursday, and consequently, in desperation over this, committed suicide, or whether he was set upon by someone covetous of his winnings, kicked in the body while resisting robbery, and hurled into the water.

Dr. Frankish told the police that the blow sustained by Williams was a heavy one. There was a possibility that the clot was the result of Williams having fallen against something or other.

Williams was a widower. He leaves one son, Harold, and a daughter, Mrs. Sullivan, resident in Montreal.

CANADIAN KILTIES ARE WELL RECEIVED

Montreal Highlanders March in New York Memorial Day Parade.

NEW YORK, May 30. — Canadian Press. — Marching in the Memorial Day Parade under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, as guests of the American Legion, the Canadian Black Watch captured the hearts of the thousands of New Yorkers who saw them march along some of the city's main thoroughfares, to the skirl of their regimental pipes.

These "ambassadors of Peace," as they were described by Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, were the most picturesque feature of the parade.

The Canadian Kilties were escorted by the John Purroy Mitchell Post of the American Legion, and accompanied by the British Great War Veterans of America, commanded by Captain T. G. Armstrong.

After the parade the visitors were the luncheon guests of the B.G.W.V.A.

In a 10,000,000 skyscraper hotel now building in New York the door-knobs, door-plates and even the hinges are to be plated with gold.

THE HALL STORE

FARM PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Well Attended Meeting Held in Downeyville—Report Presented.

DOWNEYVILLE, May 28.—On Friday evening the hall here was crowded to hear Mr. Winter, of Lindsay, speak on agriculture. Mr. Winter is the agricultural representative in Lindsay and his lecture was very interesting. He also had lantern slides on the different work on the farm.

Mr. Smale, of Lindsay, spoke for some length on farm problems of today and said it was a sad sight to see hundreds of acres of land idle, not only here but everywhere in Ontario, as the boys would not stay on the farm. He also referred to the large number going to the United States and that the population in Canada now is only three for every square mile, while in the States it was thirty-five.

Joseph Corbett, of King's Wharf, who was the delegate sent by the schools of this place to the recent convention in Toronto on the school question, spoke for some length on his trip and what he heard and learned.

Rev. Father Galvin was chairman and thanked the speakers for their interesting speeches, also Mr. Corbett who, he said, went to the conference in Toronto in the interests of the people and he hoped Mr. Winter would establish an agriculture school at Downeyville.

EMPIRE DAY AT WESTWOOD

WESTWOOD PUBLIC SCHOOL

WESTWOOD, May 30.—An Empire Day celebration was held at Westwood Public school on Monday afternoon. Despite the disagreeable weather, nearly forty adults gathered with the school children to show honor and loyalty to Canada and the Empire. The school-room was artistically decorated with maple leaves and numerous flags.

The celebration was honored by the presence of Col. R. E. Birdsall, of Birdsall, and Rev. S. H. Moyer, of Norwood, who addressed the gathering in a patriotic and loyal spirit.

The chairman for the occasion was Arnold Steele, one of the pupils. The programme was as follows:

Chorus—"O Canada" by School.
Address of Welcome by chairman.
Recitation by Voleeta Richardson.
Patriotic Exercise by Ruth Cardwell, Wilma Douglas, Isabel Sargent and Jessie Douglas.
Recitation—"Canadian-Born", Reta Dickson.
Confederation Exercise by nine girls, representing the nine provinces.
Recitation—Empire Day—Jean Commisky.
Gramaphone Selection for little folks.
Pageant—"Our Flag": Canada, Mary Brackenridge; Herald, Reta Dickson: Readers, Leslie Sargent, Jack Graham, Jean Cummiskey; Bearer of the Flag, Isabel Sargent.
Address—Rev. S. H. Moyer.

Mr. Moyer spoke of the origin of the idea of Empire Day, and its gradual extension until now it has been taken up all over the Empire. Mrs. Fessenden, who originated the idea, knew that other great empires of a former time had passed out of existence, and in order that a similar fate might not befall our Empire, she conceived the principle of Empire Day, in connection principally with the schools, in order that the rising generations might have an intelligent and appreciative conception of their privileges as citizens of the greatest Empire the world has ever known.

The day was associated with the 24th of May because the greatest development of the Empire took place in Queen Victoria's reign. Since the day of her accession to the throne, the area and population of the Empire have more than doubled and a most significant fact is that only one in ten persons in the Empire is English speaking, and yet that small element of people is giving a successful leadership throughout the whole Empire, and nothing could more clearly prove that success, than the grand rally of every part of the Empire, in the Great War.

It was pointed out that this great Empire has come into being at remarkably small cost in a military sense, as most of the lands came under British control by peaceable means.

A hopeful note was sounded in regard to the future. The other great Empires of history have fallen—will a similar fate be ours? The speaker was inclined to be optimistic. Other empires have made their conquests from motives of selfish interest. Weak nations were conquered in order to be exploited and the resulting dissatisfaction brought ruin.

Britain honors the principle of Service. Her mission is to defend and protect the weak, and those who serve are divinely destined to be great.

Recitation—Orville Richardson.
Chorus—"The Maple Leaf" by School.
Recitation—"A Good Land" by Bruce Graham.
Patriotic Exercise—Jessie Douglas, Isabel Sargent, Wilma Douglas, Ruth Cardwell.
Physical Exercises by pupils using one of Walter Camp's Musical Health Records.
Address by Colonel Birdsall.

Mr. Birdsall dwelt briefly upon the origin of Empire Day. The British Empire has an approximate population of 450 million, including people of all colors and all creeds, and the sun is said never to set on the Empire. From ocean to ocean and from pole to pole, the Union Jack may be found nailed to the mast, and it is for the rising generation to keep it flying, and to maintain all the principles for which it stands.

In the Great War, when the liberty of the Empire was at stake, our soldiers rallied to the flag, and fought and many died that we might be free. It was the speaker's hope and prayer that, should war ever again occur, which God forbid, that the boys and girls may be willing to offer their lives, that the great principles for which our flag stands, may be held inviolate.

He reminded the boys and girls that they are citizens of the greatest country upon which the sun has ever shone; that they have the best sovereign, the world has ever known; that Canada is the best country in the world, and that they live in the very best part of it.

It was stated that as long as teachers are imbued with the idea of love of country—so long will the British Empire stand. Reference was made to the brave deeds of the heroines, Edith Cavell, and Laura Secord, whose love for the Empire made them ready and willing to make the supreme sacrifice.

One of the greatest statesmen the world has ever known, Sir John A. Macdonald, said—"A British subject I was born, and a British subject I will die," to which the speaker added—"Love Canada, fear God, and honor the King."

Reading—"The Life of Queen Victoria" by Mary Brackenridge.
Kipling's Poem—"The Children's Song" by pupils of Fourth Class.
Memory Gems—by pupils.
Exercise—"This is the way in Canada"—by Max Brackenridge, Jack Graham, Leslie Sargent and Oliver Hie.
Music—"O God, Our Help in Ages Past."
Recitation—"In Flander's Field"—Reta Dickson.
Vote of Thanks to Col. Birdsall and Rev. S. H. Moyer by M. Brackenridge and R. Dickson.
Treat of Candy to the children by Col. Birdsall.

HOW TO FLY THE FLAG

Care in displaying the Union Jack the official flag for Canada's Confederation Jubilee is urged by the Daughters of the Empire. There is a right and a wrong way to fly the flag. The broad white stripes of the St. Andrew's Cross nearest the staff should be uppermost. The flag flown in any other position indicates distress.

Mrs. E. Searls Broadcasts Good News

Woodstock, Ont. — "I found Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription excellent as a tonic and nerve medicine. I was in a rundown, weakened state of health. My nerves were all upset, I could not sleep and had very little appetite. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and found it very helpful. It sharpened up my appetite, strengthened my nerves, and I could sleep. It built me up in health and I felt better in every way. I think the 'Favorite Prescription' is the finest medicine any woman can take." Mrs. E. Searls, 671 Canterbury St.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service — by Ben Lucien Burman

"That's a leading question. I refuse to answer. Instead I'll ask you whether you ever stopped to think how a barber has opportunity to study individuals and learn their characteristics and physical peculiarities better than any public servant, not even excepting a doctor. rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, all have hair and almost all For an individual goes to a doctor only yearly, sometimes never, while of them get shaved. I'm quite sure—hello!" he broke off suddenly. "Judging by the excited way Joao, the stable boy, is running out there, we're having another one of the pleasant incidents which break our daily monotony." He moved to the door. "Joao! Joao!" he called out.

The boy turned and unwillingly trudged toward him. He spoke in excited Portuguese for a moment, then ran on. Vilak returned to Nunnally, sitting up interestedly in the chair.

"It's as I told you," he announced gravely, "only much more serious this time. Another man's been killed. An Italian, Tony Barbetta, one of the best foremen on my cousin's fazenda. I knew he'd been having a feud for a long time with another one of the foremen, an Englishman named Potts, about some gambling debts, and apparently the killing was the result of that. From what Joao tells me, Pots confesses that he committed the murder. Hit him over the head with a club. But it seems there's something queer about it. I'll get your face dried and we'll go out and have a look."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

To the queer little South American town of Porto Verde, in west central Brazil, a town fringed by dark, forbidding jungle, comes an elderly American, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a chemist.

Nunnally registers at the ramshackle hotel and steps out on the balcony. A beautiful young girl drives past in a chaise, accompanied by a negro woman and a small child. To the American's amazement, she waves to him, then drives on. He sees two sinister looking men watch the girl, exchange mysterious signals, then follow her.

Another surprise is in store for him. In the barber shop, the barber, a strange, dark man with an Oriental cast to his eyes, speaks to him. He then recognizes the barber as VILAKA West, known to him as VILAK, a fellow American and former chemistry pupil. He asks Vilak what he is doing in Porto Verde. To his amazement, Vilak says he has sent for him, that he and his cousin, who was the young lady Nunnally had seen from the balcony, owned the Porto Verde Development Co., and were in need of some assistance in getting at the root of a mystery that had already cost several lives and threatened their own.

The barber business, Vilak explains, serves to conceal his real activities. In the midst of his explanations, word reaches him that another man, one of his cousin's foremen, has been murdered.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER III.

Vilak rubbed the towel vigorously against the old man's face, then hurried outside. Nunnally followed asthmatically behind. They half walked, half ran down the road, along a small stream which drained into the river on which lay the town. Around them were low hills whose slopes in a few places were bright with coffee plants, but everywhere else were dark with the black greenness of the jungle. They hurried over a small bridge spanning the stream. As they crossed, they heard someone running behind them. Vilak turned. He pressed his companion's arm. "Take a good look when this man passes," he whispered. "You're having a privilege. He's the American I mentioned to you. Doesn't come to town very often. In this place of picturesque and bizarre individuals, he's by far the most interesting to me."

Nunnally did not wait until the runner had caught up with them, but turned swiftly, to see the new-comer dashing behind. He was a man originally of commanding height and herculean shoulders, but whose body, as though by fever or other tropical disease had wasted until it was a shell of its former self. He was clad in grimy white linens but in strange contrast to his tropical garments was wearing around his thin emaciated neck, a stiff, unusually high collar. He made no response to the genial salutation Vilak offered, but taking a new grip on the straw basket in his hand, darted past, and disappeared round a bend. But not before Nunnally had glimpsed a curious mark on his pale white forehead, a series of three small triangles tattooed in thin black lines.

The old man stopped to rest for a moment and gazed after the other with a strong inclination to shudder. But resolved to imitate his companion's coolness, he repressed the impulse, took a cigaret and reached in his pocket for a match he could not find. "He looks . . . er . . . fantastic. Quite fantastic. What's the matter with him? Is he white? Or is he some . . . er . . . queer sort of . . . er . . . half-breed?"

"He's white, white, you occidental egoist," Vilak returned, "white as the lilies of Sharon. You'll probably be interested to know that his name is Gaylord Prentiss."

". . . Er . . . Prentiss, the archeologist who explored for the Museum of . . . er . . . Natural History . . . Natural History and left a few years ago . . . er . . . under a cloud after he had been concerned . . . er . . . concerned in some . . . er . . . scandal?"

"None other, my dear Nanny."

The old man had found the matches in the lining of his coat. "What's the . . . er . . . matter with him? How did he get that . . . er . . . mark on his forehead?"

"Ask him, mon cher, ask him . . . several have. . . . And been politely knocked down for their pains. Can you run again for a little? We ought to hurry."

"In a . . . er . . . minute." The old man breathed heavily. "Horrible looking . . . horrible. What is he doing . . . er . . . here . . . here?"

"That's one of the things I'm interested in finding out. The natives believe he's the center of all the apparently diabolical things which have been happening. Elise has tried to talk to him and failed miserably. She took an interest in him naturally, because he's a fellow-countryman, but particularly because there'd been a lot of bad blood between his father and her own, when old Prentiss lived on his fazenda near here, and she hasn't any use for silly family feuds."

Nunnally glanced at him quizzically. "You think very highly of your . . . er . . . cousin," he murmured, "Are you . . . er . . . in love with her?"

"Innocent, innocent as a babe. Women to a criminologist are an unmitigated nuisance. They arouse emotions and clog up the machinery. The really perfect detective should be born like an amoeba, without father or mother. This way he'd have no emotional traditions to affect his judgment. My position here, as most things are nowadays, is a purely economic one. Elise sent for me because it's getting very difficult to hire labor for the fazenda. Incidentally, it's toward Prentiss' place we're heading. Elise's men often use this as a short cut to town. nowadays, is a purely economic one. Now don't start talking again," he flashed as the other's lips parted. "Save your breath, we must be running."

They sped forward again. For a short distance the highway skirted the antiquated railroad paralleling the stream. A short distance farther on was a siding on which stood a few battered freight cars. Here they left the road and took a narrow lane which led up the higher ground above the stream. Their path grew constantly wilder and more dismal. Great vines hung down from a dark canopy of foliage overhead and like huge black serpents knotted themselves strangelingly about the somber trees; swollen brooks murmured in doleful, incessant chorus as they ended in the myriad tiny lakes and ponds which sparkled everywhere.

The travelers rounded a tangled bend, then saw a crowd clustered about a lofty parasol pine a hundred yards ahead, a motley group made up of negro laborers in muddy but brilliant packets or torn overalls, a few breechclouted Indians wearing huge straw hats, and two or three gaping children staring furtively from behind the trees. Above them all towered one of the huge blue and red-uniformed negroes who form so large a part of the police force of Brazil.

Briskly Vilak elbowed his way through the onlookers who, with their characteristic apathy, let him pass without resistance. He stepped forward. The excited Joao had told the truth. On the ground, near a thicket of thorns, lay stretched the body of a middle-aged Italian, Tony Barbetta, once a fruit peddler in Providence, R.I., who had come to South America and become one of the most valued foremen on Miss Marberry's fazenda. His cotton breeches were torn and stained with mud; his hands and slightly pock-marked face were scratched and stained with blood; in his scalp was a jagged red hole. Yet though his body was rigid as a statue, seemingly in the paralysis of death, his eyes were gleaming and appeared to express intense bodily anguish.

Near his outstretched feet, handcuffed to the gendarme and staring sulkily at the ground, stood a heavy-set man of the English colonial type, who supervise the gangs that work the mines of Kimberly or tap the rubber trees of the Congo. His face was hard, like the faces of most of those who command in the primitive places of the world; like Prentiss, he had tattoo marks. But these were on his arm and about them there was nothing extraordinary. They seemed merely the tattooing such as is to be found on every sailor; a ship, a howling monkey and a skull and cross-bones. Vilak instantly recognized him as "Limey" Potts, Barbetta's long-time enemy and fellow-worker on the fazenda. Not far away was a heavy wooden club.

Vilak touched the arm of the huge ebony gendarme. "The doctor, you have not called for him?" he asked in quick Portuguese.

The gendarme grinned amiably and thrust out his hands in expostulation. "Deus; am I the Almighty God? I cannot all do."

"Pedros! Go to the fazenda of Senorita Marberry and fetch the doctor quick." Vilak snapped to one of the bystanders he knew, then turned to Nunnally, who had joined him. "I should have known better than to depend on these chaps. I could curse myself for dawdling the way we did coming out here. "Lift up his head." The old man obeyed. Vilak took the rigid wrist and felt the pulse. "Twenty," he said in perplexity, "and getting weaker all the time." He looked toward a young peon whose face bore the sign of more intelligence than his fellows.

"How long has he been this way, amigos?" he asked.

The native took a thoughtful puff on his cigaret. "Half an hour, three-quarters, maybe he is thees way, I think. Eet is ver' strange how a hit on the head have do thees. He ees dead an' he ees also alive." He shuddered and crossed himself.

LIGHT ON ISLAND IS WORKING AGAIN

Will Operate For Summer Without Visit From Caretaker.

HIAWATHA, May 30.—The light house on Tick Island has started to blink once more after being dark for two months. It is very interesting to note how the delicate mechanism operates, and proves so satisfactory. Generally one tending will last a season. Mr. A. Young of Harwood is in charge of it. Even he himself confessed to The Examiner that he did not understand the workings fully.

Those who have seen it from the mainland come to the conclusion that a light burns for an instant and then goes out but such is not the case as a little pilot light hidden from view down in the lamp is always lit.

The flame that gives the light comes from a cylinder of gas which automatically fills itself and it appears that the time that it takes to burn the gas is ten seconds and it is evident that three seconds pass when the little tank is being refilled.

The source of power is from acytelene dissolved in acetone under the highest possible pressure but the light will work with pressure as low as fifteen pounds as it did in the winter. The large tank which contains the dissolved gas weighs nearly three hundred pounds.

If anything goes out of repair the orders of the Department of Railways and Canals are to send the lamp to Hamilton, where it is made.

The light can be seen ten miles up and down Rice Lake.

If sometimes the tea you are using does not taste as good as it used to—just see what kind of a package it is in. If it is in paper that is probably the reason. No chances are taken with Red Rose. It is packed in clean, bright Aluminum. c

3500 Canadian Veterans Still in Hospital

THE RED CROSS as your agent brings them cheer

SUPPOSE you were condemned indefinitely to the dreary round of hospital life—after four years of fighting and suffering for Canada!

Your friends far away . . . your means restricted . . . your family, perhaps, having a hard struggle to get along . . .

Wouldn't you long for kindly visitors . . . books, smokes, dainties to brighten the long days . . . the knowledge that someone was watching over the welfare of your family?

About 3500 of Canada's war veterans still face months in hospital. Some are permanently "shut in." To these the Red Cross brings friendship and cheer. Radios and recreation rooms . . . Christmas treats and summer outings . . . weekly visits and frequent entertainments . . . such things serve to show to those who suffered for Canada that Canada cares.

In the three Red Cross Summer Homes, the convalescent and the "hospital-weary"—some never to be well again—are given a chance to exchange the murk of the city for the pure air, the fresh breezes, the sunny days and the cool nights of the open places.

In three Red Cross Workshops, disabled men who cannot compete in the open labor market are given sheltered employment . . . encouraged to regain their skill and capacity and become independent and self-sustaining.

When sickness comes or work cannot be found, the Red Cross is again the help of the ex-soldier and his family. Medical and nursing aid . . . clothing, food, whichever is needed, the Red Cross helps them to get it. The soldier settler on the frontiers of civilization also finds in the Red Cross a never-failing friend.

The Red Cross supplements the justice of official agencies with the friendliness of personal interest. By supporting the Red Cross, YOU can do YOUR bit for those who fought and suffered.

Since the War THE RED CROSS has disbursed 7 Million Dollars for the Soldiers, Women, Children and Frontier Families of Canada.

Maple Leafs Defeat Stars in Opener at Syracuse

SYRACUSE LOSE OPENING TILT

Baltimore Orioles Lose First of Series at Reading 17 to 6.

COLTS LOSE OUT

NEW YORK, May 30. —(Canadian Press).— Toronto, making its first appearancce of the season at Syracuse, defeated the Stars on Saturday 6 to 5.

Pounding three Reading hurlers for 24 hits, Baltimore took the first of the series at Reading, 17 to 6. It was Reading's thirtieth consecutive defeat.

The Bisons waltzed to a 13 to 3 triumph over the Rochester Colts in the opening game of the series at Buffalo. The Bisons displayed a penchant for scoring their tallies in cycles of threes and slammed out this number of runs in four different innings. Mangum had an easy time disposing of his rivals.

The Skeeters won both ends of a double-header from Newark at Jersey City, the scores being 6 to 0 and 3 to 2. Monahan's homer in the seventh inning won the second game for the Jerseys. Coffman pitched fine ball in order to blank Newark in the first game. Ellis was the Jerseys' successful twirler in the second game.

LOCAL SOCCER FANS WITNESSED BIG GAME

Train and Automobile Carried Them To Toronto.

All local soccer fans made Toronto the mecca of the universal sport on Saturday afternoon when they witnessed the All-Star Toronto eleven defeat the Scots' International Team by 3 goals to 2, in one of the most scientific games ever played in Toronto before well over 12,000 spectators.

Many local citizens left in the early hours of the morning by automobile, while a greater portion travelled by train to view the tussle. They witnessed an old time encounter full of thrills. Renewed acquaintances were made by former residents of this city who had returned from the United States for the day.

YANKS SWAMP RED SOX 15-7

Ruth Knocks 13th Homer During Seven-Run Rally.

TIGERS OUTBATTED

NEW YORK, May 30. —(Canadian Press).— The New York Yankees swamped the Red Sox yesterday under a 15 to 7 count, Babe Ruth propelling his thirteenth home run rally in the eighth inning. None was on base at the time and MacFayden was pitching. Hartley and Haney also hit for the circuit. The Sox got away to a slight lead in the first three innings but in the fourth the Hugmen broke through with a four run spurt and remained in front to the finish.

Airtight pitching by Walberg and three long drives by Al Simmons gave Philadelphia a 6 to 1 victory at Washington yesterday. Simmons pounded out two doubles and a triple, driving in three runs and scoring one himself. Washington got only four hits off Walberg, two of which were bunched.

Chicago out batted the Tigers and took the closing game of the series at Detroit, 8 to 6. Ted Lyons, who pitched for the White Sox, gained credit for his eighth victory of the season. He had been beaten only twice, Lyons was hit hard in the last two innings after pitching brilliantly for the first seven.

The Browns garnered four runs in the sixth inning at St. Louis and won the first game of a double-header from the Cleveland Indians 7 to 4. Hodapp hit a home run.

The Indians came back in the second game and reversed the score, 10 to 2. In the seventh Levsen, of Cleveland, hit into a triple play. O. Miller took his grounder and threw to Dixon, forcing Myatt at the plate. Dixon relayed tio Sisler, doubling Leveen, and Sisler's return throw to Dixon nailed Neis, who was trying to score from second.

TRACK FAST AT HORSE MEET

Large Crowd From District Attend Opening Race of Season.

UNDER NEW SYSTEM

The first meet of the season of the Peterborough Turf Club, which was held at the Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon, proved to be a huge success. The day was fine and warm and the Exhibition Park looked its best to the large crowd of spectators which attended the races.

The track was fast and the horses made wonderful time considering the earliness of the season. People were present from Picton, Trenton, Belleville, Cobourg, Brighton, Port Hope and Lindsay.

James Akey, with his fine string of racers, carried off first money in the 2.14 class with "Jack Abbey", and third money with "Alfred Elk"; first money in the 2.20 class with "Belle Mahone" and fourth money in the 2.30 class with "Grenville Lady." "Lu Grattan" owned by Charles Schooley won first money in the 2.30 class.

The first man to buy a ticket for the races came from Picton and when he looked over the track, he said: "Why Peterborough has the best half mile track in Ontario."

All the races were very closely contested. There were five entries in the 2.14 class in which Jack Abbey won first money. Armandale, who is owned by Art Johnston, came second. These two horses stood first and second in each heat. Alfred El, owned by James Akey, got third money, and The Limit, owned by Dr. Johnston of Port Hope, took fourth money. Major Hal, who was in fifth place in the first and second heat, was withdrawn in the third.

Five in 2.20 Class.

There were five entries in the 2.20 class and the second heat of this was the best race of the day. Belle Mahone carried off the three heats, with Just Jack coming second in the first two and winning second money. Mr. Haley in getting second in the third heat qualified for third money, although Polly Stout held third place for the three heats.

The 2.30 class gave the spectators an exhibition of real racing in which Valley Todd, who won second money, was forced a long mile in each heat.

The races were run under the new rules of the Dominion Harness Horse Association, in which horses are no longer classed by the mark they make but when they have won a certain amount of money they are put into a faster class. This new system gives the public much better races as the driver is out to win the money for he is not afraid of being marked. It is known as the money win system and this is the first year it is being tried out in Canada. It proved a great success in United States last year.

Coulter Brothers of Toronto donated a fine large cooler for the horse which won the 2.14 race.

The officials of the race were:
Starter—Art Blade.
Timers—Gus White and A. Juby.
Judges—A. W. Clysdale, C. Stapleton, and C. Graham.
Clerk—J. Cairns.

Champ Has Narrow Escape From Defeat

ST. CLOUD, France, May 30. —Canadian Press. — Henri Cochet, the French tennis champion, narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of M. Timmer, of Holland, in the International hard court tennis championship yesterday. It took five thrilling sets to dispose of the Dutchman and the Frenchman was within two points of elimination when Timmer led, 5-4, in the fifth set.

Timmer, who was recently beaten in Holland by the American players, Tilden and Hunter, took the first two sets and Cochet the next three. The scores were 6-8, 9-11, 6-3, 7-5.

Tilden and Hunter, in a doubles match, defeated Kleinadel and Czetwertinaski, of Poland, easily, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

Cricketer Brings Total Up to 1,000

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 30.—(Canadian Press Cable).— The sensation of the early days of English cricket this year have been the performances of one of the professionals on the Gloucestershire team, Hammond. Saturday in a match between his county and Hampshire he scored 192 and brought his total for the season up to 1,000. He thus equals the records of W. G. Grace and Tom Hayward, great figures last century, in reaching four figures before the end of May. Hammond's best work this year was produced in a match between Gloucestershire and Surrey when he scored a century in each innings, one of the London papers referring to him said: "Once more Hammond showed the real England player in everything he did."

The return of Hammond to form has been a welcome to his county, on the M.C.C. tour of the West Indies in 1925 Hammond strained himself and an abscess came on his left leg which kept him out of first class cricket last year.

MILLIONAIRES LOSE GAME TO OUTLAWS

Tie Broken By First Batter Up in Last Inning— Score 14-13.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 28 — The Millionaires went down to defeat yesterday evening when they met the Outlaws on the local diamond. The game was spirited throughout and the fair attendance was about equally divided in "sympathy." The Millionaires next face Hydro and Hydro promises to change the name of their team from Millionaires to 30 cents.

The outstanding play in yesterday's game was made by Sargison, second baseman of the Outlaws when he went to centre field and pulled in a fly. At the end of the first half of the ninth innings the score was 13-13. The first man up in the second half broke the tie. Score 14-13 in favor of Outlaws.

The line-up—

Millionaires		Outlaws

ROBINS WIN FROM GIANTS

Pittsburgh Runs Winning Streak to Eleven Games at Chicago.

REDS DEFEATED

NEW YORK, May 30. — (Canadian Press. — Pittsburg at Chicago ran its winning streak to eleven games yesterday by hammering Chicago's pitching all over the lot to win, 8 to 5. Carman Hill went the route for the Pirates and had only three bad innings. Hack Wilson smashed a home run with one man on in the third inning while Harris made a four base hit in the ninth with none on in the third inning while Harris made a four base hit in the ninth with none on. Approximately 30,000 saw the game.

Jim Elliott held the New York Giants to four hits at Brooklyn and the Robins won by 5 to 2, taking three games out of four in the series Elliott fanned nine batters. Lindstrom's home run on top of a scratch single by Grimes gave New York its only runs in the third inning.

St. Louis hit Carl Mays at will and won by Cincinnati by an overwhelming score of 11 to 3. Cincinnati got nine hits oft Grover Alexander, four of which were doubles, but they were able to bunch them only in one inning. St. Louis scored successively in the first three innings, once more in the fifth and three times in both the eighth and ninth innings. Frank Frisch took a prominent part in the victory, making three hits out of five times at bat and cutting off at least two blows that would have been hits ordinarily.

DELORO CHAMPS SECURED FOR SATURDAY TILT

Intermediate Title-Holders to Clash With Petes Here.

HAVE FINE TEAM

Petes Billed to Play Return Game at Jubilee Celebration.

The Peterborough Ball Club have succeeded in arranging a visit from Bob Elliott's Ontario champions, the Deloro team, who will be here on Saturday to test out Max Swanston's squad for the first time this season. The Deloro team, one of the smartest teams to win the intermediate honors, play real ball. In Hughes at first, Art Quinn at second, Jack at shortstop, and Regan at third base, they have a snappy infield. Jimmy Quinn is a peppery catcher and the champs are well supplied with pitchers including two former Peterborough boys, Frank Leal and Carl Wood.

The Petes will play a return game on Saturday, July 2, at Deloro, the fixture being billed as one of the features of Deloro's Diamond Jubilee celebration.

MENIE GAINS FIRST VICTORY

Defeats Hoard's in Exciting Softball Game, Tying League Race.

SCORE 13 TO 12.

BURNBRAE, May 30.—Menie softball team chalked up their first win of the season on Friday evening at home when they won a hard-fought encounter from Hoard's by a score of 13 to 12. For the first three and one-half innings there was no scoring, with sparkling fielding plays on both sides. Errors let Menie away to a lead in the fifth and again in the seventh. The Hoard's boys stuck to their guns, however, and amid great excitement, pulled up within one run, Heagle being out at the plate with the tying tally.

Shillinglaw's homer was the batting feature, while many sensational fielding plays were pulled off. O. Rannie and M. Rannie at short and second for Board's, combined well on force plays and pulled off sparkling catches. Gunning was the pick of the outfield with two splendid stabs on consecutive hits late in the game. Jones and Thompson played below form, and several Menie scores resulted from hits in that field. The whole Menie infield worked well, with Linn and Shillinglaw especially good. F. Little was a sure catch in the outer garden.

Glen Ross and Mount Pleasant having split their two-game series and Hoard's and Menie having won a game each, the first lap of the race leaves all teams on an equal footing. Some surprises are noted, especially in the strength of the Hoard's team, which was thought to be badly broken up. A number of youngsters are playing splendid ball, and will be heard from in the future.

The line-up:

Hoard's—Hoard, p; Heagle c; Hume 1b; M. Rannie, 2b; Jones, 3b; O. Rannie, ss; Whelan, rf; Thompson, lf; Gunning, cf.

Menie—Eagleson, p; S. Little, c; Shillinglaw, 1b; L. Little, 2b; J. Rannie, 3b; Linn, ss; Little, rf; Petherick, lf; Whitton, cf; Hobbs, sub.

PETERBORO WOMEN'S MUSIC CLUB OFFERS PRIZES FOR POEM ON "CANADA."

The Music Club, wishing to commemorate our local celebration of "Confederation" in poetry and song, offers two prizes of five and three dollars to any pupil, over twelve years of age, attending either the Collegiate or Public Schools of Peterborough, for an original poem on "Canada." The poem must consist of six stanzas of four lines each. The Rev. Mr. Wren of Trinity Church and Rev. Mr. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church have kindly consented to act as adjudicators in selecting the two best poems. The poem winning the first prize, if suitable, will be set to music by our talented musician, Miss Agnes Logan, and sung on some public occasion by a well-known vocalist. By kind permission of The Examiner, the two prize-winning poems will also be published in its pages. We are sure there is as much budding or latent poetic talent among the young people of Peterborough as in any other city, and we hope that the subject of "Canada" will lend inspiration to the efforts of our young poets and poetesses. All poems must be sent to Mrs. Porter, 321 Gilmour Street, the Secretary of the Club, on or before Saturday, June 18th, and there must be enclosed a note from either parent or guardian certifying the poem to be the pupil's own unaided composition.

A COLONIAL HOME OF REFINEMENT

By F. H. Portnall, Architect.

With persons of conservative temperament the Colonial style is forever popular. Notice the quaint charm, dignity, and restraint, as exemplified by the home shown above, which is a particularly fine rendition of the style.

The entrance, always the focal point of a Colonial exterior, is here well worthy of the study which its importance claims.

The plans are commendably simple and direct, and provide seven ample sized rooms, which, if furnished with the same restraint and good taste which characterize the exterior, would create a distinctive atmosphere of great appeal. Imagine, for instance, the furnishing opportunities which the living room affords, with its centre fireplace, beautifully proportional windows, and pastel tinted walls.

An inconsistentency of plan may often be observed, in that while the front vestibule has been considered a necessity and therefore provided, no protection at all is supplied at the side or rear door, where, in reality, it is usually just as desirable. Here, however, a rear entry is provided which gives access to the basement stairs, and to the hall at a spot conveniently near the kitchen door.

As does the ground floor, so the upper floor follows in general the typical Colonial plan. It provides for four bedrooms having large deep clothes closets, a hall linen closet, and a bathroom.

In accordance with the Colonial characteristic of restraint the stucco walls are finished a quiet little grey, which combines very well with the red shingle roof, and cream woodwork.

This home could easily be built facing the street on a 50 foot lot, while if turned sideways a 35 foot lot would suffice.

Birch floors, and hot water heating, are included for an approximate cost of $7,500.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address Mr. F. H. Portnall, Regina, Sask.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

DUST THAT SHALL NOT DIVIDE

Time's finger nears to seventy years,
Since first the drums began to play
Their maddening din, and men fell in,
And kissed wet eyes, and marched away,
Some wore the blue and some the gray,
For gray and blue were different then:
But God has made them dust today,
Dust that shall not divide again.

Some gray, some blue, for some were true
To southern cross or northern star,
But now they lie beneath one sky,
For north and south are not so far.
Aye, gentle time has healed the scar
As God has healed the hearts of men:
Brothers they were, and brothers they are,
Dust that shall not divide again.

AGED MERCHANT CHASES ROBBERS

Thomas Whittan, 70, Badly Beaten By Three Men, Who Steal Nothing.

TORONTO, May 30.—When he refused to surrender his cash on the demand of a trio of thugs who entered his store about 10.45 on Saturday night, Thomas Whitlan, aged 70, grocer, of 148 St. Helen's Avenue, was brutally clubbed on the head by one of the would-be robbers with the butt of a revolver. The desperadoes left the store without rifling the till. Whitlan sustained a bad scalp wound, but recovered after having the wound dressed by a physician.

The assault upon the grocer occupied only a few moments. Whitlan was at the back of the store when the door opened and the thugs entered. While one man advanced to the counter, the other two stood by the door, as if to guard against surprise.

"Hand over your money," ordered the man at the counter, levelling a revolver at the grocer's head. Whitlan refused to relinquish his cash. The thug made as if to vault the counter and help himself to the money.

The plucky storekeeper pushed him back. This angered the robber and he lifted the gun and brought the butt down on Whitlan's head, cutting the scalp and partially stunning the grocer. The cowardly band then made a hurried exit.

Mrs. Whitlan was upstairs in the living apartments at the time of the attack. She did not know it until Whitlan, bleeding profusely from his wound, staggered upstairs and informed her of it. A doctor was called, and he stitched the wound up.

Police from Ossington Avenue Station were soon on the scene and a hunt for the thugs began, but it was without avail. Whitlan was not able to give a very good description of the three men.

Whitlan's store is situated in a rather lonely spot, among factories and near the railroad.

THIRD "VIMY" PETERBOROUGH TROOP

The Third met outdoor again last Friday night and spent the evening playing games and doing a little work at the same time.

A half hour was given over to playing "Flag Raiding." The Hounds proved the winners in this due to superior weight. Flag Raiding is intended to be a stalking game, but played under the condition of Friday night, it developed into a fine rough and tumble, in which the Hounds overwhelmed the lighter Hawks.

The Hawks reversed the result when the next game was played. Speed and not weight counted then. In "Skin the Snake" the Hounds won the first race but the Hawks came right back and won the next two.

A horseback relay race was run. The Hounds got off to a bad start when their horse broke under the strain and fell, but he made a quick recovery and lost only about five yards. The horse became the rider for the return journey, and the new horse showed great speed and gained all that had been lost by his rider. The next pair very nearly came to grief when they failed to go around the rock, and had to race back and go right around. This gave the Hawks a great chance to win out, but by a burst of speed on the home stretch, the Hounds won by a few feet.

A little work was thrown in here, just for a change. Everyone gathered around while A.S.M. Taylor tried out the only fire drill set which had been brought. No one was very hopeful of getting a fire and they were not fooled. Three attempt were made. On the first try, after about fifteen seconds of drilling, a spark was obtained, but no amount of blowing and swinging around the head could make it break into flame. The tinder was just the least bit damp and would not burn readily. The next two attempts proved failures in that not even a spark was made after a lot of hard work with the drill. It was found that the hole in the fire board had been drilled practically through and so no amount of drilling could make a fire. Percy Ellison of the Hounds was so taken up with the idea of making a fire without matches that he was going to go right home and make a set and give it a trial. There are ten points to be earned in the competition for the first Scout who makes a fire without matches, and several others have said that they were going to earn those points for their patrol. Who will be the first? We wonder if Percy has got a fire yet? Personally we made an outfit over the week-end and drilled and drilled, but couldn't get even the semblance of a spark. Well, if at first you don't succeed, try, try again. We will, and some day, we will light a fire without a match.

The patrols are still tied, with 155—points each. It is a prety close race and the patrol that wins will have earned the win. The meeting next week will be at the "Three Sisters" again, weather permitting. The Hounds will have the Union Jack run up ready for breaking, and the Hawkr will see that the Scout Flag is on the pole.

AT THE REGENT.

CANTOR'S ANTICS CONVULSE CROWDS.

Screen Debut of Ziegfeld Comedian Takes Place in "Kid Boots."

From "Come-on" to caddy is the range covered by Eddie Cantor, ace of Broadway comedians, in "Kid Boots," Paramount's comedy, which opens at the Regent Theatre tonight.

The Florens Ziegfeld success, "Kid Boots," with Cantor as its star, ran for three years in New York, setting a high attendance mark by playing to more than a million people. It is safe to predict that Cantor's first film will also roll up new records for productions of this kind, and that it will also definitely establish Eddie as one of filmdom's best bets.

"Kid Boots" convulsed last night's audience with one laugh after another. It starts in an east side clothing store. Cantor is the "come-on" who forcibly lures customers in from the street.

Eddie finds himself enmeshed in a maze of difficulties when he "fits" Malcolm Waite, a husky swimming instructor, with a coat. Therefore, when Watie returns to get his money back—the fun begins. Then—the plot thickens as do the laughter and the action. With the aid of Lawrence Gray, a rich young man endeavoring to escape a marriage into which he has been tricked, Cantor temporarily escapes from one predicament only to land in another.

Gray takes Cantor under his wing, and to hide from his unwanted wife, Natalie Kingston, they go to an exclusive golf club. Eddie, never having seen a golf ball in his life, furnishes some "top-hole" entertainment. Clara Bow and Billie Dove being at the same club, the former promptly captures Eddie's heart, while Gray capitulates to Billie. Waite objects to Eddie's attentions and——

The story concludes in rapid fashion with some of the funniest scenes ever filmed. Directed by Frank Tuttle "Kid Boots" is one of the best comedies seen this season.

CITY LEAGUE OPENER.

Kiwanis and Canuck Juveniles Play To-morrow Night.

Everything is all set for the opening of the City League, when the Kiwanis Juveniles will meet the Canucks in a twilight fixture at Exhibition Grounds on Tuesday night at 6 o'clock sharp. On Wednesday night Kiwanis and Rotary Juniors will stage their opener at the same diamond, at 6 o'clock.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

GUARDING AGAINST COLDS.

There is some truth in the common statement that you "catch a cold."

The immediate irritating cause which often stars a cold is the breathing in of dust containing irritating bacilli which are never present in the air above us. If we breathe this air into our noses and mouths, these bacteria catch on the mucous membranes and begin to propagate if there is sufficient soil in which to grow.

If the mucous membrane on the side of the nose is discharging an over-acid secretion, these micro-organisms will develop very rapidly. This secretion can only come from a blood stream loaded with the by-products of imperfect metabolism, excess food of all kinds which is digested and assimilated, adding an extra amount of morbid material which the blood plasma must carry around the body until it is eliminated. This heavily laden blood passes through all parts of the body from the feet to the head, and, when passing through the mucous membranes, if there is too much irritation there, the tendency is for these waste products to eliminate in the form of excessive mucus.

There is a normal fluid secreted by the mucous membranes and the body uses this medium through which to throw bodily impurities when a cold is present. Through this discharge of mucus the irritating bacteria are thrown away from the membrane and cleaned out by noseblowing, coughing, etc. If the blood stream is in perfect condition, no invasion of bacteria can take place and a cold can not develop.

Enervation must be also cited as a principal cause of colds. If those whose blood is filled with extra food material come in contact with irritating bacteria when they are sick or tired, a serious cold can start within a few hours. Working too many hours at mental work, wearisome shopping, worry, and other mental troubles will cut down the body's vitality and lower the resistance of the body to such an extent that you invite the onset of a cold.

Those who are subject to chronic or acute cold must remember to avoid too large an amount of the "heavy" foods, such as the starches and proteins. Special care must be exercised towards the end of the winter to cut down on these kinds of foods so that when the warmer weather of spring comes the blood will not be overloaded with unnecessary food material.

The first few warm days of spring bring on over one hundred million colds on the North American continent alone. There is probably, at the present time, over one hundred and twenty-five million people in North America and at least one hundred million of them will have a cold in the next month or two unless they learn to cut down on their food supply and avoid becoming over-tired.

How Many Can You Answer To-Day?

Each question counts 10. If you answer 8 correctly, your intelligence rating is 80%. Actual tests reveal that 8 out of 10 correct College Standard; 6 out of 10 correct is High School Standard; 4 out of 10 correct is Grammar School Standard; less than 4 correct is Uneducated Standard.

TELEVISION —how to "see" your Customer

AS they listened to Herbert Hoover's voice, speaking from Washington by Long Distance a few days ago, his New York audience watched a picture of him in action while he talked. The voice and picture were sent over electric waves at the same time. Television was thus given to the world.

But telephoning a distant customer is still the one best way to "see" him—in any business sense.

More important to you than the expression on your customer's face when you sell him a good-sized order by Long Distance, is the necessity of "seeing" him frequently—by Long Distance.

For him, in this sense, "seeing is believing."

WARSAW FARMERS HELD UP BY RAIN

Many Fields Not Yet Sown—Some May Be Idle This Year.

WARSAW, May 30.—There are still some fields not sown to grain and no scarer being sown than they were three weeks ago. Much more delay and spring grain cannot go in.

A good many farmers had planned not to grow corn for ensilage this year. Not over half the seed corn was ordered for sale, and that, some of the dealers report, is not being sold. The continued rain is making it so that some, who had planned to plant corn, cannot get the corn ground ready. A few, who managed to get their gardens in early, and on slopes, have a good deal of their garden stuff up, and in good condition. Others have their crops being drowned out or seed rotted, necessitating replanting. A good many have nothing in the ground at all. They have had their land ready, but by the time it is dry enough to get on, they are sent off by rain.

Rains are delaying the sheep shearing. Clipping wet fleeces is next to impossible, and if they flock is shut in for even two days they do not dry.

Lambs do not seem so very plentiful, though one farmer, with sixteen ewes, has twenty-one good lambs. He lost one.

Robert Moore, who had over eighty sheep last year, has stopped raising them altogether.

There is abundance of good grass, and promise of large quantities of hay of all kinds.

The fruit trees are generally covered with blossom, or the promise in buds.

Blackbirds Pull Up Onions At Warsaw

WARSAW, May 30.—Blackbirds are making themselves nuisances by pulling up onions. People found their onions uprooted on the ground. It was some time before the culprit found was at work. He rises early and has the job done before the owners are up.

DOWNEYVILLE PERSONALS

DOWNEYVILLE, May 30.—Miss Mary Cavanagh, High School teacher here, has returned home after spending the holiday at her home in Orillia.

Miss Rita Harrington, of Toronto, spent the holiday at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Perdue and family, also Mrs. Simon Perdue, of Peterborough, spent Sunday the guests of their sister and daughter, Mrs. Lillie Lucas.

Miss Marguerite Hoolihan, of Toronto, spent the holiday the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoolihan.

Mrs. Thomas Perdue and son, Patrick, of Ennismore, spent the holiday the guest of friends here.

Mrs. Doris, of Niagara Falls, is at present the guest of her sister, Mrs. Patrick Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mortimore and family, of Muskoka, motored down and spent a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dewan.

Confederation and After—Sixty Year Of Progress

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE

On the 10th of October, 1864, Quebec was the scene of the Conference from which evolved a new Constitution and during which was laid the basis of a Confederation which would spread later on from the Atlantic to the Pacific and cover more than half a Continent. The Canadian Cabinet was represented by all its members and the other Provinces had sent the following delegates: Nova Scotia, Messrs. Tupper, Henry, McCully, Archibald and Dickie; New Brunswick, Messrs. Tilley, Nuchell, Fisher, Steve, Gray, Chandler and Johnston; Prince Edward Island, Messrs. Coles, Haviland, Palmer, Gray, McDonald, Whelen and Hope; Newfoundland, Messrs. Shea and Carter.

This Conference was presided over by Sir Etienne-Paschal Cartier. Most of his inspiration came from the remarkable and prophetic essay of his eminent nephew, Dr. J. C. Tache, former Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who, as soon as 1857, published a series of articles in which he precognized a project of Federation which became the fundamental basis of the Federal Act. The merits of this man, whose modesty equalled his knowledge, have not been sufficiently recognized. The deliberations lasted sixteen days; the delegates were in perfect accord as to the details of their project.

At the same time, receptions succeeded one another. On the 11th October, His Excellency the Governor General held a Levee in their honour, in the Chamber of the Legislative Council; on the 14th the Canadian Ministers attended a ball, one of the most brilliant which was ever witnessed at Quebec, and the following day, they were tendered a banquet by the Board of Trade; on the 19th, second ball in honour of the delegates, given by Honourable Mr. Tessier, Speaker of the Legislative Council; on the 20th, official reception at Laval University, congratulatory address by the Rector to the Maritime Provinces Delegates, and reply on their behalf by Honourable Mr. Tupper; on the 21st, third ball at the Legislative Palace, by the "Bachelors of Quebec," and on the 27th, they left for Montreal on a special train placed at their disposal by the Grand Trunk.

The Delegates arrived at Montreal on Friday, October 28th, and after a short session they visited the city. On the same evening, a ball was held in their honour at St. Lawrence Hall, attended by more than a thousand people; next day, they were invited to a splendid banquet in the same hall, under the chairmanship of the Mayor, Mr. Jean-Louis Beaudry. This banquet had an enormous success, and the speakers expressed to their hosts their feelings of sympathy and harmony with eloquence and sentiment. Those who spoke on that occasion were: Fenwick Williams, Colonel Dyde, Sir Richard McDonnell, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, Hon. M. Archibald, Hon. John Hamilton Gray, Hon. John Ambrose Shea, Hon. Mr. Gray from Prince Edward Island, Hon. Edward Whelan, Hon. T. Heath Haviland, The Hon. Messrs. Cartier, McGee and Galt.

When they left Montreal, they visited Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville, Cobourg, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, where they were enthusiastically received.

On the 5th of November, the delegates were back in Montreal, very satisfied with the result of their trip in Upper Canada. A short meeting was held at St. Lawrence Hall in the course of which the Minutes and Resolutions adopted at Quebec were studied carefully, after which a copy on parchment was signed by all the present delegates. On the same evening, the representatives of the Maritime Provinces left for their homes, after having shared in the Great Work which constituted a political revolution, peacefully arrived at a good result.

PRESENT PLAY.

Choir Members of Havelock United Church Go To Fenelon Falls.

HAVELOCK, May 30.—The choir and symphony orchestra of the United church journeyed to Fenelon Falls on Friday to repeat their four-act comedy, "The Colonel's Maid."

This play has already been successfully produced here, under the direction of the Rev. W. R. Archer and Mr. R. Bonny.

Badly digested food, acidity of the stomach, and sluggish liver cause headaches. Seigel's Syrup will remove these causes. Any drug store.

New Colors Presented By King to Guards

LONDON, May 30.—(Canadian Press Cable).—"Fourteen years ago I gave you new colors. You were a young regiment then and the colors bore no honors. Fourteen months later you were earning your first honors in the retreat from Mons. Let it be remembered, a retreat is a supreme trial of discipline and endurance in a soldier, for those who can pass brilliantly through that trial will not be wanting in a day of attack.

With these words and amidst a scene of impressive pageantry, King George Saturday in the grounds of Buckingham Palace presented new colors to the Irish Guards in the presence of Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and many others of the Royal Family.

An interesting incident occurred when the old colors were borne along the front of the line. The military, of course, were at salute and the civilian guests, naturally, uncovered. The Queen rose and stood erect. By her side was her grandson, four-year-old Master Lascelles, son of Princess Mary. Noticing that he retained his hat, the Queen took it off for him, afterwards indicating every appropriate occasion for uncovering. Towards the end of the ceremony the boy needed no prompting and the King evidently observed this, for at the close of the function he patted his grandson approvingly on the head.

Rudyard and Mrs. Kipling were among those who attended.

GROWTH IS GOOD ON CAVAN FARMS

Farmers Busy Trying To Get Their Root Crops Planted.

CAVAN, May 30. — There is a good growth since the recent rains. Farmers are trying to get their root ground in shape. Those who have high land reserved for their roots are fortunate as it can be worked so much sooner after rainy weather. Beef cattle are very scarce. Butchers are finding it hard to keep up their supply of meat.

The grass was so long in commencing growth this spring that there will be the usual number sold off the June grass.

Another factor which has helped to make cattle scarce is that for the last couple of years a great number of calves have been vealed. Farmers considered that they got more money for their time and feed by vealing the calves than by raising them and when older accepting the low prices being offered.

Very few have many potatoes planted yet and only a few have mangels sowed.

U. S. REDUCES SIZE OF BILLS

Dollar Bills To Be First Cut Nearly One-third in Size.

WILL SAVE MONEY.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, has authorized a reduction in the size of paper money by about one-third, beginning with the dollar bill. The present size of the currency is 7 7-10 by 3 1-8 inches. The new bills will be 6 1-8 by 2 5-8 inches and will appear within a year.

Charles S. Dewey, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, prepared the schedule for the changes. The currency has been issued in its present size since 1861. Secretary Mellon's announcement said:

The Treasury's desire to reduce the size of the currency is the result of exhaustive study and investigation covering a period of several years. Currency in the reduced size, as proposed, has been used in the Philippine Islands for a number of years, and money handlers, such as bank tellers, paymasters and others, find that it is more convenient in every respect than the larger size.

"The size will not be reduced to such an extent, however, as to make obsolete either money-counting machinery or cash registers now in use throughout the country. In their smaller size, the notes will generally fit into pocketbooks without being folded, which is not possible with currency in its present size. This frequent folding and creasing eventually breaks the fibre of the paper and hastens its deterioration and retirement from circulation. Furthermore, the protection afforded by the smaller notes against imitation and alteration will, it is believed be greater than in the case of the present larger design of the currency."

Mr. Mellon said he expected a saving of $2,000,000 a year to the Government by the change. This is about a third of the expense of making and circulating the money. Some of the designs will be altered slightly, but in general they will follow the present currency.

As soon as a sufficient stock of the new bills is ready announcement will be made so the larger dollar bills can be redeemed on demand. No requests for specimens of the new currency can be considered until the smaller dollar bills appear.

OLD EGYPTIAN SURGEONS GOOD

Toronto Police Are Investigating Death of Harold Williams.

HAS BEE NHIT HEAVILY.

CHICAGO, May 30.— The surgical and medical knowledge of Egypt, 4,000 years ago, will be made public in a book to be issued at Oxford, England, by Dr. James H. Breasted, of the University of Chicago. The Oxford Press has the only facilities for setting the ancient hieroglyphics.

The ancient surgeon whose instructions for treatment are contained in the book had a quite complete knowledge of human anatomy, —far in advance of later scholars. He knew, or felt, that the heart and brain played leading roles. He knew something of the pulse and the circulatory system. He was the teacher of the great Greek physicians of hundreds of years later.

The book is a translation of the Edwin Smith papyrus now in the archieves of the New York Historical Society. The surgeon, in contrast with the physicians of that age, had a scientific attitude of mind.

Whereas the physician still dealt with human ills as of a demoniac origin and sought treatment in incantations and other magic formulas, the surgeon went about his work scientifically.

He was a cautious man who divided his diagnosis into three groups, according to the seriousness of the ailments or injuries he was asked to treat. He divided them into ailments he could treat and ailments he could not treat.

"In sixteen out of fifty-six examinations listed in the papyrus," Dr. Breasted declared, 'the ancient surgeon omits all suggestion of treatment."

In case No. 45, relating to "bulging tumors on the breast," which may or may not have been cancer, a verdict is given with the appended statement, "There is no treatment."

Mechanical appliances and processes on which the surgeon relied appear for the first time in the literature of medicine.

Among them are lint made from vegetable tissue, and frequently applied, both as a vehicle for the medicaments externally used and as an absorbent of blood secretions. Plugs or swabs of linen, usually in pairs, and bandages made of linen and manufactured for surgical use by embalmers are listed and named as 'coverings for physicians' uses." Medicaments applied externally were almost always bandaged on.

GLARING LIGHTS CAUSE FATALITY

Woman Swerves Car Into the Ditch When Passing Another Automobile.

PASSENGER KILLED.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 30.—James Maus, 119 Napier Street, was almost instantly killed Sunday morning at 2 o'clock in an auto accident on the Toronto-Hamilton highway, a short distance from the city. Harvey Hines, 101 York Street, and his wife, and Hamilton Salisbury, 86 Locke Street North, were shaken up, bruised and cut, but not seriously hurt. A. Pall, another passenger, escaped injury. Police investigated and an inquest will likely be held.

Mrs. Hines was driving the machine, and the party had been for a trip around the bay. On the return trip the glaring headlights of a car which was met at the third highway, caused Mrs. Hines to swerve the auto. The machine went into the ditch, but later the wheels were pulled back on to the cement, only to leave the road a second time, swerve into the ditch and turn turtle. Maus was pinned beneath the car and his head was crushed. Passing motorists assisted him, and no time was lost in rushing the victim to the General Hospital, but he died before the institution was reached.

Detective Duffy and Motorcycle Officer Maxwell investigated and reported that the machine travelled 57 feet off the highway, and after regaining the cement, went another 143 feet, after which it again swerved out and into the ditch. The occupants of the machine estimated the speed at 25 or 30 miles an hour.

Earl Walls, 110 Catharine Street South; William Nevills, 607 John Street North, assisted Maus and took him to the hospital.

Mrs. Fred Slade, 156 Balsam Avenue, Toronto, is a sister of Maus and reached the city yesterday to take charge of the body.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
The question, "Why do some people hate the preacher?" does not seem to be very appropriate. It would seem to be more in line with the facts of the case to ask, "Why do some people hate some of the preaching, that is given forth?" It is possible that some people not only hate sham and error, but allow their feelings of indignation to get the mastery over their good impulses, causing them to even hate the individual who propagates sham and error. No matter how repelling and perverted any individual may be, it is not exhibiting the spirit of Christ, to allow ourselves to have feelings of hatred to go out towards that individual. Be kind and loving to all, be encouraged, sham and error are passing away. Men are waking up to see the falsity of the creeds and systems, that are palmed off as the genuine thing.

AROUND THE CITY

On Saturday afternoon at 5.52 a chimney fire was responded to by the Fire Brigade, and at 9.35 p.m. overheated pipes necessitated a call to 146 Aylmer Street. This morning at 9.37 a small fire broke out in a stable at the rear of 514 Weller Street, caused by overheated smokestack. The damage was small, amounting to about twenty-five dollars.

Records at the Employment Bureau office show 42 new applicants, 35 placements, with 83 still on the list.

The Kiwanis Juveniles will practice tonight at 6.00 at the King Edward School grounds in preparation for tomorrow night's opening league fixture. All boys under 18 years of age are eligible to play.

OBITUARY

MRS. MATILDA BROWNLEE.
The death occurred on Saturday afternoon in Nicholls Hospital of Matilda Ramsey Brownlee, whose husband predeceased her nine years ago. The deceased was born in Scotland 72 years ago.
She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Young of Owen Sound and Mrs. Arthur Bishop and Mrs. Fred Pearson of this city, and four sons, William, Tom, John and James, all of Peterborough. She also leaves two brothers, Joe and Thomas Ramsey, of Owen Sound, and three sisters, Mrs. Forbes Miller of Goderich, Mrs. Alex. Young and Mrs. Fred Williams of Winnipeg.
The funeral will take place from the family residence, 598 Chamberlain Street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at the Little Lake Cemetery, with the Rev. William MacDonald officiating.

MISS E. MONTGOMERY.
The last rites in connection with a life of quiet beauty, but of widespread ministry and helpfulness, were performed Saturday afternoon in connection with the funeral of the late Miss Etta Montgomery from the home on London Street. Miss Montgomery was a registered nurse, and in connection with her duties had become widely known throughout the city and surrounding district, and is mourned by an unusually large circle of friends. A daughter of the late Andrew and Elizabeth Braden Montgomery, who moved to Peterborough some fifty years ago, Miss Montgomery was a member of a large family which lived in Peterborough for many years, but which has been greatly decimated by death during the past few years, during which three sisters and a brother passed away.
The funeral services at the house and cemetery were conducted by Rev. William Allan of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of which Miss Montgomery has been a faithful and devoted member for many years, during a number of which she was a valued member of the choir. The pallbearers were six nephews: Messrs. M. Robers of Toronto, Percy Roberts of Winnipeg, C. Chown and Ray Best of Peterborough, W. J. Dow of Stratford, and Dr. E. A. Totten of Port Hope. Among the relatives present were a brother, Mr. Dee Montgomery of London, and Mrs. T. Roberts of Toronto, Mrs. Chown and Miss Eva Montgomery of Peterboro.

MANY NOTABLES ATTEND FUNERAL

Sir John Willison Borne To Grave By Well Known Men.

TORONTO, May 30 (Canadian Press). — Sir John Willison, author and publicist, who died last week, was buried this afternoon in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, and the funeral was attended by many persons high in administrative and public circles of the province. Visbount Willingdon, the Governor General, was represented by Col. A. E. Kirkpatrick, while His Honor W. D. Ross, the Lt.-Governor, attended in person. The pall bearers were the Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier of Ontario; Sir Edward Kemp, Sir Robert Falconer, Sir William Hearst, Sir Joseph Flavelle, and C. D. Robertson. Representatives of the Ontario Government and Governors of the University of Toronto were present, besides members of the numerous clubs and societies to which Sir John belonged.
A private service in Sir John's home was conducted by the Rev. Canon Cody of St. Paul's Anglican Church. A public service was held afterwards in the church.
Noteworthy among the numerous floral tributes received at Sir John's home today was an offering from The London Times, of which Sir John was for many years Canadian correspondent.

TWO FOXES FOUND; ONE STILL AT LARGE

Hounds Used To Catch Animals Which Escaped From Farm.

Two of the three foxes which escaped from the ranch of the Patte and Wolff Fox Farms, on Chemong Road, have been recovered. One was found in North Monaghan, and the other in Smith, nor far from the ranch. In both cases the animals were seen by individuals who were not making a special search for them, and the information was sent by telephone to the farm. The animals were run down by hounds.
So far no trace has been found of the third fox, which is still at large.

NO RESPONSE TO AGENT OF SOVIET

Request For Conference On Status in Canada Not Yet Announced.

MONTREAL, May 30 (Canadian Press).—L. F. Gerus, official agent of the Soviet in Canada, has so far received no response to his appeal to Premier King for a re-opening of pourparlers in connection with Russia's diplomatic status in Canada. Relations between Canada and Russia were severed following the break between the latter country and Great Britain last week. It has not been announced whether or not the trade offices of the Soviet in Montreal will remain open.

TWENTY KILLED BY CLOUDBURST

Five Others Drowned During Rain Storm in Southern States.

PROPERTY DAMAGED.

ASHLAND, KY., May 30.—(Canadian Press). — Twenty persons were killed last night by a cloudburst which struck Prestonburg and the surrounding towns, according to reports reaching here to-day.
In addition, five persons are known to have lost their lives in a wind and rain storm in south-western Virginia and Eastern Tennessee, last night. Three were drowned at Gate City, Va., and two at Elizabethtown, Tenn.
Information regarding the storms was meagre. Several people were reported killed at Garrett, Ky., and one family wiped out at Pine Creek. The damage to property, it was reported, would run into thousands of dollars. Buildings were blown down and several houses were washed away by the flood waters, which had swollen the small mountain streams to raging torrents.

Letter Delivered In Spite of Error

There is at least one man in this city who is convinced that the post office as an institution fully justifies its existence. On Saturday he received a letter from a friend in New Brunswick.
It bore his street address—on King street—all right, but the name of the city was given as Frederickton, N. B.
Despite this obvious lapse on the part of the writer, the letter was delivered all right to the Peterborough man.

GOOD PROMISES IN U. S. MESSAGE

Conciliatory Tone in Note Contrast to Former Attitude.

ON IMMIGRATION.

WASHINGTON, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Two things stand out in the Secretary of State's message to the Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister, regarding the recent border immigration ruling. The first is that Regulation 86 of the Department of Labor, which caused a protest by Canada, is by no means the last word on the border-crossing question. The second is that the State Department has secured the promise of the Labor Department that Canadian citizens, irrespective of birth, are not to be deprived of the employment they already have on the United States side of the border until every concession possible under the immigration law has been invoked to ease their position.
The conciliatory tone of the note is in marked contrast to the unyielding attitude of the immigration department at the outset of the negotiations. The note avows Hon. Frank B. Kellogg's desire to continue the free and friendly border crossing privileges enjoyed hitherto by citizens of both countries. It invites Mr. Massey and his staff to make free use of the State Department and to continue studies of the whole immigration question with the view of clearing up any difficulties which have arisen out of the more stringent provisions of the United States immigration law of 1924. It promises also a recommendation to Congress next session, not only from Mr. Kellogg but also from the Secretary of Labor, James D. Davis, if such is necessary, for the removal of any clauses tending to disturb friendly relations between Canada and the United States.

CHANGE ASKED IN LIQUOR LAW

Hamilton Conference of United Church Told Dominion Protects Traffic.

BY CLEARANCE PAPERS.

HAMILTON, May 30 (Canadian Press).—Rev. I. W. Moyer told the Hamilton Conference of the United Church this morning that rum-running could not be carried on were it not for the protection furnished by the Dominion Government regarding clearance papers. A resolution was passed asking the Dominion Government to amend the laws so as to deal with such illicit liquor trafficking. A resolution opposing war and militarism was also carried.

FLOOD SPREADS FROM CREVASSE

Three Towns Threatened as Waters of Bayou Rise Rapidly.

FALLS IN OTHER PLACES.

NEW ORLEANS, Va., May 30.—(Canadian Press). — Slowly spreading the area of inundation on the eastern side of the Atchafalaya river, water from the McCrea crevasse on that stream threatened three towns to-day as it rolled toward the Gulf of Mexico.
Grosse Tet, Rosedale, and Mapingouin may be submerged by the swelling Bayou Grosse Tet, which rapidly filling with crevasse water, promised to overflow a wide territory.
Meanwhile the flood on the western side of the Atchafalaya was reported falling at all points down to New Iberia, where the stage was stationary. The Red Cross reported complete evacuation of New Iberia whose inhabitants were thrown into a fright when waters from Bayou Teche joined those from Spanish Lake to inundate the town.

FEW REPORTS OF HONAN FIGHT

Taken To Indicate That Battle Is Not Progressing Well For Northerners.

TROOPS TRANSFERRED.

SHANGHAI, May 30. Canadian Press. — Lack of news from northern headquarters at Peking regarding the offensive in Honan, is taken here as indicating that the battle is not progressing too favorably.
Previous reports from Northern sources, stated that the Southerns or Nationalists, were being driven back.
Meanwhile, the advance of the Moderate Nationalists under General Chiang Kai-shek, through Anhwei province, in the direction of Tientsin, is continuing, according to a foreign wireless message from Nanking, Chiang's headquarters.

BRITISH TROOPS MOVE.
SHANGHAI, May 30. Canadian Press. — In view of the reported successful northward drive of the Chinese Nationalists in Honan Province, the British military authorities have decided to send a battalion of British troops to Northern China. They will probably be stationed at Tientsin.

NATIONALISTS PROTEST.
SHANGHAI, May 30. — Canadian Press. — Quo Tai Shi, Nationalist Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, protested to-day to the Japanese consul, against Japanese troops entering Shantung province. He declared that there was no justification for such a move, either from the view-point of expediency or legality.

Daughter Unable To Say When British Premier Will Visit Canada.

TORONTO, May 30. — (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Maurice Huntingdon Whitely, daughter of the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, who with her husband is returning from a trip across Canada, intimated to-day that her father would find it impossible to visit this country for the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and she could not say when he was coming.

ROOMS WANTED FOR DELEGATES

Legion Asks Those Having Rooms Available To Advise J. D. Fletcher.

TO-DAY OR TO-MORROW.

Any person with rooms to rent is asked to telephone Comrade D. Fletcher at the Capitol Theatre either to-night or tomorrow morning. Owing to the large number of delegates who will be in the city for the Canadian Legion convention to be held here on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, there is likely to be a shortage of hotel accomodation and the committee in charge would like to make sure that sufficient accomodation is found.

COOK ESCAPES.

Notorious Man Breaks Out of Jail at Orangeville While Waiting Sentence.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., May 30. — (Canadian Press).—Robert Cook, who once fought half a dozen Toronto detectives in a house battle, has once again escaped from jail. Early today he was in the local jail yard for exercise, and in some way scaled the thirty-foot stone wall and disappeared. He was to have been sentenced this week by Justice Logie on charges of abduction and seduction. Police at once set out in cars armed with shot guns, rifles and revolvers to scour the country.

GUEST AT LUNCHEON.

Lindbergh Also Attends Memorial Service of London Americans.

LONDON, May 30. — Capt. Lindbergh was to-day entertained to luncheon by United States Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton at the Embassy. Among those invited was the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Sir Austen Chamberlain; Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air; the Duke of Atholl, Lord Astor, Lord Reading, Lord Desborough, Sir Alan Cobham, famous British aviator; Sir Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation; Sir Roderick Jones, chairman of Reuters' News Agency; Sir Philip Sasson, Under Secretary of Air; Colonel Francis E. Powell, President of the American Chamber of Commerce in London; Vice-Admiral Aubrey Smith, R.N.; the Hon. Esmond Harmsworth, Sir Hugh Trenchard, Air Chief Marshal, and several prominent Americans.
After the luncheon, Captain Lindbergh, accompanied by Mr. Houghton, was to attend memorial services under the auspices of the London branch of the American Overseas Memorial Day Association, at St. Margaret's, Westminster, Canon Carnegie presiding. The services were to be private.
After, he planned to lay a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey. Tonight he will be the dinner guest of the American Press Association.

EXPERTS PLAN AIR SERVICE ACROSS OCEAN

Huge Multi-Motored Planes To Carry 100 Passengers Talked Of.

HEAVIER PLANES.

Said To Be Financed By Powerful Group of Engineers and Financiers.

BOSTON, May 31. — Plans for a regular transatlantic airplane service, operating gigantic multi-motored planes to carry 100 passengers,are nearing completion, according to a copyrighted story published by The Boston Traveller.'

Revelation of the scheme is made in considerable detail and statements concerning the preparations are offered without qualification. The names of the sponsors of the enterprise are withheld, however, not because they are not known to the newspaper, it is affirmed, but because the paper is pledged for a short time more to preserve the secrecy which has shrouded the progress of the project since its inception 16 years ago.

The air liners will be heavier-than-air planes, according to the Traveler, which says that the backers of the enterprise first tested and then abandoned the idea of using dirigibles. The scheme is financed, it is said, by a powerful group of engineers, financiers and sportsmen, who do not propose to offer any stock in the organization to the public.

The project centres in a man of wide promience a number of years ago, who was generally thought to have died, when he dropped out of sight completely about the time work on the venture was begun. He has been isolated on a mountain in Massachusetts experimenting and directing the activities of preparation, which extend both to New York and to Dayton, Ohio.

The formation of a new $1,000,000 corporation to develop air transport routes and service from Boston to Buffalo and New York City to Montreal, was announced this afternoon by Major General John F. O'Ryan, President of Colonial Air Transport, inc.

No date for the expected opening of either of the new routes was given in the announcement, although General O'Ryan said that both routes were susceptible of "prompt initiation." Some Department of Commerce assistance will be required in developing the routes it is unlikely that either can be prepared for regular service before late Summer or Fall.

The new company, Colonial Western Airways, Inc., will be controlled by substantially the same group now controlling the Colonial Air Transport, Inc. General O'Ryan is to be President, Leonard Horner of New Haven Vice-President, Sherman M. Fairchild of New York, Secretaryy, and William A. Rockefeller of New York, Treasurrc. The directors are the officers of the company and Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut; Howard Coonley of Boston; Robt Law, Jr., of New York; Donald S Tuttle of Naugatuck; Harris Whittemore, of Naugatuck; William Hale Harkness of New York, and Benedict M. Holden of Hartford.

Capital of $1,000,000 in preferred stock, 20,00 shares of no par value common stock, and 1000 shares of management stock to be held by Colonial Air Transport, Inc., has been provided for.

The new company will join in transportation schedules with the Ford Company, whose planes will link up with the Eastern planes at Buffalo. Colonial will operate trimotored ships similar to those used on the Boston-New York run, and powered with the Wright-Whirlwind engines, used on Byrd's North Pole flight and Lindbergh's non-stop flight to Paris.

Deny Plane Was Seen Off Coast of Ireland

BELFAST, Ireland, May 31. — (Canadian Press).—A report from Tralee, County Kerry, that what might have been Charles Nungesser's plane sank in Castle Shannon Bay off the Kerry Coast on May 10, was denied yesterday by the chief superintendent of the civil guard there.

(The Westminster Gazette on Sunday printed a report from Tralee that a strong smell of gasoline was carried to shore over the surf at 10 o'clock on the morning of May 10, two days after the Nungesser flight had started. This report said that what appeared like two aeroplane propellers became visible, but soon sank).

BRITISH HONOR FOR LINDBERGH

King George Presents Air Force Cross at Interview With Flyer.

DISCUSSES FLIGHT.

LONDON, May 31. — Canadian Press. — A young man with keen eyes and a winning smile called at Buckingham Palace to-day and told His Majesty the King how it feels to fly over the Atlantic, all alone, from New York to Paris.

The King received his visitor cordially and before many minutes had passed, decorated him with the Air Force Cross, to add to the French Legion of Honor and the Belgian Insignia of Knight of the Order of Leopold, which Captain Lindbergh already wears. The cross, instituted in 1918, was designed for bestowal upon officers and warrant officers of the Royal Air Force for acts of courage and devotion to duty when flying.

The honor conferred by His Majesty seemed to stump the hero. He flushed, and for a second hesitated as to what he should say next, but another handshake from the King soon put him at his ease.

Then they sat down, and the aviator told the King how it was done.

The flyer arrived at Buckingham Palace a few minutes ahead of schedule, coming from No. 10 Downing Street, where he was received by Premier Baldwin, to whom also he related some of the most interesting details of his flight and subsequent experiences. He was presented to [illegible] as well as Prince Henry, Several palace officials were assembled in the vestibule to greet the aviator as he entered. At this moment, Captain Lindbergh noticed a baby in the arms of a uniformed nurse. It was Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York.

Lindbergh was with the King just twenty minutes, and it is understood he did his share of the talking, although his royal host showed much curiosity about some of his experiences and asked numerous questions. Soon after Lindbergh's departure the King left by motor for the opening of the racing at Epsom, on the same course where the Derby will be run to-morrow.

Leaving the Palace Lindbergh again met the little princess. He patted her cheek and chucked her under the chin, and upon leaving, took her tiny, chubby fingers in his great hands and shook them tenderly.

As he turned to go he was surrounded by members of the Palace household, all eager for autographs, which he gave until his fountain pen ran dry.

Then he proceeded to York House, St. James' Palace, only a few minutes away. The procedure at York House was similar to that at Buckingham Palace. Lindbergh was escorted to the Prince of Wales' room, where they engaged in conversation for nearly fifteen minutes. The Prince is an aviation enthusiast.

Lindbergh left St. James' Palace as the clock in the tower chimed 11.30 and proceeded to the United States Embassy, where the aviator was given a chance to catch his breath, change his clothes and start for Claridge's, where he had luncheon with Sir Samuel Hoare, the Air Minister.

OLD MASTERS

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may,
Old Time is still a-flying:
And this same flowr that smiles today
Tomorrow will be dying.

The glorious land of heaven, the sun,
The higher he's a-getting,
The sooner will his race be run,
And nearer he's to setting.

That age is best which is the first,
When youth and blood are warmer:
But being spent, the worse, and worst
Times still succeed the former.

Then be not coy, but use your time,
And while ye may, go marry:
For having lost but once your prime,
You may forever tarry.

NO NONSENSE FROM EGYPT BRITAIN SAYS

Stern Measures To Be Used in Dealing With Those Attacking Authority.

BLUFF SUSPECTED.

Cabinet Believes Firm Stand Will Expose Crisis as Artificial.

LONDON, May 31 (United Press). —The British Government does not intend to stand for any nonsense from the Cairo administration over the question of Great Britain's rights in Egypt and will deal sternly with those Egyptians seeking to undermine British authority.

This is the meaning of the sudden despatch of three British warships to the Egyptian ports of Alexandria and Port Said and explains the note to the Egyptian Prime Minister, Sarwat Pasha, regarding British influence in Egypt's army.

It is emphasized in London, however, that despite reports to the contrary the note was not an ultimatum, there being no time limit mentioned. Moreover the Cabinet is inclined to think that the situation is not so serious as it appears, that the apparent crisis has been artificially created, and that firm action will reveal an attempt to bluff the British rather than any significant political disturbance.

The disposition of the Government to adopt vigorous and prompt measures in all cases of this nature as the best method of settling any crisis is becoming increasingly noticeable, and in political circles the opinion is gaining ground that a policy of "too much conciliation" when there are no real grievances only leads to further trouble. In this way Britain is strengthening her hold on foreign affairs, over which she has more control at present than she has had for many years.

Naturally this is disturbing the Liberals and frightening Labor, but the argument is advanced in government quarters that the British nation is tired of such factors in international policies as Soviet bluff and that it won't be bluffed any more.

WORK BEGUN ON PAVEMENT

Resurfacing Commenced on Water and Aylmer Streets.

OLD TOP PLOUGHED UP.

Work started late yesterday afternoon on the resurfacing of Water street, between Brock and Hunter, by the Warren Bituminous Company. The old asphalt top was ploughed after six o'clock last night and first thing this morning the large slabs of old top were drawn away. A new top is being laid this afternoon and as soon as this block is done resurfacing will immediately start on Aylmer street between Charlotte and Hunter, part of which was ploughed to-day, and then on George street south of Charlotte to the C.P.R. tracks.

Ship Captain Killed By Powder Explosion

ST. PIERRE, Miquelon, May 31. — Canadian Press. — The captain of the French fishing schooner Nerce was killed in an explosion aboard the schooner on Sunday. The Newfoundland fishing schooner Winfred Lee arrived here yesterday with the 30 members of the crew of the Nerce, two of whom were injured in the explosion.

Captain George Folett of the Winfred Lee, said that at noon Sunday he sighted the Nerce on St. Pierre bank flying distress signals. When he approached he found that the seams of the French vessel had opened and there was ten feet of water in the hold. Members of the crew were working frantically at the pumps.

As there was no hope of saving the vessel, the captain and crew set fire to her and went on board the Newfoundland boat. After they had remained in the vicinity for half an hour they observed that the fire did not appear to be making headway.

The captain of the Nerce, whose name was not learned, went back to the abandoned vessel with two members of his crew, intending to start additional fires so as to make sure that the schooner would not become a floating derelict, dangerous to other craft. Just as they were entering the cabin the flames reached a keg of powder which exploded. The captain was killed. One of the seamen received a knee injury, and the other burns about the face.

The Nerce a three master, hailed from St. Servan, France.

Bratiano's Return to Power Expected As Party Holds Conference in Bucharest

BUCHAREST, May 31. — A conference of the Liberal Party, which is controlled by Jonel Bratiano, was called at the house of the former Premier recently, at which it is understood that plans were made for him to take the Government, supplanting General Averescu, probably some time in June.

The best authority states that the break in the friendly relations between M. Bratiano and his Premier, Averescu, is complete, and that the leader of the Liberal Party, which in reality controls the majority of Parliament, will place himself in power again.

M. Bratiano makes no secret of the fact that he considers the political situation in Rumania as anything but satisfactory. He has told friends that he is unable longer to co-operated with General Averescu. The Premier himself, because of strong support in the army, is desirous of acting on his own initiative without reference to M. Bratiano, and has been doing so for the past year or so.

M. Bratiano has warned the Deputies of his party not to leave the country within the next three months and to maintain the closest connection with their constituents, which is probably an indication of a sudden election. In any event, serious political circles are prepared for a change in Government.

19 CARCASES ON LAKESHORE

Some Decaying Bodies and Skeletons Found in Chemong Lake.

FARM ANIMALS.

Nineteen carcases of farm animals were found last night by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker, on or near the shore line of Chemong Lake and all within the radius of a mile.

Lying in the water Constable Maker found the carcases of three sheep and one skeleton, the species of which it was impossible to identify from the land. Further in the wood, about twenty feet from the shore, were discovered a calf, partly decomposed, the skeleton of a horse, and three skulls.

Another heap, also within twenty feet off the lake, was found to consist of five skeletons, apparently of horses and cows. Travelling along the shore line, the constable found a skeleton of another sheep, and lying at the water's edge, lapped by the waves, were two pig carcases, both partly decomposed.

At some places the stench was almost unsupportable, in fact, an ex-soldier declares that never, even in the hottest days of summer during the war in France, did he experience a more offensive effluvium.

Constable Maker called on the farmer on whose property the animals were found, giving him notice to collect and bury the carcases within three days.

People Want Him Rupprect Asserts

MUNICH, Germany, May 31.— Canadian Press. — "The people will not be silenced until their demand for their former king is granted," declared former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, when addressing a peasant's meeting last night.

MASSEY URGES WORLD PEACE

Through Universal Education and Understanding, He Tells Students.

AT COMMENCEMENT.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 31.—(Canadian Press.)—The Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, will address the English speaking Union of Louisville to-day. The Canadian envoy was entertained last night at the Ashland Golf Club at a dinner given by the Pi Sigma Alpha, the political science fraternity of the University of Kentucky. Hon. Mr. Massey received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the sixteenth annual commencement of the University yesterday, when 400 students were graduated. Addressing the students, the Hon. Mr. Massey urged world peace through universal education and understanding. The Canadian minister said that university education is peace itself, because of the unifying forces that would result from complete understanding.

"Universities are united against diseases of the mind, against poverty of the spirit," said the speaker. "Spiritual things come together. There is a common language between universities, a language indigenous, the language of understanding."

HOLD CONVENTION.

Canadian Electric Railway Association Holding Annual Convention at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., May 31. — Canadian Press. — Almost two hundred delegates, including some of the most prominent men in electric transportation circles in Canada, have arrived in Winnipeg to attend the 23rd annual convention of the Canadian Electric Railway Association, which opens this morning.

Quebec Citadel May Come Under Board

QUEBEC, May 31. — The inspection here yesterday by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, of the fortifications of Quebec Citadel has given rise to the belief that a portion of the fortress will be taken over at an early date by the National Battlefields Commission.

At the close of his inspection, which was of a very thorough nature, Col. Ralston conferred with Sir Georges Barneau, President of the Commission, regarding conditions under which the latter body would assume maintenance of at least one section of the historic Citadel. Nothing was divulged from the conference, but an early decision is expected. Some immediate move is urgent if the crumbling-down of some of the old walls is to be prevented.

The Battlefields Commission has jurisdiction over the Plains of Abraham, which are in close proximity to the Citadel walls.

ARMS MAKERS LOSE HEAVILY

Announced Firm of Armstrong, Whitworth and Company Have Bad Year.

UNDERTAKE NEW SCHEME.

LONDON, May 31 (Canadian Press).—There was a net loss of more than £500,000 in the business of the famous engineering and armament firm of Armstrong, Whitworth and Company last year, it is announced. The firm recently arranged a moratorium with its debenture and note holders, the business having suffered from the unfavorable conditions which have prevailed in the past two years among the heavy industries in Great Britain.

Complaint is made that the firm's accounts are not over-informative and show under the heading "assets" that the assets of the Newfoundland Power and Paper Company, one of its subsidiaries, which were entered the previous year as being over £5,000,000, now stand under £3,000,000.

The directors of Armstrong, Whitworth and Company admit that a general scheme of reconstruction and reduction of capital must be undertaken eventually.

The sale of permits will be resumed on Wednesday, when the liquor stores open.

YOUTH DROWNED.

Trips and Falls Off Wharf at Campbellton, New Bunswick.

CAMPBELLTOWN, N.B., May 31.— Canadian Press. — William Usher Stewart, aged 18, one of the crew of the steamer Tynebridge, was drowned here yesterday. He had been sent ashore to handle a line and tripped and fell off the wharf. A life buoy was thrown overboard, but the youth failed to seize it. A fellow seaman, Harry Scurr, leaped into the water, but was unable to reach Stewart before he sank.

BIRTHDAY TO-DAY.

POPE PIUS.

PIUS XI REACHES 79TH MILESTONE.

ROME, May 31.—Many messages of greeting reached the Vatican to-day to remind Pope Pius that this is his 70th birthday anniversary. No special arrangements have been made for the observance of the anniversary, other than for a reception of the Cardinals who will call to present to His Holiness their personal congratulations.

Pius XI. has now occupied the chair of St. Peter for five years and as yet he shows no sign of breaking under the great strain of his high office. At the time of his election to the pontificate it was generally feared that the role of the prisoner of the Vatican" would be an unusually difficult one for him to fill because he had been accustomed to an outdoor life—more so, perhaps, than any of his predecessors on the pontifical throne. Mountain climbing was his favorite recreation and he also had spent much time in travel.

For nearly sixty years, ever since the time when the Papacy lost its temporal power, no Pope has left the Vatican, save as on such rare occasions as when Pope Leo XIII. went in the strictest incognito to visit his dying brother.

In the precincts of the Vatican the Pope must remain, living perhaps as hard a life as any man in the world. The late Benedict XV. entered the Vatican full of vigor; seven years of strenuous labor, averaging nineteen hours a day, wore out even his great energies, and he died, as so many Popes have died, young in heart and in spirit, but physically worn out.

In the Vatican's thousand wonderful rooms the Pope lives the simplest of lives. Glorious gardens, wonderful picture galleries, a library that has no equal, a museum that contains some of the finest relics of antiquity, are there for his delight, but he has little time to enjoy them. He is surrounded at all times by pomp and ceremony, yet he lives the hard life of the man who must work from dawn till dark.

Pius XI. rises early and almost the first rays of dawn see him at Mass. He usually breakfasts about 8 o'clock, takig the simple continental breakfast of coffee, rolls and butter. At 9 he begins the serious business of the day, receiving the Secretary of State and other high officials for conference on matters of business relating to the great church over which he presides.

He may snatch a brief spell for recreation in the afternoon, but audiences, councils and religious services leave him few moments for himself until a late hour. His recreation is confined almost wholly to walks in the Vatican gardens. These walks are taken without regard to weather conditions and on these occasions he is nearly always accompanied by his private secretary of some of the church dignitaries with whom he wishes to talk more at ease than in formal audiences.

The formal audiences in the evening begin at 5 o'clock and usually occupy two or three hours. Nine o'clock is the supper hour. About an hour after his meal the Pope retires to his private apartments. From the light in these apartments it is presumed that he continues to work until midnight and sometimes later.

In the matter of eating the Pope is not so abstemious as were some of his predecessors. He likes hearty food, being partial to the dishes of northern Italy to which he has always been accustomed. He eats two substantial meals a day, in addition to his light breakfast, and takes nothing between meals. After his dinner he takes a glass of wine. He formerly was fond of smoking but gave up the habit some years before his election to the pontificate.

TORONTO CUSTOMS REVENUE IS LARGE

Yesterday Biggest Day in History of Port—$771,497 Taken In.

TORONTO, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Yesterday was the biggest day for revenue in the history of the local Customs House. The sum of $771,497 was taken in, which brings the total revenue for the month of May up $500,000 in excess of the figures for the same month a year ago.

Reds and Royalists To Serve Jail Terms

PARIS, May 31.—About a dozen Frenchmen of very differing political garbs and beliefs will be, within the next few days, it is stated, invited by the police to make arrangements for serving prison sentences to which they have been condemned. Among them are several Communists and about as many Royalists, including Leon Daudet.

All of them have been condemned at various times for political offences, but with remarkable leniency the French Government generally allows political prisoners to choose for themselves the moment when it is convenient for them to serve their sentences.

CHINA UNSAFE SAY JAPANESE

Delegation Says Hankow Regime Cannot Be Depended On For Protection.

LONG CAMPAIGN AHEAD.

SHANGHAI, May 31 (Canadian Press).—A delegation from the Japanese Foreign Office which has been investigating conditions in the Yangtse Valley has found the outlook unsatisfactory and has concluded that if foreign nations desire to protect themselves they cannot rely on the undertakings of the Hankow Nationalist Government.

The delegation made a personal investigation of the whole Hankow area, which is the headquarters of the Radical wing of the Nationalists, and held conferences with Eugene Chen, the Hankow Foreign Minister; Michael Borodin, the Russian who has been acting as adviser to the Hankow Government, and other Nationalist leaders.

The delegation is reported to have been particularly struck by a statement by M. Borodin, in which he said that while it was certain the Nationalist armies would be in Peking by August, it would take two years to complete the revolution.

International Active

MOSCOW, May 31 (Canadian Press).—A decision to make a more intensive campaign in support of the Chinese revolution and to appeal to the workers of the world to assist Soviet Russia to sabotage other nations in the coming "inevitable war" was reached today by the executive committee of the Third International. At a full conference of that body a resolution was adopted declaring the defeat of the Communists in Shanghai, Nanking, and Canton by the so-called Moderate party was a defeat for the Chinese revolution. General Chiang Kai Shek, leader of the Moderates, could be easily overcome, however, if not supported by Imperialists, the resolution said.

The executive committee declared that its sections have shown so far insufficient support of the Chinese revolution and therefore proposes that the latter take resolute measures of increasing propaganda in the press, active work among the trade union organizations, propaganda in colonial countries, and propaganda among soldiery en route to China.

More Forces Needed

SHANGHAI, May 31 (Canadian Press).—In view of a possible Northern collapse, the military experts here, after consulation, have decided that additional forces are necessary to protect foreign lives and property in Tientsin and Peking.

Coolidge Approves Plan

WASHINGTON, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Anticipating a possible increase in disturbances in Northern China, President Coolidge has approved the State Department plan for transferring the Peking Legation of the United States to some point nearer the coast.

MONAGHAN MEN ASK FOR WATER FOR RESIDENTS

Advisability of Extending Mains Into Township Considered By Utilities.

LIGHT FOR OTONABEE.

Water Mains Will Be Laid On Euclid Avenue This Summer.

A deputation from North Monaghan headed by Reeve R. T. Lillico was present at the special meeting of the Peterborough Utilities Commission yesterday, seeking water service for some of the residents on the Procincial Highway and on Chamberlain street.

They asked that the water mains be extended 600 feet on Charlotte street and the same distance on Chamberlain street. W. J. Byers said that he thought it would not be long before part of North Mongahan was taken into the city, for to-day they had to pay extra for their telephone, fire insurance ,light, water and school.

W. H. Bradburn, chairman of the commission ,told the deputation that they would consider the matter.

Those present from North Monaghan were Reeve R. T. Lillico, Deputy Reeve R. Dobbin and Councillors Andrew Kent, Thomas Hunter and W. Waterman, also W. J. Byers, E. Moncrief and Township Clerk Bruce Johnston.

The commission has plenty of water to sell but has to consider whether it is its duty to the ratepayers of this city to supply Monaghan with water, thus giving those citizens who want to live outside the city all the conveniences of the city and yet have a lower tax rate. There are plenty of vacant lots in the city, and supplying these conveniences to North Monaghan might not help to build up the city. Manager Ross Dobbin was instructed to prepare a statement as to the cost of laying these mains, and Mr Bradburn asked the other members to consider the question before the next meeting.

A. Walsh, of Keene, wrote, asking under what conditions the light could be taken to that village. At present the office of the Commission is transacting the business for the rural as well as the city residents and it was noted that there would have to be three subscribers to the mile before the light could be taken to Keene.

The city council will be asked to issue debentures for $15,000 for light improvements in this city.

Mr. Dobbin submitted his estimates on supplying the residents of Euclid avenue with water. The cost was estimated at $1,831.50 and the revenue will be $139.66, leaving a deficit of $43.49, as 10 per cent. of the cost has to be received in revenue before the main can be laid. A communication was received recently from the city council promising to make good any shortage in revenue for this main if it did not exceed $50. The Commission decided to notify the council that it would go ahead with the work unless advised to the contrary.

Manager Ross Dobbin and any members of the Commission who may be able to attend were appointed as delegates to the convention of the American Waterworks Association, to be held in Chicago June 6 to 11.

Accounts to the value of $19,956.22 in the electrical department and $2,357.20 were passed. The principal item in the electrical account was $14,941.86 for power for the month of April.

FLOW DECREASES FROM CREVASSES

More Than 350 Square Miles "Sugar Bowl" Parishes Covered.

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 31 (Associated Press).—With more than 350 square miles of the "sugar bowl" parishes already covered, the flow from the McCrea crevasse in the east bank levees of the Atchafalaya River was diminishing last night as a sand bar settled outside of the opening. The McCrea crevasse is approximately 120 miles north-west of New Orleans, and on the west side of the river.

The New Orleans weather bureau reported that changes in the water level in Pointe Coupee parish indicated that the flow from the breach was insufficient to maintain flood levels set up in the first two or three days following the break in the dyke.

On the opposite side of the Atchafalaya, a restless lake stretched across the length of the basin, extending far up across Bayou des Glaises into the Tensas basin. Water was rising steadily along the lower extremities of the lake as it made its final dash for the Gulf of Mexico.

That Seized Outside 12 Mile Limit Can Be Brought Into Court.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 31.— (Canadian Press).—Liquor seized by the coast guard from runners outside the 12 mile limit can be introduced as evdience in the trials of the rum runners, the Supreme Court decided to-day.

FOREIGNERS ARE GLOOMY OVER FUTURE

Missionaries in China See Trouble if Chiang Reaches Pekin.

ACT AGAINST REDS.

British Dump Tons of Propaganda From Vessel Into Sea.

SHANGHAI, May 31.— Foreigners in China are becoming more bewildered concerning the prospects of this country and their own future. Some of the foremost foreigners from Peking and Hankow now gather here, who have been in touch with the highest Chinese officials in those cities, agree with those here who have been in touch with the Nanking Government officials regarding the feebleness and incompetence of all three factions, Peking, Hankow and Nanking.

The long-expected collapse of the radical Nationalist Government at Hankow would surprise no one if it came to-morrow, but none will longer predict its demise after its marvelous recovery last week and the setback it gave the Northern forces in Honan with an army made up largely of raw, untrained coolies.

Judged from the number of wounded returning to Hankow there has been fighting in Honan of a character unusual in Chinese warfare, due to fact that both Hankow and Peking are desperate.

General Chiang Kai-shek, who heads the moderate Nationalist regime at Nanking, whose army is little better than a rabble and whose Government was just scratched together, is almost shelterless. Nevertheless, his forces continue to advance toward Tsinan-fu because of the utter demoralization of General Chang Tsun-chang, the Shantungese war lord, who, like Marshal Chang Tso-lin, the Pekin Dictator, is a former brigand and almost illiterate.

Foreign Hopes at Low Ebb.

It is expected that Chiang Kai-shek, who advances largely through propaganda and because his war lord opponents are unable seriously to combat his progress, may reach Pekin. But the further he advances northward, the more numerous become his personal enemies and the faction chiefs behind him.

Therefore, the outlook for China is depressing, and the hopes of foreign business men and missionaries are not reviving.

Some members of the Kuomintang, the Nationalist Party, doubt that Chiang will reach Peking and doubt the party will benefit if he does arrive there.

No well-informed foreigners believe that the Soviet intrigues are terminated, but there is reason to think that the British have now begun to combat the communists individually here in China.

Communists, both Russian and Chinese, have been using British merchantmen for transportation and hitherto they have not been molested. But the jettisoning of several tons of propaganda, books and pamphlets, from a British merchantman when proceeding to Hankow this week and the prospective arrests of Russian travellers on suspicion indicates to observers here that the British will not further tolerate their activities.

CANADA PLANS TO BUILD PORT

Prescott May Be Selected as Buffalo's Rival in Grain Trade.

WHEN CANAL OPENS

TORONTO, Ont., May 31.—An Ontario port at the eastern end of Lake Ontario that will rival in all year efficiency the port of Buffalo, is being sought by the Canadian Government. In recent years Buffalo has handled more than half of the Canadian export wheat crop. Each autumn the elevators at Buffalo are filled to capacity, and in addition 30 to 40 million bushels are stored in vessels in the harbor. All through the winter this wheat is hauled to the Atlantic seaboard.

By 1930 the new Welland Canal with its 30-feet draft instead of the present 15 feet is expected to be open. Then the great fleets of grain boats on the Upper Lakes can nose their way through and run east another 200 miles nearer the seaboard.

At present there is no port on Lake Ontario with facilities to handle the traffic that is expected to arrive. But last summer the Canadian Government named an advisory board to select one that offered the greatest advantages for development. The board is composed of D. W. McLachlan, chief engineer of the Public Works Department, and R. A. C. Henry, of the National Railways, representing both railway companies. It is expected to make a recommendation by July. The Government will prepare plans and estimates of cost to be presented to Parliament next session, and two years will remain for carrying out the improvements before the new Welland Canal will be open.

Prescott, the little town at the eastern end of the "Thousand Islands," where passengers now embark on the flat bottomed Rapids runners, is expected to be the Canadian choice.

Prescott has rivals, notably Kingston, on the open lake; as well as Brockville and Gananoque, which lie between.

Prescott, opposite Ogdensburg, N. Y., will shorten the rail haul to Montreal, which is only a summer port, and also to the winter ports on the United States seaboard. Prescott, it is said, will have an advantage over and compete with it during the winter months.

It will cost $7,000,000 to put Prescott on the map as a grain port. Most of this will be for harbor development. In addition 60 miles of channel will have to be dredged. But the latter will be an International Waterway benefiting American as well as Canadian ports, and Washington will be asked to bear half the expense.

Two Records Broken Bisley Competition

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa, May 31 — (Canadian Press)—Two world's records were broken here yesterday at the Natal Provincial Bisley competition for the Natal Cup which is equivalent here to the King's Prize in England and is shot under the same conditions. Major Bodley N. Servant, scoring 344 at all ranges, set up the first record and the second was made by E. Johnson, aged 21, who scored 149 out of a possible 150 at the 900 and 1,000 yard ranges, getting 29 bulls from a possible 30.

NORHAM LADIES' AID

Regular Meeting Held at Home of Mrs. Norman Gummer.

NORHAM, May 31.—The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Norman Gummer with 22 members and three visitors present. Mrs. Stanley Breton, the president, presided. Mrs. Harry Crosby sang "Because I Love You", and Mrs. Oscar Laver gave a reading entitled "Born Under the British Flag." Several accounts were ordered paid. The next meeting is to be an open air meeting and will be held on the lawn of Mrs. David Evans.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson were in Warsaw on Friday.

The services in Trinity United church here are to be taken on Sunday, June 5th, which is conference Sunday, by several members of the Woman's Missionary Society of Campbellford United church.

DURHAM FARMERS ARRANGING TRIP

Will Go By Motor Bus as Far as Detroit and Toledo.

MILLBROOK, May 31.—The motor bus trip, under the personal direction of the Agricultural Representative, F. C. Paterson, and also under the auspices of the Durham County Holstein Breeders' Club, which was so successfully carried out last year, is to be repeated again this season, leaving Port Hope on Monday, June 20, and returning on Friday of the same week. The route will be through western Ontario as far as Ohio, visiting several points in that State.

Accommodation has been arranged for thirty-two, and a second bus will be chartered if enough applications are received after the first one has been filled up. The party will leave Port Hope early Monday morning and proceed to Toronto, picking up members along the highway as far as Courtice; a two-hour stop at the Agricultural College, Guelph, will be a feature of the first day, and a visit to the Innes' famous Holstein herd, and to the Woodstock County Co-operative Poultry Producers' Chick Hatchery, is also listed. The night will be spent at London, and the next day the new Agricultural High School Experimental Station at Ridgetown will be inspected, a call at Jack Miner's famous bird sanctuary being promised.

Crossing from Windsor to Detroit, the party will proceed to Toledo where an official of the Ohio State Extension Service will meet them, the details of the time spent in that State being not yet fully arranged.

Thursday night will be spent at Buffalo, return from that point being made on Friday. Ticket salesmen include: Blake Courtice, Courtice; J. D. Stevens, Bowmanville; Harold Gibson, Newcastle; Walter Reynolds, Port Hope.

OBITUARY

RICHARD ANDREWS.

NORWOOD, May 31.—The funeral of the late Richard Andrews, whose death occurred very suddenly on Thursday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. Richardson, Lakefield, took place on Saturday afternoon from his late residence, Spring street, Norwood.

Many old friends and neighbors were in attendance to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased.

Services at the house and at the grave were conducted by Rev. R. F. Stillman, pastor of the United Church.

The pallbearers were six nephews. Left to mourn his loss are two sisters, Mrs. George Hambling, of Norwood, and Mrs. Fred. Richardson, of Lakefield; also a half-sister and a half-brother, namely, Mrs. William Andrews, with whom he lived, and Mr. William McMillan, of Dummer.

CLIFFORD SELKIRK

WARSAW, May 31.—The sudden and tragic death of Clifford Selkirk on Friday morning shocked the whole community. Few knew of his illness. He came to Warsaw when quite a little boy and went to school here, so that he was well known and had many friends. He was a mechanical genius and always willing to kindly help others not so gifted.

He leaves to mourn his loss a widow (nee Emma Darling), and an infant son; also his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Selkirk of Warsaw; his brother, Verne Selkirk in Peterborough; and a sister, Mrs. D. G. E. Choate in Warsaw. The remains were brought to his parents' home in Warsaw on Saturday, and the interment took place in Warsaw Cemetery. Rev. H. B. Herrington conducted the services at the house and at the cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended and there were many beautiful floral pieces. The pall-bearers were Messrs. William and John Selkirk, H. G. E. Choate, Hilliard Darling, Frank Hope of Toronto, and Austin River from Detroit.

MRS. MARY GIBSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. — The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Gibson took place yesterday morning at 7.45 to St. Mary's church. Many sorrowing friends accompanied the remains to their last resting place in St. Mary's church cemetery.

JOHN RELLIS.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. — "Slow march!" was the order given to the Northumberland Regiment band, as it headed the funeral procession of the late John Rellis, one of Campbellford's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens. To the sound of the "Dead March," the procession made its way through the business section of the town, travelled by the deceased since 1875, to St. Mary's church. There Catholics and non-Catholics gathered to pay a last tribute of respect to a fellow citizen and friend.

There were numerous floral offerings, all bearing mute testimony to the esteem in which the departed one was held.

DOROTHY ELLEN ROBERTS.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31.— Dorothy Ellen Roberts, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Roberts, Grand Road, passed suddenly away yesterday morning at the age of 2 years, 3 months and 9 days.

The winsome little girl was in her usual playful mood when she retired on Sunday evening, but through the night showed signs of being unwell. A doctor was immediately called, and although remaining with the little girl for a great length of time, held out no hope for her recovery. At 7.20 a.m., shortly after asking for a drink of water, she passed away. The immediate cause of death is given as heart failure.

The funeral will take place from the home at 10.30 to-morrow morning to Mount Pleasant cemetery, Rev. Mr. Grier, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, officating.

An Ex-Buck Private Goes Back to France

DEAR MAC:

There is at Albert a small colony of Britons, mostly men employed by the Imperial War Graves Commission. Further, one encounters numerous ex-Service men, who, having married French girls, have settled down to civilian occupation. So far as one can ascertain, they are happy and contented. At least they are not troubled by strikes and unemployment.

One important section of these "exiles" is composed of drivers of motor cars who make a living by driving British visitors to War cemeteries, or by running them round the battlefields. Generally, they are very good fellows, and if they calculate their fares in Sterling and garner for themselves the advantage of the falling rate of exchange, they are discriminating, and temper the wind to the shorn lamb. Sometimes, a poor woman, on a pilgrimage to a distant grave, finds even the modest fare which the driver asks greater than she calculated. A British official here assured me that, in such circumstances, he had known a driver say to the old lady, "Jump in, mother, and send the fare some day when you can spare it."

Albert is a town of cafes. It is said to have 167, as against 140 before the War. I did not count them, but certainly there appeared to be two at each corner, and several in every street. In these places, you may hear a British veteran telling in the best Bill Adams manner, tales of the War to some unsuspecting visitor. "Yes," said one in my hearing, "my pal was wounded thirty-three times—aye, and he wore a wound stripe for every one, 'e did—but the thirty-fourth did 'im in. But, even so, mark you, 'e was killed by a bomb as 'e lay in the hospital at taps. Rotten luck!"

As one leaves the centre of Albert, the continuous rows of new houses give way to a mixture of new structures and temporary huts, with an occasional ruin or a partially-cleared site. The roads in the town are very rough, and the principal square, the Place Faidherbe, is neglected; the old memorial to the fallen soldiers of 1870 is still scarred, and still lacks the bronze figures which the enemy removed in 1918.

Up on the Route de Bapaume, the Union Jack flies on a little camp which looks much like a headquarters of the old days, a collection of huts, neatly arranged and clean, but looking distinctly worn. This is the Somme headquarters of the Imperial War Graves Commission, the organization charged with the sacred duty of tending, for all time, the graves of the fallen of the Empire. The area administered by the Albert headquarters contains no fewer than 125,000 graves, all of men of the British and Overseas forces.

Not far from the headquarters is a horticultural nursery, one of seven maintained in France, by the Commission, for the cultivation of flowers. Here are masses of violas, stocks, forget-me-nots, roses and a pleasing variety of other flowers essentially English. From this nursery the local cemetery wardens draw the flowers required for the graves under their care. Talking to the official in charge of graves in this area, Major Phillips, a former Australian officer who bears scars of battle, is like talking to an enthusiastic landscape gardener, with the real gardener's gentleness and love of beauty. There is a note of pride in his description of the schemes, architectural and horticultural, employed in the cemeteries, and no two schemes are alike. Here stone walls and rambler roses; there, brick walls with aubrecia and paved pathways, and the cemetery in the orchard at Warloy is a perfect picture when the blossom is out. And the turf in some of his cemeteries would not shame the lawns of an English university.

The deepest impression gathered in the course of my visit to these battlefields was made by the beauty of the British War Cemeteries. No praise can be too high for the skill of the designers and the work of the gardeners. There is nothing of the soul-less government department about the Imperial War Graves Commission. It was no departmental mind that conceived the scheme of accepting from the relatives of a fallen soldier flower seeds to plant upon his grave, and then to return to the relatives for planting in their own gardens, the first seeds that fall in the Autumn from their flowers. War grave and home garden are thus in communion.

Truly, there is a heart-beat in the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission!

Tomorrow, I'm going up nearer the centre of the Canadian activities on the Somme front—Courcellette and Regina trench.

STIRLING HALL BY-LAW PASSES

Citizens Authorize Issue Of Debentures By Vote of 154 To 69.

TOTAL COST $19,000.

STIRLING, May 31.—It was settled yesterday by a substantial majority that Stirling is to have the new theatre and Community Hall which has been under consideration for the past five months. A by-law was passed empowering the council to issue debentures for $19,000 for the erection of a building such as has been planned. There were 225 votes polled, 154 for the by-law and 60 against, with 2 spoiled ballots.

The proposed building will be situated on upper Front street, near the Public Library and will be an imposing structure, built of fire-proof material. Upon entering the building on one side of the corridor will be a Hydro-Electric store, where every known electric device for the saving of labor or otherwise will be on exhibition and for sale; on the other side of the hall will be a rest room for the public use, with all modern conveniences. At the end of this corridor an entrance to the part to be used as a theatre will be reached, also a stairway leading to the upper floor where the community hall may be entered, where conventions, socials or entertainments of varied kinds may be held. The building is to be steam heated, and of modern construction in every way.

Some of the ladies of the Women's Institute held a card party under the auspices of the Institute last Friday night, in the town hall, and had a successful event, the receipts being $57.00, after expensese are paid, the balance to be used towards paying their obligation to the new hall enterprise, the Institute having promised to give $200 a year for five years, if the by-law passed. This was the first effort made to raise money to meet this obligation made at a recent meeting.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, May 31.—The W. A. of St. John's church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Watson and the president, Mrs. Trude Waldon, presented a handsomely bound prayer book and hymn book to Mrs. R. H. Jackson, who leaves shortly for Montreal where she will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Stroud.

Mrs. Jackson was completely taken by surprise and quite overcome by the affectionate remembrance. Her associations with the W.A. have been so pleasant they will always remain a happy memory.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. J. Creighton held her first reception since moving to the village on Wednesday in the Rectory. Mrs. Stephenson of Bradford, Mrs. Creighton's mother, received with her. The living room was decorated with tulips and lily-of-the-valley and looked extremely attractive. Scarlet tulips and white narcissus centred the dining table, where tea was served. Mrs. W. M. Graham and Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald poured tea, and Misses Constance and Lileon Stuart and Alice and Barbara Dench served the guests. Mrs. Marling and Mrs. Langley also assisted the hostess.

The Citizens Band paraded on Thursday evening for the first time this season, presenting a neat appearance in their smart uniforms. The organization is doing good work and is preparing for a busy season this year. Each year one notes a higher standard in the Band, which has developed into a real asset to the community.

The dredging outfit "Randolph Macdonald" passed through the village after several seasons spent in the canal service in the upper lakes. It is understood that the outfit will go to Ottawa to work in the Gatineau development.

Thursday was an especially busy day on the canal with several craft going through the Lakefield section.

Mrs. F. H. Richardson has opened her little flower shop in the little white shop again this season and the fine assortment of plants has made it a busy place. Because of the double bereavement in the family the shop was closed for a few days.

They Steal Motor Cars From Churches Now; It Used To Be Whips From Buggies In Sheds

Two winters ago, something like a sensation was caused by the news that a motor car belonging to a lady prominent in musical circles in Peterborough had disappeared while its owner was inside a church during Sunday evening service. The missing car was afterwards found in a ditch on Chemong Road, where it had been abandoned by the petty joy-riding thieves on the discovery that the supply of gas had been exhausted.

Less than two decades ago, it did not require the plundering of a car to create a stir in the community.

On Sunday evening, March 27, 1910, during the evening service at one of the local churches, sneak thieves were busy and, as a result, when the service was over, four members of the congregation found themselves each shy a whip which had been "lifted" from the vehicles in the shed. Stealing whips! The very thought would create a feeling a contempt in the mind of any present day exponent of the "lifting" art, who had the least vestige of "professional" pride.

Once they swiped whips. Now they steal cars. Verily we are in an age of progress.

PROBE REOPENS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Royal Customs Commission Will Re-open Sittings at Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 31.—Liquor smuggling to the United States, investigation of operations of breweries and distilleries, inquiry into the workings of the Canada - United States treaty, aimed at the illicit trade and examination of the Customs organizations here and at border ports, to determine qualities as well as defects, will feature sittings of the Royal Commission on Customs matters which opens here to-morrow.

The Commission will sit in the new Court - House. Pressure on court - room space has forced the sheriff to an arrangement by which the hearings will go forward in courts number three and five, alternately. How long the proceedings here will last cannot yet be determined; but tentative plans have been laid for Their Lordships to sit at Quebec from June 15 on, and then the probe will return to the Maritime Provinces. There the hearings will conclude and a report to Parliament will be drawn up. The findings will include recommendations for reorganization of the Dominion Customs Service.

PRESENTATION TO MR. AND MRS. M'RAE

Agricultural Representative and Family Are Leaving Norwood.

NORWOOD, May 31.—On Wednesday evening last a large number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McRae and family met at their home on Queen street and presented Mr. McRae with a purse of gold and Mrs. McRae with a beautiful bouquet of roses, accompanied by the following address:

"To Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McRae and family.

"Dear Friends,—It has been with sincere regret that we have learned of your removal from our midst, and tonight we have taken the opportunity of assembling at your home to bid you farewell and to spend a few happy moments together before Mr. McRae's departure on the morrow for his new field of labor.

"During your long residence amongst us we have come to esteem you very highly as citizens and friends. We have found you always willing to assist in any worthy movement in the public welfare of our community. Also in the wider sphere of your duties, Mr. McRae, evidence of your helpful work may be found as far as the distant borders of our county. Much, however, as your endeavors may be appreciated in other parts of the district, you have served, we wish you to feel, in no place where your work has been more highly regarded or where you have more or better friends than in this community which you have called your home.

"Your courteous manner, gentlemanly ways and upright character have been a valuable personal contribution to our citizenship. In the kind hospitality of your home, which many of us have enjoyed at various times, we have felt the cordiality of your welcome, and that of your good partner, who has been an admirable hostess. We know we will miss you both and your little family, who have endeared themselves to us. In the words of an old story, 'God bless you everyone,' and may you all in your new place of abode be attended with happiness in abundance and all the good things that make life worth while.

"We ask you to accept these small tokens of esteem with the hope that they will convey to you remembrances in the distant future of your old friends at Norwood."

W.C.T.U. Meeting.

The May meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Buck. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, and a social time spent.

News Briefs.

Rev. Mr. Moyer occupied the pulpit of the United Church on Sunday evening.

The second annual conference of the United Church will open on Tuesday in Oshawa and continue for a week. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. F. Stillman, union services will be held next Sunday, when Rev. W. P. McLennan of the Baptist Church will preach to both congregations. Service will be held in the United Church in the morning and in the Baptist Church in the evening.

The annual banquet of the Young People's League of the United Church was held in the dining-room of the church on Wednesday evening, when the young men of the league were hosts to the young ladies. A very enjoyable time was spent by all present.

The county office of the Department of Agriculture was moved to Peterborough City this week. Mr. Nelson, the new Representative, will be in charge. Miss Evelyn Scott, who has held the position of stenographer here, has been transferred with the office.

The 40th Northumberland I. O. D. E. held a very successful euchre party in the Town Hall on Thursday evening. The first prize for the ladies was won by Miss Lila Kirk, the second by Mrs. A. Townsend. The men's first prize was won by Mr. Keefe McLaughlin and the second prize by Mr. W. J. McLaughlin.

A wreath sent by Queen Victoria to a funeral in an English village forty years ago still is preserved in the parish church, in a glass and marble case.

PASTURES GOOD

Milk Flow is Increasing in Trent River District—First Fatality.

TRENT RIVER, May 31.—With cows out on pasture the milk flow is increasing rapidly and should be well-sustained as the prospects are good for pasture crops. The first fatality from sweet clover occurred last week when Mr. Joe McNeelyy lost a valuable cow from bloating. This danger is very great at this season.

MEMORIAL DAY HELD IN STATES

Canadian and British Military Uniforms Conspicuous at Arlington Cemetery.

DECORATE GRAVES.

WASHINGTON, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Canadian and British military and naval uniforms were conspicuous in the Memorial Day crowds at Arlington Cemetery yesterday. Before the formal military exercises began a group of Canadians and Britishers threaded their way through the long lines of graves, placing wreaths on the graves of a dozen Canadian and British soldiers who have died in the United States since the armistice was signed and buried in the military cemetery of the United States.

Honor Canadians

So far as is known only two Canadians' graves were decorated, those of Lieut. William Strong, who formerly lived in Montreal and died in Los Angeles in 1921, and Sapper Charles Dalton, of the Canadian Engineers, whose address is unknown. Dalton died in a military hospital here in 1923.

Merchant Mahoney, first secretary of the Canadian Legation, headed the Canadian party, which included Corporal Hugh Lament, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who was in uniform.

Commander Knothe, naval attache of the British Embassy, headed the British party, which included Sergeant George Tissard, in the uniform of the Canadian Black Watch. Sergeant Tissard now is attached to the British Embassy.

The Stars and Stripes had already been laid on graves by the American Legion. The Canadian or British flag was plented beside the United States emblem and a wreath of bay laid round the flags as the party stood at the salute.

Leave for Montreal

NEW YORK, May 31 (Canadian Press).—The three-day visit of the detachment of six officers and 100 other ranks from the Fifth Royal Highlanders (Black Watch) came to an end last night, when the Canadian troops returned to Montreal.

The last function before they left for the station was a banquet tendered by the Canadian Society of New York. Colonel A. L. Saunders D.S.O., M.C., presided.

It.-Col. J. D. MacPherson, who was in command of the detachment, expressed gratitude on behalf of his officers and men for the hearty welcome they received in New York and for the various entertainments provided for them since they arrived on Saturday morning.

Took Part in Parade

The Highlanders took part in the Memorial Day parade yesterday morning, were the guests of their official hosts, the British Great War Veterans of America, at luncheon, and yesterday afternoon attended a matinee performance of "The Road to Rome" a play written by Robert E. Sherwood, a former member of the 42nd Canadian overseas battalion, R.H.C.

DEGREE CONFERRED

MARMORA, May 31.— Madoc Chapter Royal Arch Masons visited the local Masonic Hall on Thursday evening, conferring the degree upon several candidates.

CAMPBELLFORD BOY IS PAINFULLY HURT

Douglas Lambert, 3, Falls From Wagon—Wheel Goes Over Limb.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. — Douglas Lambert, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert, Main street, met with a painful accident early yesterday afternoon when thrown from the seat of a bread wagon upon which he, in company with another little tot, had climbed.

When the two little fellows had taken their seats on the wagon, and before the driver could return to it, the horse started up, throwing young Douglas to the ground. A wheel of the wagon passed over his left leg and arm and he sustained injuries to the left side of the head.

Late last night, with the exception of a swelling on the left side of the head, Douglas felt none the worse for his experience.

HE CHOKED A RATTLER.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 31.—Drawn back ready to strike, its rattles whirring a warning, a deadly diamond-back threatened the life of Sidney Hulbert, standing two feet away. J. B. Simmons seeing the snake, feared to kick it as it would have gone toward his friend. So he grabbed the rattler about the neck, choked it to death.

RUSSIANS MAKE PREPARATIONS FOR DEPARTURE

Sailing of Russian Vessel Youshar Postponed Until Tuesday.

WILL ISSUE VISAS

To Give List of Officials Permitted to Stay in London.

LONDON, May 31. — (Canadian Press).—What will probably be the final official British communication to the Soviet mission in London will be delivered at Chesham House early this week. It will be a list of the names of those Russians who will be permitted to remain in London.

Meanwhile, hasty packing and preparations for departure were the order of the day at Chesham House and Soviet House, a sign being posted at the former place, reading: "The Consulate-General of the U.S.S.R. is closed." The work of leaving, however, has proved so heavy that it was found necessary to postpone the sailing of the Russian ship Youshar until to-day. This ship will carry 35 Russian officials and the bulk of their baggage. Customs officers are carefully inspecting every case taken aboard.

Contracts Terminated.

In a communication to the press M. Khinchuk, head of Arcos, Limited, said that the commercial affairs and contracts of the Soviet trading organizations and Arcos are terminated, and that these concerns are compelled to wind up their work since the policy of the British Government left them without the possibility of pursuing trading operations on the basis of the general economic plan of the Soviet union.

Grain Export Company.

The statement added that the work of such organizations as the Russian - British Grain Export Company and similar companies will continue if no obstacle is placed in their way in the future. M. Khinchuk expressed regret at being compelled to discharge his large staff at such short notice.

The statement also promised that all contracts with British firms will be fulfilled to the letter in accordance with the terms of the contract, and that all money obligations of the other trading organizations would be similarly fulfilled as they fell due. For this latter purpose a sufficient staff will be left in London.

Not Tolerate Bolshevism.

PARIS, May 31 (Canadian Press). —The United States Ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, speaking at the United States military cemetery at Suresnes yesterday, declared that the ruling powers of Soviet Russia were engaged in paid propaganda activities throughout the world, and that the United States would not tolerate the spread of Bolshevism to its shores.

Declaring that modern scientific methods were being applied to the scourge of war, the Ambassador said that these modern scientific methods are now "somewhat belatedly being actively applied to the scourge of Bolshevism."

"I believe," he continued, "that the people in every country have got to choose between order and anarchy, between honesty and thievery, between every-day virtue and crime. Either we believe in orderly society or we don't; if we do we ought to use all the power within us to defend and advance it. The impudent, mischievous interference of paid, organized propaganda throughout the world has gone steadily on, and, in common with others, I have been forced by these events to view with increasing apprehension this sinister movement."

More Tyrannical.

Declaring that the leaders of the Soviet regime do not speak for the great mass of Russian people, Mr. Herrick said that the Bolshevist system thus far seems to the world in general more tyrannical and oppressive than any preceding despotism.

"We have no thought of attacking the Soviet regime in Russia; what it does on its own 'reservation' is its own affair. But we do object with all the earnestness of a self-respecting nation, and quite regardless of material considerations, to give to its leaders the means and opportunity of poisoning us. We intend to protect our country from Bolshevism and the fact that a Government secretly sends against us the germs of a loathesome malady instead of openly despatching armies, does not make the invasion less felonious or alter our duty to repel it."

Will Issue Visas.

BERLIN, May 31. — (Canadian Press).—The German Embassy in London, it was semi-officially stated yesterday, will issue visas for Arcos officials whose number will not exceed 120. These officials will come to Germany where the work of their organization will be transferred because of the British decision to break diplomatic relations with Russia. The maximum period of the validity of the visas is six weeks.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WINS

Girls Defeat Separate School Lassies in Softball at Marmora.

MARMORA, May 31.—A friendly game of softball on Friday evening on the grounds of the public school when girls of that school played the girls of the separate school, saw the homesters win out by 19-12. Jessie Williams pitched for the winners with Eva Lee at the receiving end. Margaret Flynn on the mound and Mildred Finnegan catching, made up the separate school battery. Murvis Jones and Percy Mitchell umpired the game.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service — by Ben Lucien Burman

THIS HAS HAPPENED

To the queer little South American town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, a town fringed by dark, forbidding jungle, comes an elderly American, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a famous chemist.

An air of mystery seems to hang over the place. This impression is accentuated when the porter who handles Nunnally's grips hints of strange deaths that have occurred and mumbles gloomy prophecies.

In the barber shop, the barber, a strange, dark man with an Oriental cast to his eyes, speaks to Nunnally, who then recognizes him as VILAKA WEST, known to him as VILAK, a fellow American. He asks Vilak what he is doing in Porto Verde. To his amazement, Vilak says he has sent for him, that he and his cousin, ELISE MARBERRY, own the Porto Verde Development Co., and need assistance in getting at the root of a mystery that already has cost several lives and threatened Elise's.

The barber business, Vilak explains, serves to conceal his real activities. In the midst of his explanation, word reaches him that another man has been murdered, and he and Nunnally hasten to the spot where the victim, TONY BARBETTA, one of his cousin's foremen, lies on the ground, still alive.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER IV.

Vilak drew a pin from the lapel of his coat and touched the point to Barbetta's arm. The flesh did not twitch as ordinary living flesh would have responded to the experiment, but the little Italian's eyes showed that he felt the pain.

"This is certainly unusual," Vilak whispered to his companion. "I can't conceive of anything which could possibly have put him into such a state. His muscles are completely paralyzed, yet his sensations of pain aren't affected in the slightest." His blue eyes half closed and the closing accentuated their distinct Chinese cast. He stood thus a moment, lost in thought, then abruptly knelt beside the body. "I think I may have it," he whispered. "Take hold of his arm there. We'll try artificial respiration."

Nunnally leaned to obey. As he did so a step sounded near him. Prentiss, the archeologist, came forward from the bushes where he had been watching, the curious mark on his forehead sullenly aglow. "You can't save him," he mumbled. "No power on earth can save him."

Vilak glanced up, peered at him an instant, then with Nunnally began alternately lifting Barbetta's arms above his head and pressing them against his chest. There was a slight movement as of restored breathing at the Italian's lips; the pain evident in his eyes lessened. For ten minutes the two friends labored vigorously; then one of Barbetta's legs jerked feebly.

"I think we've won," Vilak murmured.

Five minutes later Barbetta was staggering to his feet. With Latin passion he shook his fist at the handcuffed Englishman who had watched him rise as stolidly as he had watched him lie outstretched. Then he turned to those around him and recognized Vilak. "I tell you, Meester Riggs," he burst out passionately. "Then you tell Miss Marberry. Kmeiy he badda man. He try to keel her like he keel me. You will tell her he try to keel her? You will tell? You will tell?" He gasped violently for breath.

Vilak nodded. "I'll tell her, Tony," he said soothingly. "Don't you worry. And he hasn't killed you. You're all right now. You're not going to die. You're going to live a long time. You'll take a long rest. Then go back to Italy maybe and see your mother and father. Tell me what happened?"

The Italian shivered and clutched Vilak's arm for support. "I tell you. Sure I tell you. I near my house. In bushes. You know my house. Pretty house. Little red roof. Like houses in Italy. Looking for snakes who steal my little chickens. Then I see a man creeping through bushes. I wait. He comes closer. I see him. It is Limey. Limey the badda, the evil Limey that I hate. In his hand is something. I think he come to do me harm. I want him far, oh far from my little house with the red roof. He badda man, badda Englishman. I follow through the bushes. And then I see Miss Marberry in the road driving in her cart. It is she he follows. And then I have great fear for her, for the last days have I heard him talk much against her. Evil talk. Because last week she have make me head foreman and not him. He climbs a tree to a limb where the leaves well hide him. He holds his knife. But I, Tony, I see his plan. When the carriage will pass under the tree, he will jump down upon it and kill her."

He went on feverishly. "I cross to the road where it is not so bushy, where I can run faster and warn her. I run. I cry out. 'Run, Miss Marberry! Run! Fast!' She hear. She drives fast. Too fast for him to fall upon her. She is gone. Limey jumps from the tree to the ground. He runs after me. 'What you mean by screaming like that, you dago blighter?' He shout. 'What you mean? What you mean?' I not dago blighter. Good Italian. Good American. Not—" His voice suddenly dropped to a whisper. His face resumed its gray pallor. His grip on Vilak's arm became weaker than a child's. "He kills me," he murmured. "He kills me. An' he kills Miss Marberry like he kills me. Tell her, tell . . ." He pitched forward and fell to the ground.

Vilak touched his wrist. "Dead," he pronounced laconically.

The gendarme looked in a sort of stupid awe at the motionless body, then began to move off with his prisoner. The Englishman turned to the barber. "It's a damn dago blighter's dope dream," he grumbled. "A dope dream. You just remember that if they call on you to testify. You remember that and I'll make it all right with you. See? All he says about my killin' him is true. I killed the blighter all right. But it was in self defense. He was wavin' a knife at me. Anybody'd kill if someone was wavin' a knife at him. Bloody well ought to. Will you remember?" His lip curved in an expression between a threat and a sneer.

The barber smiled affably. "Sure thing. I'll remember. Then you weren't in the bushes over near his house the way he said you were?"

"Nowhere near his bloody house. And haven't seen Miss Marberry all afternoon. I was just walkin' along the road, comin' back from town, when he comes up to me and begins gettin' bloody narsty about that money I won from him playin' cards. You know all about that like every blighter in town does, so I says to him we'll settle the bloody thing right now, we will. We comes over here where we knows there won't be no bloomin' fools to interfere an begin fightin'. It was goin' all right, fair fightin', fair sport, an' I was beatin' the blighter when he outs with his knife an comes wavin' it at me. So I picks up that club bloody quick and hits him with it."

He turned and glowered a the black policeman at his side. "An' I wouldn't be sorry I done it either if I didn't have to stay in one of their narsty jails. Oh, it's a bloody life. Don't you forget when they bring you to court that all he said about me and Miss Marberry is lies."

The policeman and his prisoner began to move off toward the town. The grimy-linened Prentiss, who had moved back a few yards from the circle of onlookers, stepped into their path. The mark on his forehead twitched vividly again as he glanced, first at the rainbow-hued gendarme then at the scowling captive. His lips moved slightly; he seemed about to speak.

"What ees it you would say?" the policeman grunted.

The question seemed to bring Prentiss to a decision. He mumbled something to himself, spat scornfully upon the ground, shrugged his shoulders and again taking hold of his straw basket, which Vilak saw was filled with cans of condensed milk, walked briskly away. A wide lane quickly opened in the crowd of motley half-breeds to let him pass, while two or three of the bolder muttered a curse and after he had disappeared drew knives across their throats in ugly, dramatic portrayal of what they would do if they dared.

Vilak and Nunnally slowly retraced their steps to the town. For a while they walked in silence. Then with an effort the chemist threw off the gloom which had enveloped him, and began searching once more for his matches, which had again eluded him. "Er . . . Porto Verde . . . er . . . frightens me" he said. "I . . . er . . . confess I'm getting old. Ten years ago, I would have been enthusiastic . . . enthusiastic at the opportunity of witnessing the . . . er . . . scientific aspects of a death like that one. But this was not pleasant." He grew thoughtful. "Could there be any . . . er . . . connection between the two men I saw making . . . er . . . signals and this . . . er . . . tragedy?"

"I don't know, mon cher."

"Your . . . er . . . cousin will surely leave Porto Verde now, will she not? After such a deliberate . . . er . . . attack upon her life?"

"I'm afraid you don't know my cousin. I'll warn her again, but it will be simply wasted energy. She'll be all the keener to stay and find out what's at the bottom of it."

"Times have . . . er . . . changed. In my day a woman was a . . . er . . . hussy if she did not faint at the sight of a scratched . . . er . . . finger . . . Yes, faint. But even your . . . er . . . modern cousin would have been affected had she seen poor Barbetta. Have you any idea yet as to the cause of that extraordinary . . . er . . . paralysis?"

Vilak withdrew from his pocket a thin bronze cigaret case, a bit of expert Oriental workmanship fashioned in the form of a Chinese dragon. He pressed it. It snapped open, exposing a row of brown cigarets. "Stop looking for those matches and lace and lavender cigarets of yours, and try one of these favorites of mine," he invited. "They're good for old men's nerves. Cheer you up. A little discovery I made down in the Malay Peninsula on my last trip east. I make them out of perique and the ground-up leaf of the eucalyptus. May find them a little bitter. But they're powerful as opium. Maybe they'll give you the answer to your question about the paralysis. I haven't it. In fact my ideas on the entire subject of Tony's death are notably vague and scanty. Except that I'm quite positive that Limey Potts did not kill him!"

FORESTRY LECTURE IS GIVEN AT APSLEY

Interesting Illustrated Talk Delivered—Hospital to be Opened.

APSLEY, May 31.—A representative of the Canadian Forestry Association gave a lecture on "The Conservation of Forests," illustrated with moving pictures, in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, which attracted a crowd of nearly 200 people. The capacity of the hall was taxed to the utmost, one-third of the audience having to stand throughout the two-hour entertainment. The Rev. C. A. G. Spence acted as chairman, and in a brief speech introduced the lecturer, Mr. Smith, of the Canadian Forestry staff, whose interesting address was listened to with marked attention. The films that followed the lecture showed the methods employed in fighting forest fires. A film of wild animals taken in their native haunts in Ontario was also especially interesting.

$500 Objective.

Apsley's objective in the forthcoming Red Cross campaign is $500. This was decided upon by the committee at a meeting last Wednesday. Dr. Embury, M.P., will officiate at the formal opening of the Red Cross Hospital on June 10. The Ladies' Committee is making arrangements to feed the biggest crowd on that day that Apsley has ever seen. Plans are also being made for decorating the village, the ladies arranging "bees" for making streamers. It is confidently expected that Peterborough will be very largely represented at the opening.

A juvenile concert, picture show and dance, all staged in the Parish Hall, were the only celebrations of Empire Day. The proceeds were given to the Red Cross campaign fund. The little ones, whose ages ranged from four to eight, went through their programme remarkably well. The rendering of the songs especially would have done credit to much older childrence. Mrs. Spence was responsible for the training of the children and arranged the programme. Mr. Webster was chairman for the occasion, and expressed his pleasure at being able to assist in any movement relating to the musical training of children, which he considered of great importance and too often neglected.

The programme follows:

Song and chorus—"Babes in the Wood," Rosalie Smith and chorus.
Recitation—"Oh, Where Are All the Good Little Girls?" Virginia Smith.
Recitation — "What Everyone Knows," Evelyn Reid.
Song—"Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," four little girls.
Recitation—"You Don't Believe in Miracles?" Rosalie Smith.
Song and chorus—"The Dollies' Dancing Lesson," Dolly Tanner and chorus.
Recitation—"What Might Have Been," Clare Reid.
Medley—"Simple Simon," by all.
Recitation—"The Two Frogs," Lillian Smith.
Recitation—"Three Old Ladies," Dolly Tanner.
Address—Mr. Spence.
Song—"The Jolly Little Cowboys" (in costume), by all.

Met With Accident.

Archie Wilson met with a severe accident on Monday when he cut his leg above the knee with an axe, severing an artery. He is engaged on the Jack's Lake drive which is going down Jack's Creek. A tourniquet was applied, and he had to be conveyed from there to Young's Point and then to Apsley, where the injury was dressed by Dr. Shepherd and Miss Ottaway, the Red Cross Outpost nurse.

PARSONAGE REPAIRS

Committee Decides to Make Improvements at Wooler.

WOOLER, May 31.—The parsonage committee met on Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage to talk over the necessity of inside and outside repairs. It was decided to build a new front verandah and put hardwood floors in the front room and hall, the contract to be given to Jack Stacey of Trenton.

Mrs. Neal served a very dainty and tasty lunch at 5 p.m.

BIRD'S EYE CENTRE.

To all those readers who have the saving grace of a sense of humour, and particularly to the people who find fault with the usual comic strip because of its American outlook on life, the announcement that The Examiner is to present each week a "Bird's Eye Centre" cartoon by James Frise should be of great interest.

Bird's Eye Centre is all-Canadian, drawn by a Canadian cartoonist who knows and loves rural Ontario, and whose clever caricatures are always kindly and never malicious.

The types Frise portrays you all know; the things he has his characters do you all do or have done; the atmosphere of his pictures is as familiar as the outlook from your front door.

The Ontario man who can look over one of the Bird's Eye Centre episodes without indulging in a chuckle merits public sympathy; life must indeed be dark and dull and drab to such an individual.

Because we know Peterborough has no citizens of that type, The Examiner is delighted to be able to set one of Mr. Frise's gloom-dispellers before its readers each week, knowing that it will be appreciated.

KEEP THEM OUT.

There will be a number of parades in Peterborough in the near future, culminating with the mammoth Diamond Jubilee celebration procession.

Doubtless the Police Department has already made its plans for handling traffic on these occasions, but in any event a suggestion in regard to motor cars may not be amiss.

That is, that the down-town section of George street should be closed to vehicular traffic on these occasions, a regulation that would at once simplify the work of the police and add to the comfort of the general public.

Some how or other the majority of motorists, who by reason of their transportation facilities could view a parade anywhere along the route, persist in attempting to drive into the heart of things, with the result that congestion is occasioned in the business section, and the unlucky mortals lining the sidewalks who perhaps have waited for an hour find their view blocked at the last moment by parked motor cars.

There is no excuse for this tie-up of motor traffic, and it could be averted if a section of George street, say from Brock street to King street, were to be closed entirely to vehicular traffic during the period of big parades.

STILL GOING AHEAD.

Saturday's race meet under the auspices of the Peterborough Turf Club not only served to call attention to the number of fast harness horses now quartered in local stables but it also gave many citizens an opportunity to view the improvements made to the Exhibition track and in the vicinity of the grandstand.

The track is now one of the best half-mile tracks in the country, while the grandstand, which seats 3,800 people, is to be improved by the covering of the present bleacher sections.

A walk of crushed stone has been laid in front of the stand, and this week a neat wire fence is being erected.

These improvements are in line with the general policy of advancement adopted by the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, which can now have the satisfaction of knowing that patrons of the Exhibition and of sporting events at the Exhibition Grounds will be assured of accommodation in one of the finest grandstands to be found in the Province.

The improvements carried out this spring will be appreciated when the Diamond Jubilee celebration is staged at the Exhibition Grounds.

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE.

A complaint was heard the other day because an admission charge is to be made for some of the events in connection with the local celebration of the Diamond Jubilee.

The expenses involved in a celebration of this kind are necessarily large, and as each municipality is expected—and should be glad—to meet the cost of its own demonstration, the financing can only be done in one of two ways, either by having the Municipal Council pay the expenses out of the civic revenues or to raise enough money in the form of gate receipts to cover the jubilee expenditure.

Fireworks, bands, parades, pageants cannot be secured for nothing.

They must be paid for, and the most logical way of securing the funds is that adopted locally, by charging a reasonable admission to some of the events of the jubilee programme, thus dividing the burden, as it should be, over the whole population.

The fact that the budget for Peterborough's celebration already amounts to $5,000, gives some idea of the scope of the demonstration, which will, of course, surpass anything that has ever been attempted in this city.

RESULTS OF BOLSHEVIK DUPLICITY.

Although Labor members of the British Parliament describe the case of the Baldwin Government against the Soviet Russian regime as "rather thin," it is undeniable that the diplomatic and commercial agents of the Moscow Government have systematically violated the Anglo-Russian trade agreement as well as the principles of international comity. That the Soviet trade delegation in London has carried on subversive propaganda against the interests of the British Empire, and has permitted its offices to be used as a centre of communist and revolutionary activities, is established beyond rational doubt by documents seized in the raid on the Soviet house.

The action decided upon by the British Cabinet after much anxious deliberation cannot be described as radical or provocative. The Anglo-Russian trade agreement is to be abrogated for cause, but, apparently, diplomatic relations with Russia are to be continued. Moreover, in the conciliatory expression of the willingness of his Government "to make all arrangements necessary for the ordinary trade facilities between the two countries," Mr. Baldwin anticipated certain political or commercial objections to the course he announced.

There is considerable trade between this country and Russia despite the refusal of the United States to recognize the Soviet regime and despite the lack of a commercial treaty. American firms grant credits to Russia, and bankers underwrite the credits. No doubt similar arrangements will be effected with British firms and financial syndicates in the event of the termination of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement.

The reaction of the Soviet Government to the British move will be watched with concern. Moscow has been discreet of late in its open diplomacy. It has evolved a curious formula for embarrassing situations—namely, that the Soviet statesmen must cultivate patience and refrain from playing into the hands of capitalist plotters in foreign countries. This convenient formula has permitted Moscow officially to overlook the raids and seizures in Peking and London. The real reason for discretion is found, of course, in Russia's urgent need of credit, capital and goods.

Apparently, however, it is impossible for the Bolshevik diplomats honestly to observe treaties and discontinue plotting and meddling. Sooner or later their duplicity and bad faith must cause them serious trouble. The British, after enduring much, find that they cannot sacrifice everything to business opportunities in Russia.—Chicago Daily News.

WISE POLICY.

One thing has become exceedingly clear in connection with Ontario's Government control law. It is that the commission headed by Mr. Hanna has every desire to avoid a repetition of the "circus day" features that accompanied the advent of 4.4 beer a couple of years ago. The commission has been vague in its announcements as to opening day, there have been a number of "hitches" in connection with the sale of permits, and now Mr. Hanna announces that the board had no intention of issuing liquor cards to tourists in the immediate future. People who come across the line with the express purpose of indulging in a "blow-out" will be disappointed, the Chairman intimates, adding that only bona fide travelers and tourists will be supplied with the certificates that permit the purchase of alcoholic refreshment.

Persons who view the Government control law largely from a mercenary standpoint will not be unduly enthusiastic over the moderation and caution that have so far marked the activities of Mr. Hanna's commission. Their visions of a "wide open" Province are being shattered. Liquor of all kinds will be sold, but the restrictions are to be pronounced, and the commission's attitude toward "free and easy" methods is not encouraging. On the other hand, The Border Cities Star believes that the great mass of public opinion will be thoroughly behind Mr. Hanna and his associates in the move-slowly policy they have adopted. The Province has had 10 years of theoretical prohibition. The people have decided on a change. It will not do, however, to make the move so rapidly and so carelessly that a worse condition than we have had and from which we are trying to escape, will be the result.

The people of Ontario, and particularly of border points like Windsor, have no very pleasant recollections of the day that marked the first sales of "4.4." We were inundated with visitors and the general atmosphere of the occasion was hardly desirable. American newspapers seized upon the event for the printing of all manner of lurid tales and the Province secured a great deal of advertising that was not of the best sort. The beverage offered for sale on this occasion was harmless enough—indeed that was the fault that many persons found with it—but the advertising it received, the highly-colored tales that accompanied its advent, left an unpleasant taste in the mouths of all good citizens.

It is apparent that Premier Ferguson and Chairman Hanna are working to prevent any such "opener" when the Government control plan takes effect. At this writing, there is still some doubt as to the actual day on which liquor will go on sale in some of the shops. So far as permits go, there has been no tremendous demand for them here, the average man having evidently come to the conclusion that one will be available when he wants it later on. The mad rush that was expected to follow the opening of the permit selling did not materialize, here or elsewhere.

Another interesting point is the official announcement that things are going to be hard for the man who tries to use another man's permit and who, of necessity, forges the other's signature. This will be looked upon as a serious offence, Toronto announces, and punished accordingly where guilt is established. From this and other intimations that are coming from the offices of the commission, it would seem that the public may expect a vigorous enforcement of the new act, a more than careful restriction on buyers, and a two-fisted war on persons who intend to persist in the business of selling liquor illicitly. Liquor will be available to the public a short time hence, but the commission intends to do all the selling, and Chairman Hanna seems determined to get that thought across to those who have other ideas.

Government control is a great experiment. Some persons think it is the last word in the solution of the liquor problem, but they are probably mistaken. Ontario tried the license system and got sick of it. Then for 10 years we had theoretical prohibition and it failed to give satisfaction. Now we are going to utilize something else. Let us hope that it will be more successful than the methods preceding it.—Border Cities Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Owing to the fact that foreign buyers showed no disposition to respond to the prices asked by local exporters, the export trade in Canadian grain here continued inactive.

The only business of importance transacted in cash grain in the domestic market was the sale of odd lots of Tough No. 3 Canadian Western oats at 3½c per bushed over the July option, c.i.f. Montreal. Owing to the further advance in oat futures at Winnipeg the spot market displayed further strength and prices were again marked up 1½c per bushel.

The undertone to the flour market was firm and the demand for Spring and Winter wheat grades was fair.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were well maintained under a quiet inquiry.

Owing to the steady advance in prices for oats in the Winnipeg market of late, a stronger feeling has prevailed in the local market for standard grades of rolled oats, and prices have been advanced 30 cents per bag. The volume of business was fair.

A feature of the potato trade was the weaker feeling that developed in the market, and prices scored a decline of 10 to 20 cents per bag. This was attributed to the marked increase in the receipts and the falling off in the demand. Sales of odd cars of New Brunswick Green Mountains were made at $2.45 to $2.50 per bag of 90 pounds, ex-track, and Quebec White B grade at $2.40 per bag with Reds at $2.00 to $2.10 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk, ex-track.

The egg trade continued quiet, but values were steady. The receipts were 1,994 cases.

An easier feeling developed in the butter market and prices were reduced ½c per pound, which was attributed to the lack of demand. The receipts were 1,530 packages.

While the demand for cheese was dull the undertone was strong and prices were marked up ½c per pound. The receipts were 3,564 boxes.

Was Nearly Crazy With Boils All Over His Body

Mr. S. L. Burke, Barronsfield, N.S., writes:—"For some time I was nearly crazy with boils all over my body. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of them, but to no avail, for as soon as one was healed up another would appear to take its place.

ALLEGRO CLUB RECITAL.

Omemee Pupils of Miss McKee Hold Regular Meeting.

OMEMEE, May 30.—The pupils of Miss Isobel McKee, known as the "Allegro Club," held their meeting at the home of Mrs. P. Parsons on Tuesday evening, with the majority of pupils present. The president, Miss Ethel Stephenson occupied the chair, and the following programme was given:—

Czerny, "Etude"; "Dancing Sprites"—Jessie Lamb.

"Country Gardens", Bertinl, "Etude, Op. 29, No. 8—" Ethel Stephenson.

"Cinderella", Slater—Jean Parsons.

"Daisy", Graham—Lorraine Irwin.

"Peter Pump", Slater—Frances MacPherson.

"The Little Volunteer," Guy—Jean McGinness.

"Sonatina", Clementi — Gertrude Pogue.

"Violet", Graham—Phyllis Morton.

"Wallflower," Graham—Donald Mahood.

"Yake Mignonne", Rolfe — Emily Mitchell.

"The Magic Forest", Heins—Floyd Parsons.

"Valse", Chopin, Op. 46, No. 2—Jane Earle.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

WHY FLAPPERS FLAP
By Dr. Frank Crane.

The Right Reverend Charles E. Woodcock from Chicago says: "Half a century ago, the girls wore dresses with long trains which dragged in the dirt and filth of the streets. They wore hoop skirts and bustles with Grecian curves. The sanitary phases of these outfits was anything but good. Today, our young women are dressed at least more hygienically."

This is the sensible view to take of the modern woman's clothes, but we often overlook the reason why she dresses so. In other words, why the "flapper flaps."

Let us ask ourselves why, in former times, women wore huge bustles, chignons and other outrageous styles. There is but one answer. They did it to keep in the fashion.

The one dominating rule of women's apparel, and also of men's for that matter, is style.

Women will go to any lengths and spend all kinds of money to be in the swim.

The dominating reason why flappers flap is because they all do it.

If it was the style to wear shoes with long pointed toes as formerly or to don a headdress sticking up two or three feet and elaborately constructed, all the girls would have them.

In the meantime let us give thanks that fashion in these days is at least hygienic and the shorter a girl's dress and the simpler her mode of coiffure the healthier she is apt to be.

And as far as that is concerned, the welfare of the coming generation will be better taken care of than by those who, as in former times, laced their waists and loaded their heads in the absurd following of the styles.

It is not fair, therefore, to criticize the younger generation of maidens because they expose their ankles or otherwise dress in scanty clothing, fo they are just doing what the r ancestors did; that is, they are following the styles.

Dame Fashion speaks without rhyme or reason. Sometimes she leads the human race into healthful habits and sometimes she acts in a manner most crazy and bizarre.

But let us not lay the blame of what we do to our reason only. It is merely he result of the universal habi of following the styles.

Every Workman a Guardian of Quality

INSPECTION . . . careful and uncompromising . . . is diligently carried out by General Motors of Canada through a large and competent, specially appointed staff.

This inspection deals with materials, with workmanship, with assembly . . . and will not tolerate the slightest variation from precision.

And, in addition, each veteran Canadian craftsman constitutes himself an inspector no less critical and exacting.

Each is just as truly a guardian of that high quality which is the solid foundation of General Motors' constantly rising position in public esteem.

So deeply rooted and doubly assured, General Motors precision manufacture is of the greatest importance to the owners of its cars . . . and to all who consider buying one.

It results not only in better performance and the matchless satisfaction of dependability. . .

It makes itself decidedly felt in those more important attributes of true value which are slow depreciation and long life!

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

ONTARIO LEADS IN PRODUCING CANNING CROPS

Canadian Factories Able To Thoroughly Cover Field of Supply.

INDUSTRY INCREASES.

Canneries Commence To Make By-Products During Slack Periods.

At the present time, Ontario and British Columbia are yielding far the largest supplies for the Canadian factories manufacturing jams, pickles, preserves, jellies, syrups, fruit juices, and sauces. It is in these provinces jam and preserving factories are numerous, and it may well be that they already cover the present field of supply. If, however, as pointed out in a report recently issued by the natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa, supply is an effect no less than a cause of a factory being established, there is no reason why there should not only be larger supplies and more factories in these provinces, and fields opened in other provinces for the same development. Apart from the peach and grape production which in Canada must, owing to climatic conditions, be always confined to Southern Ontario and Southern British Columbia; the Maritime provinces and Quebec are quite able to supply the other fruits demanded by the jam and marmalade industry, and have special advantages for its development which should not be overlooked. The report in question touches these industries at every angle and should be useful to both large and small-scale producers, and to associated or individual growers, who as yet find little or no profit from surplus and perishable fruits.

Keep Busy.

Since one of the difficulties that meet the factory is that of using the plant in the off season when the supply of produce diminishes or fails, suggestions are made by which this loss of time and interest on capital may be avoided. Extension and operation for this purpose is shown to spread to the manufacture of carbonated beverages, concentrated fruit juices and the use of imported products of the British Empire, such as oranges and pineapples and other materials grown in Australia, New Zealand, the British West Indies, Fiji and the Pacific area. Of special interest in this connection is the suggestion that a cocoanut oil or copra industry may be developed in Canada, and space has been found for the facts on which this suggestion is based.

Full Report.

Estimates are quoted for small and large scale production, and there is a detailed account of the production of fruits by provinces with a survey of the field for further extension of berry and small fruit growing in Canada. Information is also given on the supply of glass containers, sugar, fuel and power; on labor, including hours, wages and cost of living; in tariffs in Canada and elsewhere, taxation and incorporation and foreign and domestic markets. The excerpts from the Food and Drug acts cover adulteration, labeling, coloring matter and preservatives.

FLOCKS INCREASE.

Twenty Per Cent. of Canadian Wool Clip Comes From Southern Alberta.

Sheepmen are optimistic and many new flocks are being established in the great range country of Southern Alberta; where 20 per cent. of the total Canadian wool clip comes from, according to W. H. J. Tisdale of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers.

Sheep breeding being a major industry in Southern Alberta, there was not the same liquidation in holdings as took place in Eastern flocks when prices for both wool and lamb declined sharply at the close of the war period, but for awhile interest lagged. Now, however, the pendulum is swinging the other way. Moreover, many new breeders, particularly general farmers, are getting into the business. "These men," explained Mr. Tisdale, "are establishing small flocks; but small, in the West, means anywhere from one to five hundred animals. In the irrigation districts, particularly around Brooks and Vauxhall, sheep have been found to work in well with the special type of farming practised. The major crop there is alfalfa, which is sold in thousands of tons to the big sheep ranchers. On the relatively small farms where this alfalfa is grown, a band of a few hundred sheep will practically live on the waste, running in the fields after haying and harvest."

FORTY NATIONS.

All important Countries of the World To Be Present at Congress.

Ottawa.—Th forty nations of the world that have signified their intention of being officially represented at World's Poultry Congress to be held at Ottawa from July 27 to August 4 are: Finland, U.S.S.R. (Russia), Latvia, Poland, Germany, Holland, Denmark, Belgium, Spain, Italy, France, Roumania, Egypt, India, New Zealand, South Africa, Australia, United States, Bermuda, Barbadoes, Ecuador, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Peru, Dominican Republic, Cuba, Japan, Venezuela, Jugoslavia, Dutch East Indies, The Philippines, Burma, Newfoundland, Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Dutch East Africa, England, Scotland, and Northern Ireland. It is likely that Persia and Mexico will also have official representation, as inquiries have been received from both countries as to the steps necessary to link up with the 1927 Congress.

NATIONAL BIRD.

Above is shown the distinctive white-throated sparrow, proposed by Canadian naturalists as a national bird for Canada. Its back is brown mottled as the common English sparrow, with a grey breast and a pure white patch at the throat. The distinctive whistle, emulated by no other bird, is heard only when it is in its real home in the woods of Canada. The birds' sweet song is usually interpreted as follows:—I—Love—Dear —Canada, Canada, Canada."

BUREAU WANTS FARM RETURNS

Farmers Are Asked To Fill Out Agricultural Schedule By June.

FOR JUBILEE YEAR.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has made the customary arrangements for the collection and publication of the annual agricultural statistics of Canada for the year 1927. These statistics will be based upon returns to be collected next June from individual farmers upon cardboard schedules issued to them through the teachers and children of the rural schools. The schedule is a very simple one, calling only for the areas sown to field crops and the numbers of farm animals alive on the farm in mid-June. Upon the resulting estimates of total areas sown are based the preliminary, provisional and final estimates of yield, which are of supreme importance in connection with the movement, financing, distribution and sale of the principal cereals, especially of wheat of which Canada is now the world's leading exporter.

The present plans for the collection of these statistics have been followed annually since 1917, and the estimates based thereon have come to be confidently relied upon by all interested in the production and distribution of Canadian grain.

In connection with the celebration this year of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, accurate statistics are indispensable for a proper appreciation of the national progress, and in order to ensure that the statistics of the Jubilee year may be as accurate as possible, it is earnestly hoped that farmers throughout the Dominion will not fail to render the small service required by filling up and returning the schedule issued.

If any farmer should not receive the cardboard schedule by the middle of June he should apply for same either to the school teacher of the nearest local rural school, or to his provincial Department of Agriculture; or to the Dominion Statistician at Ottawa. The aim is to obtain a completed schedule from every farmer, as the more numerous the returns, the more trustworthy will be the resulting estimates.

LEGUME CROPS HELPFUL TO SOIL

Nitrogen in Soil is Noticeably Increased By Crop of This Kind.

For many centuries it has been recognized that plants belonging to the legumlnous family differ in a striking fashion from other cultivated plants in the effect which the crop growth produces upon the fertility of the soil. The custom of including a legume crop in the rotation was based upon the observations, made even in early times, that the productivity of the soil is noticeably better following a good growth of legumes—beans, peas, clovers, vetches, alfalfa, etc.—than after any non-leguminous crop. Even in the time of the Romans it was noticed that when certain legumes were grown in the field a subsequent crop of non-legumes showed improved growth. The legume has evidently left the soil richer.

The explanation of the difference between legumes and non-legumes, however, was not found until towards the end of last century, when it was shown that these two groups of plants differ with respect to the manner in which they obtain their supply of nitrogen. It was discovered that whereas all non-legumes are dependent upon the supply of nitrogen in the soil, legumes, under certain conditions are able to make use of the nitrogen of the atmosphere. Four-fifths of the air is composed of nitrogen, and legumes, by drawing on this supply which is quite unavailable to other plants, are able to conserve in a large measure the supply of that element in the soil. Not only this; the nitrogen in the soil may be noticeably increased by the growth of a legume crop if the nitrogen so gained from the air is returned to the soil, either by ploughing under or by returning the manure after the crop is fed to animals.

WILDERNESS IS TURNED INTO FERTILE FIELDS

Florida's Trackless Wastes Being Changed Into Useful Territory.

HIGHWAYS BUILT.

Big Returns Received in Spring From Crops of Garden Produce.

PALM BEACH.—The Everglades, that extensive swampy wilderness in southern Florida, have finally been put under man's control.

This change from a trackless, imposing waste to useful territory is still going on, but man has already as much as conquered its obstacles. Concrete roads cross it, drainage ditches plow through it, its lands are lined with growing plants.

Only a few years back this was the stronghold of the Seminoles, practically the last of the Indian tribes to hold back against the advance of white civilization. Only a few miles to the east, however, culture in its highest form has been disporting itself along the shores of Palm Beach, West Palm Beach and Miami.

Now, displacing the Seminoles, except for their small reservation, perspiring farmers are making a paying proposition of this great swamp, while within 50 miles the Vanderbilts, the Stotesburys and the Biddles bathe in the sunlight almost unaware of this great change.

Millions in Roads.

The transition from swampy wilderness in the Everglades has been in progress for some ten years, but the greatest activity has come since 1922.

Today, with the appropriation by the Florida legislature of $20,000,000 for the completion of the drainage of the Everglades, that hinterland of American antiquity stands on the threshold of its greatest importance.

Even now roads and railroads have been constructed in the erstwhile jungle in sufficient mileage to give almost adequate transportation. There is, for example, that 50-mile road built on centuries of muck and silt—the Conners Highway—constructed at a cost of more than $2,000,000 by W. J. Conners, Buffalo capitalist and publisher.

The Everglades counties, too, have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in highways. Three railroads have penetrated this land of the Indian canoe and moccasin.

Big Returns From Crops.

In agricultural development out of Palm Beach county alone 2500 cars of winter truck have gone north this winter as against 1000 cars last year. It is estimated the crops this season will yield more than $3,000,000. This money will be divided, theoretically, at least, among the 3000 families now inhabiting the Palm Beach county and greatest portion of the Everglades.

At present there are five principal shipping crops and three principal staples, grown in the Everglades. In the order of their importance the shipping crops are: Tomatoes, beans, potatoes, egg-plants and peppers. The three most important staple crops are sugar cane, corn and peanuts.

Of the shipping crops, the beans are the fastest and return quickest money, since a stand of them may be "made" in from 55 to 65 days and oftentimes in 40 or 45 days.

MORE RED CLOVER FOR SEED URGED

Home Grown Seed Is In Great Demand in Dominion of Canada.

The Dominion Seed Commissioner, Geo. H. Clark, in a statement issued recently, advises the farmers of Canada to increase their production of red clover seed in order to meet home requirements. At present, more than half the red clover seed used in Canada is imported, and yet the home-grown seed is the only safe seed to use. Canadian farmers have suffered serious losses in past years from the use of southern-grown red clover seed and many of them as a result have given up the production of this useful forage crop.

Mr. Clark urges a much greater production of this seed which ought, in the future to be highly profitable on account of the premium it will command in the market. In fact, even now, home-grown red clover seed brings ten cents a pound more than imported seed.

At the same time farmers who contemplate the production of red clover seed are warned to obtain hardy strains of Canadian-grown seed as their foundation stock. Farm seeds are sold in Canada under definite grade standards, based on freedom from weed-seed purity of stock, vitality and general appearance. Imported red clover and alfalfa seed must be stained to show its origin. Seed from the United States is stained orange, and that from Northern Europe or Chile, green, to the extent of one per cent in the sack, while seed from Italy, Africa, or from unknown source, is stained red to the extent of ten per cent. Canadian-grown seed for the home market does not require to be stained but must be stained violet for export to the United States.

LETTERS OF A FARMER'S WIFE

Dear Olive: I hope you are enjoying this beautiful morning. Who could be unhappy with such a perfect morning? The grass is such a lovely fresh green color, and overhead there is a deep azure-blue sky, dotted with white and grey, soft fleecy clouds. Some resemble great piles of fluffy down. Every tree and shrub is bursting forth with buds, soon to grow into leaves. Such a morning can not but fill us with new inspiration and hope. In the coming days of summer, we know not what will come forth; but trust that it will all be well, for the best in all things.

These days are certainly busy ones around these parts now. In getting the ground into shape for the crops, Ethelbert has made good headway this spring. With the snow going so early, he got at the plowing and fence-building, and other work. It really seems he has accomplished so much more than any other year since we have been on this place, although there is lots of work that should be seen to that doesn't get done any year.

Talk of people being out of a job. Pshaw! No such thing around here. No one who ever lived on this farm did much to beautify or fix things up especially, just did enough to make a living. I like to have a home looking as well as possible. We need to feast our eyes on nice things as well as to keep our bodies in health. I remember, when a little girl, making flower-beds, and sowing seeds, our old grandpa didn't care for "posies," and he used to say, when I would be fussing at them, "You can not eat flowers—might better put your time in on the vegetable garden," but he never convinced me to not have beauty-spots, as well as the vegetables.

This morning, we got up in good time—all the chores done, horses tended to and harnessed for the field, cows milked, calves fed, hens also, and pigs, our breakfast, reading and prayer all over—yes, and Ethelbert in the field and it's not eight o'clock yet. You didn't suppose we were striking such a gait?

I do love to get around in good time from spring until fall. The air is so fresh, early in the day. We feel much more like work when it's cool. I just hate to get up when it gets hot and have to go through all the routine of chores; it's the middle of the forenoon before the work is done. I don't feel nearly as much like going on with other things then.

We expect to get the corn in by the tenth, and also all the garden, except cucumbers, melons, and the stuff easily hurt by frost. I haven't my garden seeds planted yet. The land has been a little cold so far and, from past experience, I don't think it pays to rush the seeds in before the ground is warmed up well. The seeds do not germinate so quickly, and the growth is held back more than when the seed-bed is in good shape.

I intend to put in a lot of garden corn. We like it so well on the cob, and I make corn-salad for winter use. You should see my early tomato plants; they are fine healthy-looking plants, which I keep in the south windows. They made rapid growth, and to-day, for the first, I set them out on the south side of the house to get them used to the outdoor air.

We have a number of little new "bossy" calves, also lambs, since I wrote you last. Our cows are supplying us with pails of good rich milk these days. Such lovely yellow cream, from such green grass! I'd like to have some of our science men, or what ever they would call themselves, tell us how that is accomplished. The cows don't give the secret process away. I've never heard tell of a wiseacre yet that solved that mystery.

I am making a fine lot of golden butter now. I will churn our cream until the weather gets too warm, and then we will send it to the creamery until the cool days come again. I like to make the butter myself. We have the buttermilk to feed to the pigs. It means quite a loss to give all that good feed away, and the pigs just love it so well.

We are raising all our calves this year. Our pigs are a little late coming, so we will be able to feed the calves lots of milk, and they will have such a start that by the time the little pigs have to be weaned the calves can be weaned also, and be of a good size to go out on the pasture, to be of no more trouble.

I have been busy getting the hens set on eggs for the hatching later on. I set some turkey eggs; as I felt I couldn't get along without a few turkeys around, and I expect to set some Pekin duck-eggs, too. You know our creek is such an ideal place for them to spend their time; it all helps to bring in a few dollars to buy Christmas things with, as well as providing nice roasts for the table.

Oh! yes, there has been a great run of fish—suckers! We have had some. They're pretty good to eat when fried in butter, this time of the year. You'd think they were favorite fish with a lot of folks, for they come in cars for miles around to get them.

In the spring of the year, maple-syrup, horse-radish, and suckers all go together. I often think how mindful of us the dear Lord is. He knows just when to supply the right kind of things for our faded appetites. After the other fish begin to take bait, we wouldn't think of eating suckers, and when the garden greens come on we prefer them to horse-radish; also strawberries, and later fruits come ahead of maple-syrup. Everything has a place and time suitable for its need.

My greatest trouble just now is killing those large flies; they get in the kitchen and buzz around. I swat every one I can get near. They are the ones that create the millions of flies that will be around later in the season, so I go after every one I can, far and near.

Gracious! I looked up in time from this writing to discover that my bread, which was set to rise, had risen away up high in the pan. I had to scurry around and get the oven in shape so as it could be baking. I hope I have better bread to-day. I think I will, the dough is fine and spongy. The last couple of times I've baked bread, it has been a little coarse. I think I put too many potatoes in, so this time I just used the water from the draining of the potatoes, and it will be all right from all appearances.

Ethelbert has been setting out some second-growth maple trees around the yard; he has also changed some plum trees to better locations. He does that work on rainy days when he can not work on the land. You know this soil is clay loam, and if it gets too much rain it becomes sticky, and that means keep off until the dampness is gone. Where you live it is sandy soil, and can stand more rain and still be workable.

It's wonderful what a difference a few trees make in the appearance of a home. I have been removing some iris and perennials, peas, and other bulbs and roots to the new flower-beds we made last year. Nearly all my winter roots survived the frost last winter—a few were killed; the spider-lily and another kind of lily were dead this spring. Outside of those and some pansies, they all stood the test fine—and I am looking forward to seeing them when in flower later on.

How did Hazel and the boy get along with their Easter examinations? Eva passed well, getting good marks in all subjects. They will have a little lay-off for a few weeks, then they will have the finals. It gives them confidence, knowing just where they stand in the work to have these preliminary tests. Those who get good results now usually have no need to fear the June examinations, while those that get poor markings can dig in real hard and make up for their failings.

I notice that students for schools will have to take two years at Normal in the future. Some are protesting against it like sixty, too. There are many low-grade teachers throughout the country, yet all the professions appear to be oversupplied. Some few will have to do domestic work, as there seems to be a scarcity and great demand for girls along that line.

I've made a batch of cream cookies. They are real tasty. Drop in and have a cup of tea and cookies. Wish you could. The recipe is:

One and a half cups of granulated sugar; two cups of sour cream; one small teaspoon of soda; one and a half teaspoons of baking powder; one-half teaspoonful lemon extract; one-half teaspoonful vanilla extract; one teaspoonful salt.

Flour to roll out without sticking to the bake-board; have oven hot. You may put raisins or dates in each cookie-centre. They're good. Lovingly.

—Molly.

SALE RESTRICTED OF BLACK CURRANTS

Shrub is the Potential Host of White Pine Blister Rust.

Owing to the grave menace to Canada's most valuable of forest trees, viz., all five-leaved pines, caused by and through the fact that all types of black currants growing in their vicinity are potential hosts of the white pine blister rust it has been decided to discourage and, if possible, effect the discontinuance of the cultivation of black currants in all areas throughout the Dominion where the white pine may be considered a commercial forest tree.

The regulation does not affect the marketing of the fruits of any standard commercial variety of black currants, nor the sale of any standard commercial variety of gooseberries, red or white currants, and their fruits. The Act says:

"On and after June 1, 1927, it shall be illegal to sell or otherwise dispose of for planting or other purposes all species of black currants, including horticultural and standard commercial varieties thereof, within and throughout the Dominion of Canada, except within the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the counties of Brant, Bruce, Dufferin, Elgin, Essex, Grey, Haldimand, Halton, Huron, Kent, Lambton, Lincoln, Middlesex, Norfolk, Oxford, Peel, Perth, Waterloo, Welland, Wellington, Wentworth and York in the province of Ontario."

CUTWORMS DESTROY STRAWBERRY PATCH

Poison Bran Remedy Is Best Method To Fight Worms.

When cutworms are present in numbers in a strawberry patch or field, many of the plants will wilt and dry up overnight, and on examination will be found to have been cut off at or just below the ground level. The cutworms will likely be found coiled up just below the surface. They are smooth, cylindrical caterpillars about an inch or more in length, and of a dull colour, similar to the ground in which they hide. The poisoned bran remedy is the one now most used for the destruction of cutworms generally. The method of using it is described in detail in a new Dominion Department of Agriculture bulletin on strawberry growing, distributed by the Publications Branch of the Department at Ottawa. Twenty pounds of bran, one quart of molasses, one-half a pound of either Paris green or white arsenic, and two to two and a half gallons of water compose the mixture. The bran and poison are mixed thoroughly in a pail or wash-tub while dry. The molasses is dissolved in the water, and used to wet the bran and poison, stirring well to dampen the mixture thoroughly. For a small garden patch of strawberries a simple formula is one quart of bran, one teaspoonful of Paris green and one tablespoonful of molasses with sufficient water to moisten the bran. As soon as cutworm injury is noticed the mixture should be scattered thinly along both sides of the rows, after sundown. In gardens a small quantity of the material may be put around, but not touching each plant.

SUCCESS DUE TO SPRAYING APPLE TREES

Spraying Calendars May Be Secured From Agricultural Representatives.

THREE SPRAYS.

McIntosh and Snow Apple Trees Receive Fourth Application.

Prof. L. Caesar, of the Ontario Agricultural college, in a recent bulletin offers some timely advice on spraying matters, and the official lists 13 clauses for the consideration of those interested.

Spray Matters.

The pointers to growers are as follows:

You can not make a success of apple growing without good spraying.

Do not spray at all unless you are going to try to do it well. It will not pay.

You can not spray well without a good outfit which will give you plenty of pressure. So, overhaul the old spray machine at once, or if it is not satisfactory buy a new one with plenty of power.

Get a spray calendar from your agricultural representative, or from the provincial department of agriculture.

Use only the spray materials recommended in the spray calendar.

Do no spray when it happens to be convenient, but spray at the times the spray calendar says. The time of spraying is of vast importance and the times given in the spray calendar are based on years of study.

Omit none of the first three regular sprays; some years the first is the most important, some the second and some the third. Each spray helps to make the next more effective and each must be given to ensure clean fruit.

McIntosh and Snow trees should always receive a fourth application. Read what the spray calendar recommends under Special Sprays and Remarks and be guided by it.

For scab and codling moth cover both sides of every fruit and also cover every leaf. Scab attacks the leaves, too, and is often washed from them to the fruit. It will require from six to ten gallons for each tree 25 years old or upwards, not just two or three gallons.

Be sure the spray reaches right through the trees. To ensure this, go in, if necessary, underneath the tree and spray the part beyond the trunk first, then step back to the outside and spray the remaining part. Do this from both sides. Remember that it is the center or shaded part of the trees where scab naturally is worst and poor sprayers nearly always miss this side, though they often cover the sunny or outer side all right.

A tower, even with a spray gun, is a great help. Often it will suffice to stand on the tank. A saw-horse type of support along the center of the tank is a safeguard against falling off.

Do not use large openings in the discs of either nozzles or spray guns unless you have 225 pounds pressure or more. They are wasteful, make it difficult to maintain high pressure and give too coarse a spray.

In many cases better work will be done with a rod and two angle disc nozzle than with a gun. In any case, use some system in spraying so that you will make sure everything is being covered in a methodical way.

MANITOBA TO TRY AEROPLANE DUSTING

Hope To Control Stem Rust on Wheat on Western Plains.

Sulphur dusting from aeroplanes for the control of stem rust of wheat is to be tried out in Manitoba this season, according to an announcement from Ottawa and from the Dominion rust research laboratory at Manitoba Agricultural College.

Previous experiments both at the rust research laboratory and at somewhat similar research laboratories in the spring-wheat States to the south have proved sulphur dust to be highly effective in controlling rust when properly applied from the ground by hand-dusting machines, says The Manitoba Free Press. This method, however, is uneconomical both from the standpoint of amount and cost of dust used, and is of necessity restricted to a very limited area on account of the time and labor involved in its application.

Not a New Plan.

Following eagerly the splendid economic results of the application of poison dusts for the boll weevil in the cotton fields of Louisiana, their use against forest insect pests in Germany, their use against locust plagues in Russia and other similar experiments in other parts of the world in which the aeroplane has been the agent used, research workers in Western Canada have determined that the use of aeroplanes for applying dust on a commercial scale for rust control is quite feasible.

Three areas are to be selected in Manitoba for the experiment, the outcome of which will be watched with much interest, for on the success of the trial depend the expansion of the effort next year and a partial escape from rust losses until such time as resistant varieties of wheat are forthcoming.

SOFTENING OF HARD WATERS

Five Methods Whereby Waters May Be Made Suitable For Laundry Purposes.

LESS SOAP USED.

Moderately hard waters are agreeable to drink and are probably helpful in bone formation in the animal and human economy. On the other hand, in the household and laundry, in addition to their being wasteful of soap, hard waters are disagreeable and troublesome. Further, their property of causing chalky deposits in kettles, boilers and hot pipes is distinctly objectionable.

1. Boiling will partially remove "temporary hardness," which is due to the presence of bi-carbonate of lime and magnesia. The chemical explanation of this well-known action is that boiling breaks up the bi-carbonates, driving carbon dioxide out of the water as gas. Simple carbonates of lime and magnesia are left, which, being practically insoluble in water, are deposited in the form of a whitish scale or "precipitate." This deposit or precipitate will settle to the bottom of the vessel, allowing the now softened and practically chalk-free water to be poured off from the top.

2. Lime will also remove "temporary hardness" from water. This seems at first sight contradictory, as it is adding lime in order to remove (carbonate of) lime. "Clark's lime process" of softening water is, however, well-known and established and is used extensively in large city reservoirs. The explanation is that fresh lime robs the bi-carbonates of half their carbon dioxide, all the lime falling to the bottom as simple mono-carbonate of lime.

3. Carbonate of soda (sal soda) and borax will eliminate "permanent hardness" (due to the presence of chlorides and sulphates of lime and magnesia). Carbonate or borate of lime and magnesia are formed, again falling to the bottom as a whitish deposit. The resulting "sodic" water is not very palatable to drink, but is satisfactory for laundering purposes.

4. Zeolites or permutits are all complex silicates. They possess an extremely important property of exchanging bases. This exchange property is utilized in water-softening, the lime and magnesia in the water displacing the sodium of the permutit, while the sodium passes away in solution. When the permutit ceases to be effective, regeneration is simply and efficiently carried out by passing through the permutit (which now has calcium or magnesium for its base), a weak solution of common salt, and in this case the calcium and magnesium are carried away in solution, leaving the permutit again ready for water-softening purposes. Certain commercial firms in Canada and the United States make it their business to install the necessary fittings in factories and dwellings for the full working of the zeolite method of water-softening, preliminary to the use of the water in a boiler or a heating system.

5. Distillation will free water from all dissolved minerals, including "hardness." This extreme measure has to be resorted to where the salinity is due to minerals which can not be removed by precipitation; for example, chloride and sulphate of soda. The objection to distillation is its expense and the "flat" nature of the product—due to absence of any dissolved air. The distillate may be artificially aerated by pouring it several times from one vessel to another. In some semi-arid districts of Alberta, where no better sources of water can be found, water-stills must be permanently installed in the houses in order to secure a regular supply of potable water.—Frank T. Shutt.

Cattle Exhibitors Must Show Just Tuberculin-Tested Stock

All cattle exhibited at the Royal Winter fair in future must be tuberculin-tested. One clear examination will have to be vouched for before entries will be accepted, and the supervision of federal veterinaries. The directors decided on this course this week.

The Royal is the first show in Canada to adopt the compulsory T.B. test, and it is expected that the directors of the Canadian National exhibition will make a similar announcement at the next session.

In the grain class it was suggested that the seeds be dyed after judging so that the entries could not be shown again, but as it was argued that this might impair the quality, no action was taken. It was decided, however, to accept a smaller quantity for exhibition.

APIARIES ARE EXAMINED FOR FOUL BROODS

Clean-up Campaign Has Been Conducted in Peterborough and Surrounding Counties.

IMPROVEMENTS SHOWN.

Destruction of Colony Only Safe Method of Eliminating Foul Broods.

During the season of 1926 a total of 40,366 colonies of bees were examined by inspectors in Ontario working under the direction of Prof. F. E. Millen. These colonies were located in 34 counties. A total of 4,134 colonies were found to be infected with American foulbrood; of these 3,184 were destroyed and 404 were treated. The destruction of the contents of the infected colonies and the treatment of other infected material by the inspector is the certain method of eliminating American foulbrood.

Good Record.

The result of a "clean up" campaign conducted for two seasons in Peterborough, Hastings, Durham, Northumberland and Prince Edward counties are worth noting. In 1925 a total of 5,003 colonies were examined and foulbrood found in 617. Eleven of the colonies were treated and 636 destroyed. In the same areas in 1926 a total of 5,168 colonies were inspected and disease found in 96 of them, a considerable reduction from the previous season. All of the 96 colonies were destroyed.

The only certain method of eliminating American foulbrood to the point where it will do little damage is destruction by the inspector of the contents of all infected colonies. Educational methods alone, with the choice of treatment left to the beekeeper, simply means the spread of the disease. Many beekeepers will attempt to save some of the infected material and carry over the disease infected colonies until some time later in the season.

Heavy Loss.

Inspection of apiaries in Ontario has been in operation for the past 20 years, and for the greater part of this time beekeepers were allowed to treat disease-infected colonies, with the result that American foulbrood spread to many places where it did not previously exist and caused many thousands of dollars' loss to the beekeeping industry.

INDUSTRY DEPENDS ON SANITARY MILK

With Clean Milk Manufacturer Turns Out High Grade Products.

The welfare of the whole of the dairying industry is intimately bound up with the sanitary quality of the milk produced on our farms. Even more than the average milk producer perhaps realizes, the quality of our Canadian cheese, butter, condensed and powdered milk, ice-cream, as well as of the milk and cream consumed in liquid state, is dependent in no small measure upon the efforts which he as an individual puts forth to produce what is called clean milk. In the last analysis the degree of excellence which these various raw and manufactured products are able to attain will be limited by the degree to which the producer is able to deliver a pure product. The subsequent handling, of course, is likewise of great importance but no manufacturer, no cheesemaker no butter-maker, no city dairy can raise the quality of its product higher than the quality of the milk delivered at the receiving vat.

It is gradually being realized that quality in milk depends on something more than the percentage of butter fat contained, but in Canada we have still far to go in the matter of just remuneration to the producer on the basis of cleanliness. The introduction of the system of payment on the basis of butter-fat content was a proper step but so far the equally just system of payment according to sanitary quality is not in force to the same extent. Yet in spite of this, the production of clean milk, while entailing more care is worth while, bringing benefit to the producer as well as to the consumer. A better grade of butter, cheese or milk-powder resulting from a better grade of raw milk will inevitably react to the advantage of the producer. While the gain may seem indirect yet it is bound to affect the individual sooner or later. Furthermore, improvement in the sanitary quality of a milk supply will directly benefit the producer by reducing the losses due to having milk rejected as sour, tainted, or otherwise unsuitable. If any further incentive to produce clean milk is required, it is only necessary to mention the lessened danger to the health of the producer's family and his stock which undoubtedly follows the adoption of clean, sanitary methods about the farm.

Confederation and After— Sixty Year Of Progress

THE FIRST DOMINION PARLIAMENT

On July 1 (Dominion Day), Lord Monck, who had been Governor General of British North America since November 2, 1861, announced his appointment as Governor General of the Dominion of Canada. By the authority of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, on that day, he conferred the Order of Knighthood on John A. Macdonald, and the honour Companionship of the Bath on S. L. Tilley, Charles Tupper, Georges Etienne Cartier, A. T. Galt, Wm. McDougall and W. P. Howland. These honours were conferred in recognition of the part the recipients had played in bringing about the Union of Canada and the Maritime Provinces.

On the following day, Lord Monck was sworn in as Governor General and Sir John A. Macdonald, at his request, formed a Coalition Government of both Conservatives and Liberals. The first House of Commons consisted of 181 members—82 from Ontario, 65 from Quebec, 19 from Nova Scotia and 15 from New Brunswick. Simultaneously the Senate came into being. It consisted of 72 members, appointed for life, 24 from Ontario, 24 from Quebec, 12 from Nova Scotia, and 12 from New Brunswick.

The first Dominion Parliament held in all five sessions. During the first Wm. McDougall moved a series of resolutions praying that Rupert's Land and the Northwest Territories be added to the Dominion. These resolutions bore fruit and on June 23, 1870, an order of the Queen-in-Council transferred the territory designated to Canada. A Bill was also passed empowering the Government to raise money for the construction of the Intercolonial Railway.

While the Dominion Government was in session the Legislature of Nova Scotia prayed the Queen for a repeal of the Act of Union, so far as related to Nova Scotia, but, due largely to the acute manipulation of Charles Tupper, the repeal movement came to naught, and the Imperial Government would not consent to the province withdrawing from Confederation. Early in March, 1868, the first Canadian three-cent letter stamp was issued, and on April 1, Post Office Savings Banks were first opened.

During the second session the Government was faced with a momentous question. The half-breeds of the Red River, under Louis Riel, were made to bring about a peaceful settlement, but during the third session of Parliament an Expeditionary Force under Col. Wolseley had to be sent to quell the uprising. Wolseley won a bloodless victory, the rebels fleeing at his approach.

The fourth session saw the conclusion of the Treaty of Washington, a treaty that dealt with such important questions as the San Juan boundary, the fisheries, and the navigation of the St. Lawrence, and the Canadian Canals. While the House was in session the Imperial Parliament passed the "B.N.A. Act, 1871," granting the Parliament the right to create new provinces. On July 20, 1871, British Columbia was admitted to the Dominion.

After the close of the fifth session, Parliament dissolved. The Coalition principle was abandoned and the ensuing election, from which the Conservatives emerged victorious, took place along strictly party lines.

ANNUAL MEETING WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Several Speakers at Meeting of Mount Pleasant Branch.

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 27.—The annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant Branch of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday evening in the Temperance Hall and was a decided success. There was a large audience of both men and women present to hear the speakers, despite the fact that it was a bad night. The speakers of the evening included the following: Mrs. M. E. Lowe, Toronto, delegate sent by the Department; Mr. F. C. Patterson, district agricultural Representative of Port Hope; Mr. S. S. Staples, ex-M.P., Ida; Mr. A. J. Fallis, ex-M.P.P., Millbrook.

Mrs. Ira Lowe, the local president, opened the meeting, and after all had joined in singing the Opening Ode, she invited Mrs. T. A. Skitch, the District President from Bailieboro, to take the chair.

Mrs. Skitch said she always appreciated the invitation which was extended to her every year from the Mount Pleasant Branch and always enjoyed attending the meeting. she also spoke in terms of praise to the branch for the many activities in which they have engaged in during the past year. Before calling on the first speaker of the evening, Mrs. M. E. Lowe, Mrs. Lowe spoke along the line of Institute work, she said the Women's Institute of Ontario is one of the most wonderful organizations in the world, the first Institute was organized at Stoney Creek on February 19th, 1897, with Mrs. Hoodless as President, and with a lapse of thirty years we now have 1,050 branches with a membership of 35,000.

She said there were always onlookers, who sat back and said the Institute was run by a clique of women, but the clique were found to be the busiest women in the Institute, while others sat back in their seats and criticize and never do anything themselves.

She advised having a roll call, and using it. If you read anything in the paper that makes you laugh, pass it on, she claimed it advisable to have a "home and school" committee in the Institute to stand behind the teacher and see that she gets a good boarding house and that the school is kept clean.

Mrs. Lowe said she once helped Dr. Mackenzie Smith inspect schools and the child should be trained to never drink after anyone else, and never to wipe after any one; drinking cups and sanitary towels should be placed in the schools, those are the things that spread disease in the schools, a horticultural and an agricultural committee, who will plant bulbs and flowers and beautify the school grounds, sick-visiting committe, and a well visiting committee, and a musical committee.

She spoke of the Demonstration and Lecture Courses which were all sent free from the Department, advising to take full advantage of them.

She said to be on time at every meeting, and don't plan to be there at three o'clock if the meeting starts at half-past two.

Mr. C. Patterson.

The next speaker was Mr. Patterson, who, in his opening remarks, stated that he was glad that he was invited to speak at Mount Pleasant as he felt that in his six and one-half years in office that he had not visited this part of the county as often as he should.

He told of the many different activities throughout the county; of the Boys' Stock Judging competition, with its trip to Chicago as the first prize, mentioning that a like group might be formed among the young girls, from sixteen to twenty-five in the rural districts with the local Institute interested in the matter, the group could compete in judging: sewing, baking, home decorating, etc.

He also explained the advantage of farmers culling their poultry flocks, saying it was impossible for him to go to every farmer who wants his flock culled, but there are about twenty others who are thoroughly trained in this line, and whose services are available after a certain period of the year for the small fee of three cents a bird, or even less if a number of farmers in the same locality were having their flocks culled.

He stressed the importance of farmers growing alfalfa to a much better advantage than timothy hay and mentioned the value of spraying for scab in apple orchards.

An interesting feature of his address was the explanation of the "farmers' auto tour" which will start on Monday, June 20th and travel till Friday. The bus will leave Port Hope and travel to Toronto and thence to Brampton, Guelph, Galt, Woodstock, London, Ridgetown, Leamington, Kingsville, Windsor, Detroit, Toledo, Ohio and Buffalo. The bus will hold thirty-four, two seats being held in reserve, one for the driver and one for the guide, with the entire trip costing the minimum sum of forty dollars. Many of the gentlemen were interested in this trip. Durham is the first county in which a tour of this kind is given.

Mr. A. J. Fallis.

Mr. Fallis was the next speaker and in his excellent delivery gave an interesting address. Mr. Fallis is interested in Institute work, being Secretary of the local branch of Farmers' Institute for a period of ten or twelve years. He said the Institute deserves great credit in the way it has flourished till it is the greatest organization in the Dominion.

He said the only way for greater success in the Institute work was to perpetuate the work in order to make advancement. He would like a better understanding of the city and rural districts if Canada was going to make progress as it should and it will only be through co-operation.

He would like education in the country to be equal to what the city child has, so that the rural section would have a high school education; if we are going to improve ourselves we have got to enlarge our opportunities.

He spoke of the boys leaving the farm, saying there was no place much better than the farm. Some boys are not suited for farm life, but try and find out if the boy is adapted for farm work, and get him located in the position which he will be better suited for. Treat the boy on the farm as a partner, take them more into confidence about the work, make them feel they are partners with you, let them enter some branch of the farming for themselves; the pigs, or the calves, etc., to make pocket money. Give the girls some poultry to raise and sell, and this training will better equip her for a wife on the farm. There never was a time in history when people were more anxious for education. Try and encourage the boys to remain on the farm, and this will accomplish a well-directed effort.

The next speaker was Mr. S. S. Staples, who was prepared to give an address on the "Progress of Canada Since Confederation," but, owing to the lateness of the hour he thought it better to not detain the audience, who were very sorry not to hear Mr. Staples give his address.

Mr. Staples stressed the appreciation of the audience and himself on the development of the pupils at the piano, who assisted with the evening's program. In conclusion Mr. Staples told of an account of an incident, which was found in library documents, of a man by the name of Richard Lovekin, one of the descendants of the Anglo-Saxon race, who came out and located in Durham, heaved a home out of the forest, and after he had finished he had one hundred and fifty dollars more than he started. He hid it in something and hid it in the valley of a beech tree and went home for his family, but when he came back the following year, he found that a beech had intervened the cavity, and the money was missing. Some time later the money was found under by in a squirrel's nest.

The following was the programme given:—

1. Open Ode.
2. Piano Duet (Annie Gorham, Dorothy Morden).
3. Address, Mrs. M. E. Lowe, Toronto.
4. Piano Duet (Kathleen Sisson, Helen McLean).
5. Address, F. C. Patterson, Port Hope.
6. Piano Duet (Ruth Tully, Grace Best).
7. Address, A. J. Fellis, Millbrook.
8. Instrumental, Alma Downer.
9. Address, S. S. Staples, Ida.
10. Piano Duet, Emma Fee, Kathleen Sisson.

"God Save The King."

At the conclusion of the programme the speakers and all those who contributed to the programme were invited to remain while refreshments were served them.

These Tire-Mates prolong the life of your tire

THE most expensive part of a tire is the casing. Dominion Royal Tubes are built to protect and prolong the life of the casing.

You may save a dollar by buying a cheap tube and lose many times that amount in damage to the casing of your tire.

Dominion Royal Tubes are uniform and smooth in action. They are non-porous and do not gradually leak so that the casing runs at too low an air pressure, which causes irreparable damage before the driver is aware that his tire is in danger.

The Dominion Royal Tube and Dominion Royal Cord Balloons fit each other with precision and exactitude, making them perfect in their action. In fact, any tire would be the better for using Dominion Royal Tubes because there is not a better tube made.

TORY MEMBER CHARGES LIBEL

Col. Grant Morden Issues Writ Against William MacKinder, Labor M. P.

WAITED FOR ATTACK

LONDON, May 31 (United Press).—Col. Grant Morden has had a writ issued against William MacKinder, the Labor member of the House of Commons for Shipley, charging him with libel. The writ will be served today.

"I am not going to stand for libels uttered on the public platform," Colonel Morden told the British United Press today.

"I waited all yesterday afternoon with a speech prepared in answer to Labor's proposed plan to take me to task for my remarks during last week's heated debate, but they failed to do so. The tories are pleased that I am having the writ served."

OFFICE MOVED AS CONVENIENCE

Peterborough More Accessible Than Norwood, Says Agricultural Representative.

OFFICE HERE OPENED

The removal of the office of the Peterborough representative of the Provincial Department of Agriculture from Norwood to this city, was dictated largely by the consideration that the county town, on account of its greater accessibility, was the most logical place for the location of such an office, J. B. Nelson told The Examiner this morning.

Mr. Nelson takes the place of F. C. McCrae, who has been removed to Alexandria, Glengarry, after thirteen years of service in this county. Mr. McCrae was well known among the farming communities all over the county, and was a familiar figure as a judge at ploughing contests, breeders' associations and school fairs, enjoying a deserved popularity among the local agriculturists.

The new office which is located at 287 George street, formerly ocupied by the Hydro, aims to assist farmers' clubs, live stock breeders, associations, boys and girls' clubs and cow testing associations, and will give directions in school fairs and agricultural and home economics.

Fifteen different farm journals are kept and filed in the office, all of them being available for perusal by local farmers. The office is in fact a bureau of information for farmers; free bulletins are issued and a large library of books is kept on the premises for reference or for lending out. The use of the office as a meeting place for farmers' organizations is free, the only requirement being reasonable notice in advance.

Mr. Nelson, who was born and reared on the farm, graduated in 1924 from the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. During the past two years he has been engaged in representative work in Huron and Grey counties. With a wide knowledge and experience he is prepared to discuss problems either with individual farmers or with organizations.

WOOLER INSTITUTE SOCIAL SUCCESSFUL

Many Attend "At Home," Including Visitors From Nearby Points.

WOOLER, May 31.—A most enjoyable "at home" under the auspices of the Women's Institute was held in the town ahll on Friday evening. Mrs. Dr. Anderson, chairman of the committee of management, was to be congratulated on the decoration of the hall which was very attractive. Guests were there from Campbellford, Brighton, Frankford, Hilton, Colborne, Codrington, Belleville and Trenton. The Stewart orchestra was much appreciated and enjoyed. At 11 p.m. refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

Mr. Storey, of Campbellford, charmed the company with two vocal numbers. The porceeds of the evening were eighty dollars.

The Memorial park is very attractitve with its beautiful display of tulips and green lawn. The Women's Institute has engaged J. J. Way as caretaker for the ensuing year.

William Easton and William Esli Easton, accompanied by Mrs. John Easton ,and her father, William H. Anderson ,of Rochester, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Esli Terrill.

Mrs. S. Palmer has returned home after spending several weeks in Toronto.

Mrs. A .G. Austin was taken suddenly ill and is confined to her bed.

Miss Sadie Dulmas is spending a few days' holidays in Belleville, and will then take up her new work in assisting Mr. and Mrs. Groff at 12 O'clock Park for the summer.

The young people of the Friends churc are practising for the quarterly meeting, which will be held June 4th and 5th at the Friends church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ellis spent the 24th at Picton.

DON'T ORDER HOT CAKES.

LONDON, May 31.—A homesick and pancake-hungry American wandered into an old London inn recently and found just what he wanted on the menu. "Half a dozen pancakes," he ordered nonchalantly. The waiter gasped, but brought them—and a check for $1.50. To the protesting guest he explained that the hotcake is eaten singly in England, and serves for dessert.

WOMEN FAVOR CURFEW RULE

Most Mothers of City Would Have it Enforced Strictly.

CHIEF FAVORS LAW

The Examiner, in an effort to discover what the women of the city think about the curfew law and its enforcement, gained an expression of opinion from the presidents of the Home and School Associations, who represent, probably, the majority of the mothers of the city, the membership of these societies being made up mainly of parents of children who would be affected by the by-law, which says that all minors of sixteen years of age or under, shall be off the streets by nine o'clock in the evening. Mrs. C. H. Edwards, president of the Local Council of Women, which is composed of affiliated societies of various types, also expressed the opinion that the curfew law, if enforced rigidly, would be an excellent thing for the city. In Ottawa, where Mrs. Edward formerly resided, the Juvenile Court took care of most of these cases, and the curfew law is strictly enforced.

Mrs. W. Andrews, president of the King Edward Home and School Association, thinks that there are far too many children on the streets after nine o'clock at night. "The street is no place for children, at any time, but certainly not after that hour at night."

Mrs.G. Worboy, president of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association, didn't see any urgent necessity for the by-law or its enforcement.

Mrs. R. Parnall, president of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, thought it would be a very good thing. "Children nowadays are allowed out much later than they were some years ago."

Mrs. C. R. Banks, president of the Queen Mary Home and School Association, was also in favor of the by-law. "There seem to be so many little boys on the streets at night that should certainly be at home."

Mrs. W. H. Lacey, president of the Central Home and School Association, remarked on the number of 'teen age boys and girls who are on the streets at night at late hours, and may be observed when drives are taken around the city. "Times have changed a good deal in this regard from what I remember when I was that age, and I don't think they have changed for the better, either."

Mrs. Ada Craig, president of the King George Home and School Association, thought that a large number of children appeared to be clustered around the street corners at late hours. "There isn't much use in one mother calling in her children, either, when the other children remain out on the street." A good deal of danger to small children, in Mrs. Craig's opinion, was manifested at the corner of Rogers and Hunter Streets, near her home in Ashburnham, in the speedy traffic which is noticeable there, where the cars from the hospital and the factory come along at a high rate of speed.

Chief Newhall said that the by-law relating to the curfew was enforced as carefully as was possible.

"The difficulty with some of these young girls," said the Chief, "is that there are plenty of girls under sixteen who act as sensibly on the streets as girls of eighteen or more, and then there is another thing: you can't tell these days, the way they dress, whether a woman is sixteen or sixty. It wouldn't hurt some of the parents to look after their children better than they do. They are off to various entertainments at night and the children may be in the house or out of it, as far as some of them are concerned."

There are many of the children of the city, far more than the majority of people would imagine, who are constantly being rounded up at night by the police officers, and brought into the station or sent home. An example of the way in which some mothers look after their offspring is the child who afterwards was drowned off one of the city's wharves, which was time and again brought in off the streets at night by the policemen.

"EVERY BONE ACHED" SAYS WM. LEE

Mr. Lee lives at 565 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont. "If I live to be 100," he said recently. "I'll praise Tanlac for the great boon of health it brought me. It stopped nine years of awful suffering for me.

"Every bone in my body ached and often for 3 or 4 nights at a time I could not close my eyes in sleep. Indigestion upset my nervous system and kept me in constant pain. Bloating and cramps were chronic.

I spent hundreds of dollars for treatments and remedies during those nine years, but none of them gave me any real help. But Tanlac helped me from the very first and soon put me back in excellent condition. I gained 17 lbs. weight and have enjoyed the finest health since then."

Tanlac is nature's own tonic and body builder made from roots, barks and herbs. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

BALLOONS PASS OVER ROCHESTER

Headed Over Lake Ontario in North-easterly Direction.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 31 (Canadian Press).—A balloon believed to be one of the fifteen which started from Akron, Ohio, in the national elimination race, and whose whereabouts were unknown early to-day, passed over East Henrietta and Roselawn, suburbs of Rochester, at six o'clock this morning. It was flying due north-east, a course which would take it over Lake Ontario. Another balloon passed over Morton, twenty miles west of here, at 4.30 a.m., headed out over Lake Ontario, in a north-easterly direction. It is sixty miles to the Canadian shore from the point where the balloon was seen.

THREE COME DOWN.

NEW YORK, May 31.— (Canadian Press.)—Three balloons competing in the national race were reported to have come down up to 2.10 this afternoon. The navy balloon Number 3 landed at Mottville, N.Y., the army balloon S243 at Martinsburg, N.Y., and another at present unidentified at Pope Mills, seventeen miles south of Ogdensburg, N.Y.

ONE PASSES KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 31.—(Canadian Press.)— Shortly after eleven o'clock this morning one of the fifteen balloons which started yesterday from Akron, Ohio, passed over this city on its way east. The balloon sailed low over the Portsmouth penitentiary. Its occupant hollered to the guard, on duty at the gate of the penitentiary, asking where they were. The balloon was from the St. Louis Rotary Club.

ONE LANDS AT BROCKVILLE

BROCKVILLE, May 31. — Canadian Press. — A Rotary Club of St. Louis balloon landed six miles west of here at 11.30 a.m. to-day.

WRIGHT ENTRY CABLED.

Toronto Oarsman To Go To England To Compete For Diamond Sculls.

TORONTO, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Joe Wright, Jr., young Toronto oarsman, who won the singles championship in the American Henley at Philadelphia on Saturday, has been entered in the diamond sculls, world's premier rowing championship, at Henley, England. The entry was cabled last night.

Following his race in the American Henley, it was decided late last night to enter him for the diamond sculls. The entry was cabled by the Argonaut Rowing Club.

If Wright goes to England he will leave within two weeks, train over the Henley course for ten days or more, and row in the famous regetta on the first three days of July.

If the funds for the trip are not raised the entry will be scratched, and in that case it is probable that he will row in Philadelphia on July 4 in the People's Regatta.

THE HALL STORE

CAR IS CROWDED INTO DEEP DITCH

One Driver Says Other One Failed To Give Signal When Turning.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. — The intersection of Bridge and Ranney streets, was the scene of an auto smash up that drew considerable attention and discussion about 7.40 last night. Jack Adams and Wilbert Reid were making their way up Bridge street, Adams in a car with blinds, and Reid in a coupe. When nearing Ranney street, Adams, it is said, went to make his usual turn on Ranney street, to reach his home. Reid claims that Adams gave no signal that he was making the turn, and crowded him into a four foot ditch. Reid's coupe sustained a broken right front wheel, and Adams car carries a damaged fender.

Mr. Adams appeared before town council about an hour after the accident and made a suggestion that the ditch be filled in, stating that it had been the scene of other accidents.

Mr. Reid sustained injuries to the left leg, but at the time not thought serious enough to require medical attention.

SYNTHETIC MADNESS.

LYNN, Mass., May 31.—Citizens scattered in terror when a dog came trotting down a boulevard, white froth on his mouth and evidently in pain. Policemen, answering a riot call, levelled their guns at the dog, took another look and laughed. He had been drinking white paint, at least enough to make him require the attention of a doctor with a stomach pump.

English houses with a reputation for being haunted are no longer drugs on the market. A well-authenticated "ghost" now makes a house much in demand.

The Jubilee Celebration

Notes by the Secretary, F. H. Dobbin.

Members of the committee of ladies having in hand details of the pageant, met at the Council Chamber on Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell of Toronto, accompanied by Mr. Tate, the expert electrician working with Mr. Mitchell, were present to give additional information in general as to the placing of the performance on the Exhibition grounds and to outline what had been devised to take the place of the natural advantages found at the proposed site, on the canal, adjacent to the crossing of the Norwood Road.

Mrs. Stevenson briefly placed before the gathering a short verbal sketch of the proceedings already taken and preparations made so far with regard to the business in hand.

The Mayor briefly told of the action of the City Council in agreeing to supplement any deficit, if such should occur, with assistance from the civic funds, thus setting at rest any misgivings as to complications should the proceeds of the days not meet expenses.

Mr. Mitchell was asked to discuss the situation in the light of making use of the Exhibition grounds, instead of the proposed natural setting for the pageant, also to outline what was involved in the preparation and work to be done locally, outside of such properties as would be supplied by himself and Mrs. Mitchell. He said, in reply to an enquiry, that he would expect to be paid a reasonable fee for his own and Mrs. Mitchell's services. Outside of this sum, the local committee would find everything needed. But he added that in the preparation and putting on of a pageant in Toronto, early in the following month, a large number of excellent costumes would be used, and these he would placed at use of the committee, for a moderate sum, thus lessening the cost to the local committee of the Woman's Council and lightening the work entailed.

He said he regretted the doing away with the natural setting for the pageant, as the use of this would have materially lessened the preparatory expenses. However, the Council had given its assistance based on the Exhibition grounds being made use of.

He referred to the necessity for a background against which the movement of the pageant would be displayed. He proposed to make use of a very old Greek plan device when flat surface of ground were to be utilized, as in the amphitheatre of the ancient public arenas. This would lessen the expenses and be wonderfully effective. Nine columns high and apparently massive, would be built, triangular in form. These would be of skeleton construction, and not necessarily heavy, covered with a wire sheathing, and interlaced with evergreens, but leaving spaces covered with canvas for colored decorations in three schemes of color, one on each sde. As these columns were turned, in the course of the presentation, three schemes of decoration and background would be presented.

Each column would turn on a pivot, separately supported on a post sunk in the ground to a considerable depth. As the surface of the column would be triangular, the wind pressure would be lessened by presenting the angle to the wind. The set of nine columns would be placed before the grand stand and "staggered" in such way as to present an effective background. The search lights and spot lights, thrown on the roof of the grand stand, would not show a light above the tops of the columns. The whole thing would be most pleasingly effective. The cost to build and place these columns should not exceed $350.00, and in the future they might form a useful adjunct to any further display on the grounds, should some form of entertainment require them.

No platforms would be required. The movement of the pageant, the approach of the several scenes would all take place on the turf. Something in the way of wings would be placed at the ends of the row of columns to screen the operations of changes of personnel, marshalling of the groups participating and the movements of those advancing and retiring. With skilful management of the lights, the several presentations would emerge out of the gloom of the night, and when the presentation closed, for each picture as presented, the mass of characters would fade away into the background. A reader's stand, to be used by one ready to prompt the movements should there be any hesitation, would be needed.

The lighting was explained by Mr. Tate, who has had long and varied experience in such presentations. Mr. Turner supplied the information that the lighting appliances acquired by the Exhibition Board, were at the service of the directors of the pageant, and Mr. Tate said he was pleased to find that such a varied and effective equipment was at hand, materially lessening the outlay for this essential feature of the presentation. He added that Peterborough being known as the Electric City, was thus living up to its reputation as a good provider.

Seriously pertinent to the whole display was the matter of costumes. Mr. Mitchell explained that two weeks before the date of the celebration, Mrs. Mitchell would have available about 300 costumes, practically fresh and appropriate, and would bring these to supplement those prepared by the local management of the pageant. Certain features and episodes could be garbed from the assortment. All this would tend to lessen the expenses, and also the work of preparation. It might be necessary to employ local dressmakers to refit and alter where such was necessary. But all this would be done in the simplest way to answer the needs of the two evening's display. It was not thorough work that would be required.

Mr. Mitchell and his wife will make visits to this city to plan the work going forward, and after June 16th will come to the city and stay until after the whole celebration is concluded.

Enquiry was made by Mr. Chenhall as to the music required. Mr. Mitchell said that he would at once send such scores as would be useful, and that others were now in the hands of the men who would prepare the instrumentation necessary. From what he had learned in his two visits to the city he had a fair conception of what would be required in presenting such local features as the Women's Council Directors would suggest as applicable. Features to be used would be a number of songs, nothing very difficult, and mostly familiar melodies. Several Indian chants would be rehearsed, and these while quaint and strange would be readily mastered under practice. These Indian melodies were wonderfully effective.

In the meantime the local committee would have threshed out a fitting personnel to take part in the several features. Such would be entirely in the hands of the ladies concerned, as being familiar with available talent, both men and women. He understood that several local musical groups could be drawn on to assist.

Other matters were discussed, after which the Mayor thanked the Toronto delegation for coming to advise with the local people, and the meeting adjourned.

Those present were: Mesdames Stevenson, Edwards, Kenner, Pettit, Mowat, Robinson, Holloway, and Messrs. Denne, Holloway, Huffman, Dobbin, Turner, Green, Craig, Chenhall, and Ray.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

COUNCIL WILL PUSH CLAIMS FOR PAVEMENT

Campbellford Town Fathers Decide To Build Sewer on Queen Street.

REGULAR MEETING.

Meet Ahead of Time Because County Council Meets On June 6.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31.— Owing to June 6th, being the regular date for County Council meeting, and it being the first Monday in the month, the regular time for Town Council Meeting, the Town Council met last night. There were present His Worship Mayor Kingston, Reeve Bygott, Deputy-Reeve Davidson, and Councillors MacDonald, Cole, Abernethy, O'Sullivan, Stone and Wiggins.

Several communications were read One was an appeal for a cement sidewalk on the south side of Menzie Street. The writer advanced the argument that it was a hardship to tramp through snow in the winter and mud in the summer to get to her work. A Councillor pointed out that the other side of the street had a side walk and the communication was laid on the table.

The Municipal Association had a letter before the Council wanting $25 for a participating membership fee. Laid on the table.

The Ontario Engine Co. wanted to sell a steel flag pole so that the town could fittingly celebrate the Jubilee week. Laid on the table.

Canadian National Railway had a communication in wanting a quit claim deed on right of way of Cady Street. The railway seems to be working from one plan and the Council from another, and it was thought that the matter could be better handled by having the Mayor personally interview the railway company.

A communication was read from the Department of Agriculture notifying the Council of dates for Peterborough and Belleville when those seeking Engineer"s papers might apply.

Communications from several firms quoting prices on uniforms for police force. The matter was referred to the police committee who acted immediately and awarded the contract for uniforms to the Glover firm. Re the matter of rain coat, the police committee will decide later.

Residents of Rear Street petition ed for oil—they'll get it if the oil hangs out.

Centre Street, south, also petitioned for oil. Centre North had two petitions, one for oil and one against. Councillor Wiggins thought that as the town had $10,000 invested in oil machinery that all the streets should be oiled, and the costs taken out of the general tax. Centre Street oiling was left with the Road and Bridge Committee. Reeve Bycott here expressed a wish that the streets would soon be paved and the oil done away with.

Dr. Hays, a resident of Booth Street appeared before the Council, requesting oil for Booth Street. This street was ordered to be oiled if there is any oil left.

A top for a well on the right-of-way going in by the Queen's Hotel was passed. A citizen applying for town work was promised it.

John Adams requested that the ditch on Ranney Street, at the corner of Bridge Street, be filled in. Referred to Road and Bridge Committee.

A report from the Engineer on sewer levels on Queen Street was accepted and filed. The Clerk was instructed to write David F. Robinson with reference to right-of-way through his property for Queen Street sewer. Moved by Reeve Bygott, seconded by Councillor O'Sullivan, that this sewer be put in as soon as possible.

The scale building at the market having been reported unsafe, was ordered to be looked into at once and the necessary repairs made.

Councillor Wiggins, chairman of the Finance Committee, then presented the pay-sheet totalling $1089.23. Passed.

If Hastings is not ready to go ahead with paving, it was decided to push Campbellford's claim without delay.

The roller is to be put on Canal Road down to the swing bridge and the bill sent to the Government.

Adjournment moved. Carried.

PLAN PROGRAM OF CELEBRATION

Members of Lakefield Committees Map Out Schedule For July 1.

FULL DAY PLANNED.

LAKEFIELD, May 31.—A meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday evening of the various committees appointed to arrange for suitable celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation.

Mr. W. G. Morrison, convenor of the executive committee, occupied the chair and in the absence of the secretary, Mr. Spence, Mr. H. G. Armstrong read the minutes and reports of committees, several of which had been submitted in writing. The executive were all present: Messrs. T. W. B. Marling, E. H. Northey, A. B. Burrows and J. R. Hill.

Dr. Kennedy represented the Sports Committee.

Mr. K. A. Mackenzie and Mrs. Stuart represented the Regatta committee; Mr. A. H. Clarke, Mrs. McMillen and Miss Kennedy were the representatives of the Music committee. Messrs. J. S. Montgomery, W. J. Charlton, E. W. Bailey and J. A. Porter were the representatives of the finance committee.

The Publicity committee was represented by Messrs. H. R. Wagar C. S. Tanner, J. F. Lillicrap, Mrs. Leonard and Miss Graham.

Rev. J. J. Garvey represented the Patriotic committee and Messrs A. G. Lawless, W. W. Leonard and D. H. Webster and Mrs. Darling were representatives of the Parade and Decorating Committee.

Messrs. W. Tedford and S. Harrison were present for the Grounds and Roads Committee.

The Patriotic committee reported that it was deemed inadvisable to hold a patriotic and religious programme on Sunday and the committee felt that the religious side could be best carried out in the various churches on that day.

Father Garvey urged strongly that the patriotic side be stressed on the day itself, also that the children should be given a prominent part. Personally he felt that a programme given entirely over to sports was not a fitting way to celebrate Canada's Diamond Jubilee.

Mr. J. S. Montgomery heartily agreed with this matter and presented a plan of raising sufficient funds for a suitable celebration. If the money is raised by the citizens they feel a greater degree of responsibility for its success and the personal contribution was an exemplification of a national and patriotic spirit.

Following the discussion, it was decided to hold the celebration on July 1st, and after a short session the executive presented the following programme:

Sports at the Exhibition Grounds, 10 to 12 a.m.

Parade from Memorial Hall to the Pavilion at the dock, 1.30 p.m.

Patriotic service, 2 to 3 p.m.

Regatta, 3 to 6 p.m.

Concert, 8 p.m.

It was moved by Rev. J. J. Garvey and J. F. Lillecrap, that this programme be adopted. It was decided by the executive that the sum of $300 will be required to "put over" the celebration as planned.

Mr. Lawless kindly loaned the use of the Riverside Pavilion for those who wished to dance in the afternoon, the proceeds to go toward the expenses.

Dr. M. P. Kennedy expressed his agreement with Mr. Montgomery's plan of a personal appeal to the people and also to the various organizations and lodges of the village. Dr. Kennedy reported that the Canadian Legion had discussed the matter at their meeting on Monday evening and decided to put a float in the parade and also to make a cash contribution in the proportion of that given by other organizations, and that $20 was the least sum mentioned.

This announcement was heartily applauded. The men who volunteered to defend their country once more are the first volunteers for a suitable celebration.

Mr. J. R. Hill feels that as this is a community affair, there should be a widespread community interest.

It was decided that the Finance committee be given full authority to work out their plan and that all the committees co-operate.

ROSENEATH W.I. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. L. Nichol is President For Ensuing Year.

ROSENEATH, May 31.—The annual meeting of the Roseneath Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite with a smaller attendance than usual, owing to the busy season. The president, Mrs. Lily Turner, presided. Mrs. Marcena Davey, the secretary, gave the annual report of last year's work.

The report was very satisfactory, showing a good balance on hand. An invitation from Fenella Branch to attend the summer meeting on May 19th and was accepted. The society decided to give fruit and make a visit to any who were sick and under the doctor's care, either in the villabe or community. Mrs. George Ingham, Mrs. Albert Halstead and Mrs. E. Brisbin were appointed a committee to look after same.

The election of the following year's officers was done by ballot: President, Mrs. Lottie Nichol; vice-President, Mrs. Albert Halstead; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Marcena Davey; District Director, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin; District Representative, Miss Mary Braithwaite; Programme Committee, Mrs. G. Ingham, Mrs. D. Brisbin, Mrs. J. A. Nichol, and Miss Irene Brown. Auditors, Mrs. R. Crego, Mrs. (Dr.) Hershey. Organist, Mrs. Lily Turner; asst. Organist, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe.

Mrs. A. Comfort, of Grimsby, who was home on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orra Varcoe favored the gathering with a piano solo which was very much enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was then tendered to those who took part in the meeting, to the retiring president, Mrs. Lily Turner and to Mrs. and Miss Braithwaite. The meeting ajourned to meet at the home of Mrs. M. Davey, in the village, on July 7th. A dainty lunch was served and every ody enjoyed a social half hour.

Miss Gladys Turner, Baltimore, was home for the week end with her mother, Mrs. Lily Turner.

Mrs. S. Herrington and little granddaughter, Lavine McMillan visited relatives in Peterborough over the week end.

Messrs. Lyle Radley and Everett Johnson motored down from Toronto on Saturday and paid a visit to friends here.

While cranking his car on Saturday morning, Mr. Howard Lapp gave his wrist a very bad sprain. Fortunately, no bones were broken.

Owing to the glorious weather on Sunday last, there was an extra large attendance at Sunday school in the morning, also both churches were well attended at their regular services.

The C.G.I.T. girls will meet every Wednesday evening in the United church unless otherwise arranged.

GIFTS PRESENTED TO HARWOOD BRIDE

Miss Reta Stevenson Recipient of Many Useful Articles.

HARWOOD, May 31.—On Thursday evening, May 19th, the members of the Women's Institute, their husbands and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Stevenson and presented their daughter Reta, with a silver and pyrex casserole. Mrs. A. Lawtotn read the address and Mrs. P. J. Corkery made the presentation.

Dear Reta,

We the members of the Harwood Women's Institue have assembled here to-night to manifest to you our hearty appreciation of the interest you have always freely taken in our work.

We look back over the period in which you have been associated with us, and within that time, you have greatly endeared yourself to us, by your amiable character. By your faithful devotion to duty you have filled offices in our association with honour to yourself and credit to the community.

To your home you have frequently invited us, and each one of us can rejoice with you that the hour spent was a triumph of social enjoyment. Now that you are about to go forth to fulfil your destitny in your home there comes bubbling up the desire that we may have the pleasure of again meeting you in our happy reunions. But we would not confine our esteem to mere words on the occasion of this coming event of your life, we affectionately congratulate you in your future prospects and we ask you to accept this "casserole" as a memento of our pleasant relations.

To you we wish many years of health, happiness and prosperity in your wedded life.

Signed on behalf of the Harwood Women's Institute.

Mrs. P. J. Corckery, Pres.
Mrs. H. Graham, vice-pres.
Evelyn Young, Director.

Miss Stevenson replied in a few well chosen words and thanked the Women's Institute for their kindness to her. All joined in singing, "For she's a jolly good fellow."

After a pleasant evening of music and games, refreshments were served.

On Friday evening, May 20th about a hundred neighbours and friends gathered at the same home and tendered a miscellaneous shower to the bride-elect.

The evening was spent in music, games and dancing, and just before refreshments were served, Miss Vera Yound read the following address.

Miss Reta Stevenson,
Harwood, Ont.

Dear Reta,

We, a number of your friends have assembled here to-night to express to you our good wishes, ere you go forth to fulfil your restiny in your new home.

We look back over the period which you have been associated with us and within that time you have greatly endeared yourself to us. Your charming personality has won for you a large circle of friends.

As a momento of our pleasant relations and a slight token of the high esteem in which you are held we ask you to accept these gifts.

We all join in wishing you and years of health, happiness and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the friends of Harwood and vicinity.

Miss Stevenson made a suitable reply thanking her many friends for their beautiful gifts and good wishes.

I Wonder! will he succeed in Life?

THE carefree little lad who thinks only of play is safe enough now, for you are here to look after him—but suppose you passed on?

You are making plans for his future, no doubt. You want him to have a good upbringing and a good education. Would those plans be carried on if you died prematurely? Even if you live, can you guarantee that you will be able to spare the money later on to send him to college?

Why carry this burden yourself and permit the lad to run such risks?

An Imperial Life Educational Policy meets such cases exactly. You decide upon the sum you think will be necessary and it will be paid to your boy or to you at any future date you set—or if you die before, the money will be paid immediately to him, or to his guardian.

The small yearly deposits, easily within your means, guarantee that your plans will not miscarry.

Let us send you particulars now—kindly use the Coupon.

No Gray Today!

Fear of crude dyes no longer excuses gray hair. You don't have to use them. Kolor-Bak is a clean, colorless liquid that cannot harm the hair; and it does bring back the color. Not the weird hues women used to get from old-fashioned hair-dyes, but the color your hair ought to be—the color it used to be.

Kolor-Bak acts gently; the change is gradual. That's why your closest friend can't detect it. Hair is left lustrous; only the gray is gone. Blonde, auburn, brown, black—any shade responds to this natural process. The one bottle is right for all.

Why experiment with anything, even on one lock of hair, when Kolor-Bak always gets the same perfect result—on a money-back guarantee!

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

According to astrology this is rather a menacing day and one that is not altogether lucky for long journeys.

There is a sign read as forbidding for meetings with strangers for ventures of any sort.

Uncertainty regarding certain lines of trade are indicated and it is well not to take any risks.

Merchants and manufacturers should be cautious, for great possibilities hang in the balance.

While this rule prevails there may be much jealousy and envy revealed, especially among politics.

Favorite sons are likely to have a bad time under this planetary government which tears down reputations instead of building them up.

Wrong opinions may be prevalent, and the tendency to believe the worst should be combatted.

The mind is subject to strong impressions, while this configuration prevails, the seers declare, and sinister ideas are readily accepted.

India continues under a malefic sway that seems to indicate a bad summer season in which some sort of a plague may be prevalent.

Much good fortune appears to be in store for the younger generation, which is to have opportunities to demonstrate what progress means.

There is a promising sign for road-building and increase of travel by automobile is foretold.

Gardening now absorbs attention in quarters where there has been indifference hitherto;

Some sort of a flurry in wheat is forecast for the stock exchange this month.

Persons whose birthdate it is should arrange for a serene year in which domestic affairs have precedence over other interests.

Children born on this day may be more lucky in love than in finance. They are likely to be unusually charming in body and mind.

EMPIRE DAY

PETERBOROUGH NORMAL SCHOOL.

On Monday morning the students of the local Normal School celebrated Empire Day. After the devotional exercises, "The Recessional" was sung by the school, and it was felt that Kipling's splendid poem, written on the occasion of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, was a very fitting opening for Empire Day in Canada's jubilee year.

Representatives of the local I. O. D. E. were present, and on behalf of the Provincial order of this society, Miss Archer presented the school with several pictures. In thanking the ladies Mr. Walker spoke of the splendid work which the order has been carrying on, and wished them all success in future endeavors.

After the singing of another chorus, "The Union Jack," a historical pageant was presented by students of the school and proved a very enjoyable feature of the programme.

Miss Laura Robson gave a splendid portrayal of the Goddess of Fame, and lest Canadians should forget their obligations to the pioneers, and also to inspire them for future service, she recalled the past and those who had made possible the Canada of today. The Fathers of Confederation, the Provinces, the men and women of note appeared, and after being introduced by the herald, illustrated with word pictures, recitations and choruses, the development of the Canadian Provinces. Miss Marion Rae, representing "Britannia," brought greetings from the Motherland and spoke of the love and loyalty that exists between Britain and her Dominions beyond the seas.

The speaker of the morning was V. J. McElderry, who, in a splendid address, presented to the students some of their duties as Canadian citizens, and pointed out the wonderful opportunities which they as teachers have to influence the youth of Canada.

Mr. Walker, on behalf of the staff and students, thanked Mr. McElderry for his inspiring address. Miss Helen MacDonald sang, "The Land of Glad Tomorrow." The morning's programme was brought to a close by the salute to the flag and the National Anthem.

Those taking part in the pageant were:

Goddess of Fame—Miss Laura Robson.
Britannia—Miss Marion Rea.
Sir John A. Macdonald—Mr. W. Duncan.
Hon. George Brown—Mr. E. McKague.

TRAGEDY IN THE KITCHEN

Most Culinary Mistakes Are Easily Rectified—And Here's How

By Sister Mary.

Very often the bride in the kitchen decides that sauce pans and spiders and oven are bewitched. Everything burns for her. "Things" never burned in her mother's kitchen.

She must remember that her mother learned through years of experience exactly the amount of water needed to cook potatoes just right. She must learn that time flies "when her back is turned" and keep close watch of the minutes until her experience has taught her to gauge time.

"Unburning" 'Em

But when the potatoes do boil dry and start to burn, put the pan at once into a larger pan of cold water and then shake the potatoes out in a clean pan or bowl for mashing or creaming. If the scorching has not been great, no one will ever know it happened. If, however, there is a hard dark brown crust burned on one side of the potato carefully cut away the burned part and after mashing and seasoning as usual, add grated cheese and one well-beaten egg. Pile in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Don't Scrape.

Any vegetable that has just started to burn can be placed in the pan of cold water and shaken, not scrapped, from the burned pan into a fresh one for reheating and seasoning.

One precaution to keep in mind when cooking potatoes that have been cut in halves leaving a smooth flat surface, is to be sure that the rounded side of the vegetable rests against the sauce pan.

Acquire the habit of shaking any pan of vegetables cooking on the stove.

Use extreme care in salting delicately flavored vegetables like asparagus and peas, asparagus, especially require very little salt.

If the soup has been salted too generously, add from half a cup to a whole cup of sliced raw potatoes. Let stand ten or fifteen minutes, remove and serve. The potatoes will absorb the excess salt.

If the cake burns on the bottom, the burned part will usually "peel" off while the cake is warm or it can be grated off after the cake cools. The next time you bake, put the grate up one or two notches in the oven or put a shallow pan of water directly under the cake. This will temper the heat at the bottom of the oven.

If the mayonnaise separates, take another egg yolk and slowly beat in the curdled dressing, then continue until all the oil and lemon juice is used.

Curdled Custard.

If a custard sauce curdles beat it hard with a wheel egg beater. This same egg beater will often beat the lumps out of a white sauce that has refused to come smooth. If the sauce is very lumpy it can be put through a sieve and reheated.

Sometimes a gelatine jelly refuses to stiffen in the time required. If it's quite evident that satisfactory results are not going to be obtained, more gelatine should be softened in cold water, dissolved over hot water and added at once.

There is seldom need to have a tragic failure in the kitchen. Cream on the verge of souring can be sweetened by stirring into it a "pinch" of baking soda dissolved in water. Then it can be used over vegetables or over dessert as planned.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TUMBLE'S TOP.

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Well, now for another jolly adventure!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out of bed in his hollow stump bungalow one morning and skipped to the banister rail which he slid down to get his breakfast. "I shall have a wonderful time as I did in the woods yesterday, swinging on a wild grape vine!"

But when Mr. Longears saw, waiting for him at the breakfast table, all the forty 'leven little bunny boys and girls, including Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit child, and each one with a broken toy that needed mending, why Uncle Wiggily just held up his paws in despair.

"Oh, Daddicums!" cried Jingle, Jangle, Bumble and Scooter. "There is no school to-day so we brought out all our broken playthings for you to mend. There was nobody to fix them while you were away visiting the Wogglejigs in the bungleump."

"Yes, I know!" laughed Mr. Longears. "But if I mended all your broken toys to-day I would have no time for adventures. However, I will mend one this morning and one this afternoon, and I shall count out, as you do when you are playing games, to see whose toy shall be mended first. Now stand in line."

So the bunny boys and girls, each with a broken toy, stood in front of Uncle Wiggily, who began counting:

"Ibbity bibbity sibbity sab! Ibbity bibbity boo! I will mend the broken toy that belongs to YOU!" And as he said "you" his paw pointed straight at Tumble, the little boy rabbit who was always falling down.

"Oh, please mend my broken top!" cried Tumble. "I'm it! I'm going to have my toy mended!" I was counted out! I'm it!"

No one could find fault with this way of counting out. It was fair to all, and so the other bunny boys and girls ran off to play, there being no school on Saturday.

"Bring me your broken top, Tumble," said Uncle Wiggily. "Then you run off to play. It makes me fidgety to have anybody watch me when I am mending broken toys. What's the matter with your top?"

"It won't spin," Tumble answered.

"Well," chuckled Mr. Longears, "that's the very worst thing that could happen a top. A spinless top is no good to anyone except to throw up in a tree to knock down apples. But I'll fix it."

"And when I come back from play will it be all ready?" asked Tumble.

"I hope so," answered Mr. Longears. When he had looked at the top he soon saw why it would not spin. The point, or peg was gone, and a top can no more spin without a point, or peg, than you can go roller saating without lollypops. "But I'll soon have this fixed," said Mr. Longears talking to himself as he often did. "I need a piece of something hard to use for a peg. In the forest there is plenty of hard wood I'll make a peg of some of that."

Hopping to the forest, Uncle Wiggily found a green, mossy log on which to sit while he looked about for a piece of hard wood of which to make a new peg for Tumble's top. There was a hole in the pointed end of the top in which the new peg could be fitted.

Uncle Wiggily tried a piece of pine tree, but that was soo toft. Then he tried a piece of hickory tree, but that was so hard he could not gnaw it into shape with his teeth. Then, all of a sudden, while the rabbit gentleman was looking around for a piece of beech wood, which he thought would be just about right, all at once out of the bushes popped the Bob Cat, his silly little tail stuck out straight like a boy's sore thumb.

"Ah ha! I've caught you, I see!" snarled the Bob Cat, digging his sharp claws into the leaves and dirt on the ground. "This is my lucky day!"

"Yes, and it's my lucky day, too!" boldly cried the brave rabbit. "I was wondering what I could use as a peg for Tumble's top, and I see now. One of your claw nails will be just what I need. Here, put your paw up on this log and I'll cut off one of your claws!" And with that Uncle Wiggily took out his knife.

"What! Cut off one of my claws to make a peg for a top! Not if I know it!" howled the Bob Cat. "I never heard of such a thing! How dare you! I'll not be cut up like that!" And tucking his silly little tail out of sight between his legs, away ran the Bob Cat as fast as he could run.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily when the bad chap was far away, "my knife is so dull it won't even cut butter. But I scared the Bob Cat all right by pretending I'd take off one of his claws! Ha! Ha!" Then the bunny found a piece of beech wood and made a peg for Tumble's top and it spun as good as ever that afternoon.

4000 LOVE LETTERS.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Lorenz Killian, 60, loved Miss Agnes Barczik. He loved her for fourteen years. He loved her so much that he wrote 4000 amorous notes to her. But Agnes did not love Lorenz. She thought so little of him that she had him haled to court. He promised not to write any more letters.

U. S. Citizens Use More Vegetables

WASHINGTON, May 31 (United Press).—In spite of the large number of children who will not eat their spinach and carrots, the consumption of fruits and vegetables by the American public is now almost twice what it was ten years ago, according to an estimate by the Bureau of Railway Economics based on shipments of perishables.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Unrelieved by a single touch of color in this gray ensemble, consisting of gray georgette frock with gray felt hat, gray fox scarf, gray lizard slippers, gray suede gloves and gray pearls at the neck. A dull silver buckle ornaments the frock and shaded gray flowers are worn on the right shoulder.

Fashion sets the standard concerning what colors we shall wear, and this season she has allowed enough variety to suit almost every taste. Perhaps she has been a little too lavish in her allowance. If you wear a rather vibrant pastel shade of green it may be entirely becoming of itself, but you may have the misfortune to find yourself lunching or "teaing" beside one woman in a striking shade of violet with a woman in periwinkle blue on the other side—clear, lovely, pleasant shades in themselves that do not seem especially bright until they are worn all together.

Now and then—quite frequently among women who do not take great pains in matters of dress—you see a group of women each of whom has indulged not in one rather decided light color, but in a number of them. One woman wears a blue frock with a tawny yellow and rose scarf and a gray felt hat—not strikingly bad in itself—though certainly not good—but positively dreadful when that woman sits beside a woman who has dared to wear an ensemble that combines green and violet with rose flesh stockings. This is undeniably a season of many colors, much color—possibly too much color. And the fact that the fashionable colors are all light shades—pleasant of themselves—makes us all the more careless in the way we wear them.

So it has happened that many women have set for themselves the rule of monotones. There will be color contrast enough just with mingling with other women in light, so-called pastel colors. The best effect for the individual is to be gained by limiting oneself to one tone, or possibly two shades of the same tone. There is something very lovely about the ensemble consisting entirely of gray—gray frock, hat, shoes, stockings and accessories that are not only all gray but that are almost exactly the same shade of gray. The blue monotone ensemble worn with blue shoes and flesh-colored stockings is usually more effective than the ensemble that combines blue and beige, blue and gray or blue and green. All white is becoming more and more smart—and in a season, when most women have indulged very lavishly in colors it is a choice that gives the wearer decided distinction.

In England and France the great "shingle" controversy has reached the point when people are actually betting upon the probable length of time that will elapse before the short-hair mode is definitely out of fashion.

Queen Mary is particularly fond of rubies, probably for the reason that the first ring she ever possessed was set with these stones. It was a simple little ring given to her by her father and now kept among the Queen's most intimate treasures.

Advise Women to Adopt new hygienic method; new way offers true protection; discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

LARGELY on medical advice, women are abandoning the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new way that supplants uncertainty with positive protection.

Sheer frocks and ill-timed social engagements no longer remain as worries. Lost days are fewer, and health better.

It is called "Kotex." Ends the insecurity of old-time sanitary pads; 5 times as absorbent! And deodorizes—ends all fear of offending.

✓ As easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "Kotex." Buy without hesitancy, and be sure to get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves the risk of old ways.

No laundry—discard like tissue

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE is the "best tea you can buy,"—picked when only three days old—juicy, flavor-filled leaves. Now packed in Aluminum.

THE CANADIAN GOOSE

By Jack Miner, the Canadian Naturalist.

In reply to the many requests as to my opinion of the white throated sparrow as our Canadian national bird, I will say that the white-throat is a lovely bird, but not a bit more so than the white crown sparrow, bluebird or some of the warblers, or yet the rose-breasted grosbeak. My, what a beautiful, lovely, musical variety we have to select from! And, I say, by all means let us have a Canadian national bird, but let it be the Canada goose, the noblest creature that ever lived on land, in the air, or on the water—yes, or on the ice or snow he is perfectly at home.

I was born under the protection of the eagle's wing, and I respect that great bird as much as it is necessary for any man to, but our Canada goose is far superior. When in captivity he will wash himself up and keep clean and respectable, and in about three years, with his mate, will settle down to raise a family of from four to 8 as all Canadians should. Wild geese pair off for life. I never knew them to even make an application for divorce. The male guards his mate on the nest. As soon as the young hatch, he protects them from the opposite side of the mother, keeping the babies between the parents. He will leave his family for her and for her only, but he will die in the front ranks for any of them.

I have placed their bushel of corn around one of my mating pairs, and of the thousands of hungry geese that come here, none would interfere with these little plots to even take one kernel.

When travelling in the air, the male Canada goose leads the way, breaking the air for his sweetheart, who is quartering behind him, and his family travels next to her. In brief, he is one of the most self-sacrificing, godly principled leaders the human eye ever beheld, and to know him is to love and admire him. There is not a human being on earth so good but what personal acquaintance with our noble Canada goose will give him a desire to live better.

Your friend,
JACK MINER.

(Report of M.H.O., Toronto, Continued from Saturday.)

The following narrative is a practical illustration of how this flavor has become fixed on the human palate. The incident occurred in a dairy in the United States a few years ago, soon after certified milk began to be extensively talked about. The owner of one of the largest herds, in a spirit of profound indignation, called upon one of the firms that dealt in certified milk only, and asked for a glass of this new "fandangled" milk, that they called "certified." After tasting it he smacked his lips and said: "Do you call that milk? That's not cow's milk; you can't fool me." The proprietor, knowing that this man was coming, had prepared for him, and asked him if he would like to try another kind of milk. He replied that he would. The attendant going into an adjoining room returned in a few minutes with another glass of the certified milk taken from the same bottle, but to which he had added two or three drops of liquid cow manure. After tasting this the man smacked his lips and said: "That's milk." It is difficult to get away from the association of this flavor with cow's milk, but once the public know to what this flavor is due they will no longer be desirous of adhering to it.

The other objections that have been raised have all been dealt with in this report, such as "the ill-effects of pasteurization on the chemical composition and digestibility of milk, etc."

Almost Universal Endorsation of Pasteurization.

The facts presented in this report concerning the dangers of ordinary market milk and the value of pasteurization have been known to all students of the milk problem for several years. It was with a knowledge of the foregoing facts in regard to the dangers of bovine tuberculosis and human tuberculosis being transmitted to children through milk, that the Washington Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, at a convention held in 1912, was prompted to pass resolutions endorsing the necessity of the efficient pasteurization of the entire milk supply of municipalities.

Toronto List Broadens; Brewery Stocks Feature

TORONTO, May 31 (Canadian Press).—New high marks in Massey Harris Common, up ¼ at 40, Winnipeg Railway, up 1 at 72, and Hiram Walker, up 1 at 57, were features of the unusually active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, but the new high marks in the above-mentioned issues were overshadowed once again by International Nickel, which easily led the market in point of activity. Nickel weakened slightly toward the end of the session, however, and declined one point at 73¼. The range of issues was unusually wide to-day, following the practical monopoly over trading of Nickel for the past few days. Brewery stocks, pending the opening of liquor stores in Ontario to-morrow, were very active and for the most part strong. Gooderham and Worts gained 3-8 at 62 3-8. Seagrams was up 1-8 at 26 5-8, and Industrial Alcohol, which has lain dormant for some time, came to life to-day and gained 1⅝ points at 33 in remarkably active trading. McKinnon Voting Trust gained ¼ at 24. Davies 'A' was up ⅜ at 40⅝, and Cosmos Imperial Milling dropped 1-8 at 22 1-8.

Many New Highs Made On New York Market To-day

NEW YORK, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Speculators for the advance, aided by a series of favorable week-end financial developments, resumed their operations in an aggressive fashion in to-day's Stock Market. Pittsburgh and West Virginia, for instance, after selling down 3 points to 153, quickly soared to 165. Early gains in the popular issues ran from 1 to 10 points. United States Steel Common crossed $175 a share for the first time, and was followed into new high ground by nearly two score other issues. The list included Baldwin, Westinghouse Air Brake, International Nickel, Houston Oil, American Waterworks, Detroit Edison, International Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey and Standard Gas and Electric.

The speculative belief that important changes in the railroad map were in the making more than offset the disappointing nature of many of the April traffic reports now being published. Pere Marquete, Reading, Texas and Pacific, Chicago and Eastern Illinois Common and Preferred, "Katy" Common, and Wabash Common all touched new highs.

Mines Moderately Active With Declines General

TORONTO, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Business was moderately active on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, with 342,151 shares changing hands. Prices were weak, however, and declines were general. Algonquin declined ¼ at 3, Argonaut Consolidated was down 3½ at 44, and Area dropped 1½ at 22. Corons was ¼ lower at 13⅝, Grover Daly up 1-8 at 10 1-8, and Potter Doal ½ higher at 27. Vipond Consolidated lost 8½ at 81. On the unlisted side, Amulet gained 2 at 158, and Noranda lost 10 at 22.65.

Wheat Prices Advance But Fail To Hold Gains

CHICAGO, May 31. — (Canadian Press.)—Wheat advanced sharply at the outset to-day, but failed to hold gains well. Heavy profit taking resulted from bulges due to advances at Winnipeg and Liverpool while the Chicago market was closed. Opening at 1 1-8 to 3 1-4 cents advance, wheat later receded in some cases to about Saturday's finish. With better weather, corn and oats were easy, corn starting 1 1-8 cent off to 1-8 cent up and subsequently showing a decided setback. Provisions tended downward.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 156 5-8, July 151 1-8. Corn, May unquoted, July 101 3-8. Oats, May unquoted, July 54 1-8.

C.P.R. HOTEL PLAN RECALLED

Years Ago Railway Company Took Option On Sites Up the Lakes.

NOTHING HEARD SINCE.

Seventeen years ago, the C. P. R. company obtained options on sites suitable for the building of large hotels at Oak Orchard and Mount Julian, and residents of Peterborough and district felt that the Kawartha Lakes were about to come into their own. Year after year passed away without any sign from the railway company that building operations were about to commence. True there were many rumours; an annual crop of them, in fact, but they were only rumours; then came the war which spelled disaster to many a promising project and even the most sanguine realized that the day was far distant when a C. P. R. Hotel would be listed among the attractions of the bright waters and happy lands of Kawartha.

What has become of these options? This question is more easily asked than answered. The Examiner in an endeavor to find out the answer to this query, interviewed lawyers. All to no purpose. None of those interviewed could say definitely what had become of the options of 1910 but all without exception hazarded a guess that the options had expired.

Frank G. Stinson, Secretary of the Trent Waterway Development Association, pointed out that in the years following the war, tourist traffic around the Lakes underwent a decided slump ,a fact which might possibly have influenced the astute management of the C.P.R. against the idea of building in the Kawartha district during the past seven years. He thought that if the C.P.R. undertook to build in the lake region the company would take over the rights of one of the existing smaller hotels in the district, and on the site rear a large building of the familiar C.P.R. type.

Even during the lean years, said Mr. Stinson, many of the smaller hotels around the lakes held their own, having guests who came from year to year. It was worthy of note to-day, he thought, that there were hotels in the lake district which had always a full complement of guests in the summer, in spite of the fact that the proprietors did no advertising whatever. Mr. Stinson also disclosed another interesting fact, namely, that tourist traffic among the Kawarthas has now reached such a volume that if all the visitors desired hotel accommodation the facilities in the region would be hopelessly inadequate to cope with the demand and it is only the fact that a large number of visitors, imbued with the idea of getting back to nature and "roughing it," spend their holiday under canvas or put up with the most primitive kinds of accommodation, which prevents the hotels being swamped entirely.

James Skinner, city ticket agent of the C.P.R., confessed himself unable to say what had been the fate of the options secured 17 years ago. He thought it very likely that they had expired. The company, however, he said, was still intently watching developments in the lake district and was studying with interest the fortunes of the bus line from Peterborough to the lakes. But as to the question of building, he thought there was only one spot in the Dominion where an authoritative opinion could be secured. That was in the head office in Montreal— an office from which no secrets leaked out.

MR. PUTNAM WILL ATTEND MEETING

General Superintendent of Women's Institutes to be Present at Havelock.

WARSAW, May 31.—'The Last Loaf' actors put the play on in Norwood on Thursday evening and were much pleased with their reception.

The Woman's Institute district secretary has received word that Mr. George Putnam, general superintendent of Woman's Institutes, will attend the annual district meeting to be held in Havelock on Tuesday, June 28. For some time an effort has been made to have Mr. Putnam attend some special meeting This time he was asked to set the date for the district annual and come if possible.

Mrs. T. Cooper was much pleased with the board meeting in Toronto, which she attended. What seemed markedly noticeable was that no one seemed to think of herself, but every one thought of what would be better for all.

Overcoming Competition With a Big Idea

A LITTLE more than three years ago a manufacturer, now a client of ours, was terribly handicapped because his product was freely imitated by cheaper lines. To the eye his product and competitive lines were like "peas in a pod".

He thought of advertising his product, but feared that any money he would spend in advertising would sell competitive lines equally as well as his own.

How the discovery of a new Idea and the incorporation of it in his product changed the entire situation for him is one of the romances of present-day business.

The Idea was a very simple one. It called for the use of an additional ingredient in the process of manufacture, but it made this manufacturer's product stand out like a black pea in a pod.

It was a foregone conclusion that this Idea would attract wide attention to the product, if it was dramatically advertised.

This manufacturer's advertising has now been running some three years and has been a noteworthy success. It is an outstanding example of the value of concentrating the advertising on an arresting Main Idea.

Would you like to know more about this manufacturer's Main Idea and his advertising? We can tell you a lot without giving away confidential information, and a talk with us would not place you under any obligation.

We also have a booklet that explains the Main Idea principle of advertising clearly and concisely. Manufacturers who are facing keen competition will, we believe, find this booklet of genuine interest. A copy will be sent without charge to the General Manager, Sales Manager, Advertising Manager or other responsible official of any industrial or financial corporation.

CLIFF BRICKER OF GALT WINS BUFFALO RACE

Canadian Leads De Mar and Miles to Win in Marathon.

ALMOST RECORD

Youth Maintains an Even Rythmical Stride Throughout Race.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 31. —(AP). —Running a remarkable race, his stride steady and consistent one from start to finish, Clifford Bricker, representing the Y. M. C. A. of Galt, Ont., won the Cairo marathon of 26 miles, 385 yards here yesterday. Clarence H. Demar, veteran marathoner of the Melrose Post No. 90 American Legion, of Melrose Highlands, Mass., finished second. John C. Miles, unattached, from Sydney Mines, N. S., was third, and Albert Michaelson, of Stamford, Conn. fourth.

Bricker's time for the full regulation marathon distance was 2 hours 40 minutes 5 seconds. Demar's time was 2:40:34 and Miles came home in 2:41:38.

Weather conditions were ideal. The atmosphere was a bit muggy and there was a threat now and then of showers, but the runners were favored by the absence of a broiling sun. It is estimated that 100,000 persons saw the runners at various points along the course.

Twenty Eight Entries.

Twenty eight of the forty one entries faced the starter's gun. The veterans were well out in front at the start, led by Wendling, of Buffalo, who was fifth at the finish. Monteverde, of Mays Landing, N. J., 58 years old and participant in seventy three marathons, finished in the ruck, but won the plaudits of the crowds.

At Delaware Park Meadow, about five miles from the starting point, Wendling, of Buffalo, still maintained his lead with Miles, Demar, Bricker and Oldag, a German runner, always within striking distance. Oldag dropped out in the eighth trip around the meadow circle. Bricker dropped back a quarter of a mile or so and at this time was not considered as a serious contender for first honours.

After the tenth circle of the meadow and as the runners turned into Humboldt Parkway and thence to Main Street for the final miles, Demar and Miles were in the lead, running like a team. Half way down Main Street Miles began to falter and Bicker at this point began to move up to the perspiring Demar. The Canadian stripling had scarcely turned a hair. Demar looked as if he had stepped out of a shower bath.

Two hills on Main Street seemed to sap Demar's remaining strength. He tried up to Bricker, who had passed him, but his reserve was gone. A mile from the finish Bricker had victory in his hands. He plodded on with a rhythmic stride to the finish line. He stopped and grinned as thousands of spectators sent up a cheer. Friends of the Canadian boy hoisted the winner on their shoulders and carried him through a cheering throng to his quarters in the Y. M. C. A. building. Demar, the veteran, was a full city block behind Bricker at the finish.

Dr. Arthur Eisbein, who examined Bricker before the race, recorded his heart beat at 80 to the minute. After the gruelling run over the marathon course it was again taken at 80 to the minute.

Widely Cheered.

There were some of the Canadian boy's friends at the finish line waiting for him. They not only yelled themselves hoarse, they danced with glee; they almost wept with joy as they picked the lad up and perched him on their shoulders. More than a block behind came Demar, he was running good, but the youngster already home had a bit more stamina, for it appeared here again as though youth were everything and youth won.

Bricker finished in remarkable condition. His running trunks showed little perspiration, while the other leaders came in dripping. The Canadian boy maintained an even rythmical stride throughout the race, falling behind as far as a quarter of a mile on the Delaware Meadow oval which was circled ten times and where the other leaders made their best time.

Coming out of Delaware Park, all eyes were on Demar and Miles, who were in the lead and it was believed that victory lay between these two. But Bricker had a wonderful reserve of strength and coming down the asphalt—paved main street he moved forward steadily and more than a mile from the finish passed the tiring leaders.

PIRATES TAKE SECOND GAME

After Seeing Eleven-Game Winning Streak Shattered by Cubs.

BOTH GO OVERTIME

NEW YORK, May 31. — Canadian Press. — After seeing their eleven-game winning streak shattered by the Chicago Cubs in the morning, 7 to 6, the Pirates came back at Pittsburgh in the afternoon to win 6 to 5. Both games went ten innings, the second struggle marking the first time the Cubs have lost an extra inning game this season. A triple play unassisted by Jimmy Cooney, Cub shortstop, was the fielding feature of the opener, which was marked by heavy batting by both clubs. Joe Harris' single in the tenth gave the Pirates the second encounter after Hartnett's homer had knotted the count in the ninth.

Outplay Phillies.

The Giants and Phillies split the Decoration Day double-header at New York, the Giants winning the first 14 to 10, and the Phillies the second 1 to 0. The Giants outslugged the Phillies in the opener, though Fitzsimmons failed to finish the game. The early lead of the Giants could not be overcome by the Phillies. In the second game Clarence Mitchell was in rare form and he shut out the Giants with three hits.

The St. Louis Cardinals celebrated their home coming by winning both games of a double header from the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 3 and 3 to 1. In the first game the Reds nicked Haines for ten hits, seven of them for extra bases, but he was master in the pinches, and a dozen Redlegs were left stranded on bases. It was Haines' eighth victory of the season. The second game was a pitching duel between Sherdel and Rixey. The Cardinal moundsman kept the visitors' hits scattered.

Win both Ends.

Brooklyn took both ends of the holiday double header at Boston, 5 to 2, and 6 to 2. Doak let the Braves down with five hits in the first game, while the Robins pounded Charley Robertson out of the box in the opening inning. Edwards held the visitors hitless until the 6th inning of the second game, and then weakened. Brooklyn continued its assault on the three Boston pitchers who followed him to the mound.

YANKS SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

Win Second in 11th Inning 6-5 After Losing First.

HOMER FOR RUTH

NEW YORK, May 31.—(Canadian Press) —The league-leading Yankees divided a double-header at Philadelphia yesterday, losing the first game, 9 to 8, and winning the second in the eleventh inning 6 to 5, on a home run by Babe Ruth, his fourteenth of the season. Grove granted 15 hits in the morning game, but struck out 11 batters and fanned Grabowski in the ninth with the tying run on third base. Philadelphia played the second game under protest after the umpires refused to allow Cobb to score in the fourth inning when Grabowski caught a foul and fell into the Athletic dugout. More than 80,000 persons saw the two games.

St. Louis and Chicago divided a dauble-header at Chicago, the Browns winning the first game by pitchers all over the field, making the score of eleven to three. Thomas held the Brown to seven hits in the second game and the White Sox batted Zachary and Wingard to all corners of the lot. McCurdy leading the attack with four hits, including two doubles ,to win the contest, 10 to 0.

.. .. Divide Double Header... .. .

Detroit earned an even break with Cleveland in memorial day double-header at Detroit by winning the afternoon game, 11 to 3, after losing the morning contest 9 to 8. In the second engagement the Tigers made 19 hits for a total of 27 bases off Uhle and Karr.

The Senators won both games of a double- header with the Red Sox at Washington, Walter Johnson shutting out the visitors in the first game, 3 to 0, while Hadley, a recruit, pitched to a 13 to 5 victory in the second.

Johnson, hurling his first American League game of the season, having been laid up by injuries sustained in training, held Boston to three hits.

The Red Sox made seven hits off Hadley, while one of the Senator's 17 hits was a homer by Harris in the seventh with a man on third.

SOUDERS LEADS IN AUTO CLASSIC

Frank Lockhart, Who Lead Up to 300 Miles, Forced Out.

IS NEW DRIVER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 31. —(Canadian Press.)—George Souders, a shy, unassuming boy from Lafayette, Indiana, became somebody in the business of automobile racing yesterday.

Souders, a former student at Purdue University, driving his first major event, won the fifteenth annual 500 mile grind at the Indianapolis motor speedway before a record breaking crowd of 145,000 spectators.

This 24 year old youth from the sticks, driving the entire distance without relief and making only two quick stops, piloted his tiny racer, painted a dusty shade of gray, two hundred perilous trips around the bumpy two and a half mile track in 5:07:33 for an average of 97.54 miles an hour. He had a lead of seven and a half miles when he got the checkered flag as a signal of victory.

By his victory Souders enriched himself to the extent of about $30,000 in cash money. He won $20,000 as first prize and picked up $5,100 in lap prize bonuses, getting one hundred dollars every time he led the field each lap. Souders can use this money, because he intends to resume his studies in mechanical engineering at Purdue.

Was First Time.

Souders is a product of the dirt tracks and this was his first time on the well travelled bricks of the famous old speedway. He did his first automobile racing on the County Fair Grounds track in his home town back in 1923. Since that time; however, he has been steaming fast automobiles around the dirt tracks for five years. He was a big speed thunder storm in Texas, but he was just a local shower around Indainapolis previous to yesterday's race.

By a strange twist of fate Earl Devore, of Los Angeles, an old timer in major league racing games, grabbed second place and its prize of $10,000 due to the misfortune of Babe Stapp, who when having second place within his grasp., was forced out of the race with only two laps to go because his motor began to sputter trouble. Stapp, working frantically over his motor, was forced to see the $10,000 flash past him and go to Devore.

Third place went to Tony Gulatto, of Kansas City, who graduated into the racing business by acting as a riding mechanic to famous drivers. Gulatto got $5,000 in cash for himself, Wilbur Shaw, of Indianapolis, finished fourth; Dave Evans, another veteran ,finished fifth. There were 12 of the original 33 starters in the race to finish and they were strung out all over the place from 10 to 50 miles back of the winner.

The race was replete with thrills, spills and death defying speed. There were three serious accidents and the display of gameness that stirred the emotions of thousands.

Drives Car Afire.

Norman Batten, of Brooklyn, won the admiration of the spectators by his courage in driving his car engulfed in flames, refusing to desert it to save his life. The car, speeding at nearly 100 miles an hour, caught fire on the back stretch in full sight of thousands in the grand stands. Batten, standing erect in the drivers seat, and steering the flaming car, refused to quit his perilous post lest the driverless machine crash into the stands. He was rewarded for his bravery by the presentation of a gold watch.

Jules Ellingboe, of Memphis, was the most seriously injured of the three victims of the race. Ellingboe suffered a smashed chest and other internal injuries when his car chashed into the wall on the south turn. He was immediately removed to the hospital in the speedway grounds and later transferred to a hospital downtown.

H. Kohlert, of St. Charles, Ills., a garage owner, driving as relief for Fred Leckleider, of Elgin, Ills., was anothera victim of a smashup. One of the tires on his machine exploded, causing the car to skid and then turn over with Kehlert beneath it. He was picked up for dead and rushed to the hospital. It was first reported that his skull had been fractured, but it later developed that he was seriously if not fatally injured. An emergency operation was performed to save his life.

STARS WIN BOTH GAMES

Make 38 Hits for Double Victory From Maple Leafs.

ORIOLES LOSE OUT

NEW YORK, May 31. Canadian Press. — The Stars made 38 hits at Syracuse yesterday in defeating Toronto twice, 15 to 5 and 14 to 11. All told, there were 63 hits. Harry Layne and Joe Brown of Syracuse, two leading contenders for the base-stealing leadership, stole three bases apiece, Layne getting three in the morning game and Brown three in the afternoon. Brown stole home in the third inning. The double victory placed Syracuse in first place in the league standing.

Reading broke its losing streak which had reached 31 straight games by rallying in the 11th inning yesterday afternoon to nose out Baltimore, 9 to 8, at Reading. The home team lost the morning contest 4 to 2. Fred Merkle, manager of the Keystones, pinch hit for Pitcher John Watson in the eleventh inning of the afternoon game and with men on first and second singled sharply to deep right, scoring Nolan with the winning run.

After Herb Thormahlen delivered an 18 karat pitching performance to win for Rochester in the morning game at Buffalo Jack Hollingsworth, Bison ace, duplicated in the afternoon to give the homesters an even break. The socres were 6 to 1 and 4 to 0.

Newark got back at the Skeeters in fine style yesterday afternoon, winning both games at Jersey City, the first by a score of 12 to 3 and the second 8 to 1. The Newarkers slammed the ball hard in both games.

C.G.E. LOSE TO KNIGHTS

Winners Rally in Eighth Inning to Score Seven Runs.

SCORE OF 7 TO 3

In a hard fought battle last night the Knights of Columbus defeated the C.G.E. boys seven to three. The winners scored their seven runs in the eighth innings, and the C.G.E. scored twice in the first and once in the seventh. In the first part of the game the Knights were outlucked more than outplayed, for several times they got runners on the bases to only have the third man go down with a pop fly. W. Simmons pitched a splendid game for the C.G.E. and only for a blow-up in the eighth which was more on the part of the players, he would have registered a shut-out. Murphy, for the winners, was not as steady, but the new line-up of the Knights gave him the best infield and outfield that has been put in the field for some time. The game as a whole was the best of the season.

To Retain World's Junior Welterweight Title in Tonight's Battle.

CHICAGO, May 31. — (Canadian Press). — Mushy Callahan, world's junior welter-weight champion, ruled a slight favorite to-night to retain his title in to-night's ten round decision contest with Spug Meyers of Pocatello, Idaho, in Cubs' baseball park.

Both boys completed their training yesterday, confident they would weigh in easily under the stipulated 140 pounds. Each believes he can make the light-weight limit, and a championship contest with Sammy Mandell is the plum that has been held out to the victor.

It is on record that footballers, while suffering from concussion and quite unconscious of their surroundings, have played with remarkable skill and intelligence, and even scored goals.

BETHANY FIELD DAY VERY SUCCESSFUL

Baseball and Football Games Witnesed By Large Crowds.

BETHANY, May 31.—Never has the village seen such a line-up of cars as was to be seen on Tuesday, May 24, for the annual Athletic Association field day. The weather looked unfavorable all morning because of the downpour of rain on Monday and the drizzle on Tuesday. Thanks to the Manvers sand which soaked the water up like a sponge the grounds were in a fairly good condition, and the rain prevented the usual dust so the games were played in comfort, as the weather man was very gracious and no rain fell all afternoon during the sports period. A game of baseball was played first between the Boy Scouts, of Grafton, Ontario, and the Wild Cats of Bethany, the core being 10-4 in favor of the Grafton Scouts. A second game of baseball, between the Curve Lake Indians and Bethany Seniors was witnessed with interest, as the score stood at 2-2 for a long while, but finally Bethany won, perhaps because they were more accustomed to the grounds, by the score of 4-3.

A football game between Pontypool and Lotus was played, and also witnessed with intreset, as many players of the former Bethany football team were present. The game, which was a very close one, ended 1-0 in favor of Lotus.

BOROTRA DEFEATED BY YOUTHFUL STAR

"The Bounding Basque" Eliminated From International Hard Court Tourney.

ST. CLOUD, France, May 31.—(Canadian Press) — Jean Borotra, idol of French tennis fans, and popularly known as "The Bounding Basque," went down to defeat before his youthful countryman, Antoine Gentien, yesterday and real tears were shed my many of the thousands of spectators who had remained until well after 8 o'clock, hoping that their favorite would snatch victory at the end.

Borotra's elimination from the international hard court championship tournament overshadowed William T. Tilden's victory over Louis Raymond, the South African champion, which had put the French fans in good humor, for Tilden had lost one set and had a hard time in another of the sets.

The score of the Gentien-Borotora match was 6-2, 11-13, 6-0, 6-4.

The Tilden-Raymond score was 5-7, 6-2, 8-6, 6-3.

Previous to the match, Borotra complained of a lame shoulder, but asked about this after his defeat, the Basque replied in true sportsmanlike manner, "Please, no alibis. I was squarely and fairly beaten."

Experts, however, discerned that Borotra's service appeared to cause him severe pain, but it is said to the credit of young Gentien that he took advantage of every opportunity and carried the battle to Borotra through out the contest. Gentien's victory was due to his ability to keep his opponent away from the net. The Basque, whose ground strokes are always weak, , faltered lamentably in the third set, after having practically exhausted himself in the 24 games of the second set.

Tilden, although pressed by Raymond, was never really concerned about the issue. "Big Bill" felt very keenly about what he considered the poor judgment shown in the decision of the linesmen, which four times out of five went against him. The spectators also seemed to favour Raymond.

Tilden asked that two of the linesmen be removed during the recess after the third set, but with all his popularity in France, he couldn't have the spectators removed. They stayed and cheered, even when Bill made errors and netted the ball.

Had a Sore Foot.

Tilden was not aware that a story had been circulated through the stands to the effect that Raymond, who has been suffering from a sore foot, had asked the referee to postpone the match. Rumour had it that the referee was agreeable, but that Tilden refused.

Raymond began limping slightly in the third set, and his limp increased in the fourth. Coincidentally the temper of the crowd was rising and as the match progressed, their attitude, in the opinion of many observers, was unfair. The feeling of the crowd will be not improved by Tilden's criticism of the linesmen and his sharp remarks to the ball boys. Just as one particularly noticeable decision was given—even partisan spectators jeered it — calling a ball good which was fully six inches out, a lone dog somewhere near stands howled dismally.

"Exactly the way I feel," said Tilden loud enough to be heard by the entire stand.

Women Players.

This was a disastrous day for the German women star players, who have been regarded as likely to provide one finalist. Frau Freidelben and Frau Neppach, ranking first and second players in Germany, were both defeated. The only remaining German hope now is Fraulein Cecile Aussem, 18 years of age.

Count Salm Von Hoogstracten made his last appearance in this tournament when paired with Wetzel of Germany, he was eliminated in the men's doubles by Kleinsroth and Von Kerling.

AN ENGLISH COTTAGE STYLE BUNGALOW

(By Arthur E. Cubbidge, Architect.)

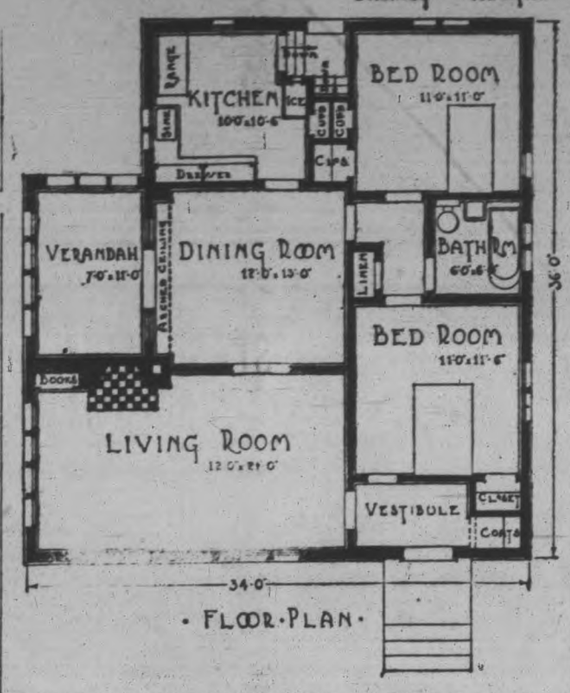
It would be hard to conceive of a more convenient and economical plan than that of the English cottage style bungalow illustrated here. Every inch of available space has been used to advantage: enabling five good size habitable rooms, an enclosed verandah, and a bathroom, to be incorporated in an area of less than 34 ft. by 36 ft., which are the over-all dimensions of this home.

As originally erected this house was built on a 60-foot lot, but as the actual house frontage is only 34 feet, one of 45 feet would leave adequate space for light and side drive purposes.

From the roomy vestibule, which contains a coat alcove, entry may be made directly into the living-room. Here, instead of the fireplace being in the centre of a side wall, it is located near the corner, a book-case occupying the recess thus formed between it and the end wall. Near the fireplace a doorway gives access to the dining-room which is an ample sized room having doors with wide sidelights opening from the verandah.

Instead of the toilsome climb upstairs, to the bedrooms, by merely passing through a doorway in the dining-room we enter a small inner hall corresponding to the second floor hall of two-floor houses, and possessing quite as private an atmosphere. On each side is a bedroom about eleven feet square, while directly opposite is the tiled bathroom. The expropriation of an otherwise useless area of hall space for a convenient linen closet completely fills, with the clothes closet in each bedroom, the ordinary demand for such accommodation.

The kitchen contains a dresser, sink, range, refrigerator, and cupboard. The housewife's freshly polished floor will be saved from many exasperating muddy foot-marks, at the same time leaving the refrigerator in its most convenient position, by the installation of an icing door from the grade entrance.



• FLOOR-PLAN •

Notice the utilization of the space above the basement stairs by the provision of a cupboard in the kitchen, and one into the adjoining bedroom. It is necessary to raise the floor of these cupboards, somewhat, to obtain headroom on the basement stairs.

Imagine this house with Indian red shingle roof, white stucco walls, and scarab green woodwork and the mental picture is very satisfying, as the house itself is, with this color combination.

With walls of stucco on frame, hardwood floors, and hot water heating this home cost approximately six thousand dollars.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect direct. Address: Mr. Arthur E. Cubbidge 406 Boyd Building Winnipeg Manitoba.

CALLAHER WINS

LOUISVILLE Ky., May 31. —(Canadian Press). —Callaher and Combs' Mary Jane won the fifty-third Kentucky Oaks at Churchill Downs yesterday. Handy Mandy was second and Fresco third. The time for the mile and an eighth was 1:53 2-5. Nine ran. The race was worth $10,900 net to the winner.

COGS DEFEAT BETHANY TEAM

Win Easy Victory Over Weakened Outfit in Western Village.

FINAL COUNT IS 10-1.

Playing at the top of their form, Cognawagas defeated Bethany by 10 to 1 in an East Peterborough League game at Bethany last evening. The invaders caught the home team far away from their usual stride, with the pitchers in poor condition and the fielders wobbly. On the offensive the Bethany hitters could not hit safely against the brilliant fielding of the peppery young athletes led by Manager Fred Cripps.

Few Intermediate teams could have stopped the Cogs last evening. They got good pitching from Percy Vannest, hard and consisten: hitting in which first-baseman Rooke led the field with a single, a double and a triple, and the fielding performance of the team held Bethany to a lone tally. Harvey Smith pulled off one of the finest catches of the game when he went far back and robbed Ryley of a sure homer. Crary was unusually busy and did some fine work at the middle bag.

Bethany players when rounded into form will make formidable opposition. All the regulars were not available and Staples, who started the mound work, never got properly started. Before the contest was half way on, the Cogs had piled up a lead which they protected when Dawe relieved Staples and did better work.

Next Game Friday

The next game of the series will be played at Exhibition Park next Friday evening when the Cogs meet Raybestos. Several hundred fans saw the opener between the Rays and Crescents, and a much larger crowd is expected for Friday's contest. It should be a great tilt between Vannest and Masterson.

ST. ANDREW'S WINS FROM MILL TEAM

Snappy Game of Ball in the Campbellford Softball League.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31. — "A real snappy and clean game of baseball" was the verdict rendered by the fans who watched the battle between St. Andrew's and Mill on the local diamond last night, won by the Saints 20 to 5.

Both teams played the game all the way through, and in place of wrangling, the best of good feeling was continually exhibited.

The Presbyterians have undoubtedly a very strong team, and with all the inspiration to be drawn from the massive thistles on their sweaters, they are no doubt headed for the League championship. Vic Cochrane, with the Mill, got in some more nice work on second, and Bell was in his usual good farm. Some new players with the Mill outfit did considerable fumbling, which helped greatly to make the score so uneven.

The following was the line-up:

St. Andrew's — Storey, p; Fox, c; Bailey, 1b; R. Blakely, 2b; W. Blakely 3b; Little, ss; Irwin, lf; Dunk, cf; Bland, rf.

Mill—Beaudoin, p; Lambert, c; Montgomery, 1b; Cochrane, 2b; D. Runions, 3b; Blake, ss; Bell, lf; Stocker, cf; Ayrhart, rf.

CANDY CRAVING.

Many people think that their desire for sweets is a normal one. Every day people say to me, "I just have to have candy ever so often. It seems that my system craves it." I often hear this from some ardent prohibitionist who would not want to believe that this desire for sweets is the same kind of a craving the liquor drinker has for alcohol.

The desire for sweets or alcohol will gradually diminish if people learn how to select their food properly. All reform starts with the individual so that you, who are reading these lines, can immediately help yourself in curing any bad habit by determining to change the bad habits to good ones.

Sugar is no more required in the body than is alcohol, and from my experience with handling all classes of patients,—from babies to elderly people,—I came to the conclusion many years ago that sweets, on the whole, were much more injurious than alcoholic stimulants. It is true, a craving does exist with many people for some kind of stimulant, but this is because of faulty eating habits, and because the body is literally starved for the right kind of food.

A mother, who recently came to me as a patient, said this to me, "You know my little girl who you put on a diet two years ago for adenoids and enlarged tonsils? Well, her relief from mouth-breathing was almost immediate and she has been such a good disciple of yours ever since. I never took the diet myself, but I always had a craving for sweets. The other day when we were passing a candy store I thought I had to give in to my craving so I said to my little girl: 'Don't you want some candy?' Of course, looking for an excuse to get some myself, but she replied: 'No, mother, I don't want it and I don't think it is good for me, but you can have some if you want to.' Needless to say, I did not buy any and that cured me of my candy craving. I then realized that my little girl had been on a good diet for so long that she had no real desire for candy,—so, here I am this morning—ready to be a patient and I want you to tell me what to eat so that I can follow the example set by my child."

I explained to this patient there was nothing mysterious about the diet treatment to cure the candy or liquor habit, but that all she needed to do was to take a short fast on fruit juices in order to cleanse her system of any accumulated poisons, and then to go on practically the same diet which her child had been using. This she has promised to do, and if she can only get the husband to follow the sam diet, there will be no money spent in the future in that household for candy or liquor.

MUSICAL COMEDY SUCCESS A COMEDY KNOCKOUT IN FILMS

Eddie Cantor, Clara Bow, Billie Dove and Larry Gray in "Kid Boots."

When Paramount cast about in search of a new comedy and a new comedian, "Kid Boots" was on the glib tongue of the theatrical world.

"Kid Boots" took blase Broadway by storm and fun-thirsty New York supported Florenz Ziegfeld's production for three years. Now, Paramount's film version, advertised for showing at the Regent Theatre today, is heralded as the mirth provoker of the season.

Eddie Cantor, ace of musical comedians, the "Kid" of "Kid Boots," enacts his original colorful role. A supporting cast of remarkable talent arrays itself with the scintillating star. Opposite Cantor is Clara Bow, alluring portrayer of flapper characterizations, whose recent triumph in "Man trap" was the talk of filmdom.

Lawrence Gray, handsome leading man in Paramount pictures with Gloria Swanson and Bebe Daniels, plays the youthful heir who succumbs to Billie Dove but is already entangled with alluring Natalie Kingston.

New York's picturesque east side, where second-hand stores reign supreme and keen competition develops strange methods, offers wide scope for the opening scenes. Cantor, as the "come-on," finds himself up to his neck in difficulties. Through a rapid sequence of riotously funny situations, Eddie is thrust into an exclusive golf club as a caddy—and he has never even seen a golf ball!

His predicament becomes more involved with the entrance of Clara and her villainous would-be lover. Further color is lent by the conflicting loves of the Lawrence Gray—Billie Dove — Natalie Kingston triangle. Frank Tuttle directed.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

SPRING JUST RUNS IN

Spring's just like lots of folks I know:
They're no more here than off they go.
It's just hello and howdy, then
They're up and packed and gone again,
Before you've hardly said a thing—
And that's the way it is with spring.

The winter has a different style,
For winter comes and stays awhile;
And summer, when it comes along,
Just brings you months and months of song.
But spring's no more than in the dell
Than spring begins to say farewell.

Winter's a bluff and hearty friend
Who stays until the winter's end;
And summer comes and summer stays
Until the end of summer days;
But always fickle spring has been,
For spring's the kind that just runs in.

CANADA'S THREE SCORE YEARS OF NATIONHOOD

Very literally are the Provinces of Canada bound together by bands of steel. As a matter of fact British Columbia became a Province of the Dominion in 1871 under promise of railway connection, though the actual linking-up did not become a reality till 1885. The enormous development of railroading has been one of the outstanding features of the sixty years that have elapsed since Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia united under one central government in 1867. At that time the new-born Dominion boasted 2,278 miles of track; it has over 42,500 miles today. In equipment, too, the evolution has been great. The old wood-burner of 1867, though capable of very creditable speed, was a pigmy in size, weight and strength compared with the huge locomotives of today. Mr. C. W. Jeffreys, Canada's foremost historical artist, here graphically depicts the changes that have taken place.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By ROBERT F. FOSTER.

(Copyright, 1927, by Robert F. Foster)

PLAYING THE HANDS.

After the bidding is finished, the partners who play against the declarer may have given each other some information as to what they can do by their bids, but in many hands they will not have made a bid. In such cases all the information must be given by the manner in which they play the hand.

There are three ways in which this may be done:

By the conventional leads from high cards; by the partner's play on those leads; by discarding.

If either player has bid a suit, and that one has the lead, he should lead the suit bid. To lead any other suit, when there is a trump, should be a singleton. If it is the leader's partner that has bid a suit the top of that suit should be led against a trump contract, unless the leader is fortunate enough to have an ace-king suit of his own. In that case he should lead the king, showing he still holds the ace, and then lead the suit the partner has bid.

Against no-trumpers, holding three or more of the partner's named suit, lead a small card if you have an honor as good as the queen; otherwise lead the best of it.

As the majority of the hands are played with a trump suit, the correct opening leads against trump contracts should be learned first, the leads against no-trumpers being modified to meet certain conditions.

The proper way to learn the leads is the same as the way to learn how to value hands. Sort out the actual cards from a pack, and hold them in the hand, so as to accustom the eye to them. All such combinations as A Q J, A J 10, K Q 10, should be so familiar that they are at once translated into their trick values just as the letters c a t are translated into "cat," when seen in type.

The Leads and Partner's Responses.

Against trump contracts, the general rule is always to lead a high card when holding two or more touching honors, such as A K, K Q, Q J, or J 10. There are five rules for leading these five honors, otherwise the lead from suits of four or more is a small card.

The king is always led when accompanied by the card next it in value, above or below, or by both; such as A K, K Q, K Q J, or A K Q. With three honors, follow the K with the Q, as your partner knows you have the ace if the K wins, but does not know you have the Q. Follow with the A to deny the Q. From K Q J, if your K wins, follow with the J; as your partner knows you have the Q, if he has the A, or the A wins your king.

The ace is led to deny the king. From A Q J, follow with the Q to show the third honor, the J. From A J 10, follow with the J to deny the Q, and show the 10. From A and only one other high card, follow with a small card. Never be afraid to lead the ace from A Q and others.

The jack is led to show the ten, but may be an interior, as it is often led from K J 10.

The ten is led from interior sequences, as from K 10 9, or Q 10 9; or it may be led as the top of a short suit of three cards only.

Doubletons (two-card suits) are very confusing leads, and should be avoided unless partner has bid the suit.

If a high card is led, the partner may indicate the number he holds by playing the lowest of three small, or the higher of only two, neither as good as the jack. This play of a higher and then a lower card, when making no attempt to win the trick, as when the leads are king and then ace, shows the leader that it will be perfectly safe for him to lead a third round, as his partner either has the queen or can trump. If dummy is also out of the suit for the third round, this playing "down-and-out" as it is called, shows that the partner of the leader can beat any trump dummy can put on.

Against no-trumpers, as long suits can not be stopped by trumping them, there is no hurry about making the high cards, and they are not led unless there are three in the suit. From A K, K Q, or Q J and others, begin with the fourth-best, counting from the top, such as the 5 from K Q 7 5 3. This is expecting to lose the first trick, but leaves the partner with one or two of the suit to lead if he gets in again first. From any three honors, lead as against trump contracts.

The partner's response to high leads, or when dummy plays high enough to shut him out, is covered by this rule:

When you make no attempt to win your partner's lead against a no-trumper, play your second-best, regardless of number or value.

Suppose the lead is the king and you hold J 10 2, play the 10. A small card led, dummy puts on the ace, and you hold K Q 2, play the queen. These echoes, as they are called, show the leader that you hold only one higher card, and always unblock the suit, as with more than two originally you always keep the smallest card until the last. From J 10 2, play the 10 and then the J. With 10 8 6 4, play the 8 and then the 6; then the 10.

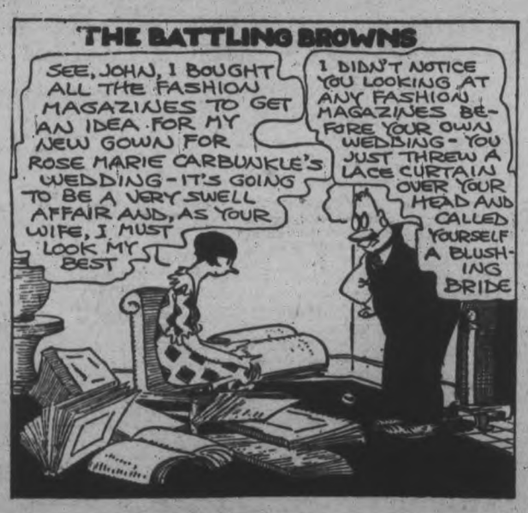
When a small card is led, always try to win the trick as cheaply as possible, regardless of the contract's being trumps or no-trumps. With K Q, play the Q. With A K, play the K. With K J 10, Q in the dummy and not played, play the 10. To play the higher card deceives the partner and may prevent him from going on with that suit.

"Cover an honor with an honor" is a bad rule when you see that it can do no good. This is a situation that can be learned only by long practice, it comes up in so many different ways. If dummy leads a Q through your twice guarded K, put on the K on the chance that it may set up the 10 in your partner's hand. But if both Q and J are in the dummy, it is useless to put on the K.

If dummy has J, or J 10 and others, and leads through your guarded K or Q, stay off. The declarer may have only the ace, and your partner K or Q.

In returning your partner's suits, lead the best you have, so that he may know where the high cards are. If you have led from three of his suit, play it down. That is, having led the 10 from 10 6 2, play the 6 next time. He can miss the 2; but he could not place the 6 if you play the 2 on the second round, and would credit you with no more, and try to ruff you.

In discarding, any card above a six is called an "encouraging card," because it should show some protection in that suit. The play of a high card and then a lower shows a sure trick in the suit. By discarding encouraging cards in one suit you ask your partner to protect some other suit, which is often vital against no-trumpers. Keep a Q or J twice guarded is possible. If your partner has the other card, Q or J, even once guarded, you can stop that suit, no matter how the declarer may manage it.



THE HOME GARDEN

The "Renter's" Garden.

Even the tenant who moves regularly on the first of May can have a good garden, almost as beautiful, in fact, as the man who has been farming the same plot of ground for 20 years. Of course the man who rents his place will have to do a little more planning, as he must start from the bottom each year, because he is forced to use annuals entirely. But there is a great variety of flowers in the latter division. If a verandah screen is wanted, or if one desires to cover an objectionable back fence, plant gourds, sweet peas, hops, tall nasturtiums, morning glories, or even wild cucumber, but when the latter is used, it is advisable to get out next winter, as this stuff is inclined to spread into the neighbors' property. A tenant can hardly afford to plant expensive shrubbery, but he can make a brave show with groups of sunflowers, cosmos, zinnias, salpiglossis, castor oil plants, and other tall or bushy annuals. And then for the regular flower beds one can select from a list of a hundred or more, with a range of bloom from June until frost.

Colors in the Flower Garden.

It has become a popular idea to develop flower gardens with one prevailing color tone, the majority of the plants in the garden being in various shades of the color favored, with a few others planted to enhance by harmonies or contrasts the general color plan. Blue gardens are one of the favorites for this type of planting, because of the delicate and effective plantings that may be made by employing a few groups of pink and pale yellow to set off the blue.

While it is often said that blue is the rarest color among flowers, the list of annuals gives a wealth of material, starting with the asters in both light and dark blues, and with the dwarf ageratum for an edging. Bluest of the blues is the cornflower, more effective for cutting than for garden planting because of its rather mediocre foliage, but a mass of it makes a brilliant blue patch. The little Swan River daisies give dainty blue edgings, and the intense colors of the dwarf lobelias make a vivid mat of color.

Of the taller growing annuals, the larkspurs, scabiosus, or mourning bride and the annual lupins are all fine subjects, both for ornamental plantings and for cutting. Daintiest of all blues is the lace flower, which has become a favorite greenhouse annual. Lower growing and with feathery foliage to add to its beauty is the old Love-in-a-mist or nigella. For fragrance in the blue garden, one may rely upon the ten weeks' stocks, which will furnish a fine show of color until the hard frosts.

Lettuce.

There is room in the modern garden for all three types of lettuce. The most easily grown is the leaf sort, which will give plenty of good salad material with the minimum of effort. It should be sown early while the weather is cool, and thinned a little for best results. All lettuce must be grown quickly and to hurry this process cultivation, nitrate of soda and watering when the weather is dry are advisable. Head lettuce needs to be planted early and transplanted to eight-inch intervals after he plants have formed two or three leaves. Snip off half the leaves when transplanting. Between the leaf and the head type and partaking something of the nature of both is the cos lettuce, an upright growing form with long narrow leaves. While self-blanching, this process may be assisted by tying up the tips of outer leaves. The cos lettuce is of as fine a quality as the head type and is an excellent substitute for gardeners who have not the patience to fuss with the latter.

A pop-corn patch will be appreciated by the youngsters.

Leeks are sown next month for summer use, and in August for the fall crop. Hill up like celery.

The old-fashioned summer savoury is an excellent tang for stews and soups.

4TH PETERBOROUGH TROOP

The meeting last Thursday night of the 4th Peterborough Troop opened right on time with the raising of the Union Jack and the troop showing their allegiance by a snappy salute.

The next thirty minutes were given over to test passing. One of the new members of the troop, Archie Dryland, passed his test on the points of the compass, while Carlos Routley passed his one month's service test. This test is really advanced tenderfoot work, so it is required by every member of the 4th Peterborough Troop to know six more advanced knots and their uses, eight more trail signs, and the composition or history of some other country's flag.

The games, which followed the instruction period certainly had a tendency to loosen up any stiff muscles which the boys might have had.

Troop inspection came next, and points were given for attendance, neatness of uniform, and questions on the Scout Law. The Kangaroo Patrol led in the competition, with the Crows a close second.

The opening of the Council Fire was an unique one. Over an artificial campfire, each boy stretched his right hand and grasped the hand of the boy opposite and then at the "alert," the troop sang the "Maple Leaf" from memory. Any Scout that couldn't sing made up for it by helping in the rendering of the Scout yell, which was given with all the power of healthy lungs. A charade on the third Scout law (a Scout's duty is to be useful and help others) was put on by the Kangaroo patrol. Their presentation was very good, but was hardly long enough. A short story was read by the Scoutmaster on being friendly, emphasizing that every boy should strive to be like Rudyard Kipling's story of the boy "Kim," the little friend of all the world."

On Saturday afternoon there was a hike to a nearby wood north of Peterborough. Observing birds studying wild flowers (not gathering them) and practice in outdoor cooking was the programme for the afternoon. Rayburn Cooke passed his Second Class test on cooking (cook satisfactory over an open campfire, one quarter pound of meat and two potatoes using none other than a regular billy can, or its equivalent). The hike was greatly enjoyed by everyone, and bids fair to be only a promise of the better ones to come.

FLOATING ISLAND FOR OCEAN PLANES

Italian Officer Reports Having Planned Suitable Base.

ROME, May 31.—An $8,000,000 floating island, such as Captain Charles A. Lindbergh suggested for stepping stones for trans-Atlantic air traffic, has been planned by an Italian naval officer, who refuses to disclose his identity. Details were published yesterday.

He said he started on the plans two years ago and finished them ten months ago, long before he had even heard of the American flier.

The island would be of the shape of a horse shoe and would be constructed from reinforced concrete. The pronge of the horse shoe would not be independent, but would be connected by a buoyant underpart of the structure, which would float about six yards beneath the surface of the water and allow seaplanes to alight within the loop as within a harbor. From this enclosed water surface, planes could be taken onto the dry landing surface for protection in hangars.

The entire structure would be 400 yards long and 250 yards wide. Most of this area would be under water in the enclosed water covered area. The designer claims it would be stable in all ways, as it is double the length of the longest known wave. It would have a steering device for turning it into proper relation with wind and water currents.

A hotel for passengers, a weather bureau, hangars, beacon lights, wireless apparatus and other facilities would be included in the estimated cost of $8,000,000.

AMMONIA FUMES DRIVE OUT DINERS

Break in Pipe Causes Trouble in a Toronto Tea Room.

TORONTO, May 31. — When the pipe of an ammonia tank in the refrigeration plant at Bingham's tea rooms, 146 Yonge Street, became detached about five o'clock last evening, ammonia fumes filled the building, trapping girl employees and women diners on the upper floors, and compelling their rescue by way of ladders hoisted to the second floor windows by the firemen. Over a score of persons, mostly women, were either carried or led down the ladders. Only one woman was overcome, an employee, and she recovered after receiving treatment at a nearby drug store. The damage is trifling.

The mishap occurred while workmen were making some repairs in the basement to the plant. In some way, one of the pipes became loosened, causing a burst, which soon filled the building with the acrid, pungent fumes of ammonia. The workmen managed to escape without trouble, as also did persons on the main floor.

Diners on the second and third floors, however, were trapped. With handkerchiefs to their noses to shut out the choking fumes, they made their way to the windows. Some of them threw out their coats, purses, bags and various other impeding paraphernalia. The firemen were called. They responded under District Chief Poole.

While some of the men, equipped with gas masks, invaded the basement and shut off the suffocating odor, others reared fire ladders to the windows and commenced the task of rescuing the inmates of the building. This was accomplished without mishap.

Hundreds of people gathered about the place, curious to know what was transpiring. They could smell the odor, which was strong even on the street, but were unable to trace it to its source. Police kept the crowd back. Southbound street car and motor traffic was halted and had to be re-routed for over an hour. It was not until after six o'clock that the place was fit for diners again.

After their return from Toronto they will reside at the Goodwill Apartments, Peterborough.

OBITUARY.

HARRY EDMONSON.

(Contributed.)

There was laid to rest in the Little Lake cemetery, on Monday, May 30th, one of the most popular characters of the city, the late Harry Edmonson. A short service was held at his residence on Weller street, conducted by Adjt. W. Bunton, of Windsor, and then the remains were taken to the Army Temple, where a large crowd had gathered to pay tribute to the oldest soldier of the Army in the city.

Adjt. Bunton told of the wish that had been expressed by our departed comrade, that we should sing some of his favorite songs, and there was a note of triumph in the singing of:

"I have a home that is fairer than day,
And my dear Saviour has shown me the way,
Oft when I'm sad, and temptations arise
I look to my home far away."

For it was realized that 'Dad,' as he was affectionately called by his many army associates, had gone to that Home. The Rev. J. E. Todd of the George street church, offered prayer, and Mrs. Bunton sang "In that Beautiful Land." It was fitting that tribute should be paid by one who had known our comrade for 30 years, and Major Kendal spoke of the life that although now ended, spoke very strongly to us.

Adjt. Bunton said that 'Dad' was "One of God's good gentlemen, and we will miss him, but we are sure that he has gone to his reward."

The service closed with the singing of "Sweeping through the Gates of the New Jerusalem," and prayer by Mrs. Major Kendal.

Headed by the Army band and colors the cortege proceded to the cemetery, where Major Kendal, assisted by Commdt. Burchill of Chicago, who was also associated with our comrade over thirty years ago, and Adjt. Wood, committed the remains to the ground.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. H. Cunningham, W. Byers and H. Wood (sons-in-law), Martyn, (a grandson), J. J. Cunningham and G. H. Young.

Relatives present at the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham; Mr. and Mrs. W. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. M. Martyn, all of the city; Mr. G. Edmonson and family of Oshawa; and Mrs. C. Rathbone and Mrs. E. Costello of Toronto.

JUDGE METES OUT IMPARTIAL JUSTICE

STOCKTON, Cal., May 31.—"Cecil S. Johnston," said Police Judge Johnston, as his traffic court convened, "you are charged with making a left turn on Main Street. Are you guilty or not guilty"

"Well, Judge," said Johnston, "I did make the left-hand turn, but you see it was like this—"

"That's an old one," interrupted Judge Johnston. "I'm afraid it won't get you anywhere. The usual fine for this offence is $1, but it will be $5 in your case because you ought to know better."

After fining himself, he complimented the policeman who cited him to appear in court.

MADOC RECTOR SAYS FAREWELL

Rev. A. Strothers Preaches Inspiring Final Sermon on Sunday.

PRESENTATION MADE.

MADOC, May 31.—Sunday in St. John's Anglican Church saw the closing of the Rev. A. Strother's ministry in this parish. Holy Communion was celebrated at eight in the morning and evensong was held at the usual hour. Large congregations were present at both services. In the evening Mr. Strother took his text from Exodus XIV, 15: "And the Lord said unto Moses, wherefore criest thou unto Me? Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward." As usual, Mr. Strother preached an earnest, helpful sermon, taking as his farewell message the words, 'Go forward." Mr. Strother pointed out that faith must be followed by works. He spoke of the necessity of having faith in God, drawing his examples from the story of Moses and the Isarelites crossing the Red Sea. The church today must follow up its belief by action. It is God's will that people should go forward. Christian character must be developed by continual study and prayer One must go forward in the Christian life as well as in other ways. The rector concluded his inspiring address with the prayer that this parish in which he had labored for the past three years would continue to advance toward the high ideals which are set before the church by the life of Christ. The church was beautified with narcissi and lilies of the valley.

On Monday evening the members of St. John's gathered at the Rectory to spend a last evening with Rev. and Mrs. Strothers, and to wish them Godspeed. During the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Strother were presented with a purse, the presentation being made by Mrs. E. Tufts and the address read by Mrs. C. Hart, as follows:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Strother:

We have come together this evening for the purpose and pleasure of spending a last social hour with you. The three years of your stay with us have slipped by quickly and during that time we have received much comfort and spiritual development from Mr. Strother's earnest, helpful sermons, and more still from the example he has set by his life of prayerful devotion to his work, his patience and never-failing kindness. Many sick beds have received the benefit of his prayers and blessed messages since he has come to this parish, and his helpfulness in times of trouble will ever be remembered. To Mrs. Strother, too, our thanks are due for her every-ready assistance in the choir and other departments of the church. The surpliced choir will remain as a lasting tribute to Mrs. Strother's efforts in their behalf.

To Mr. and Mrs. Strother we present this purse as a small token of our appreciation of their ministry among us. We wish it could have been larger, but the wealth of good wishes for their future happiness and prosperity that acompany this small gift cannot be judged by its monetary value.

The prayers and hopes of the congregation for a life of joy and advancement in the new field of labor are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Strother.

Signed on behalf of the choir and congregation.

E. Tufts and C. Hart, Wardens.
R. Belshaw for the Choir.
Mrs. F. Aylesworth, President of Ladies' Guild.

Mr. Strother replied, expressing the thanks of Mrs. Strother and himself for the gift and for the many kindnesses he had received during his stay. Mr. Strother spoke of the warm friendships he had formed in this parish and of his work here. He regretted that he could not have accomplished more. He paid warm tribute to the help Mrs. Strother had given in the choir and Sunday School, and expressed their joint wishes for the continued prosperity and well-being of the church.

E. C. Tuft's, people's warden, also made a short address, expressing the regrets of the congregation at losing Mr. and Mrs. Strother and their gratitude for the earnest efforts made by the rector and his wife during the past three years. Mr. Tufts spoke of two or three families who had regretted being unable to be present at the gathering owning to illness in their homes. He spoke of the kindly feelings of the members of other churches for Mr. and Mrs. Strother and voiced the expressions of regret he had heard on many lips at losing them.

Following the speeches, all joined heartily in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Refreshments were served and a pleasant hour of conversation and interchange of good wishes followed.

The evening closed with community singing, including "Auld Lang Syne," and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which the Benediction was pronounced by Mr. Strother.

Rev. and Mrs. Strother expect to leave for their new home in Adolphustown on Wednesday.

Summerless Year Prophecy Doubted

TORONTO, May 31 — (Canadian Press). — Sir Frederick Stupart, Director of the local Dominion Meteorological Bureau here, in commenting to-day on the predictions of Herbert Browne, of Washington, D. C., to the effect that 1927 will be a summerless year, said that he does not regard such a prospect as probable and that even if the year should prove to be summerless it would be impossible to foretell the fact this far in advance.

"Even under the most favorable circumstances," Sir Frederick said, "It is only possible to forecast weather with any accuracy a week in advance.

PLANS DRAWN FOR BALDWIN

Premier of Great Britain To Arrive in Canada on July 29.

WITH PRINCE OF WALES.

OTTAWA, May 31.— (Canadian Press). — By the present tentative plans the Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin will sail from England on July 23, arriving in Quebec on July 29. The Prince and the Premier will spend August 2, 3, and 4, in Ottawa as the guests of their Excellencies, the Governor General and Lady Willingdon and of the Government of Canada.

From the Capital, His Royal Highness and Mr. Baldwin will go directly West to the Rockies. The Prince will go to his ranch, near High River and probably be host to the Premier. It is understood that a visit will be made to Banff and Lake Louise. Mr. Baldwin will leave the Prince in the West, returning alone via Calgary, Regina, and Winnipeg. It is expected, too, that he will spend a day in Toronto.

The present programme has the British Premier sailing for home about August 17. The later programme of the Prince is still in the process of formation. A subcommittee of the Cabinet with the aid of several senior government officials is at present working on the arrangements.

TOURIST RULE IS MADE CLEAR

Liquor Board Chairman Also Says There Will Be No Holiday Sale.

OFFICER APPOINTED.

TORONTO, May 31.— Chief Commissioner Hanna of the Ontario Liquor Board, had very little to say yesterday regarding the forthcoming operation of the new law other than to state — and that emphatically — that no stores would do business on Friday, June 3—the King's Birthday. Holiday sale of liquor, under the new act, is "taboo."

Mr. Hanna also made it clear that just because an American tourist may see fit to spend four months of the year, for instance, in his own Ontario summer home, he is not going to escape "transient" classification. And, accordingly, his $2 permit will lapse at the end of thirty days. If, at the end of that month, he desires to purchase liquor legally, he will have to invest in another permit.

A. E. Sarvis was yesterday appointed by the Ontario Government to be Enforcement Officer under the Liquor Control Act for the City of Toronto. He was formerly an officer under the O.T.A., but his duties took him to every part of the Province. From now on he will watch for infractions of the law within the city limits.

City police officers spoken to last night said he was the right sort of man to enforce the new Liquor Control Act in the city, and they praised his appointment.

Inspector Sarvis will work under Frank E. Elliott, whose appointment as Chief Enforcement Officer for the Province has also been made. He succeeds John A. Aycarst, who leaves the Government service this evening, along with James Hales, K.C., the Chairman of the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario.

WOMEN'S NAMES WON'T BE REVEALED

Mrs. Chaplin's Attorneys Agree To Exclude Reporters From Hearing.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 31 (Canadian Press).—The names of seven women, four of them "prominent film actresses," mentioned in Lita Grey Chaplin's divorce complaint against Charles Chaplin, were safe from publication for the time at least with the agreement of the film comedian's wife to make a deposition today for the ears of rival counsel in the case alone. Mrs. Chaplin's attorneys last night reversed their previous demand that newspaper reporters be present while she was being questioned for the deposition.

REID.—In loving memory of my dear daughter, Mrs. Burley Reid, who died on May 31, 1926:
I know she suffered day by day,
It caused me bitter grief
To see her slowly pine away
And could not give relief.

My lips cannot say how I miss her,
My heart cannot tell what to say,
God only knows how I miss her
In a world that is lonesome to-day.

REID.—In fond and loving memory of Edna Reid, beloved wife of Burley Reid, who died May 31st, 1926.

We mourn for her in silence,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear friend, Mrs. Ivy Rutter, who passed away as a result of burns, on May 31st, 1926:
I cannot say, I will not say,
That she is dead. She is just away,
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land.

Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of there, as the love of here.
Think of her still as the same, I say,
She is not dead, she is just away.

Canadian Legion Convention Opens Here Today

BOARD WILL OPEN SESSION AT MONTREAL

Quebec Is Sixth Province To Be Visited By Royal Commission.

MARITIMES NEXT.

Will Discuss Recommendations Based On Evidence Found in Ontario.

MONTREAL, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Sittings of the Royal Customs Commission in the Province of Quebec opened here this morning. This is the sixth province to be visited by the Commission in its work of investigation which started last fall in British Columbia. At the end of the Montreal sittings, which will probably last for about two weeks, the Commission will go to Quebec for a week. Then the Maritime Provinces will be visited.

The sittings are likely to be of interest and importance, in Ontario as well as in Quebec. Findings and recommendations based on the evidence taken at four points in Ontario where the Commission sat, will be asked for here. Counsel for the Commission have given no intimation of the nature of these findings and recommendations, but sensational evidence offered in regard to the beer and liquor movement may result in requests for drastic action.

Submit Evidence First

It is not expected that the findings and recommendations will be asked for by counsel at the opening of the sittings here. There is still some evidence to be submitted to the Commission in respect to Ontario matters. H. F. Kuntz, managing director of the Kuntz Brewery, Waterloo, Ont., who was called as a witness but failed to appear on the last day of the Toronto sittings, will probably be examined today. Certain evidence was offered in Ontario in regard to the alleged camouflaging of cars of Kuntz beer for export purposes, and this witness will be asked if he knows anything about it.

It is expected that the request for findings and recommendations by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Commission counsel, will precipitate argument which may take some time. A number of the Ontario brewers, distillers and liquor exporters are represented by counsel, who will certainly participate in the proceedings if any findings against their clients are asked for.

Will Make Statement

It is stated that E. N. Todd of Montreal, who was mentioned in earlier sittings in connection with a shipment of several drums of alcohol, will make a statement before the Commission. According to evidence, the drums of alcohol were drained and filled with water at Montreal, whence they were sent on their way to St. Pierre-Miquelon. The water froze, it was stated to the Commission, and this enabled the authorities at St. Pierre to find out that all was not well with the shipment. There is already quite a bit of evidence about this shipment on the record, but Mr. Todd was ill at the time it was offered, and did not appear before the Commission. Later he offered to testify in Vancouver, but the Commission decided to hear his evidence in Montreal.

Examine Officials.

The customary examination of port officials of Montreal and outports will occupy the Commission during the earlier days of the sittings here. Montreal figured prominently in the investigation before the parliamentary customs committee session before last, and it is not expected that the Commission will go over all the old ground that was covered then. There will be the usual effort to ascertain whether or not smuggling into Canada on a commercial scale prevails in this province. Also the result of the Commission auditor's investigation into the breweries and distilleries of Quebec will be laid before their lordships.

OLD MASTERS

I hope there is a resurrection day
For bodies, as the ancient prophets say,
When Helen's naked limbs again will gleam
Regathered from the dust of death's long dream—
When those who thrilled the ages, being fair,
Will take the singing angels unaware
And make God's perfect meadows doubly sweet
With rosy vagrancy of little feet.
—Harry Kemp: "Resurrection."

STRUGGLE IN RUSSIA.

Some Leaders Believe Peaceful Trade Necessary For Country's Prosperity.

LONDON, June 1.—(United Press.)—Great Britain's action in definitely severing diplomatic and commercial relations with the Union of Soviet Republics, instead of resulting in a violent anti-British campaign, may have the contrary effect of securing important modifications in Moscow's policy, according to definite indications reaching London.

Undoubtedly there is a bitter struggle going on in the Soviet administration between men like Trotsy and Zinoniev, who believe that propaganda aimed at a world revolution is necessary if Russia is to survive and other red leaders, like Stalin, who look to increased trade with foreign countries for their country's economical prosperity.

Meanwhile it is being hinted that the Soviet may restrain the activities of the Third International, which has caused numerous difficulties with Britain, and exercise the strictest supervision over Russian trade delegations abroad.

It is also possible that the members of the trade delegation in London who were responsible for the recent break may be appropriately punished, and that even such a powerful figure as Michael Borodin will be rebuked or recalled from China, where he has been acting as adviser to the Nationalist Government at Hankow

At any event the British are not worrying, even along the Afghanistan frontier, and the feeling in London is that the rupture in relations will do more good than harm, and that it will eventually clear the way to a proper understanding with the Soviet and to an agreement when the present hostile atmosphere has been dissipated

O.T.A. PASSES AFTER 11 YEARS

New Liquor Contract Bill Comes in Without "Fuss or Ceremony."

STORES OPEN TO-DAY.

TORONTO, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Prohibition in this province in the form of the Ontario Temperance Act, passed out at midnight. This morning at ten o'clock the sale of liquor under the regulations of the Liquor Control Act became effective with the opening of eighteen government stores in various parts of the province.

The Ontario Temperance Act was proclaimed as a war measure in 1916. Under this law the sale of liquor legally was restricted to "medicinal requirements" obtained on doctors' prescriptions. Under the new system inaugurated today, any resident or non-resident of the Province, 21 years of age and over, who is armed with a permit, may purchase malt or spirituous liquors at the Government stores for "beverage purposes" and carry it away or have it delivered by carter or mail, for consumption in the residence or domicile of the purchaser.

The new system came into effect without "fuss or ceremony," in the words of D. B. Hanna, Chairman of the Liquor Control Board. It was decided by the Board yesterday that a stateroom on a lake vessel will not constitute a residence where liquor may be consumed under the law.

Steel does not usually snap suddenly, but when it does fail it bends or stretches so that warning of the break is given.

The first commercial factory for making ice was established in New Orleans in 1868.

JUNE IS HERE ONCE MORE

ROTARY ENTRY FORCED DOWN

Bad Weather Brings Balloon To Forced Landing Near Brockville.

ELIMINATION RACE.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 1 (Canadian Press).—Forced down in the rain and fog which prevailed in the surrounding district at noon yesterday, the balloon "Rotary Club of St. Louis," containing H. E. Honeywell and Roderick H. Tait, of that city, completed its voyage from Akron, Ohio, upon the farm of Elmer Hodge in the Township of Elizabethtown, six miles west of Brockville. Treacherous weather pursued the aeronauts during the night, when they followed the south shore of Lake Erie, passed over Buffalo and Niagara Falls, and thence eastward to Rochester. Their only illumination was furnished by the frequent flashes of lightning and their only accompaniment was the terrifying thunder and heavy rain. At dawn yesterday the heavy fog banks which obscured their vision suddenly cleared and they found themselves confronted with the cupola of the Portsmouth Penitentiary near Kingston, which they were able to clear by throwing out sandbags. Passing east through Frontenac and Leeds counties running into fog and more fog and followed by rain, the balloonists discerned Graham Lake, in Leeds county to their left, and after having thrown out practically the last of their ballast, sailed on until forced down six miles west of here. At times the gas bag attained an elevation of 6,000 feet, and at other times, notably at Porstmouth, it barely escaped a forced landing. A welcome to Canada was given the men on their arrival here by E. J. Smith, president of the Brockville Rotary Club.

PARTIAL PAY ON PLANES.

LONDON, May 31.—You can go up now by paying a little down on an airplane in England. Manufacturers have instituted the pay-as-you-fly plan in selling two-seater ships. Prices are within reach of only a few, however; the initial payment is about $1150, with 24 monthly installments of $11.

Australia to Send Exhibit to C.N.E.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 1, — (United Press).—The Federal Government of the Commonwealth of Australia will pay for the transportation of Australian exhibits to and from the Toronto Exhibition, according to an announcement to-day by Hon. T. Paterson, Minister for Markets and Migration. The expenses of an officer to supervise the display will also be paid. Such Australian products as canned and dried fruits, jams, wines, brandy, blankets and serge, are promised.

Stranger Misjudges Cause of Celebration

A visitor to the City of Peterborough noticed all the flags flying on George Street this morning and, not knowing that the First Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion was in session came to what as he thought was a very sensible reason for the flying of the flags. He said: "I see the merchants of Peterborough are celebrating the coming into effect of the Government Control Law."

His disappointment, needless to say, was very great when he found the local liquor store was not open for operations.

'QUAKE IN NEW JERSEY

Coast From Ashbury Park Northwards Shaken To-day.

HIGHLANDS, N.J., June 1 (Canadian Press).—The New Jersey coast from Asbury Park northwards was shaken today by earth tremors moving from south to north. The first shock was felt at 8.27 a.m. The Western Union tower here vibrated violently for twenty seconds.

LORDS DEBATE SOVIET BREAK

Balfour Does Not Believe Rupture Would Lead To War.

EUROPE IMPROVED.

LONDON, June 1 (A.P.).—The House of Lords last evening debated the Russian rupture, but the discussion threw no new light on the subject. The Earl of Balfour, speaking for the government, did not believe for a moment that the rupture would lead to war, and he saw no reason why the British position henceforth should be worse than that of the United States.

International relationships in Europe had so improved, he said, that a diplomatic step which eighteen months ago might have frightened the world, now seemed to produce no deleterious consequences whatever.

Lord Reading feared the result of the step on British interest in Asia. He agreed that some action was needed, but he did not consider it wise to go to the full length of a diplomatic rupture.

Lord Birkenhead refused to believe that the Soviets would punish themselves by refusing to trade with Great Britain. He argued that non-recognition by the United States had not in the least prevented Russian business with American citizens. Why should Russia be more irritated with Great Britain than with the United States?

The subject was dropped, no vote being taken.

Soviet Vessel En-Route

LONDON, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The Soviet, crack vessel of the Russian mercantile fleet, says The Evening Standard, is en-route to London to embark a greater part of the Soviet representatives who will leave England because of the Soviet-British break.

The vessel is expected to arrive in the Thames on Thursday. She has been specially fitted up with 250 bunks between decks, raising her passenger accommodation from a normal 50 to 300.

THE WEATHER

The month of June—the month of roses and blushing brides—came in with a temperature not far removed from the freezing point. May had 20 days on which rain fell, and the total for the month was 3.02. The amount for the month was not greatly in excess of average, but the number of moist days was above the usual. The highest temperature was 87 degrees and the lowest 32. White frost was seen on several occasions, more particularly towards the end of the month. There were only a few days on which the temperature rose to summer heat. I see several so-called scientists say that we will have a summerless summer. Do not be alarmed. Such a thing is most improbable. Nature has a way of her own of setting at naught the wild forecasts of scientists and long-range weather prophets, and in the fall we will most likely say that the summer of 1927 was much like those preceding it, and which will follow it.—W.P.

Cigarette Smokers Asked to Use Care

LONDON, June 1.—(A.P.)—"Please remember the carpets," and similar notices are being displayed by fashionable London hostesses who are annoyed by the careless habits of cigarette smoking young men and women.

After parties and dances hundreds of cigarette ends are invariably found trodden into the valuable carpets, thrown behind cupboards and roughly hidden in plants. No room escapes except the ballroom.

FLAGS OF CITY FLY TO GREET LEGION TO-DAY

Brave Display of Colorful Banners Conveys City's Welcome.

AT EVERY ENTRANCE.

Flags Flown on Public Buildings and in Front of Stores.

Apart entirely from the official welcome so ungrudingly extended to the visiting delegates of the Canadian Legion to the convention beginning to-day in the Legion Hall on Murray street, the visitors found many signs of welcome. Flags are flying opposite most of the places of business in the city. At the fire hall no fewer than three banners are waving on the summer breeze—a red ensign on top, with the Canadian coat of arms, and two Union Jacks, opposite the large entry on Aylmer street.

From the armouries floats the Union Jack, which appears above that building on every day of the year, being hoisted in the morning, and taken down at night. One of the business places on George street has gone back to the old style in displaying a flag from a pole which projects from above the store. From whatever quarter the delegates reached the city, and whatever mode of transportation they adopted, they met with evidences of the welcome of the city. The delegates who alighted from the C. P. or C. N. trains found themselves at once in sight of numerous Union Jacks in the street, waving merrily in the breeze. If they came by motor from Toronto they caught sight of the waving flags as soon as they passed into George St. Those who came via Lindsay, along the fourth line and down Chemong Road into the city, found a flag waving at the first store on the way—at the intersection of Reid and McDonnel streets.

General J. A. Gunn president of the Ontario Provincial Command expressed himself this morning as being greatly pleased at the remarkable displays of flags by the merchants and citizens of Peterborough. "I saw more flags flying here," he said, "than in the whole city of Toronto.

Some of the flags were not arranged in accordance with the best military practice, some indeed were flying upside down, but the message was unmistakable. Peterborough said emphatically:

"We welcome you."

NOTED WRITER TO COME HERE

E. B. Krieger Writes Travel Articles For Many Magazines.

FIRST TIME IN CANADA.

The following letter was received by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from the secretary of the Tourist Association of Ontario:

"The third annual tour of Mr. E. B. Krieger, staff writer of the Cincinnati Times-Star, Ohio, will take in Ontario, Quebec, and the New England States. His articles and photograph will appear in the Times-Star and motor and golfing magazine and are considered by this Association to be one of the best forms of advertising for points visited.

"You will note by the copy of the Ontario itinerary, enclosed herewith, of Mr. and Mrs. Krieger, that they will visit your city and I would suggest that any courtesies you may extend to them during their all too short stay will be well repaid.

"They will be carrying camping equipment, but will use hotels in the larger cities. Time permitting, they hope to be able to enjoy a little golf. Mr. Krieger says: "It will be my first visit to Canada. I am anticipating it with great pleasure for the interesting material I know I shall find for my travel articles." As he is making a hurried trip we would suggest that you have some attractive photographs of your district available for him.

"Having copies of some of Mr. Krieger's articles, the writer does not hesitate to recommend him and Mrs. Krieger to your personal attention."

This shows besides the other noted newspapermen who are going to attend the lodge at Paudash, that not only will the Kawartha Lakes gain publicity but that the City of Peterborough will be in the limelight for tourists will know this city as "The city from which all branches of real vacation resorts stretch out." Tourists in Peterborough the other day remarked that many can talk about the beauty of Muskoka, but there is onl yone district that gives a real holiday and that is Kawartha.

Mayor Holloway Extends Civic Greeting, While E. A. Peck, M. P., W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., Col. C. H. Ackerman, Mrs. W. R. Morris and Mrs. J. Mills Also Speak.

HONOR TO CITY STRESSED BY SPEAKERS; VALUE OF LEGION IS ALSO MENTIONED

General Gunn Presides at First Session, Held This Morning—Messages Received From Premier and Other Notables.

The First Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion opened this morning at 10 o'clock in the Legion Hall on Murray Street, with General J. A. Gunn in the chair.

Proceedings opened with the singing of the National Anthem. Captain Rev. Paul Costello offered up a short prayer of invocation, after which the assembled delegates observed two minutes' silence in memory of fallen comrades.

Telegrams of good wishes and expressions of regret for unavoidable absence were read from Premier Mackenzie King, Premier Ferguson, the Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment; Col. the Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of Defence; Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, and Commander of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and W. S. Dobbs.

Sir Percy Lake, Dominion Commander of the Legion, at present in England, sent his best wishes.

After the preliminary stages were concluded General Gunn vacated the chair in favor of Col. C. H. Ackerman, President of the Peterborough branch.

In welcoming the visiting delegates to the city, Colonel Ackerman expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on Peterborough by its selection as the scene of the first convention of the rehabilitated returned soldiers clubs in Ontario. He wanted to take the opportunitiy to thank the citizens of Peterborough for the magnificent quarters which they had given to the local branch.

The returned men, said Colonel Ackerman still had an opportunity to serve in civil life as they had done during the war and he believed they could have the same satisfaction in it as they had in the service on the battlefield.

The future success of the Legion would depend on the breadth of the recognition they would have for all branches of the service. The various members of different units had to recognize the services of members of other units and forget their own partial units. There was a tendency prevailing to restrict activities to the smaller units, men met on the anniversary of Ypres for example. They got a certain amount of pleasure out of it but it was restricted to members of their own unit. They overlooked the fact that there might be in their own city, probably five or six times as many men who also had taken part in the operations, but were excluded from the celebrations on account of their having been associated with other branches of the service. Colonel Ackerman thought that on one or two occasions in the year, there should be a big gathering to which all returned men should be invited.

Their association could be made a real asset to the country and community. Service Clubs like Rotary and Kiwanis were very successful in their lines of endeavour, and these clubs had not the incentive to gather together, the same peculiar knowledge of each other that ex-service men had. If these organizations lived and succeeded, the Canadian Legion must live and he felt sure that it would live. They had arranged to have fine weather for the next three days. (Laughter). He hoped the result of the convention would be to strengthen the cause in Ontario.

Mayor Holloway.

Dr. W. T. Holloway, Mayor of Peterborough, said that he was there as Mayor of the city to welcome the delegates, especially those from outside the city. He hoped they would enjoy their stay in the city and trusted that none of the local members would neglect the opportunity to show the visitors, what the citizens believed to be one of the finest little cities in Canada.

He thought the Legion could do much along the spirit of Jubilee. His Worship referred to the visit of the Governor General in Connection with the celebrations to be held during the present month. He said that a meeting had been held in that connection on the previous evening and he had asked the ladies to co-operate in every way in making the visit of the Legion entirely successful. So if they found themselves the objects of very flattering attentions from the ladies of the city they would understand.

The O. T. A. had gone. (Hear, Hear) and Government Control was now in force. But the local supply

REPORTS SAY NORTHERNERS DRAWING BACK

Whole Front Retreating Owing To Many Victories of Nationalists.

ISSUE WARNINGS.

Powers To Send Expeditionary Troops To Peking For Protection.

LONDON, June 1 (A.P.).—Irregular reception of dispatches from Peking yesterday indicates that the censorship is active, but dispatches to The Associated Press state that the Ankuochun, or northern alliance, now admits the withdrawal of the Northerners on the whole front owing to reverses at the hands of the Southern (Nationalist) armies in Honan.

With this news of the Northerners' collapse, which is taken here to herald the possible early fall of Peking, comes confirmation of reports which have been gathering force in the past few days, that the Powers have decided to send expeditionary troops to the number of 16,300 to Peking and Tientsin, and to take other measures for the protection of foreign interests.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the northern leader, naturally describes the retreat as a deliberate tactical move, which will not involve removing his headquarters. But it is held that this means the surrender to the Southerners of the whole of Honan province, south of the Yellow River, all of Anhwei and the entire Lunghai Railway.

Official reports reaching the British Government confirm the Southerners' successes, and the Foreign Office takes such a serious view of the position that warnings have been sent to Peking for the safety of British women and children.

May Send Reinforcements

No decision has yet been taken as to whether it will be necessary to send reinforcements in addition to this to China, but it is understood that it is exceedingly probable air reinforcements will be despatched, as it is contemplated to protect the Peking-Tientsin rail communications by air patrol.

Reports have been revived as to the possibility of the British Government deciding to re-occupy the British concession at Hankow, but nothing authoritative has been announced.

PARTY RAIDED.

PEKING, June 1. Canadian Press. —United States Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, who has arrived here from the Honna battle-front, yesterday related how his private car was entered by northern soldiers while en route to Peking and his party relieved of all their possessions, including $1000 in gold and the Senator's $500 motion picture camera.

The senator, who has been travelling in China, said that the incident took place north of the Yellow River on the first train from the Honan battle area. The train carried 900 wounded northerners.

At a station a few miles north of the Yellow River the train was stopped by northerners, who demanded that the wounded leave it. The wounded were forced from the train at the points of pistols and the Senator's private car was then entered.

WEAR MORE CLOTHES.

BERLIN, May 31.—A German archbishop has threatened to deny Holy Communion to women of his diocese who refuse to comply with his dictates of fashion. Women and girls must wear high-necked dresses, sleeves to the elbow, skirts below the knees when they appear in church, he says. Mixed bathing has also been forbidden.

BLACKHEADS

Sheep Sacrificed At Rail Opening

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 1.—(A.P.)—The traditional sacrifice of 100 sheep, with the innovation of a huge camel, laden with costly rugs and brilliant shawls, was made to-day by the townsfolk of Cesaree on the occasion of the opening of the 240-mile Angora Ceraree railway.

The railway, carrying modernity further to the east in Turkey, represents the first achievement of the republic's vast rail building programme and is the first line completed entirely by the Turks.

MADOC PEOPLE IN ACCIDENTS

James Caskey Hurt While Helping Move Barn.

J. LAHEY'S CAR BROKEN.

MADOC, June 1.—An unfortunate accident befell James Caskey on Friday when he was helping to move a neighbor's barn. A large beam fell on Mr. Caskey, breaking his collar bone and knocking him into the silo. From the fall he sustained a bad cut in his head. Mr. Caskey is able to be up but is suffering a good deal of pain from his head and shoulder.

On Sunday evening J. Lahey suffered what might have been a very serious accident, when a rod in his car broke, causing the wheels to twist. Mr. Lahey was unable to control the car and crashed through the fence near the bridge at Moira Lake. Although the bank at this point is steep, Mr. Lahey fortunately escaped injury.

JOLLY JINGLES By Graham Hunter

JOINS PROTEST AGAINST PRICE OF BEVERAGES

Capital City Grousing Over Price of Ontario Liquor Commission.

CHEAPER IN HULL.

Another Kick Is Registered Against Small Size of Quarts.

OTTAWA, June 1.—Announcement of the price lists of the Ontario Liquor Commission has given rise to considerable grousing in Ottawa, and it is reflected in the newspapers.

There is particular complaint that price of ale or beer by the quart is 30 cents when, retail, it can be secured in Hull for 25 cents. At that rate Hull saloon-keepers have been making big money for some years.

Another kick is based on the claim that, while the price of liquors is reduced, reputed quarts of 26 ounces replace the large imperial quarts of 40 ounces, to which patients patronizing the Ontario vendors have been accustomed.

Wine Charges.

It is also alleged that the Commission is charging more for Ontario wines in Ontario than the Quebec Commission charges.

Some local hotelmen profess to see in the high price of beer that before long they will get the privilege of selling beer, leaving the Government to sell the hard stuff.

For years the Hull taverns have waxed fat on the patronage of Ottawa, likewise the Quebec Liquor Commission's stores in that city.

LIBEL CHARGED BY COL. MORDEN

Writ Issued Again William MacKinder, M.P. For Shipley.

LONDON, June 1.—Col. Grant Morden has had a writ issued against William MacKinder, the Labor member of the House of Commons for Shipley, charging him with libel. The writ was served yesterday.

"I am not going to stand for libels uttered on the public platform," Col. Morden told the British United Press yesterday.

"I waited all Monday afternoon with a speech prepared in answer to Labor's proposed plan to take me to task for my remarks during last week's heated debate, but they failed to do so. The Tories are pleased that I am having the writ served."

ALBERTA CROP OUTLOOK GOOD

"First-Class," Says Minister of Agriculture, Telling of Prospects.

BEST IN YEARS.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 1 (Canadian Press).—"First-class" is the word that Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, applies to Alberta crop prospects. He says that in 26 years' experience in the province he has never known the land to be, in general, in so good condition.

Not more than five per cent of the acreage has been unsuitable for seeding, thinks Mr. Hoadley, and there is a large amount of newly broken land to offset this. The sum total of wet land on which it has not been possible to put in a crop is small and will not generally affect the harvest results. There has been more summer fallow land than usual, and on account of the moisture a great deal of stubble land has been seeded.

Generally speaking, the Minister says, the grain is now standing higher than ever before at this date, and everywhere it is showing up well and sturdy as a result of the cool growing weather.

From the Peace River country word has come of "marvellous prospects," and the province at large has an outlook thus far of the very best for a bumper year.

REPORT PLANE OVER THE SEA

Cunard Captain Says He Saw Machine Flying East Over Atlantic.

OFF IRISH COAST.

LONDON, June 1. (United Press.) —Reports that another airplane flight from New York to Europe was in progress circulated in London yesterday.

The Cunard Anchor line office at Glasgow announced that the master of the S.S. Transylvania reported he had sighted an airplane about 1000 miles off the Irish coast. The Transylvania is a special Rotary club ship.

The Cunard-Anchor line informed the United Press by Telephone from Glasgow that the following wireless message had been received from Captain David W. Bone of the Transylvania:

"Transylvania, at 11 p.m.—(G. M. T.) 7 p.m., eastern daylight; position 45.47 north, 32.29 west, observed an airplane about twenty miles south of us steering eastward."

The message was reported by the shipping company to the air ministry yesterday. First word of the reported sighting of the ship was received here at the United States embassy from the Cunard-Anchor line. Embassy officials believe the vessel must have sighted a shooting star.

U.S. ARMY PLANE LANDS AT MONTREAL

Supposedly Escorting Major Herbert A. Dargue in "Good Will" Flight.

MONTREAL, June 1.— (Canadian Press). —Supposedly escorting Major Herbert A. Dargue ,who recently visited every republic in South America, Central America and the West Indies on a "goodwill" flight, one United States army airplane arrived in Montreal late yesterday in command of Captain R. O. Hoyt.

Major Dargue took off from Burlington, Vermont, yesterday, bound for Montreal, Canada, being the last country in the Western Hemisphere to be visited by this airman and was due to reach Ottawa on Thursday morning in time to attend the reception to be accorded to Hon. William Phillips on his arrival at noon to present his credentials to Vicount Willingdon, governor-general of Canada, as the first United States minister to Canada. Unfortunately heavy rain and other inclement weather conditions decided him to turn back, and he alighted again at Burlington about the same time as his escort plane reached Montreal.

It is expected that a new start will be made from the Fort Ethan Allen field at Burlington early this morning, and that Major Dargue will alight only for a short time in Montreal before continuing to the capital in company with the escort machine. Plans to this effect have been made by Captain Hoyt, who is accompanied by Sergeant B. D. Boozer, and sufficient fuel will be transported to the flying field to enable the flight to be continued without delay.

CENTENARY BOOK MOST INTERESTING

Illustrated With Many Cuts of Old Peterborough Landmarks.

In connection with the centenary celebration of St. John's Church an interesting history prepared by F. M. DelaPosse, with an introduction by Rev. Dr. Blagrave, has been published and is issued for sale in the city.

The book, which is illustrated with a number of fine cuts of the early church buildings and old Peterborough landmarks, tells in graphic style the story of the progress of St. John's church during the first hundred years of its existence. As might be expected, this record of Peterborough's first church contains much interesting information relative to the rise and progress of the city itself and of such stalwarts as Adam Scott, Captain Rubidge, and the Hon. Peter Robinson, names imperishably associated with our civic history.

All the ministers who have held the charge pass in review from the first resident clergyman, Rev. Samuel Armour (grandfather of E. A. Peck, M.P.), to the present honored incumbent, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D. It is a good story well told.

The following passage—the conclusion of the book—may serve as an example of the style of the author:

"The story of the Centenary of St. John's church is ended and the same thought that evoked the opening sentence brings comfort and inspiration at the close. When we cast our eyes around the walls of the church, rich in memorials of our religion and of loved ones gone to rest, we must be sticks and stones indeed if the sight does not serve to broaden our sympathies and exalt our ideals. We do not need to think of those who helped to build this edifice as supermen or angels. They were plain men and women, imbued with the same hopes, aspirations, and fears and subject to the same foibles and weaknesses as ourselves. For them the building of a church was a necessity—just as much as tolling for their daily bread, for they knew that without the practice of public worship they could not hope to keep alive the creed of their fathers and hand down a heritage of value to their descendants. We honor them because they were loyal to the tenets of their church and because they possessed the faith and courage necessary to complete and equip a building where they and those who came after them might follow the dictates of their religion.

"The message they have left us is as clear and compelling as if written on parchment or proclaimed from pulpit or ivy-clad tower. They remind us that the church which has been resigned to our care is not of mushroom growth but is the fruit of the devoted labors of many men and women through years of toil and tribulation and that we must strive, even as our forefathers have striven, to preserve the glorious principles on which it was founded.

"The spirits of the past appeal to us by every tie of love and reverence, but infinitely clearer and more insistent rings out the appeal of the Great Founder of Christianity Himself.

A common Italian salutation in the morning is "God give you a good day."

Human life has been lengthened from 23 years in the Middle Ages to 58 years to-day.

FOUR ENTRIES OUT OF RACE

Reports Say Balloon at Winooski, Vermont, Leading the Field.

HAVE BAD WEATHER.

AKRON, Ohio., June 1.—(AP) — With only four starters in the national elimination balloon race reported down after more than 24 hours in the air, another night of flying seemed in prospect for the remaining 11 entries as darkness came over the region of the St. Lawrence River where they apparently are striving for victory.

On the basis of the meagre reports from along the line of flight a balloon sighted at Winooski, Vt., just over the state line from New York and about 25 miles from the Canadian border, was leading the field. It was believed to be the Scripps Howard entry. The bag passed Winooski, about 500 miles from Akron, in mid-afternoon. It was so low that villagers thought it had landed on a hill near the town, but it rose slightly and continued its course eastward. Since then no report has been received.

There was every indication that the race being flown in the same bad weather that marked its start here. Storms were responsible for two of the landings and the absence of radio reports from any of the balloons indicated the weather the pilots were experiencing.

The four balloons that have landed are U. S. Navy No. 1 and U. S. Navy No. 3,, both from Lakehurst, N.J., U. S. Army No. 4 from Norton field, Columbus, Ohio, and the St. Louis Rotary Club entry.

Down by Storm.

Navy No. 1 was forced down at Pope Mills, N. Y., about 400 miles from here, by a severe electrical storm at 11:17 a.m., eastern standard time. It was piloted by Lieut. T. G. W. Settle with Chief Boatswain Mate George N. Steelman as aide. Although the airmen made a quick landing under adverse conditions, they reported their balloon and equipment safe.

Navy No. 3 the second to take off here Monday, was also the second to land. It came down at Mottville, N. Y., about 325 miles from Akron, at 10.30 a.m. Mottville is about 15 miles west of Syracuse. Lieut Charles Bausch, pilot, and his aide, Lieut. F. P. Reichfellderfer, had their balloon and equipment loaded on a truck soon after and started for Skaneateles where they arranged for its shipment back to Lakehurst.

Army No. 4, with Lieut. Frank M. McKee, pilot, and Capt. Sagott Moore, aide, dropped out at Martinsburg, N. Y., after travelling about 400 miles at 10.20 a.m.

Captain Harry S. Honeywell, in the St. Louis Rotary Club entry, came down at Brockville, Ont., in the middle of the day with approximately 425 miles to his credit. It was a storm also that cut short his flight. Captain Honeywell, the veteran of the race, said before the start that if he did NOT win this race his long racing career is over. He had made more than 300 ascensions.

OBITUARY.

J. CAIN.

BURNT RIVER—Mr. J. Cain, one of the pioneers of the village passed away after a long illness. He was an invalid about three years. Mr. Cain lived here when there were no bridges and few roads in this district, and when the land that is now in cultivation was principally forest. He was a staunch member of the Methodist Church. His wife predeceased him a number of years ago. Left to mourn are one daughter and six sons, Mrs. R. Wilson of Burnt River, with whom he made his home in his later years. Alvie Cain of Burnt River, James, John, George, Fred, and Barney, all of Toronto. Funeral took place from the Union Church on May 2nd to Burnt River Cemetery, and was largely attended by friends and acquaintances.

MRS. NOAH KING

HAVELOCK, June 1.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Ann King, who died on Saturday at her home in Belmont, was held on Monday afternoon and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral service, which was held in Victoria Church, was conducted by a former pastor, Rev. H. B. Herrington of Warsaw, assisted by Rev. Mr. Brown of Cordova Mines. Interment took place in Victoria Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were F. Breckenridge, J. A. Sexsmith, D. Seabrooks, W. Ashby, J. Simpson, J. McCutcheon.

Mrs. King was widowed by the death of her husband, the late Noah King, a year ago. Of the family their survive, two daughters, Mrs. J. H. Toms and Mrs. Elias Barker; four sons, John, Ezra, Horace and Albert, all of Belmont. A brother, Mr. George Palmateer of Tweed, and three sisters, Mrs. Sarah McCumber of Wagerville, Ont., Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Harrison of Thomasburg, Ont.

The deceased, who was in her 65th year, was born in Sheffield, Ont., and had been a resident of Belmont for over forty years. Death was due to heart trouble and a heavy cold, which she contracted about two months ago.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service

by Ben Lucien Burman

THIS HAS HAPPENED

To the queer little South American town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, a town fringed by dark, forbidding jungle, comes an elderly American, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a famous chemist.

An air of mystery seems to hang over the place. This impression is accentuated when the porter who handles Nunnally's grips hints of strange deaths that have occurred and mumbles gloomy prophecies.

In the barber shop, the barber, a strange, dark man with an Oriental cast to his eyes, speaks to Nunnally, who then recognizes him as VILAKA WEST, known to him as VILAK, a fellow American. He asks Vilak what he is doing in Porto Verde. To his amazement, Vilak says he has sent for him.

The barber business, he explains, serves to conceal his real activities. He and his cousin, ELISE MARBERRY, need assistance in getting at the root of a mystery that already has cost several lives and threatened Elise's.

Vilak is interrupted with news of another death and he and Nunnally hasten to the spot where the victim TONY BARBETTA, one of Elise's foremen, lies on the ground, almost at the feet of LIMEY POTTS, another foreman, who admits having hit him with a club.

Barbetta seems to be in a strange sort of paralysis. He dies, after accusing Potts, and Vilak astonishes Nunnally by declaring his belief that Potts was not the murderer.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER V.

The chemist gazed at Vilak in bewilderment. "But . . . er . . . Tony said Potts did it and Potts admits it himself. How can there be any doubt . . . er . . . doubt when facts are as clear as that?"

"Don't forget there are two kinds of facts," Vilak responded. "The tangible ones that you can see and hear and the intangible ones which you can neither see nor hear but only feel. This is a case where the latter are obviously the more important."

". . . Er . . . who . . . er . . . who do you believe is the murderer then?"

"Again, mon cher, I answer my ideas are deplorably scanty."

"You think it was . . . er . . . Prentiss, perhaps? Er Prentiss? Haven't you any idea of what's happened to make him look and act so Satanic . . . yes, Satanic? His . . . er . . . eyes appear as though he were working some evil spell upon everything at which he looks." Suddenly he jerked out the cigaret he had placed in his mouth a moment before, made a wry face, and spat bitterly.

"What's the matter?" drawled Vilak. "Too powerful for your Anglo-Saxon blood?" he chuckled. "You don't wish a bit of betel nut to top it off? No? Well, that's the advantage of having several races speeding through your veins. Increases your pleasures enormously. To me there's nothing like a little betel with a good smoke."

He pressed another section of the golden dragon. It opened, disclosing a number of tiny pellets. One of these he extracted and thrust into his mouth. "I agree with you that Prentiss hasn't exactly the drawing-room manner. Certainly he appears to be a man who has lost his soul. Personally I feel rather positive that he's connected in some way with these terrible tragedies, but I've little to base it on.

"I do know that anyone who tries to be concerned in his affairs, even with the kindliest intent, suffers. As I think I mentioned to you, some time ago, Elise got interested in him largely because of that old feud which existed between their fathers. By some legal technicality it seemed that the land which old Prentiss developed for his fazenda turned out actually to belong to the Marberrys and Elise's father always insisted that Prentiss was nothing but a poacher and tried every means to get him out.

"Elise didn't want the land, and as I told you, rightly thinks family feuds are preposterous in this supposedly enlightened century, so she went out to his house to extend the olive branch, and do anything for him that she could. He saw her coming, banged all the shutters and doors so that the house was sealed, and though she knocked repeatedly for twenty minutes, made no sign of being inside. The next day she was walking along the road and he almost rode her down with his horse. She was certain that this wasn't an accident but a deliberate attempt."

He grunted. "Hum . . . I just happened to think. She told me the other day she was going out there yesterday to try again. This new attack may be one of the results." He chewed meditatively a moment, then went on: "No one talks to him now except the keepers of the little shops where he buys his food on his rare visits to town. He honored my establishment once. Lately his trips have been becoming fewer and fewer until now they've practically ceased. If we knew what caused him to resign by request from the museum a couple of years ago, we might have a clew. And then again, we mightn't."

"The . . . er . . . blacks and the Indians seem fearfully afraid of him. Yes . . . fearfully."

"Wouldn't you if you were a poor superstitious native who believes that when the sun goes down over a mountain that the mountain has eaten it? Some of them have a veneer of Christianity but it's mighty thin. Just remember that, counting poor Tony today, four men have died since Prentiss has been here. The other three also in ways almost as mysterious as this. You couldn't hire one of the Porto Verdeans to go near his place at night for all the coffee on my cousin's fazenda.

"A lot of them say he's performing terrible experiments, vivisection, and that sort of thing on the jungle animals, and some of them go further and say he's been using human beings. They think he's some sort of devil doctor and is trying to mix souls and all that sort of native hocus-pocus. They'l screams coming from his fazenda at night, and those with more vivid imaginations will add that they've seen swear to you on their Bibles—if they imations will add that they've seen four-headed devils and fire-breathing bats big as men flying over the roof. Rank nonsense, of course, for the most part, but I don't blame them much.

"It's difficult to see howling demons when you're standing on the corner of 42nd and Broadway in New York City, but it takes very little effort when you're swallowed up in the jungle of Porto Verde."

He gazed at the old man, who was again fumbling in his pocket. "You're a nuisance. Haven't changed a bit in ten years. Always having torn pockets and letting your matches get down into some obscure lining of your coat." He drew out two boxes of matches. "Put these in your pocket, and don't lose them. Matches are valuable down here. After which lecture I'll tell you that the affair of this afternoon has made me decide to go out to Prentiss' place tonight to do a little investigation. Would you like to come along? It may be just a bit dangerous. Seriously, quite dangerous."

The chemist's sprightliness had returned. "Because you're a few years . . . er . . . younger you're not so . . . er . . . superior," he replied amiably. "After all, I've faced enough . . . er . . . perils in a laboratory not to fear a man merely because he has a . . . er . . . singular forehead. Moreover . . . er . . . insurance statistics give me ten more years to live, and I detest statistics. I should greatly enjoy proving them wrong. At what hour do we . . . er . . . start?"

Vilak puffed placidly at his cigaret. "After I've gone again on a fruitless mission to try to induce my cousin to leave, and, more important, introduce you to her. When it's dark I'll change my clothes a bit and meet you. I always go out there as a Mr. Davis, her attorney, a person I've invented for convenience and who has a secluded house up the road on some of Elise's property, where I can make the change without creating suspicion. Wouldn't be just the thing for barber Riggs to be seen at the house of the grand senhorita. Nor to be too intimate with you, for that matter, so be a bit careful when you meet me at the hotel in public. Though it probably wouldn't make a particle of difference to most of the natives, because they think all Americans are mad, anyway.

"Elise wanted to have you stay at the fazenda, but I won't permit it, for a day or two at least. It's probably cruel to you, but I'll see more of you closer at hand. Charming girl, Elise. But too determined to be comfortable. I think you'll like her. I should say we ought to get there about eight, stay an hour or two and start from there for our visit to Prentiss. I'll call for you about seven-thirty. We'll ride out, of course."

A few moments later they had descended to the valley and separated. Vilak to return to his barber shop, Nunnally to examine with academic interest the sandy deposits at the edge of a tiny lake which sparkled a short distance from the river. His inspection completed, the chemist sauntered to the town, marveled again at the view of the hill slopes carpeted with the green of the jungle and the white mountains rising far off in the distance, entered his room, and busied himself with some documents and books he took from his bag.

After a few hours spent thus, he began unpacking his luggage, and happening to place a clean shirt upon a table, found that it instantly took up a gray smudge of dust from the table top. Investigating, he discovered that every piece of furniture in the room was similarly coated. Horrified, he took out his pocket handkerchief and gingerly set about cleaning the room. So absorbed was he in the ask that he failed to hear a light knock outside and only looked up when the door opened and a tall, striking appearing stranger clad in a riding suit stood at his side. He started. "I . . . er . . . beg pardon," he stammered. "You were looking for me?"

"Yes," the stranger replied bluntly. "Stop being cleanly and Nordic and put on your hat. A good scientist like yourself ought to know better than to let a suit and a trifle of makeup fool you. It's time for us to get started."

The chemist stared, then smiled sheepishly. "You take too many . . . er . . . liberties with me. Too many liberties. What shall I . . . er . . . wear?"

"Come just as you are. We can pick up storm boots, heavy gloves, and a pistol for you at my cousin's. What sort of a raincoat have you?"

"One of those . . . er . . . oilcloth ones, like the heavy army ones."

"That'll be just the thing. Bring it with you."

The chemist gave a parting fillip of his handkerchief to the dust on the washstand, then looked out of the window. "Why must I wear a raincoat? The stars are shining very . . . er . . . brightly. It's too hot to wear a raincoat."

"Observe, my dear Nanny, that I also carry a raincoat. We won't need them until after we leave my cousin's. Then they will be vitally necessary. Perhaps perilously necessary. No, I'm not going to tell you why. It's no use asking. Come on now. Don't pother around any more. Or I'll make you smoke another of my cigarets."

SOCIETY

Mrs. John A. Turner, late of Peterborough, has returned to her home in Toronto, after spending a few days with friends in the city.

• • •

Mrs. Crown of Lindsay was a guest today at the Fallis-Brock wedding.

• • •

About 22 of the "Y" Gymnasium Outdoor Club girls, accompanied by their director, Miss Caroline Littlefield, had a jolly party at the Y.W.C.A. last evening, when they turned a proposed hike into a swimming party and social evening, commencing with a game of water polo in the pool, and finishing with refreshments and a ukulele sing-song around the grate fire.

• • •

Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, Miss Edwina Palmer and Miss Agnes Best are broadcasting a programme from Station CFRB, Toronto, this evening, from seven-thirty to eight thirty, standard time.

Rev. Mr. Fleischer of Stouffville officiated at the wedding today of Miss Greta Wall, Rubidge Street, and Mr. J. H. Radcliff of Toronto.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. Armstrong of Bethany attended the wedding today of Miss Mildred Brock and Mr. L. E. Fallis.

• • •

Miss Florence Vickers, 738 George Street, was a hostess at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Ruby Crowe, a bride-elect of the month, when twenty of her girl friends presented her with a number of pretty and useful gifts, brought in by the small twin daughters of Mr and Mrs. Charles Gray, dressed as miniature brides. The table was charmingly arranged with marigolds and lily of the valley, and the evening was spent in the enjoyment of music and dancing.

• • •

Guests from Millbrook who attended the Fallis-Brock wedding today included Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thirnbeck, and Messrs. William and David Armstrong.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1927.
(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction and therefore a time to be cautious.

For those who have attained success the planetary rule is fairly fortunate, but they must expect many conditions that are causes for anxiety.

The planetary government makes for the seething and boiling of human thought, always a dangerous condition that threatens world peace.

In the falling away of old ideas and the changing of established forms, many sacrifices must be made to progress, the seers point out.

There is a sign today menacing to old traditions and disturbing to persons of middle age or more.

For the United States the prophets foretell tremendous advancement that adds to its prominence as a world power.

This is held to be for women a period of preparation for great service, an intermediate time in which they awaken to their full possibilities in world service.

Beauty of spirit as well as body is to be gained in the coming decade, it is prognosticated, for the peak of material aspiration has been attained.

If the stars are read aright, color schemes in dress are to express a finer feeling and to be less pronounced.

Many signs of adjustment and stabilization in the United States are seen by those who read the stars.

Thrift is to be practiced as never before by the great mass of Americans, who will gradually adhere to less extravagant ideals of living.

Outdoor exercise is supposed to be especially efficacious, while this rule prevails.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a few anxieties connected with lands or property, but the coming year should be fairly successful.

Children born on this day have happy dispositions and are full of ambition.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

By the time the driver of the cab had hoisted the loathesome, distorted body of Phil, the crippled beggar, into the back seat, Bob Hathaway's car had inched along until its front bumper almost touched the rear bumper of the taxi.

"They haven't spotted us," Bob exulted to Faith. "Neither the driver nor Phil gave us a glance. This time there won't be any slip-up. We'll track Phil to his lair, and solve one mystery at least. The poor old devil has to live somewhere and I'm going to find out where that is. He has some connection with Hutchinson, and either Hutchinson or Phil killed Uncle Ralph. Be prepared for a wild drive, honey. I'll go through traffic signals if necessary, and show my deputy's badge," Bob told Faith grimly. "Fish my badge out of my pocket and pin it on my vest, like a good girl, while I drive. I'm not going to take my eyes off that yellow and brown taxi."

Faith found the badge, and pinned it on Bob's vest as he directed her, her hands trembling with excitement.

The pursued cab swung into Main Street, with Bob following closely. At Washington Street it turned south, and Bob lost sight of it for an agonizing half minute, since it was shut from view by two private cars that had turned into Washington Street from a side street.

"There it is, thank God," he breathed devoutly, through grimly set lips. "One thing is sure—there wasn't time or opportunity for the driver to shift fares."

Bob did not again lose sight of the pursued taxicab during the long chase which it led him, out of the business district into the west side residential section.

"Thought sure he would head for Peach Tree Hollow," Bob said to Faith, bewilderment shadowing his set face. "I'm going to range alongside the taxi and see what I can see," he decided suddenly. "This crippled bird has me gue sing."

He shot his car ahead on a spurt of speed, checked it so that he was not abreas of the driver of the cab, but close enough to look into the windows.

"Did you notice, Faith?" Bob's voice was husky with excitement, a he slowed the car a trifle so that it fell behind his quarry. "Curtains are down at the side windows and the back window. I didn't know taxis had those silk shades on rollers, like private cars."

"Maybe, since Phil uses it all the time, he's had them put in," Faith said, frowning thoughtfully. "But why? If he exhibits himself on street corners he can't be hypersensitive about people looking in at him through taxi windows. I'll bet it has some thing to do with Hutchinson. They use the car as a rendezvous, and Hutchinson can't afford to be seen with the crippled beggar."

Bob nodded, his brows drawn together in a frown of concentration. "I believe you're right. But what is Phil doing out here? This is that new addition—Rosemeade, I think they call it. My property, Enfield, lies just beyond. By George, he's coming out here to see Hutchinson! Crowell, Church ill's investigator, gave me Hutchinson's address. It's in this neighborhood somewhere."

The taxi swung swiftly along the new macadam street, as if the driver were thoroughly familiar with the locality. Block after block of pretty new cottages of shingle and stucco, with little pocket handkerchief lawns that would be green with their first grass in the spring, flashed past Bob's car, but he had little time to admire their architecture, although he had drawn up plans for a number of the little homes.

The early winter twilight was setting in when the taxicab swerved suddenly toward the curb. Bob gave a sharp twist to the wheel of his own car, bringing it to a stop scarcely twenty-five feet behind the taxi.

Apparently unaware that he had been pursued, a man stepped out of the taxi. Faith remained in her seat, leaning out of the lowered window of the sedan to watch developments, her heart beating suffocatingly with excitement.

For the man who had descended from the taxi was Brady W. Hutchinson, and not the crippled beggar!

Bob Hathaway almost flung himself against the body of the yellow and brown taxi before he could halt in front of Hutchinson, who had so amazingly proved to be the passenger in the pursued cab. After casting one searching look into the taxi, whose shades were now rolled up, and discovering that the back seat was empty and that Phil the beggar, whom he had seen enter the unoccupied tonneau of the taxi at the corner of Lincoln Park, was not within, he laid a hand upon the arm of Brady W. Hutchinson, president of "The Modern Terpsichore Company," erstwhile convict and writer of the mysterious threat letter which Ralph Cluny had received months before his murder. Bob spoke in short, slipped accents:

"Mr. Hutchinson, I arrest you in the name of the law for the murder of Ralph Winston Cluny."

When Bob had first accosted Hutchinson, the man had turned a look of quickly controlled surprise and consternation upon him. But at his accuser's words, he tried to jerk his arm free, his face going ghastly white. Before he could form words with his ashen lips, the taxi driver threw in the clutch and was about to shift gears when Bob, yelling for Faith to join him, sprang upon the running board of the car, whipping an automatic out of his pocket as he did so.

"And I arrest you," he spoke to the driver in the same authoritative voice, "as an accessory before and after the fact. I have your number and if you manage to escape now you will be arrested within ten minutes. The police are instructed to pick you up within the next ten minutes if I do not bring you in.

"Don't try to make a getaway, Hutchinson, alias Phil Schultz, the crippled beggar!" he barked out. "Get out of that cab, driver, and take your place alongside your master. And don't try any funny business. There are three of us," he added significantly, as his pistol continued to point at the heart of Hutchinson.

The taxi driver obeyed with all possible speed, joining Hutchinson with his arms above his head.

"You're crazy! I don't know what you're talking about!" Hutchinson spoke for the first time, his ashen face suddenly going dark red with forced anger.

"Oh, yes, you do! I'm talking about murder," Bob spoke calmly. "Faith, get into this taxi and lift up the cushions of the back seat. I can handle these two birds alone."

"You have no authority to arrest me," Hutchinson spluttered. "Let me see your warrant. I know you—you're Hathaway—"

"This is my authority!" Bob grinned as he prodded Hutchinson's stomach with the automatic.

"These!" The girl sprang from the running board of the taxi, her arms filled with foul, dirty clothes, a big make-up box, a wig of lank, greasy gray hair, and a heavy harness-like contraption of leather, with dangling straps and buckles.

"I'll fix you for this! It's an outrage, arresting a peaceable business man on a trumped-up, fantastic charge—" Hutchinson began to bluster again.

"Oh, come clean, Hutchinson!" Bob urged him contemptuously. "You entered this cab two days ago at Lincoln Park as Phil the beggar, and again today—and many other days,—and you left it as Brady W. Hutchinson, immaculate business man. You fooled me the other day. I lost sight of your taxi just long enough to fall for your trick, but—not today!"

The taxi driver lunged toward Hutchinson, his face contorted with fear and rage.

"I told you you'd carry this stunt too far, Hutch!" the taxi driver snarled, his upraised hands clenched into fists, with which he seemed to have an urgent desire to strike his associate in crime. "You damned greedy pig! We'll both swing for this and we mighta got clean away if you'd done like I wanted you to—beat it after you croaked the old bird—"

"Shut up, you fool!" Hutchinson spat at him, springing toward his accomplice like a wild animal.

"Cut it, Hutchinson!" Bob commanded curtly, prodding the fear-crazed man in the stomach with his gun. "I want both of you birds to be in good condition when I lug you into the courtroom where a girl is going through hell for your crime. Get into my car, both of you. You drive, Faith, while I look after these crooks."

Faith felt almost calm as she took the wheel. Bob had taught her to drive, and she had no doubt that she could manage the car. A deep joy had routed her first, nerve-shaking excitement, leaving her hands steady and her eyes clear. She and Bob had run the real murderer to earth. Cherry would be free—free!

"Listen, mister, I got a proposition to make to you," the dark-eyed, evil-faced taxi driver leaned toward Bob and spoke in a whining, confidential undertone, which Hutchinson in vain tried to interrupt. "This bird, Hutchinson, has been engineering these big jewel robberies the papers have been full of for the last six months. It was him that managed the Allbright robbery, too. Been the brains of a gang, he has, and he roped me into it. I ain't saying how right now, but he did—see? And when he croaked the old lawyer, I thought he was just hanging around the house to rob it, see? I didn't have no idea he was going to croak the old boy, or I wouldn't have drove him there that night, all tricked out in his beggar's disguise."

"Shut up, you damned fool! You are slipping the noose around your own neck; can't you see that?" Hutchinson snarled, making a futile lunge at his accomplice. Bob's automatic prodded him back into his seat.

"I know what I'm doing," the taxi driver spat at him. "I'm playing for immunity, see, by coming clean! This guy's got the goods on us, but I'm going to help him send you up. You been double-crossing the gang long enough. Me, now, Mr. Hathaway, I was the only one who knowed that Phil the beggar was Brady W. Hutchinson, but he had to let me in on his scheme, see, 'cause he needed me to haul him around, see, when he was all trussed up in his leg-crippling harness. He done all his devilment as Phil the beggar, and with this floatin' dressing room of his, he could disappear as Phil the beggar and come out as Brady Hutchinson, in the wink of an eye almost, even if the cops was after him. Oh, it was a swell scheme, and it woulda worked if he hadn't kept on after he croaked the old guy. Greed, that's him! Couldn't let well enough alone! Had to pull off a few more burglaries, before he was willing to let old Phil go back to his grave and rest in peace."

"Phil Schultz is dead then?" Bob asked, interestedly. "Are you hearing this, Faith?" he called out.

"Every word of it," the girl sang out exultingly. "And I have a marvelous memory for conversation."

"Sure, old Phil, the real beggar, is dead," the taxi driver grunted. "Hutch run over him in his car one night and picked him up and took him home. Didn't let on to the police that he'd banged the old guy up. He nursed the old man till Phil croaked, and had him buried quiet-like. Nobody took no interest in the old beggar dying, and by that time Hutch had got on to this scheme to take Phil's place. Say, mister," his dirty fingers clawed at Bob's coat sleeve, "You'll tell the district attorney I helped you make the pinch, won't you, buddy? I'm turning state's evidence, I am, and I can give him the low-down on the whole gang if he'll shoot square with Sammy Horne—that's me—Sammy Horne, at your service!"

"Squealer! I'll get you for this!" Hutchinson swore, his face livid, his hands clenching and unclenching on his knees.

"Oh, Faith!" Bob called. "Stop at the first drug store, get out and phone to Churchill. He'll probably be at his home by now. Try his office if he isn't. Tell him we'll wait near the drug store until he can join us. I've got to confer with him before I go any further with this. If he can't be located at once, get the district attorney."

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Navy blue and white checked foulard is combined with plain navy-blue silk in this frock and hat. The vest is of white organdie.

Plaid evening frocks are among the novelties of the season. Most novelties are only revivals—but this seems to be a veritable novelty, because there really seems to be no precedent for the frocks from plaided and large-checked present fashion of making evening materials. There has been a deep prejudice among us against all such square designs for evening wear. And this is one of the last of the last century prejudices in matters of dress that we have had to overcome.

Because really there is no reason why we should not wear plaids for formal evening wear just as readily as for informal sports wear.

One would hardly choose one of the striking Scotch tartans for a plaid evening frock—not so much because the plaid might be too striking but because the colors are usually solid, deep colors that do not look very well in the evening. One very charming little evening frock was recently made from a rather large checked silk, combining orchid and gray. A plaid of light and dark green has been chosen for a summer evening frock by one well-dressed young woman, and an frock with a short, close skirt with a other woman we know has ordered a bit of side drapery and a deep u-neckline in a rather large plaid consisting of two shades of blue.

But the most usual way of using the new plaids and checks of the season is in the making of clever little morning frocks of the sports genre or the less formal type of afternoon frock.

Usually the best effect is secured when the plaid or check is combined with a plain colored silk matching one of the tones of the plaid or check. A jumper frock may consist of finely pleated checked silk for the skirt with a jumper of plain silk banded with the plaid or check. There may be a neck handkerchief made of the plain silk with an edging of the checked or plaid silk.

The frock shown in the sketch combines plain and checked blue silk in a pleasing manner. Figured, plaided and checked materials are in fact rarely used alone this season, and the woman who makes her own frocks should bear in mind that it is much more difficult to make a frock entirely from one of these rather striking materials than a frock that combines a plain silk with one of the "fancy" sort.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R, Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SCOOTER'S SKATES.

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

One morning, when Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow to see whether it had rained any icicles in the night, he noticed Scooter, one of his little boy rabbits standing on the front path looking rather sad and anxious.

"Why aren't you at school, Scooter?" asked Mr. Longears. "You are not ill, I hope."

"Oh; no, but my roller skates are," replied the little bunny boy.

"Your roller skates are what?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"They are sick," went on Scooter. "Anyhow they won't roll any more and I can't have any fun on them. I've been waiting for you to come back from the Wogglejigs' bungleump so you could mend my roller skates for me, Daddicums! Will you?"

"Why of course I will!" cried Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh. "I just love to mend toys."

"Then you will have your heart's desire!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who shuffled out of the bungalow just then to go to the store for a dozen of bread or a pound of milk or something like that.

"What do you mean—heart's desire?" asked Uncle Wiggily, taking the broken roller skates which Scooter held out to him.

"I mean that half the toys of your forty 'leven little bunny boys and girls are broken and need mending," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper. "While you were with the Wogglejigs the toys here had a hard time of it. The children have been saving the broken pieces for you to mend when you got home."

"Well, I'm home now," said Uncle Wiggily, "and I'm going to stay. It will be some time before I go back to the Wogglejigs to help Boppy and Um unscramble their funny wooden children. So I shall mend all the broken toys I can find."

"And you'll fix my skates so they'll roll again, won't you, Daddicums?" asked Scooter.

"Of course I shall!" his father answered. "You hop along to school so you won't be late and when you come home your skates will be as good as new."

"Do you think you can mend them?" asked Mrs. Longears, as she came out on the porch to shake the dust rag and saw Uncle Wiggily mending Scooter's skates after the little bunny rabbit had hopped to school.

"Of course I can mend them!" declared Mr. Longears. "I'd like to see the broken roller skates I can't fix! All these need is cleaning and oiling. The wheels are all gummed up. I shall take them off, grease them and put them back. Then Scooter can have a lot of fun."

Whistling a jolly little tune, Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose as he took the skates apart while sitting in the sun on the back porch. Nurse Jane had gone to the store for a thimbleful of molasses. Mrs. Longears had hopped across the street to see if Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, was going to the movies that afternoon, all the little bunnies were at school and Uncle Wiggily was all alone on the back porch mending Scooter's skates.

All of a sudden a shadow fell across the ground in front of the rabbit gentlemen. He thought the shadow was cast by his wife coming back, so, without looking up, he said:

"See, Scooter's skates are all mended!"

"Oh, are they, how about your ears?" suddenly asked a savage voice and looking up, Uncle Wiggily saw the Fox standing there. The Fox had cast the shadow.

"Oh! Oh!" gasped the bunny. "I thought——"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Fox. "I've got you this time."

But Uncle Wiggily suddenly and slyly took one of the wheels off a roller skate. He let this wheel roll along the walk which sloped down a little hill. Faster and faster the wheel rolled along.

"Oh I mustn't let that wheel off Scooter's skate get away!" cried the bunny. "Wait a minute, Mr. Fox, until I chase that wheel." Uncle Wiggily hopped after the wheel, but he gave it a sly poke with his paw, making it roll faster, only the Fox didn't see that. And, thinking the rabbit would come back to have his ears nibbled a soon as he caught the skate wheel, the Fox didn't chase after him, but sat down on the steps to wait.

Down the hill, pretending to chase the roller skate wheel, ran Uncle Wiggily. And at the bottom of the hill stood the Police Dog.

"Oh, come up to my bungalow quick and arrest the Fox!" cried the bunny. The Police Dog said he would and he did. And while the Fox was being taken off to jail Uncle Wiggily put the wheel back on Scooter's skate and they were as good as new.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1927.

HAS THE RIGHT RING.

Hon. W. D. Euler's declaration at Kitchener that there is to be a vigorous enforcement of the customs regulations has the right ring, particularly as the Minister of National revenue has already given proof of his sincerity in the reforms he nas introduced and in his willingness to cut across party lines in securing the right men to carry out his policies.

When Mr. Stevens made his charges in the House of Commons there was a tendency to make light of them as merely political thunder and several members did not hesitate to condemn an inquiry into the administration of the customs department as a waste of time and money.

The probe has, however, revealed a very serious state of affairs throughout the country and it will require a minister with driving power and courage and determination to stop the numerous leaks and put an end to the practices that have robbed the Canadian treasury of millions of dollars and done great harm to legitimate Canadian business firms.

Fortunately in Hon. Mr. Euler the country has such a Minister, and the manner in which he is taking hold of a difficult situation gives assurance that the clean-up will be complete.

ONLY A COINCIDENCE.

If the Federal and Ontario administrations were of the same political stripe there might be reason to think that the two governments have been doing some very pretty team work in their reception of tourists; but under the circumstances the manner in which two regulations ,one Dominion and the other Provincial, work out must be put down simply as a coincidence.

Becoming effective this season Federal Government regulation has made it possible for tourists to spend ninety days in Canada on a temporary permit instead of thirty days as formerly.

And now along comes Mr. Hanna, head of the Ontario Liquor Control, with the announcement that a tourist's liquor permit is good for only one month; if he stays any longer he'll have to apply for another.

Thus every visitor who takes advantage of the privilege granted by the Dominion authorities and remains three months in Ontario will mean $6 to the Ontario treasury, if he wants to purchase liquor while here.

The Federal regulation, of course, was intended to stimulate tourist traffic, not to increase provincial revenues, but it will work out that way.

THE PRICE OF BEER.

The most serious criticisms that has yet arisen in connection with the introduction of Government Control has been occasioned by the publication of the price list, revealing the fact that the expected low-priced beer has failed to materialize while liquor is to be sold cheaper than was anticipated.

The general opinion seems to be that a reversal of this condition would have been a better guarantee of a successful operation of Government Control.

The people of the province had been told that beer was to be sold practically at cost and the desirability of encouraging the use of beer in preference to the consumption of liquor made such a prediction welcome.

Instead the permit-holder will find himself called upon to pay more for beer than is asked in Quebec while the more potent beverages are on sale at prices lower than the Quebec figures.

Brewers claim that the strict regulations in regard to the sale of their product in Ontario prevents a low price for beer but with the Ontario Government acting as their salesman, no advertising appropriation to pay and no large sales staff necessary it will be difficult to convince the man on the street that malt beverages cannot be sold at a profit under at rate of 17c per pint.

The published price list promises to encourage the drinking of liquor as against the use of beer and certainly will do nothing to eliminate the demoralizing home brewing which developed under the Ontario Temperance Act and which it was hoped would be greatly lessened when Government sales began.

WILL CLEAR THE AIR.

With the British Government's definite notification to Moscow of the severance of diplomatic and official commercial relations with the Soviet, and with the expulsion from the country of the intriguing Bolshevist agents, the incident of the raid on Arcos House will cease to excite international interest. For a short while British Laborites of the extremist type may be expected to fume, and political opponents of the Government will endeavor to alarm the public with the bogey of intensified communistic activities against the British Empire. But when these insidious plotters have been banished from the Kingdom and an ever-present menace removed the people will breathe more easily; and the Empire at large will be able to deal with a freer hand with Communist conspiracies and Soviet conspirators. It will be long indeed before the Bulldog will lose either his courage or his strength in the face of a nest of rats.

Moscow's new watchword, we are told in the despatches, is: "A rifle in the hand of every Red soldier—a State bond in the hand of every worker." But rifles have to be paid for, even if procurable, and the Soviet's Treasury will stand no strain such as equipping a great army would entail. Nor are any bonds that Moscow is likely to place in the hands of its workers calculated to awaken the confidence of those starved toilers in the benevolence of their oppressors. Soviet bonds would be objects of derision even in Bolshevist factories. Nor is any war impending as a consequence of the well-merited chastisement administered by Britain. Moscow will rattle its tin scabbard, it may be, and utter threats, but, like the thieving braggart Pistol in Shakespeare's play, it will "eat the leak."

In the meantime it is gratifying to know that Canada has followed the example of the Mother Country and notified the Soviet's trade official that neither he nor his business is wanted here. The Dominion's attitude is a timely illustration to the world of that Imperial solidarity which will prove the most insuperable obstacle to Bolshevist success, whether in secret or open warfare against existing civilization.—The Globe.

CANADA'S UNIQUE POSITION.

Dr. Coyne of St. Thomas, president of the Royal Society of Canada, speaking at the annual meeting of the society at Ottawa, said that our grand-children might live to see the seat of Empire transferred to our shores. It is an interesting speculation, if nothing more. We must bear in mind that Canada has a friendly rival in Australia, or perhaps more accurately in Australasia, whose people might say that their claims to be the seat of Empire are as good as our own. There is also the question of India and other parts of the Empire which do not enjoy full self-government. Could they be as conveniently governed from Canada as from England? It would be necessary, in order to arrive at a right conclusion, to study very carefully and thoughtfully the history of the growth of the Empire. It was a matter of geography as well as of race. A seafaring race found its home in a small island. It was well-equipped for agriculture and mining, but too small for the ambitions of a people filled with the spirit of adventure in seafaring, commerce and finance. Being comparatively free from the jealousies and fears of continenti Europe, they found scope for their energy on the sea and in America, Asia, Africa and Australasia. Their supremacy on the sea grew out of the needs of defence, signally illustrated in the defeat of the Spanish Armada, and out of sea-borne commerce and such dependencies as India.

These peculiar conditions could not easily be transplanted to Canada. Here, instead of a small overcrowded island, we have a territory as large as Europe, with a population not much larger than that of Greater London. We have felt no need for expansion by way of the sea. What has been called the Elizabethan spirit, which sent Englishmen roving all over the world, has found an outlet here by land, in the building of railways from the Atlantic to the Pacific in a steady northward movement, in pioneering and the settlement of new land. We rather shrink from the notion of assuming to govern backward peoples in other continents. Our interests abroad are mainly commercial, and even these do not depend upon trade concessions of any kind; we simply trade with Great Britain and foreign countries upon a voluntary basis. We shall, of course, always seek to extend this commerce, but it will be a long time before Canada is so overcrowded that its people will feel the same urge that has made Great Britain a world power

But without either accepting or rejecting Dr. Coyne's interesting prediction, it must be recognized that Canada is in a truly remarkable position. No other part of the Empire is so centrally situated in regard to the English speaking world. It is by far the nearest of the Dominions to Great Britain; while New Zealand and the thickly-settled parts of Australia are more easily reached from Canada than from England. It has for a near neighbor the nation having the largest English-speaking population in the world. So far as geography is influential, it is more amenable both to British influence and to American influence than any other part of the Empire. It is a part of the most extraordinary political organization in the world, a puzzle to foreigners and even to many of our own people. Its relations with the United States are absolutely unique, without precedent in history, and resembling nothing else in the world of to-day.

Small wonder that there should be speculation and attempts at prophecy in regard to a nation so strangely situated; that some should talk of Imperial federation, others of independence, others of union with the United States, some with rosy anticipations, others with anger or alarm. The thing to be borne in mind is that the situation cannot be explained nor the future forecast by any of the old formulas. We have to deal not with a rectangular structure which can be measuerd in feet and inches, but with something more nearly resembling a forest or a sea or some other manifestation of the forces of nature.—London Advertiser.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand $4.85 3-16.

Cables $4.85 11-16.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 1 (Canadian Press). — Extreme dullness again marked the export trade in Canadian grain here yesterday, there being practically no demand from foreign buyers.

In sympathy with the break in prices for grain future in other markets, a weaker feeling developed in the local market for cash grain and prices for Argentine and American corn were reduced 1 cents per bushel, and Canadian Western oats at 2½c per bushel. Car lots of Argentine corn were quoted at $1.04, and American Sample corn at $1.07.

Owing to the decidedly weak feeling that developed in the cash wheat situation at Winnipeg, the local market for Spring wheat grades of flour was weaker and prices were reduced 20 cents per barrel. The export trade was quiet, but the local demand was fair.

A moderate amount of business was done in Winter wheat flour and prices were steady.

The market for millfeed was without any new feature to note, prices being steady with a fair business passing. The tone of the market for standard grades of rolled oats was firm at the late advance in prices noted.

A fairly active business was done in eggs and values were unchanged. The receipts were 1,840 cases.

The potato market continued active and firm. Sales car lots of New Brunswick Green Mountains were made at $2.45 to $2.50 per bag of 90 pounds; Quebec White B grade at $2.40 per bag, and Reds at $2.00 to $2.10 per bag of 90 pounds in bulk ex-track.

The demand for butter showed no improvement, but prices were steady. The receipts were 1,680 packages.

The cheese trade was inactive and the undertone was easy. The receipts were 6,107 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Owners of May contracts in the wheat market found it extremely difficult at the last yesterday to discover buyers. As a result the month ended with that delivery 6¼ to 7⅛c net lower for the day. Late reports of showers in the dry sections of wheat territory southwest and of better weather in Canada tended also to weaken new crop months.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝ to 7⅛c net lower; corn ¾ to 1⅛c down; oats ⅛ to ⅝c off, and provisions showing 10 to 30 cents decline.

Sunshiny weather in the corn belt gave an incentive to sellers of corn and oats. Declines in the corn market, though, did not take full effect until after May delivery had established a new high price record for the season.

Sellers on the part of last week's best buyers of lard weakened the provision market.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 19,000; fed steers and yearlings trade steady to strong with last Thursday; strong to 25c higher than Friday's forced market; best fed steers $13.60; bulk $9.75 to $11.50; yearlings up to $12.00; heifer yearlings up to $10.85; stockers and feeders $8.00 to $9.50.

MANY MEETINGS HELD BY COUNCIL

Monaghan Council Sits as Court of Revision — Discusses Water and Schools.

The North Monaghan Council met as a Court of Revision on May 20, 1927, all the members being present. Robert A. Dobbin was appointed chairman for the meeting. The only appeal presented was that against assessment of W. Edwards which stated that he should be assessed for business tax. It was moved by Mr. Lillico and seconded by Mr. Waterman that the assessment of the former should be confirmed and set forth in the assessment roll and that the appeal be granted. It was then moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Kent that the assessment roll be accepted. Therefore the assessment roll of 1927 was accepted and confirmed.

It was moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Lillico, that the Court of Revision adjourn and that the Council proceed with regular business.

Communication was received from City Clerk Armstrong stating that the Peterborough Utilities Commission would meet the Township Council on Monday, May 30, at 4 o'clock.

Bert Arnott, chairman for the school board of Section No. 2 requested the clerk to arrange with the Township Council for a meeting with the school board on Monday evening at 5.30 p.m.

Samuel Jay wrote Reeve Lillico requesting the Township to advance John Gilroy fifty dollars for scavenger work. Norman Moncrief requested the Council to have repairs done on Concession eleven to get to and from the property with the truck.

Mr. Dobbin brought up the question of the request from Mr. White asking the Council to put in a culvert across the road to relieve him of the water around his lane. It was moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Kent that Mr. Dobbin inspect the Smith boundary at Mr. White's farm in regard to the culvert requested. It was moved by Mr Hunter and seconded by Mr. Dobbin, that the clerk send an account re taking Herbert Cuthbertson to the Whitby asylum to the county for payment. Moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Mr. Dobbin, that the Council request the owner of the property adjacent to the Vass lane to take down the gate across the said roadway, otherwise the township will refuse to do any work on this road or lane. Moved by Mr. Dobbin and seconded by Mr. Waterman, that Mr. Kent interview Mr. Mahoney in regard to the sidewalk, tools, and material and report at the next meeting.

A special meeting was held at 4 o'clock, May 30, when the members of the Council met the Utilities Commission to make application to the Commission for city water for these residents on the Provincial Highway and also on Chamberlain street, who are contemplating connecting with the city sewerage system. It was also decided that upon the receipt of estimates from the Utilities Engineer, Mr. Dobbin, and the City Engineer, Mr. Parsons, that these be submitted to petitioners so that they may decide themselves as to whether they want to pay for these services or not.

The trustees of School Section No. 2 met the Council on May 30 with Reeve Lillico presiding. The members of the school board present were Bert Arnott, chairman, Bert May and Harvey Webber. Moved by Mr. Hunter and seconded by Waterman, that the Municipal Council of North Monaghan to raise, by issue of debentures, the sum of $30,000 for the purchase of a school site and erecting of a new school at the corner of Park street and Braidwood avenue, and that the Township solicitor prepare a by-law and the debentures necessary for raising the money. The clerk was instructed to get in touch with firms dealing in bonds and debentures for quotations and prices for the proposed debentures.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

THE NATION
By Dr. Frank Crane.

Most of the trouble in this world does not come from a bad impulse, but from a good impulse gone wrong.

A witty Frenchman once said that our vices are our virtues carried to excess.

Things look very ugly in China just now. They are murdering, torturing and expelling all the missionaries and the teachers, who are their best friends. If the Chinese have been exploited and plundered it is not the missionaries who have done it. They went over here to devote their lives to the service of their fellow men and as a rule they have accomplished this purpose.

Inflamed, however, by an antipathy to foreigners, the Chinese have risen and are driving all strangers from amongst them. Their cry is, down with the foreign devils.

Nationalism is a good sentiment only when it knows when to stop. In this case it is a very unpleasant sentiment. It is cruel and unjust.

Nationalism is very easily aroused in most countries by a threat of danger or an appeal to hate. True nationalism while it loves and sacrifices for one's own country is not necessarily opposed to another. We can be good Americans and not hate the English nor despise the French.

It is the same way with personal respect. Every one should respect himself and stand up for his rights, and we even go so far as to say that self-defense is the first law of nature.

But when you see a man under the influence of this self-love struggling to get into the life boat before women and children, the sentiment looks ugly.

Just as self-defense ought to give way before national defense, so nationalism ought to give way to humanity.

The greatest of crimes is to refuse to grow. The greatest harm we can do our fellows is to appeal to the lower as opposed to the higher things.

Nationalism is all right in its place, but it should be tempered by the sentiments of humanity.

5000 Crippled Children

helped to health by the

JUNIOR RED CROSS

THROUGH the Junior Red Cross the Children of Canada are not only TAUGHT health principles — they are inspired to PRACTISE them—and to serve others!

Today 137,486 Canadian school children in 5421 classrooms are banded together for Health, Service, Citizenship.

In ways children love, they learn to keep healthy . . . to drink milk and lots of water . . . to go to bed early and get lots of sleep . . . to care for their teeth . . . to be clean and tidy . . . to avoid passing disease germs to others.

Teachers welcome Junior Red Cross with its voluntary pledge of Health, Service and Citizenship. It brings the spirit of play into the acquiring of health habits . . . it is an invaluable aid to the teacher. It develops consideration for others . . . the idea of service for the common good. A gospel of doing which succeeds!

Red Cross Juniors, are healthy and happy . . . they wish to help others to be the same.

Since the War
THE RED CROSS has disbursed
7 Million Dollars for the Soldiers, Women, Children and Frontier Families of Canada.
"STILL SERVING"

That other children, crippled by disease and injury, may be made well, they earn or save money to provide needed treatment.

Red Cross Juniors are not allowed to ask their parents for money for this purpose. In countless little ways which they themselves devise, they provide the small sums which together do such great service.

Since the war over 5000 crippled children whose parents could not meet the cost have been restored to health by the unselfish efforts of Red Cross Juniors.

To inspire our future citizens with a passion for healthy living! To encourage them to help their less fortunate fellows! Isn't the job worth while? Teachers and health officials say it cannot be done so well in any other way. This is only part of the work the Red Cross is doing for the soldiers, women, children and settlers of Canada. To YOU the Red Cross appeals for support in carrying on this and its other work.

The HALL STORE

Centenary of St. John's Church

In a few days St. John's church will be celebrating its centenary and it will be an occasion which will call forth more than ordinary interest, owing to the fact that its establishment synchronizes so closely with the founding of the city of Peterborough. One hundred years ago the Reverend Samuel Armour, the first Anglican missionary, arrived in what was then a very small and somewhat inaccessible village in order to commence his labors amongst the early settlers.

The lot of the pioneer missionary in those early days was a strenuous one. The roads were execrable, the means of conveyance poor and the settlements far apart. The highways over which people had to travel would scarcely to-day be dignified by the title of by-ways. In order to journey a distance of thirty miles behind a team of oxen one was compelled to start at two o'clock in the morning in order to get to one's destination at a seemly hour at night. It is hard to realize this when, at the present time, one can whisk along in a motor-car and travel the same distance in an hour or less. Even when the roads were improved to such an extent that horses could be used without danger of being mired, there was a lamentable lack of comfort in the style of conveyance that was used. Buckboards were not the easiest things to travel in and there was not much chance of developing a high rate of speed, even with the fleetest quadruped. Corduroy roads abounded.

It was no uncommon thing for waggon-loads of people to suddenly find themselves deposited on the roadside owing to the unevenness of the going and, sadder still, coffins sometimes shared the same fate. No wonder the early settlers preferred to bury their departed ones on their own farms rather than journey to deposit their remains in some distant cemetery. To a district as backward as this came the Reverend Samuel Armour, in order to minister to his flock and carried on the duties of the first head of the Government grammar school.

There was no church building in his day. He held his services in the same little log building which did duty for his school and which was situated on the northeast corner of the central school ground, at McDonnel and College streets, almost directly opposite what was afterwards the home of the Flavelle family. The booklet that is issued in connection with the centenary gives a more detailed account of the ministrations of Mr. Armour and of the labors of those who followed in his steps. It was whilst he was rector of St. John's that the celebrated traveller, Captain Basil Hall, came to Peterborough and was a guest at the house of the Hon. Thomas Stewart, at that time, or shortly afterwards, a member of the Legislative Council of Upper Canada. It is of interest to note, in this connection, that during the month of July there is to be a reunion of the Stewart family, and that a tablet to commemorate the event is to be unveiled in St. John's church.

When Mr. Armour resigned in order to take charge of the church in the township of Cavan, he was followed by Mr. D'Olier, an Irish gentleman, who had been obliged to come to Canada for his health. After a short term as rector of St. George's cathedral in Kingston he came to Peterborough in the hope that the colder climate would benefit him. This proved a disappointment, and after a short ministry of three or four years he returned to Ireland, where he died. During Mr. D'Oliers incumbency the important design of starting the building of a church fructified into action and the first subscription list was made out under his chairmanship. It was at this period that Captain Rubidge and Mr. James Wallis proved of very great service. The first-named gentleman journeyed to England for the puprose of securing funds, and Mr. Wallis busied himself in getting matters placed in shape on this side of the water. Money came in slowly, but as soon as there was enough in hand to warrant a start the contract for the building was given to Mr. Scobell, a builder resident in Cobourg. It would take too long to give the history of the planning of St. John's and the subsequent improvements that have taken place both inside and outside the edifice. From its erection as a very modest-looking building it has developed into one of the handsomest of the Anglican churches in Canada, situated in grounds which set out its beauty to the utmost.

The amount of good it has been instrumental in achieving during its hundred years of life can not be computed. It shares with the other branches of Christian endeavor the palm for any progress that has been made in the instilling of higher ideals of life and service in the hearts of the community, and if there is one fact that stands out distinct and unmistakable from this truth it is this, that in just the same spirit that all classes and creeds have striven togethe to carry on God's work, St. John's church asks those who have travailed with her to rejoice in the attainment of her rounded years of service. This is a year that is going to leave its mark on the history of Peterborough and, in a larger sense, on the history of Canada. It is going to be a year of memorial services and of memorial thanksgivings, and if we forget that without the aid of the churches there would have been little chance indeed of Confederation being consummated, and of alien creeds, languages and peoples being welded into a harmonious whole, we shall miss the very keynote of our prosperity, morally, and materially, as a nation. Let us lift our eyes, and we shall see that beyond all the petty diversities of thought stands the majestic and compelling figure of Charity, bidding us join together in a truly earnest and brotherly service of thanksgiving for the blessings accorded to us.—G. ONTARIO TO BE GREAT CENTRE OF INDUSTRY

Sir Henry Thornton Says That "White Coal" Will Cause Expansion.

INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Four Reasons Given For Future Growth of Whole Dominion.

SARNIA, Ont., June 1. — A new industrial centre for the North American continent was envisioned by Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, in an address delivered before the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce, in picturing this manufacturing area. Sir Henry placed the factories and plants of the continent in Ontario and Quebec and stated that he believed that this development would arise as a result of 'white coal' or in other words, the potential development of the numerous waterways of the dual provinces.

"I believe that Ontario and Quebec are the two most important provinces on the continent to-day from an industrial viewpoint, particularly with regard to their future development," Sir Henry said; "and I can foresee the time when they will become the centre of North American industrial activity. We already see the trend of industrial activity in the developments which have taken place within the last few months. More than 100 million dollars is being spent in harnessing the waterpowers and establishing a great industry in the Lake St. John District alone, and there is every reason to believe that the same industrial activity will be duplicated in Ontario. Therefore we should have no doubt as to the future of Ontario in an industrial way."

Four Reasons for Prophecy.

Sir Henry's prophecy as to the future greatness of the two provinces industrially was made when he gave four reasons why the twentieth century belonged to Canada.

First, he touched upon the Dominion as an agricultural nation, showing that the United States was rapidly reaching the peak of production for feeding the union, and that within the near future it would have to look outside its own boundaries for cereal foodstuffs.

The president of the National System pointed out that with the elimination of the United States as a wheat-exporting nation, there remained only one probable competitor —Russia, 'and we need not look for any competition from Russia under present conditions," he added.

The second reason Sir Henry gave was the wonderful waterpower resources, and the third the magnificent mineral deposits, which at present have merely been scratched.

"The pre-Cambrian field has already given up great wealth to Canada," he continued, "particularly in Northern Ontario, and we have every indication that the Rouyn district will rival that of Northern Ontario. Then again, in northwestern Ontario there are also new fields and it does not seem to beggar imagination to say that the whole pre-Cambrian field may be teeming with mineral wealth as yet undiscovered.

"Then fourthly, there are the transportation facilities. I know of no country which for its population has such an adequate transportation sytsem, and, I may add, such a satisfactory service. This, I would like to emphasize is an important factor to any nation with industrial aspirations."

In conclusion, Sir Henry paid a striking tribute to the pioneers of the country, both in the east and the west, and the faith which they showed in the future of the nation.

"Faith is what we need to-day in Canada" he stated. "Whatever we have accomplished in the past has been brought about through our faith in the destiny of the Dominion, and it is this faith, coupled with the courage to accomplish and the knowledge of the fundamental of nationhood which will assure our future success in nation building."

Large Gathering.

The gathering, which was an unusually large one, and representative of Sarnia and the district, was presided over by F. G. Depew, president of the Sarnia Chamber of Commerce and through the courtesy of the Northern Navigation Company was held on board the Great Lakes steamer Huronic. While the banquet was in progress the Huronic steamed out into Lake Huron and after a short cruise returned to the dock.

The addresses opened with a toast to the City of Sarnia, proposed by James Reid, president of the Port Huron Chamber of Commerce, and was responded to by Mayor James Newton. The toast "The Dominion of Canada," was given by Lieut.-Colonel C. S. Woodrow, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and responded to by W. M'L. Clark, secretary general of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal

The toast to "Our Guest" was proposed by W. T. Goodison, M.P., and responded to by Sir Henry.

The president of the Canadian National Railways arrived in Sarnia at noon, and took a trip of inspection over the railway property, and subsequently visited various points of interest in the city, including the Imperial Oil Company's plants. He was the guets of Mr. Goodison for luncheon. Accompanying Sir Henry were A. W. Weldon, vice-president in charge of traffic, R. H. Fish, General Superintendent Southern Ontario District; T. T. Irving, Chief Engineer Central Region; C. R. Moore, General Superintendent Transportation; R. W. Long, Assistant Freight Manager, and C. Forrester, Superintendent London Division.

REPORTS TO CITY COUNCIL

Board of Works Report.

The Board of Works reported and recommended as follows:—

That residents of the Township of North Monaghan be allowed to connect with the City's sewers on the Township Council agreeing to pay the City $20.00 a year for each connection made.

That the Chairman of this Board, the Mayor and the City Engineer see Mr. McNab, Agent of the Canadian National Railway in regard to improving the crossings on Hunter and Charlotte Streets and between the rails on Charlotte Street.

Property Committee Report.

The Property Committee reported as follows:—

We recommend that the matter of having the smoke stack at the incinerator painted be left with the Chairman of this Committee and that the expense of painting it be paid on the certificate of the Chairman.

We recommend that the matter of levelling the cans placed on Canadian Pacific Railway property be left with the Chairman of this Committee, and the City Engineer.

We recommend that the Peterborough Humane Society be given permission to place a dog kennel on the City property at the incinerator, the kennel to be placed where directed by the Chairman of this Committee.

We received from W. J. Henry, Assessor, a valuation of the lots owned by the City on Caddy Street and Maria Street, which is attached to this report. We recommend that the lots be sold at the prices recommended by the Assessor and that there be restrictions placed in each deed that no house be built on the Maria Street lots at less cost than $3,000.00, that they must be kept back twenty feet from the street line, and that one house only be built on each lot.

Committee of The Whole Council Report.

The Committee of the Whole Council reported as follows:—

Your Committee met with representatives of the Canadian Diamond Jubilee Celebration Committee and discussed the plans for the celebration in Peterborough. The Celebration Committee submitted an estimate of the cost of the celebration as follows:

Pageant	$1200.00 to $1700.00
Fireworks	500.00
Races	1000.00
Athletics	300.00
Water Sports	250.00
Music	300.00
Publicity	300.00
Decorations	500.00
Procession, lighting, etc.	500.00
	$4850.00 to $5350.00

We recommend that the Council endorse the action of the Canadian Diamond Jubilee Celebration Committee, and recommend that the pageant be held at the Exhibition Grounds.

MARMORA NEWS

MARMORA, June 1.—A well filled house greeted the young people of Bethel on Friday evening when, at the Town Hall, Marmora, they presented the three act comedy drama, "The Path Across the Hill", under auspices of the local Booster Club. Accompanying these amateur artistes was an excellent four-piece orchestra which played enlivening strains before the rise of the curtain and between the acts. The various characters of the play showed a general naturalness of acting seldom approached in a amateur effort. A former Marmora girl, Miss Marion Inkster, scored heavily with her comical impersonation of Zuzu, the colored cook. L. Thompson in his portrayal of Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, Zuzu's choice, proved an ideal partner in comedy. W. Warren sustained the difficult role of Samuel Crawford, grandpa, with great credit. Miss J. Andrews as Mrs. Davis, grandma, was most realistic. To Miss G. Vanderwater was assigned the leading role of Ruth Conrad. Her delineation revealed very carefui training. Dr. Jimmie Reid (K. Broadworth) and Flo Gray (Miss H. Green)' who contracted the happiest of marriages ably supported the cast. E. Broadworth well supplied the dramatic in his role of Robert Post, the visitor. G. Green as Walter and Miss M. Elliott as "Lutie" were also decidedly good in their parts. The play has already had a good run and the fame of these young amateurs is assured wherever they may go.

INDIAN TOMB IN PANAMA.

PANAMA CITY, June 1.—Far into the mountains of Panama, where it is believed that no whiteman has gone before, two American explorers have discovered an ancient Indian temple. George Williams and Wallace Bain, returning here after some months of work in the jungle, brought solid gold trinkets, and told of finding copper armour and battle-axes.

MILLBROOK C.G.I.T. REGULAR MEETING

Plans Made for Annual Picnic —W. A. Hears Report.

MILLBROOK, June 1.— The regular weekly meeting of the Wide Awake C. G. I. T. group was held at the United Church on Thursady evening, with about sixteen in attendance.

The president, Hazel McMahon, was in the chair, and among the business items was the decision to hold the annual picinc at Wallace's Point in July; last year the boys of the C. S. E. T. group joined with the girls for the outing, and this arrangement, under the eadership of C. C. Garside, my be carried out again this summer.

The scripture lesson was on "Prayer Our Greatest Service," the lesson being from Nehemiah, the second chapter. The leader's talk covered a regular training lesson on the early years of the adolscent period, the second section to be taken up at the next meeting.

The usual "treat" was enjoyed at the close. There was one visitor who will probably later join the organization. The two girls who will represent the group at the Provincial C. G. I. T. camp at White House, Lake Couchiching, were authorized to send in their applications for registration right away as the attendance is limited to 60, and the list fills up rapidly.

W. Fred Fallis, Millbrook; F. C. Paterson, Port Hope.

Messrs W. W. Brown and R. I. Fallis are among those locally who are taking in the educative outing; last year the route was through New York State and proved so successful that the decision was to repeat the initial experiment this year.

The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of SaintThomas' Church has discontinued its meetings until September, when the invitation of the president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, to hold the gathering at the Rectory will be accepted.

The closing meeting was held this week at Mrs. G. Fowler's, a good attendance being a feature of the evening. Mrs. C. McNeil and Mrs. E. Whyte were appointed as Visiting Committee.

The report of the recent Diocesan Annual meeting held at Saint Anne's Parish Hall, Toronto, given by the delegate, Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard, was both comprehensive and interesting.

The new study book will cover mission work in Africa, and will be taken up in the fall.

The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Fowler and Miss Muriel Smith, who served refreshments during the social hour at the close

4 out of 5 start too late

Among the people you see today, four out of five past forty (and many younger) are victims of Pyorrhea—simply because they started too late to protect teeth and gums.

Pyorrhea starts with tender, bleeding gums. Unchecked, it undermines youth and health and often results in loss of teeth, neuritis, ulcers, rheumatism or other serious diseases.

But have no fear. If you start in time, you can prevent or check the inroads of Pyorrhea. See your dentist at least twice a year. And start using Forhan's for the Gums.

This dentifrice thwarts Pyorrhea or checks it. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S., a recognized specialist in Pyorrhea.

Forhan's firms the gums, keeps them healthy. It protects teeth and keeps them white.

Don't gamble with health! Start the Forhan morning-and-night habit, now. Teach your children to use it, too, as health-insurance. Play safe. Get a tube today. At all druggists, 35c and 60c.

Bon Ami

Saves the surface of your bathtub!

FEW women realize that coarse, gritty cleansers ruin the delicate glaze of a bathtub—leave tiny scratches that collect dirt and make the tub harder to clean next time. Bon Ami does not scour or scratch. It quickly blots up all the dirt, stains and impurities—leaves the surface glistening clean and smooth as new.

A little of the soft, scratchless Powder sprinkled into the tub and a few rubs with a well moistened cloth—that's all there is to it! Dirt, spatter marks and cloudy rims disappear in a twinkling. You'll never know how really clean and hygienic everything about your bathroom can be, until you use Bon Ami.

Quick, easy and thorough, Bon Ami cleans and polishes at the same time. And housewives like it too, because it never reddens their hands!

Leafs Lose Third Straight To Stars-Ruth Clouts 16th Homer

SYRACUSE GAIN EDGE OF SERIES

Defeat Leafs 7-5 To Win Four of Seven Games Played.

COLTS LOSE OUT.

NEW YORK, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The Stars gained the edge on the series and the season over Toronto by defeating the Leafs, 7 to 5, for the third straight victory of the series at Syracuse. To date, the Stars have won four in seven from the Leafs. Baltimore, with five wins in seven games, is the only club in the League which holds the edge on the season so far over the Stars.

Lambasting Pitcher McLaughlin for four home runs which produced five of their eight runs, the Bisons made it three out of four over the Rochester Colts at Buffalo yesterday. The score was 8 to 2. Fred Brainard, newly acquired utility man, who is playing second base in the absence of Andy Cohen, who is on the injured list, bashed two of the homers over the left field wall.

Baltimore at Reading, postponed, rain.

Only three games scheduled.

COCHET DEFEATS GERMAN OPPONENT

Played "Inspired Tennis" in the First Two Sets, Says Tilden.

ST. CLOUD, France, June 1 (Canadian Press).—"The Spirit of France" incarnated on the tennis courts by Henri Cochet, who defeated Otto Froitzheim, Germany's best raqueteer, in the first real test in Franco-German tennis since the war, yesterday replaced in the hearts of France on the front pages of their papers the "Spirit of St. Louis" with which through a series of receptions to Lindbergh, Paris has been satured for ten days.

Cochet in the first two sets of his match against the German played "inspired tennis," as Tilden said after the match.

These two sets were works of art and genius. "No one could defeat Cochet today."

The score was 6—1, 6—1, 6—4. Cochet now moves into the semi-finals, where he meets Tilden. The Cochet-Froitzheim match was looked upon as the first real encounter between real top-notcher French and German players. The gallery, stolid at first, warmed up to Cochet's splendid exhibition coming right after his poor display before Timmer of Holland two days ago. Then, when the Frenchman was two sets in the lead with victory assured, gave Froitzheim an ovation as the latter fought for every point in the last set.

"Is Wonderful Player"

Froitzheim and Cochet shook hands warmly over the net after the match, the German later telling The Associated Press: "This boy is a wonderful player. He belongs to the younger generation. Maybe I am getting too old. I wish him the best of luck." Froitzheim is 44; Cochet 25.

Senorita de Alvarez, Spain, who was regarded as Susanne Lenglen's successor on European courts, was eliminated from the competition by the youthful Esther "Bobbie" Heine, from South Africa. The Spanish Miss was the favorite to win the tournament, but she was defeated in a match in the first set of which she showed such bold electrifying tennis as even the world famous Suzanne never displayed, but in which she weakened as the match wore on.

Tilden and Hunter, playing the lone match in which Americans engaged yesterday, won a Pyrrhic victory from two French juniors, Pierre Landry and Charles Boussus. Boussus, a boy of 17, gave promise of ability to replace any of the French musketeers, Borotra, Lacoste, Cochet or Brugnon, when he has gained a little more court experience.

IBEY MUST PLAY WITH OUTLAWS

Will Not Be Permitted By the League to Line Up With Clerks.

CAMPBELLFORD, May 31.—An ultimatum was handed to Campbellford's star hard ball pitcher at a special meeting of the Softball League on Saturday night.

Some time ago Ibey was placed with the Outlaws and told to stay there. But Ibey jumped the Outlaws and appeared as large as life with the Clerks in a recent league game.

All this has to be cut out. Ibey has either to play with the Outlaws or leave softball alone.

YANKS TAKE DOUBLE BILL

Slug Athletics Into Submission For Scores 10-3 and 18-5.

2 HOMERS FOR RUTH.

NEW YORK, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The New York Yankees slugged the Athletics into submission in both ends of a double-header at Philadelphia yesterday by scores of 10 to 3 and 18 to 5. Babe Ruth hit a home run in each game and ran his total to 16 for the season. One was on base each time. The New Yorkers totalled six circuit blows for the two games, three in each. Lou Gehrig knocked out his twelfth homer of the year in the opener.

The Yankees bombarded the combined offerings of Ehmke, Rommel and Pate for 24 hits in the final tussle while Shocker went the route on the mound for New York, keeping 12 safeties well scattered. Rommel hit Shocker on the head with a pitched ball in the sixth inning of the second game, but the pitcher remained in the contest after a brief rest.

Makes Triple Play.

Johnny Neun, substitute first baseman, made a triple play unassisted as the Tigers shut out Cleveland, 1 to 0, at Detroit. In the ninth inning, with Myatt on second and Jamieson on first, Summa lined to Neun. Neun caught the ball without moving out of his tracks, ran over and Tagged Jamieson, then raced to second and reached it before Myatt could return.

Rip Collins held the Indians to four hits in winning a pitchers' battle with Garland Buckeye. Besides pitching brilliantly, Collins also was his own best support in the field, having nine chances to his credit.

Bunch Hits.

Chicago bunched hits off Jones and Vangilder behind bases on balls and closed their at home stay with a 7 to 2 victory over St. Louis. Herb Blankenship pitched a steady game.

Smarting under the double defeat sustained at Washington Monday, the Boston Red Sox scored enough runs in the first inning of yesterday's game to beat the Senators, 4 to 1. Jacobson, with a triple, scored Tobin and Flagstead, and crossed the plate himself on Rigney's wild relay of Speaker's throw. Lisenbee, sensational right-handed recruit, who has won five out of six games for the Senators previous to yesterday, was credited with the defeat.

Change Is Made In Order Bisley Team

OTTAWA, Ont., June 1 (Canadian Press).—Another change in the personnel of the Canadian Bisley team which sails from Montreal on June 10, was announced by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association headquarters here last evening. Sgt. H. Burton, R.C.E., of Esquimault, B.C., has been compelled to withdraw from the team owing to his not being able to secure the necessary leave. His place on the team has been taken by Pte. F. J. Glass, of Lennoxville, Que., a member of the Sherbrooke Regiment.

The Bisley team will assemble in Montreal on Thursday, June 9, and will be inspected at the Victoria Rifles Armoury. The team will sail on the S.S. Ausonia the following morning.

O.B.A.A. BULLETIN.

The O. B. A. A. sub-committee had a rather lengthy meeting last night at the Carls-Rite Hotel. The committee, after hearing the claims of Lucan and Strathroy to the services of player Steve Dundas, decided to refer the question to the Western Ontario League Executive.

Certificates were ratified for the following players: D. Pine, Toronto; N. Dury, A. Scott and L. Harper, of Belleville; H. Boucher, Oshawa.

The executive wish to warn all O.B.A.A. players against taking part in any tournaments without receiving permission of the executive. Already a number of players are being placed under suspension.

The warning issued to players around the border cities for playing Sunday baseball has had a tendency to stop these infractions, according to reports to the executive.

The following leagues have again lined up in the intermediate section: Haldimand, Northumberland, Trent Valley, York-Simcoe, Lennox-Addington and Frontenac County.

Babe Ruth Is Ahead Last Year's Average

NEW YORK, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Two home runs for Babe Ruth in the double-header between the Yankees and the Athletics at Philadelphia have put the Bambino a run ahead of his mark attained at this stage of the 1921 race, when he set a world's record by hitting 59 circuit blows. The Babe has 16 four-baggers thus far, against 15 on this same date in 1921. However, Ruth also had 16 homers to his credit a year ago yesterday. In 1926 he hung up No. 16 on May 25.

PIRATES RALLY FOR 10-9 WIN

Batter Moundsmen For 17 Hits For Perfect Batting Average.

HOLDS REDS 1-0.

NEW YORK, June 1. Canadian Press. — Batting rallies in the four closing innings gave the Pirates a 10 to 9 victory over Chicago at Pittsburgh. Joe Harris' triple, followed by Spencer's single, shoved the winning tally across the plate with none out in the ninth. The Pirates battered Brillheart and Osborn for 17 hits, including two triples, a double and two singles by Harris. Scott, a Cub outfielder, also gathered five safeties, including two doubles, for a perfect batting average. Tolson's home run in the first was the only circuit drive of the game.

Bob McGraw former Brooklyn right hander, made his debut with the Cardinals at St. Louis yesterday by holding the Cincinnati Reds to five hits and shutting them out 1 to 0. The victory put the Cards in second place. The only score was Douthit's home run in the eighth.

Win End Game.

The Giants won the concluding game of the series from the Phillies at the Polo grounds by 13 to 4. Henry going the route in the box for the victors. After Baldwin batting for Jack Scott, tied the score for Philadelphia in the first half of the 7th, the Giants batted out victory in the second half against Dean and Carlson. With two out, Lindstrom drove in two runs with a double and Hornsby's twin bagger sent in another. Thompson's wild throw let in two more.

Catcher James Wilson of the Phillies was put out of the game in the sixth inning by Umpire Klem following an argument at the plate.

Southpaw Jess Petty held the Braves to six hits at Brooklyn while the Robins toppled the Braves for a third time in the series, by 3 to 2. Successive singles by Hendrick, Herman, Felix and Flowers sent across the tying and winning runs in the seventh inning. Flowers played brilliantly for the Robins at short and his hit knocked over what proved to be the deciding run.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING

Matter of Season's Schedule Discussed For North Peterborough League.

LAKEFIELD, June 1.—A meeting was held on Saturday evening in the Council Chamber of the North Peterborough Softball League.

Mr. Martin Coughlin occupied the chair and the matter of the season's schedule discussed. Mr. M. P. Coughlin was made convenor of the South Section and Mr. C. S. Tanner convenor of the North Section. All teams wishing to enter the North Section are requested to communicate with Mr. Tanner on or before Wednesday, June 1st. No entries will be accepted after that date. A meeting will be held in the Council Chamber at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, June 1st to draw up a schedule, each team is requested to send delegates. It is hoped that Selwyn, Buckhorn and Wesley will be represented.

Jubilee Celebration

The committees in charge of Lakefield's celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee are all at work and if the expressions of enthusiasm for a local celebration are worth anything, the affair should "go over" well. Mr. J. S. Montgomery, chairman of the finance committee and his colleagues, are engaged in collecting the necessary funds to make a worth while event for the village and surrounding country.

Given Till June 10 To Accept Challenge

NEW YORK, June 1. Canadian Press. — The New York boxing commission yesterday, gave Jack Delaney, the French-Canadian holder of the light heavyweight crown, until June 10 to accept a challenge for a title match. His six months period of grace expires on that date. The commission suggested Mike McTigue, Tommy Loughran or Jimmy Slattery as a suitable opponent.

BLACKMAIL CHARGE IS LAID IN WINDSOR

Four Men Accused of Threatening Wealthy Scrap Iron Dealer.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 1.—Blackmail charges against four Windsor barbers resulted in the arrest late last night of Frank Ward, 40, Herman Hollister, 37; Patrick O'Shea, 36; and Arthur Lepage, 40.

The men are alleged to have attempted to compel Joseph Kovinskyk wealthy scrap iron dealer, to hand over to them $5,000 in cash under pain of having his daughter kidnapped, his wife shot and a similar fate to be meted out to Kovinsky in case he failed to heed the demands of the gang.

The death threat came to Kovinsky in the form of a badly printed letter of May 26.

MILLIONAIRES WIN IN FARCICAL GAME

Beat Clerks 29-28 in Rain Storm—Fans Are Disappointed.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 1. —With the long grass that covers the local diamond drenched with rain, the air cold, and the fans holding umbrellas, the Millionaires vs. Clerks game started off last night. For some time hundreds of the young folk of both town and district have been counting on seeing this contest, as both teams are decidedly popular and it was a keen disappointment to them that those who have to do with the management of these games allowed the game to be played under such wretched weather conditions. With feet wet from the start of the game, clothing wet before the game got well underway, the ball spongy, and "darkness brooding over the face of the deep," fans could not see how credit could be given as to ability to play softball Water polo, yes! but not softball.

From about the fourth innings, several kind hearted auto owners turned their lights on the field, but this only lit up the ground in parts. In the second half of the ninth, all hands were hunting for a ball that had been struck towards second base. Just then a woman who had come a long way with a lantren looking for her young son, reached the grounds. The ball was soon located and thrown home. This accounts for only ten runs in the last ninth.

An effort is to be made to have the league officials call this game off and have it played under proper weather conditions. As it was, it was a farce. Line up:

EXAMINER WINS FROM CANOEISTS

League Softball Game Ends With Scort of 25 To 8.

Last night, the Examiner softball team defeated the Peterborough Canoe boys to the tune of 25 runs to 8. The game was played on wet grounds and errors were numerous on both sides. Dormer pitched a good steady game for the winners and was well supported by his mates in the field. The Canoe team failed to give Dundas the support he deserved and as a result the fifth, sixth, and ninth frames were bad as the team blew up, letting in 21 runs in the three frames. Out side of these innings the game was very close. The losers took an early lead but were overtaken in the fourth. Each pitcher had three strikeouts and the winners had 17 hits to the losers 5.

The line up:

Examiner—Dugan, 2b G;uiry 1b; H. Dormer, p.; Baker, c.; Bradshaw 3b; G. Dormer, mf; Gray, rf; Oxley, lf.; Parsons, ss; and Skates 2b.

EGYPT READY TO NEGOTIATE

Reply To British Note is Considered By the Cabinet.

NOT FULL AGREEMENT.

CAIRO, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The Egyptian Cabinet held a special session last night at which it is understood a draft reply was completed to the British Government's note on the proposed reorganization of the army. It is believed that the Premier will present the reply to Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner, within the next twenty-four hours.

While the newspaper Ahram states that the Government will not fully agree to the British claims, it adds that the reply is so framed as to leave the door open for further negotiations.

ST. ANDREW'S, CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 1. — The first troop of Boy Scouts of St. Andrew's church took definite form at a meeting held in St. Andrew's church lecture hall last night. A former scout leader, Harold Dunk, teacher at West's Corners school, after the appointment of Keith Bailey, Will Fox and Don Walters as patrol leaders, gave a very interesting talk on Boy Scout work.

Mr. Dunk explained to the new leaders that it would be necessary for them to pass their tenderfoot tests before recruiting their patrols, and proceeded to instruct them in the Scout law. Five of the ten articles of Scout law were taken up and mastered by the patrol leaders. They were:

1. A Scout's honor is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal.
3. A Scout's duty is to be useful and a help to others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all, and a brother to every other Scout.
5. A Scout is courteous.

It is expected that the newly appointed patrol leaders will pass their tenderfoot tests within the next two weeks and then a lively recruiting campaign will be launched. Every boy between the ages of 12 and 15, connected with St. Andrew's church, will be canvassed by the patrol leaders. Glen Thompson will supervise the physical training work of this new organization—this alone should spell success with a capital "S."

Professional sports promoters are facing the possibility of being compelled to pay a two per cent. tax on their net revenue ,which is to be used in the promotion of amateur sport.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THEIR FOLKS CAN'T SEE

His folks can't see what he married fer,
Her folks can't see why she took to Jim.
His folks can't see what he sees in her,
Her folks can't see what she sees in him.
They both are right, though they both are wrong.
Her folks and his, though they can't agree,
Fer a man and a woman, all along,
See things in each other their folks can't see.

His voice has sounds they have never heard,
Her face has smiles they have never seen:
She hears his love in his lightest word,
She looks to him like a royal queen.
He never spoke to a soul like that,
She never smiled such a smile before,
Fer God Almighty knows what he's at
When he brings a man to a woman's door.

Their folks can't see how they do so well,
Why they seem so glad, why they laugh so gay.
She's the finest woman, they hear him tell,
He's the finest man, so they hear her say.
But here is how that such things occur,
Why their cup of joy is full to the brim:
His folks can't see what he sees in her,
Her folks can't see what she sees in him.

AT THE REGENT.

MIX IN BLUE TOGS IN RAILROAD STORY

Tom Mix has dug out of his wardrobe his old blue shirt and is riding through "The Great K and A Train Robbery," Fox Films version of Paul Leicester Fords' gripping story of the same name, as a real Western detective trailing a bandit gang whose frequent robberies have made life a burden for railway officials. This new drama will show at the Regent Theatre to-morrow.

This is a story of hard-riding desperadoes an agile quickwitted horseman and airtight situations, out of which the detective must fight or race his way to safety. It was filmed in the Royal Gorge, the grandest of all America's scenic spots and the camera has caught all the rugged beauty of the colored location.

Mix on Tony, carrying a girl on his saddle, rides alongside a railway train and lifts her to the observation platform. Then he leaps aboard and is mistaken for a bandit. The girl proves to be the daughter of the president of the road.

With these as the opening scenes the picture drama rushes through a succession of thrilling escapes and pursuits until the detective at the actual scene of the robbery foils the outlaws.

AT THE CAPITOL.

CHARLIE MURRAY, CHESTER CONKLIN TEAMED IN LAUGH RIOT

"McFadden's Flats" which opens as the feature attraction at the Capitol tomorrow, is one long, hilarious laugh. The famous old stage comedy has been given a brand new dress, new laughs and a new lease on life that should give screen audiences a new conception of what can be done in the way of film fun.

Edward Small who made this First National hit, has something unique in the form of a feature comedy! If his desire is to keep audiences roaring from the opening scene to the final fadeout he has succeeded.

Charlie Murray as the hod carry-the Irishman is irresistible, and teamed up with Chester Conklin as a Scotch barber, Murray proves one of the greatest comics of the screen.

Of course pretty faces are not overlooked in the making of this picture. Edna Murphy, in the leading feminine role, is one of the most convincing reasons why "gentlemen prefer blondes". Dorothy Dwan as the "brunette" puts up a pretty stiff argument at that.

Oither members of the cast include Larry Kent, DeWitt Jennings, Freeman Wood, Cissy Fitzgerald, Dot Farley and Leo White.

"McFadden's Flats" tells the story of the struggles of an Irishman who, coming to America, has ambitions to get out of the ranks of hod-carriers and become a builder—a builder of a flat building that might bear his name, in fact. He meets a tight-fisted Scotchman—portrayed by Chester Conklin—who becomes his fast friend in spite of their wide differences in taste.

Pretty Romance.

That the son and daughter of the two wrangling friends should fall in love with one another, permitting the unfolding of an entrancing story of young love, was a complication that neither had expected.

It is from this material that one of the most successful of stage comedies was made. And it is in the dressing up of this story in its present form that picture audiences are being given one of the treats of the year.

CALL BOY WINS DERBY TO-DAY

Frank Curzon's Horse, the Favorite, Leads By Two Lengths.

HOT NIGHT SECOND.

EPSOM, Eng., June 1 (Canadian Press).—Frank Curzon's Call Boy, the favorite, raced to victory in the 144th running of the historic Derby, with King George and Captain Lindbergh among the thousands looking on.

Hot Night, owned by Sir P. Sasson, was second, and Shian Mor, owned by Major J. Courtauld, was third.

Call Boy won by two lengths, with eight lengths between second and third. The winner paid four to one and was ridden by Jockey Elliott.

Epsom Downs was fairly alive with spectators, the crowd being swelled by the addition of those anxious to see the famous airman. Up to the time of the start interest was divided between preparations for the race and the presence of Lindbergh in the stand as a guest of Lord Lonsdale, famous sportsman. Once the horses were off, however, all eyes turned to the course, and the choice of the field raced down the final stretch of the one and a half mile course through a veritable lane of cheering thousands.

Toronto Man Wins.

TORONTO, June 1 (Canadian Press).—When Call Boy won the Epsom Derby to-day, Denis O'Brien, of Scarboro Heights, near here, became $16,000 richer. He held the winning ticket in the sweepstake, the first prize of which was £5,000. O'Brien was offered $7,500 for his lottery ticket as soon as it was known that he had drawn the Derby favorite. He refused the offer, however, but later disposed of a half share of his ticket for $3,700. He is a married man with several children.

HI-JACKERS ROB DOCK AT FORD

Steal Beer, Whiskey and Cash From Export Firm.

ESCAPE BY BOAT.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 1. — Four hi-jackers in a fast speed boat, held up the Reinke Export Liquor dock at Ford, early yesterday, bound two employees and escaped with 300 cartons of beer, 226 cases of whiskey and $300 in cash.

According to the story told Ford police by Maxine Drouillard, one of the watchmen at the dock, the hi-jackers approached his office about 2 a.m. and ordered him and another employee to throw up their hands. Both complied with the demand and were tied. One man stood guard over them while the other emptied the cash till.

Then, workikng quickly and quietly, the two men filled the speed boat with the liquor and beer stored at the dock for export to Detroit. The liquor was valued at approximately $14,000.

Drouillard and his companion said they were freed an hour later.

NORTHERNERS ARE RETIRING

Forces in Full Retreat From Railway To Sea.

C..ANG IN MANCHURIA ?

LONDON, June 1 (United Press).—Northern Chinese forces to-day were in retreat from the Peking-Hankow railroad to the sea before the advancing Hankow Nationalists, the Daily Express Shanghai correspondent reported. The Nationalists captured Cheng Chow, the despatch added. It said rumors reached Shanghai that Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Northern war lord, had retired to Manchuria.

DIPLOMATS TO STAY.

PEKING, June 1. — (Canadian Press.) — Two questions have been brought to fever heat by Chang Tso Lin's great strategic retreat before the advancing Nationalists. Will Chang be able to hold the Yellow River line and what will foreign powers do to protect their nationals remaining in Northern China?

The Ankuochun (Allied Northern Armies) notified the legations of the impending withdrawal of Chang's armies twenty-four hours before the public announcement was made. The diplomats immediately convened, but the result of the conference has not been divulged.

It is clear however, that the general attitude of the powers favors remaining in the Peking and Tientsin area regardless of the approach of the Nationalists, affording foreign residents the protection of troops if necessary.

Japanese Troops Arrive

TSINGTAO, China, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Three Japanese regiments of 2,000 men arrived here today from Dairen. The Chinese authorities immediately protested against the landing of the troops.

SPURNS TRIBAL WEALTH.

DUPREE, S.D., May 31.—Thirty-five years ago a swarthy little Sioux papoose, left in an orphanage by its widowed father, was adopted by a white couple. Recently the Indian Department, seeking to settle the estate of one Dog Eagle, found the adopted girl was an heir, entitled to $3000. She refused to sign as an Indian, spurned the inheritance, said she is a white woman now.

Name of Lindbergh Is Used By Advertisers; Enters Asylums Along With Napoleon

NEW YORK, June 1 (United Press).—Captain Charles A. Lindbergh will have to take to the air when he gets home to avoid the constant sight of his own name for a continually increasing stream of advertisers are hopping on the magic band wagon.

"Lindberg Wanted Milk," a large dairy company tells the world in no modest type. It explains that the old fashioned fluid was the first to pass his lips when he landed in France.

Other advertisers with less excuse are using Lindbergh's name at the head of their "copy" to startle the lethargic readers.

One moving picture theatre owner began a large advertisement with Lindbergh's name in giant letters. The announcement then meekly explained that the flier had shaken hands in Europe with one of the personages depicted in an historical film being exhibited.

In Asylums, Too

MEXICO CITY, June 1 (United Press).—Suffering under the delusion that he was Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, Benito Ortega, an aged pharmacist, was taken to jail yesterday while telling of his plans to fly across the Pacific Ocean and Asia en route to Paris.

He claimed that he had discovered some fluid which could be used in the manufacture of airplanes, thereby reducing the weight of such craft considerably.

Wheat Prices Go Up On Reports Of Bad Yield

CHICAGO, June 1. — (Canadian Press.)— Wheat turned sharply upward to-day after initial declines associated with bearish crop advices from Canada. The ensuing advance was largely due to unofficial estimates pointing to big reductions in yield for Kansas and Oklahoma. Opening 1 3-8c. off to 1-4 up, wheat later showed decided gains. Corn and oats also developed strength, corn starting at 1-4c. to 7-8c. decline and sagging little more but then making a sudden rise. Provisions were easier.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 148, September 145 3-8. Corn, July 99 7-8, September 102 3-4. Oats, July 52 3-4, September 51 7-8.

U. S. MINISTER ARRIVES TO-DAY

Hon. William Phillips Greeted By Premier King at Ottawa.

OFFICIAL WELCOME.

OTTAWA, June 1 (Canadian Press).—Hon. William Phillips, Minister of the United States to Canada, was greeted by official Ottawa shortly after one o'clock to-day as he stepped from the train. Premier King was the first to shake the Minister by the hand and extend a welcome in the name of the Dominion. With the Prime Minister was the Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, and Eric Melville, secretary to His Excellency the Governor-General. The American Consular staff, headed by Col. J. G. Foster, was then presented to Mr. Phillips, along with Major H. A. Dargue, of the United States Army Air Service, who had only arrived in the capital by air an hour earlier on the Goodwill flight.

SOVIET PARTY MAKES APPEAL

Asks Peasants To Aid in Strengthening Defences of Country.

WAR FORCED ON THEM.

MOSCOW, June 1. — (Canadian Press.)—An appeal has been addressed by the Central committee of the Russian Communist Party to party organizations and workers and peasants of the Union of Soviet Republics that rupture of the Republic of Anglo Soviet relations is unquestionably a step toward war against Soviets. The rupture is also described as the culminating point in a game of British diplomacy, inspiring and organizing an imperialistic onslaught on the Soviet Union. It is emphasized that the Soviet Union has pursued and is pursuing a policy of peace and that everything possible has been done and is being done for the preservation of peace, despite provocations.

The appeal says that war may be forced on Russia in spite of its efforts for peace and calls on all members of the party and all toilers to pay the closest attention to questions of consolidating the economic strength and defence of the country.

GUARDS DEFEND SLAYER OF FIVE

Two of Mob Killed in Attempt To Force Entry To Jail.

AT HILLSBOROUGH, Fla.

TAMPA, Flo., June 1. —(Canadian Press). —With casualty list standing at three killed and more than a score wounded, guardsmen to-day continued their defense of Hillsborough County Jail against the mob which sought for thirty six hours to break into the prison to get G. F. Levins, confessed slayer of five persons.

The attempts of the Sheriff to dampen the determination of the mob yesterday resulted in his ordering his deputies to open fire. National Guardsmen were ordered to the scene, but before they arrived eleven of the mob had been wounded.

The dead are Hugh Edward McCrae, Fort William, Ont., Hal Pfeifer, Ocala, Florida and Earl McGill.

Last night rioting broke out again and soldiers fired on the mob and before firing ceased the casualty list had mounted to three killed and more than 20 wounded, some seriously.

Prince of Wales Dragoons Considered Among Best in Canada

IN CAMP THIS MONTH.

The 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, with headquarters and "C" Squadron located at Peterborough, will do their annual training from the 16th to the 24th of June inclusive this year. They will again be located at the Exhibition Camp and will do their training there and at the Rifle Ranges. This unit, which is commanded by Lieut.-Colonel T. Dalton Johnston, has one of the finest training records among the Militia cavalry units in Canada. The Cavalry Brigade in which it is placed consists of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa and the 4th Hussars, with headquarters at Kingston, the Brigade being commanded by Col. L. Sherwood of Ottawa.

The 3rd Dragoons share with a Toronto infantry unit the honor of being the only units in Canada of which H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is Colonel-in-Chief.

The strength of the 3rd Dragoons this year has been alloted at 150 all ranks and 120 horses, which is a considerable increase over last year, and next year they have been promised a Brigade Cavalry camp at either Petawawa or Barriefield, and this will be eagerly looked forward to by the members, who are anxious to do training with the other units of their brigade. A composite brigade camp with the 40th Northumberland Regiment and the 46th Durham Regiment was suggested for this year, but it could not be arranged owing to the lateness of the suggested dates of training.

"C" Squadron, which is commanded by Major F. Hills, with Captain C. H. Stuart as his second in command, will have openings for a few recruits for this training and these will be taken on just prior to the opening of the camp. Recruiting dates will be announced later.

RANGE HORSES DYING.

HELENA, Mont., May 31.—Outside the range fences of Montana lie the skeletons of hundreds of wild horses, victims of a hard winter and a scarcity of fodder. A few emaciated survivors still roam the hills. Even these are being rounded up and sent to slaughter houses. Flivvers and tractors have made horses more valuable in the form of glue, fertilizer, bowstrings.

English police find that criminals are committing fewer crimes of brutality each year.

THE FEMALE VOICE CHOIR CONCERT

The Female Voice Choir concert was held in the auditorium of the Canadian Legion last night, under the direction of Mrs. Bugg. The programme was a decided success. The Choir was assisted in putting on the concert by other artists of the city, in song, recitation, and dance numbers.

Mayor Holloway acted as chairman, and before calling for the opening number, congratulated Mrs. Bugg for all her past efforts in making things like the one last night a decided success, and he remarked that he would only be too glad to congratulate her for the future, because he knew of her readiness always to help out in putting on anything of this kind. The Mayor remarked that it was an honor to him to be able to act as chairman for such an organization, for when the proceeds go to help the poor of the city, all should aid.

The audience was large, the hall being practically filled when the curtain rose. One section of the choir was dressed in red, another in blue, and the third in white. A special number, entitled "Shoe Shine," sung by children ranging in age from thirteen or fourteen to five, was loudly applauded, and encores demanded. It was very comical, for the kiddies were arranged in line according to their size, and all were dressed in the costume of boot-blacks in a large city. The audience all but convulsed with laughter when the smallest of the group sang his part of "shoe shine," for the little fellow's piping voice was very clear and his words distinct.

Mrs. G. McClelland gave two recitations that were greatly appreciated, and an encore was demanded. Little Miss P. Pink, in a song and dance number, received great applause, for the kiddie is very small, but not the least bit bashful of an audience, going on with her act like a real performer.

Selections by the Choir showed careful work by the leader and the members, for only continued practice could obtain such profitable results as did this concert. Nothing else could be said of the whole programme, but that it was a decided success from the first to the last number.

The following is the programme presented last night:

"O Canada"—Choir and Company.
"Scots Wha Hae"—Choir.
"Molly Darling"—Mrs. Rathbone and Choir.
"Shoe Shine"—Solos taken by W. Francis and Sherman and M. Fletcher. Words and music by Mrs. R. Bugg. Given by J. B. Juveniles.
Recitation (selected)—Mrs. H. D. McClennan.
"Blue Bird"—Miss M. Allan.
Song and dance—Miss Phyllis Pink.
Piano solo—Donald Rathbone.
"I Never See Maggie Alone"—Miss E. Harrison, accompanied by Mrs. P. Harrison.
Duet—"I Don't Want to Play," Sisters Katrinka.
"At Peace With the World and You"—Mrs. Foster.
Cornet solo—"In a Monastery Garden," Mr. Minnicolo.
"Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses"—Miss B. Gray.
"Kilarney"—Choir.
"Moonlight and Roses" and "In the Garden of To-Morrow"—Mrs. G. Jackson.
"Milkmaids," by Mrs. R. Bugg: Solos by Madeline and Annie Fletcher (featuring Peterborough Creamery)—J. B. Juveniles.
"Let Me Call Your Sweetheart"—Miss M. Allan.
Intermission of five minutes, during which music was supplied by a panatrope loaned by the Heintzman Company.
Songs—"Rose Marie" and "My Wee Little Hut on the Hill," Miss E. Brady.
"Belle Mahone," Mesdames F. and A. McKinley, Rathbone and Smith—Quartette and Choir.
"If I Didn't Know Your Husband and You Didn't Know My Wife"—Miss E. Harrison, accompanied by Mrs. P. Harrison.
"Mary Lou," with Charleston, accompanied by Mrs. Buckton — J. B. Juveniles.
"A Prayer in Absence" and "I Passed By Your Window"—Miss G. Hill.
"A Hundred Pipers"—Miss M. Smith and Choir.
"Will Ye No Come Back Again?"—Mesdames McKinley and Smith, Choir and Trio.
God Save the King.
Mrs. R. Bugg, choir leader.
Miss M. Flowers, accompanist.

Mayor Holloway complimented and thanked the Choir and also the other artists who had helped to make the concert such a success. Especially did he mention Mrs. Bugg for the splendid work which she is carrying on in helping the charitable organizations of the city.

After the concert a dance was held. An interesting feature of the evening was a Charleston exhibition by Miss Mary Dunlop.

DELEGATES WELCOMED

had been held back until the Convention was over (Laughter). There were certain places where private supplies were kept (Laughter) where one might get sufficient to drive off a cold.

The Peterborough City Council had unanimously asked him to express its delight at the coming of the delegates. The Council hoped that they would enjoy themselves during their stay and that at some time in the future they would come back again.

The Legion needed no recommendation from anyone. The nation could never do too much to show its gratitude to the men who did the fighting for the defence of lives and property. He hoped that the hall would be a home for the men for many years to come. He extended the freedom of the city to the visitors and hoped they would enjoy every minute of their stay.

E. A. Peck.

E. A. Peck, M. P., for West Peterborough, said he was glad of the opportunity to add his welcome to that of Mayor Holloway. He was a mere onlooker; in the nature of things he could not be anything else He had watched with great interest the efforts to unite into one organization the various units into which ex-service men were compelled to form themselves after the conclusion of hostilities. It had required much energy and much force to mould them into one. Now that it was done, if they stood together they were likely to succeed. Separated they would not make the progress they would otherwise be expected to make. As he understood their purposes they could be defined in two sentences.

The first was that they were aiming to build up the country they had fought for. The second and not less important, in fact, it might be the more important of the two, was to see that those who suffered got all the aid, protection, and sympathy to which they were entitled.

If they could get into their ranks all the men who were eligible, they and would compel the public to do justice to those in need. So far as the local organization was concerned he wished to do justice tothe efforts of Colonel Ackerman to get into the ranks those who were eligible.

W. H. Bradburn.

W. H. Bradburn said that the former speakers had not left very much for him to say. As a private citizen he was glad to welcome them to Peterborough, a place of which all its inhabitants were proud. He hoped that they would take the opportunity of visiting the industrial plants in the neighbourhood and see also some of the beauty spots around the city. As the representative of the Provincial Government, he also extended to the delegates on behalf of the Government the hand of fellowship. He believed that the Governments of to-day and the future Governments would do what was fair and just by the returned man.

Mrs. J Mills, President of the local branch of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion said that on behalf of the Auxiliary she welcomed them to the city and she hoped that the work that would be accomplished at the Convention would be a benefit to all returned men.

Mrs. W. R. Morris felt that as past president of the Provincial Auxiliary and as a honorary president of the Auxiliary she understood the problems facing the Legion. In the marriage partnership the [illegible] could make or break the home and she knew that the women could make or break the local legions. She had seen branches which came to grief through the failure of the women to line up as they should have done. On the other hand she had known cases where legions were carried through times of difficulty and distress through the efforts of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Simple Home Recipe For Bad Stomach Gives Swift Reelief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestants and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with 2 or 4 tablets of Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bisurated Magnesia tablets, which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 90 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary! Try Bisurated Magnesia tablets today!

WEDDING BELLS.

FALLIS—BROCK.

The wedding took place quietly at one o'clock to-day, at George street United Church, of Mildred Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brock, 640 George street, and Lawrence Earl Fallis, of Toronto, son of the late Mr. Fallis, of Toronto, and Mrs. Armstrong, of Bethany. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. J. E. Todd. Mr. J. H. Renwick played the wedding music.

The bride was in white, wearing a pretty dress of silk crepe, with wedding veil and orange blossoms, and white shoes and stockings. She carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Myrtle Brock, sister of the bride, wore a gown of sand crepe, with hat to match, and bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Mr. Clarence Banting, of Toronto, acted as best man. The ushers were a cousin of the bride and bridegroom respectively, Mr. Stanley Cann, of Peterborough, and Mr. Burns Milne, of Toronto.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the rooms were prettily decorated with quantities of spring flowers.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Fallis left by motor car for Toronto, where they will reside. The bride travelled in a dress of blue georgette, with blue coat and sand-colored hat.

ARNOTT—ANDREWS

The wedding took place quietly at eleven o'clock this morning, at St. George's Anglican Church, of Margaret Georgina, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Andrews, 24 McGill Street, and William Robert Arnott, son of Mr and Mrs. W. T. Arnott of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. J. L. Hughes. The church was decorated very prettily with a profusion of lilacs, apple blossoms and bleeding hearts. Mr. Bruce Quinn played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of French blue satin-faced canton crepe with picture hat to match and blonde shoes and stockings. She carried a shower bouquet of cream ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, sister of the bride, Miss Frances Andrews, wore a gown of blush rose georgette with picture hat to match and bouquet of pink and white roses.

Mr. Albert Hutchinson acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Arnott left later by motor for Toronto, en route to Cleveland, Ohio, the bride travelling in a smart coat outfit of black and cream, trimmed with red and small red hat. On their return, they will reside at 579 Rogers Street, Ashburnham.

Among the many presents received by the young people was a substantial cheque from the parents of the bridegroom.

RATCLIFF—WALL.

A pretty house wedding took place to-day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wall, 264 Rubidge Street, when their elder daughter, Greta Olive, became the bride of James Hamilton Ratcliff, B.A., Sc., of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ratcliff of Stouffville. The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by Rev. Mr. Fleischer, pastor of the Baptist Church, Stouffville, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. The house was decorated with a profusion of tulips and carnations.

The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father. She wore a lovely French frock of pale blush-rose georgette over a satin slip of the same shade. The gown was lavishly trimmed with beads, the petalled hem being outlined with crystals, and the blouse and skirt portions garnished with motifs and roses of beads in crystal and rose pink shades. A large picture hat of pale pink mohair, faced with georgette and banded with velvet, caught by a crystal butterfly, was worn, with white kid shoes and silk stockings. The bride also wore the gift of the bridegroom, a pearl sunburst, and carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and lily of the valley.

Following the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served, the bride's table being topped by a huge rose pink paper parasol, and arranged with apple blossoms and pink candles in silver holders.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Ratcliff left by motor for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. On their return, they will reside in Toronto. The bride travelled in a dress of black satin pussy willow crepe, with pleated skirt and collar, cuffs and jabot of pale pink pleated chiffon, outlined by pearl and crystal beads. The coat was a shaded mixture of blue and beige tweed with beige fox collar, and the hat was a small French shape of shaded French blue in crochet straw, with chenille flowers of pastel shades of violet, blue and mauve. Beige kid shoes, with hose to match, were worn.

PROBE FINDINGS TO BE DIVIDED

Results of Hearings in Ontario To Be Split Up.

UNDER THREE HEADS.

MONTREAL, June 1. Canadian Press. — The findings and recommendations based on the Ontario evidence taken by the Royal Commission, will be divided under three heads:

First, there will be general submissions as to conditions in respect to commercial smuggling on the Ontario border.

Then, there will be a special report dealing with border conditions where export liquor houses operate with special application to the payment or non-payment of income tax on profits made in this business.

Finally, there will be a submission covering Ontario breweries.

This was announced by the Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., commission counsel, at the opening of sittings in the Province of Quebec, here to-day. He stated, however, that findings in respect to the export houses and the income tax will not be ready until Monday. It is probable, therefore, that all the findings will be asked for then.

The commission devoted the morning to clearing up business left over from the Ontario sittings. Two witnesses who did not turn up in Toronto, were examined: H. F. Kuntz, the managing director of the Kuntz Brewery, Waterloo, who was asked about the camouflaging of cars of Kuntz beer for export purposes, and E. Siegel, who said he is in the ice business at St. Thomas.

"How much did you pay for Gooderham and Worts' whiskey?" asked Mr. Siegel.

"About $30 a case."

"What did you sell it for?"

"About $32."

"Pretty hard for us to believe that," commented the Chief Commissioner.

"It's the honest to God truth!"

Mr. Kuntz denied that his brewery had camouflaged any cars of beer.

BUILDING BOOM IN PAST MONTH

Permits Totalling $131,310 Issued—Eight Houses Included.

WESTCLOX BIG ITEM.

Building operations are commencing to boom in this city. The amount of building permits issued by the City Engineer for the first five months of 1927 is almost double that of 1926.

During May 39 permits were issued, totalling $131,310.00, or an increase of $80,540.00 over May, 1926. These 39 permits cover 8 garages, valued at $1,090; 8 houses, valued at $34,800, and 23 miscellaneous, involving an amount of $95,420. The large item in these miscellaneous permits is the one for the Westclox Company at a cost of $90,000.00.

For the first five months of this year $194,070.00 worth of permits have been issued. During May, 1925, 54 permits were issued, valued at $50,770.00, in which were included 10 garages at $1,220, 6 houses at $20,100, and 38 miscellaneous valued at $29,450.00.

The world's typewriting speed record is 135 words a minute, established by Albert Tangora of Cleveland, Ohio.

MAY RECEIPTS SHOW INCREASE

The customs receipts for the Port of Peterborough for the month of May showed an increase of $33,370.06 over the same month last year, and for the first two months of this year there is an increase of $106,702.05 or more than the total receipts for April, 1926. Last month was a banner month when the record for the port was established; the receipts totaling $164,139.18, while those for May amounted to $144,802.77.

GRAFTON CONTEST ENDS JUNE TENTH

Essays Must Be Sent To Chamber of Commerce Before That Date—Fine Prizes.

Considerable interest has been created by the patriotic essay contest being carried on by the Grafton Co. Very nice prizes are offered for competition, quite valuable enough to awaken the youth of the city and district to their best literary efforts. The subject on which the contestants are writing is "Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and the contest closes on June 10th. Those interested are advised to complete their essays and get them in before Tuesday next, as the judging must be done immediately after that and prizes will be awarded on July 1st at the big community celebration.

AROUND THE CITY

At 1.36 p.m. yesterday the Fire Department answered a call to 637 Aylmer Street to a chimney fire. At 5.30 last night another chimney fire called the brigade to 295 Romaine Street.

Last evening the Peterborough Male Voice Choir motored to Cobourg, to present a concert in the United Church there, under direction of their leader, M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O. Soloists for the occasion were Messrs. Arnold Everitt, Edward Rowe and A. Lee, and numbers were also given by a quartette, composed of Messrs. A. Lee, P. Manning, G. S. Parlour and W. Northrop. Rev. Mr. Brown acted as chairman for the programme, for which accompaniments were played by Miss M. Bridge.

At the conclusion, bountiful refreshments were served by the ladies of the church, and brief addresses were given by Messrs. Gandy, White, Manning and Fleming.

ONE BALLOON NOT REPORTED

Detroit Flying Club Bag Still Unaccounted For—Orman Ahead.

LANDED IN MAINE.

AKRON, Ohio, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The Detroit Flying Club balloon is the only one unaccounted for out of fifteen balloons which started on Monday from here in the national race. A message received here this afternoon stated that the Scripps Howard balloon landed at Eastman, Quebec, to-day. Eastman is about 560 miles from Akron. The winner of the race has not yet been definitely decided, but so far victory appears to rest with Ward Van Orman, who landed his bag at Hancock, Maine, after covering 705 miles.

FOR THIRD TERM.

WINDSOR, June 1 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Knights of Columbus, in state convention here this morning, set precedent by electing for the third terms three of the five state officers of the Order. State Deputy R. A. Jeffery of Arnprior, State Secretary T. F. Brown of Ottawa and State Treasurer J. J. Duffus of Peterborough were the men honored.

IN POLICE COURT.

Seven cases of violation of the city dog by-law were brought before Magistrate O. A. Langley in the police court this morning. All entered pleas of guilty and their cases were dismissed when they paid the costs and the dog catcher's fee.

Albert W. Guppy with much heat declared that it was a criminal offence to tie any dog up. Some citizens who own dogs seem to be of the impression that the dog catcher has to catch the dog. All he has to do is to see the dog running at large and then he can bring the owner before the magistrate.

Samuel Spence pleaded guilty to speeding on the Lakefield road and was fined $5.00 and costs.

Chiropractic
IS IT MECHANICAL

QUESTION—Will you please explain why your patients say Chiropractic is a MECHANICAL way to get sick people well?

ANSWER—Chiropractic is a mode of adjusting disarranged parts of man's spinal structure, so that Nature can operate without interference in providing FUNCTIONAL ENERGY to man's working parts.

A large percentage of diseases are due to pressure on nerves as they leave the spinal column. This pressure interferes with function in the tissues supplied by the impinged nerves, hence inflammation, pain and distress are manifest in these weakened tissues. Disease is prolonged until this pressure is corrected.

The Chiropractor acts as a body mechanic when by skilful movements of his hands he adjusts the cause of this nerve pressure. He first locates the vertebra which has become slightly displaced, determines the exact degree and direction of displacement, then proceeds to correct this abnormality by a scientific adjustment. In doing this he applies simple MECHANICAL principles to man's MECHANICAL structures.

LEGION REPORT SHOWS AFFAIRS IN GOOD SHAPE

Provincial Convention Learns of Improvements in System of Financing.

CRITICISM WITHDRAWN.

Member Quotes Old Report in Support of Contentions—Then Apologizes.

Keen and prolonged discussion on the finance report for the year ending April 30th, 1927, marked the afternoon session of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion yesterday, in the Legion Hall on Murray street, with L. P. Cunningham, St. Catharines in the chair.

Criticism was part cularly directed against the system o paying commissions to canvassers for Legion funds.

Encouraging Report.

The Report of the auditors, Oscar Hudson and Company, read by Col Hunter, was as follows:

"We beg to report that we have completed the audit of the Accounts of the Legion for the period ending 30 April, 1927.

It gives us pleasure to state that he Records were well kept. We had the co-operation and assistance of all the Officials whilst conducting the audit and all information required by us was readily and courteously supplied. We believe the system in operation should satisfactorily safeguard the "Legion's" Funds against fraud.

The Total Income for the period covered by the Sta ement (June 1926 to 30 April, 1927) amounted to $55,-613.23, of this sum $51,222.30 was derived from Donations.

In our previous Report we felt it our duty to call the attention of your Executive Committee to the system under which your collections were made, namely remunerating your Staff on a commission basis. We are now able to report that the system was revised and economies effected. A further highly desirable movement has materialised in the shape of an Advisory Board o business and financial men representing the Business Public who are to direct the financial policy of the Legion, and it is hoped put the organization on a sound economic basis. The suggestion to carefully prepare a financial budget and concentrate on an annual "drive" to meet the "Legion's" financial needs, has our entire approval.

Your President and Executive are to be complimented upon initiating and bringing into being the Advisory Board which will, we are quite certain, strengthen in every way the position of the "Legion" in Ontario.

The Conboy Park venture entered into by the G.A.U.V. was taken over by the "Legion" along with other assets and liabilities and your Executive determined to cut the operating losses by selling the "Legion's" interest for $2,250.00. It was necessary to amend the asset account to bring the G.A.-U.V.'s estimate of this asset down to the realized value.

In the appended Statement it will be observed that $2,159.25 has been charged against revenue for Medical Examinations. The "Legionary" proprietors were paid $1,468.80 from the "Legion's" Fund in lieu of (we understand) the privilege of canvassing in Ontario up to the 1st May, 1927.

We appreciate that in this, the first year of the existence of the "Legion" in Ontario many difficulties were encountered, and the vigilant and tactful attention of your Executive and Officials was required to effect solutions. The "Legion" took over the other soldier's organizations and inherited legacies, some good, some otherwise, from the merged Associations, and it has been necessary to adjust the methods of procedure to the "Legion's" requirements.

To command the Public support which is necessary to carry on the work the "Legion" has set itself to do, it is most essential to maintain the highest standard of efficiency in organization and service and this objective should be the first consideration of all interested in the "Legion's" progress."

Old Report Quoted.

In the discussion which followed H. A. C. Breuls created considerable excitement by quoting part of the Auditors' report of Messrs. Oscar Hudson and Company, Chartered Accountants, dated November 26th, 1926. He declared that if he had known of certain practices which, he alleged, had obtained, he would never have allowed his name to be placed at the head of the North Toronto Branch stationery.

"But, when I am in the Legion," he said, "I am going to stay in until this thing is cleaned up. If there has been abuses in the past, let us acknowledge them like men and put this behind us for the future," he urged. "The Executive," he said, "must know that the Legion in Ontario has not been a success." He was glad to note that new arrangements had been made.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR JUBILEE CELEBRATION

Committee Members Report Progress in Various Lines of Endeavour.

CHURCHES CO-OPERATE.

Engaging Of Aviator and Purchase of Fireworks is Authorized.

The central committee for the furthering of the plans for the Jubilee Celebration met in the Council Chamber last night. R. Denne passed around order books to the respective committees so that at the end of the celebration all accounts would be checked up, in case of a deficit. A letter from the Rev. J. W. Gordon was read by Mr. Dobbin, which stated that it was impossible for him to be present for the meeting, but that the letter contained the plans for the religious services to be held, which are as follows:

(1) We can promise you hearty co-operation.

(2) That religious services will be held early on the morning of July 1 in one or more churches.

(3) That the ministers will co-operate with services on Sunday afternoon.

(4) Father Costello favors special services in the churches in the city.

D. Loomis of the Sports committee, remarked that he went to Toronto a few days ago, but he could get no sanction to allow trained athletes to come to Peterborough on July first, for the Ontario Championship Meet is to be held in Toronto on that date. Mr. Loomis also stated that last year they held a local meet but they had no crowd, so there was no sense in holding another local meet this year.

Webber Turner then said that he spoke to Sheriff Hall on Saturday and that he had gained the information that the Rochester ball team would come and play the Petes for one hundred and fifty dollars, but R. M. Glover then stated that the Peterborough team was playing in Deloro that day which would make it impossible for them to meet Rochester here.

Mr. Glover remarked that he had seen Capttain H. B. Ayres, the local flier, who had quoted a price to fly over the exhibition grounds on that day and to make a parachute descent for $150.00. He then moved that the aviator be paid the above sum to perform tricks and make the jump, which was seconded by J. M. Greene. Mr. Denne then suggested that the Sports and Amusement committees get together to further plans for the afternoon performance and present them at the next meeting, to be held Wednesday evening.

A suggestion was then made by Dr. Craig that the floats be placed around the track so that the kiddies be allowed to view these because when they are in the parade they would not have a chance.

Mrs. Stevenson asked if the grass was going to be cut and was assured by Mr. Denne that it was already done in preparation. Mr. Glover

ONLY VIGOROUS SUCCEED HERE SAYS UNIONIST

C. T. Cramp Finds Canadians Unwilling To Join Unions.

BECOME EMPLOYERS.

Canada To Become Great Storehouse of Wealth, He Concludes.

LONDON, June 2. United Press. — "In the nature of things Canada must become a vast store house of wealth, but only the bold, the adventurous, the vigorous, and the persevering, have any chance at present of making good within her borders," concludes C. T. Cramp, the industrial general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, in an article in the Daily Herald on "What I saw in Canada."

The writer emphasizes that the Canadian trade unionists dislike taking orders from International Unions with headquarters in the United States, and stresses that the Canadian worker, being "adventurous and restless," soon becomes the employer, and is therefore reluctant to become a trade unionist.

Describing his trip across Canada, and conditions as he found them in various parts of the country, Mr. Cramp says that there is not one Canada, "but four Canadas."

LOVE OF PEACE INSPIRES JAPAN.

Admiral Says Decision To Take Part in Naval Conference Not Sudden.

FLEET FOR DEFENCE.

TOKIO, June 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Japan's acceptance of President Coolidge's invitation to the Tripartite Conference on the limitation of naval armaments was inspired by genuine love of peace and a sincere wish to co-operate constructively with the other powers, said Admiral Okada, Minister of the Navy, in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press today.

He emphasized that this country was ready to reduce its navy "to the minimum of defence requirements," and with this end in view would engage in frank discussion with the delegates of Great Britain and the United States.

"If anybody thinks we simply jumped at this opportunity to limit armaments for financial reasons," he declared, "he has never learned to appreciate our true feelings. Our naval institution, actually far from being of aggressive proportions, was never intended to extend beyond the measure justified by defence."

FORTY KILLED BY BIG STORM

Three Dutch Villages Devastated By Cyclone—150 People Injured.

ENORMOUS DAMAGE.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, June 2. — Canadian Press. — Forty persons were killed, 150 injured, and enormous damage done by a cyclonic storm that swept part of Holland and Belgium yesterday. Besides three villages devastated, Neede, Groenlo and Delden, nine others were extensively damaged.

A Duty and a Privilege

A few years ago we cheered when the khaki ranks of our fighting men tramped through the streets of Peterborough. There was nothing that you would refuse to do for one of those men as he went forth to battle a relentless enemy in a hell of freezing trenches, amid shells and shrapnel, gas and steel.

No. You wou'd not refuse your purse—you did not, in fact—for you supported libera ly the agencies which existed for the welfare o the soldiers—the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A., and a host of kindred organizations; and you bought Victory Bonds "until it hurt," placing at small interest funds, which in those boom days, could have been made much more profitable to you in a thousand other investments.

You would not—and you did not—refuse to give him as much of your time and energy as he could use. You were prodigal of the time and energy you took from your business or household cares and spent in the organizations of fund drives, of ocal Red Cross chapters, and in aiding he routine work of our local boards.

You wou'd not—and you did not—refuse him food from your table. You voluntarily abstained on certain days from the consumption of meat, of sugar, and of wheat, n order that there might be enough of these commodities to feed him.

You wou'd not—and you did not—refuse to forego for him he most elementary of entertainment and pleasure. On Sundays you gave up the use of your car, without compulsion, in order hat there should be gasoline to supply motive power for the trucks that transported to him food and ammunition.

Backed up with the things you denied yourself, that soldier braved the terrors of the most merciless war in the bloody history of mankind. He braved them—and he won. He conquered the powerful foe who was striking at the foundation of the principles which we call right. And when that foe was destroyed for ever, your soldier returned to his homeland. He had made the name "Canada" revered throughout the world, respected even in the countries which had been our enemies. He returned, perhaps unscathed, having run the gauntlet of machine gun bullets, bayonets, and poison gas without hurt.

But perhaps he was no' so fortunate. Perhaps that soldier upon whom you gazed twelve years ago in the prime of his manhood fell a victim to the thrust of an enemy blade or before an enemy bul'et; perhaps today, robbed of the strength with which he went into battle, he is languishing, a wreck of his manhood, in a hospi al, unable to earn a livelihood. Or perhaps, broken in body by the battle he won for you, he is able to eke out only the most meagre existence.

These men, and comrades of these men, are meeting in Peterborough today, discussing ways in which they can make smoother the road the maimed have to travel; they are seeking a greater spirit of loyalty within the Empire for which they fought; they are endeavouring to perpetuate in their organizat on the fine spirit of unity which made the Canadian fighting machine feared throughout the enemy armies. If you were willing to give money and time—and you were willing and you did give—to able-bodied men about to battle for the right, it is not too much to ask that now you give that sympathy and seek that understanding which will make the great task of the Canadian Legion easier.

MANY OFFICERS PRAISE CADETS OF COLLEGIATE

Prominent Members of Legion Add Commendation To Those of Inspector.

SPLENDID SHOWING.

Boys Do Well in Military Movements and Physical Training.

The annual inspection of the Collegiate Cadet Corps, which was held this morning proved to be one of the best in the history of the Institute. There was a steadiness in the lines and a quick response to commands that has been missing at previous inspections.

Captain Heron, the inspecting officer, congratulated the boys on their fine showing, the showing made to-day had been the best in the four years that he has inspected the local corps.

After the corps was inspected in line by Captain Heron, company drill was exhibited under the command of Company Commander Harry Westbrook. Then followed platoon drill and physical drill.

One of the outstanding features of the inspection was the physical drill put on by the third and fourth platoons under the command of N. Clark. This drill received great applause by all present and was a splendid exhibition of physical training. The cadets went through their exercises in perfect rhythm and form.

Other officers present at the inspection were Brigadier- General J. A. Gunn, D.S.O., C.M.G., Col. J. K. McKay, D. S. O., Col. J. W. Miller, Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Lt. Col W. Gordon Hall, V. D.

Captain Heron in addressing the cadets told the boys, that they brought great credit to the school and to themselves for the way they had carried out their manoeuvres and at last they had achieved a place amongst the best of the Cadet

LIBERAL GAIN SHOCKS TORIES

Taken To Show That Moderate Voters Dont Like the Government.

LIBERALS REJOICE.

LONDON, June 2. (United Press.)—The Liberal victory in the Bosworth bye-election has given the Conservatives a severe shock because an analysis of the vote shows that the Tories lost as many votes as the Liberals gained.

This result is taken to mean that British voters of moderate views do not want Labor back in power and, disagreeing with the policy of the Conservatives are turning Liberal, a view which is naturally causing great rejoicing in Liberal circles, where optimistic predictions concerning the result of the next election are already being heard.

On the other hand Labor is very disappointed over the result, owing to having strained every nerve to capture the seat, and been in the position to exploit their dislike of the Trade Unions Bill in an industrial constituency.

Sir William Edge, the successful candidate, who is one of Lloyd George's closest lieutenants, is also opposed to the bill, but not so strongly as to endanger the possibility of his getting any Tory votes.

Meanwhile the Liberal victory is certain to make the Conservatives more wary about facing another election at present.

SMUGGLING ON QUEBEC LINE IS DESCRIBED

Officials of Rock Island District Testify Before the Commission.

"EVERBODY DOES IT."

Storekeepers Give That As the Reason For Smuggling Goods.

MONTREAL, June 2 (Canadian Press).—Commercial smuggling, as it is carried on across the boundary between Quebec and the United States, was outlined to the Customs Commission this morning by R. E. Calder, K.C., Commission counsel.

"It is a quick dash across the border, very much like the liquor movements to the U.S. at Detroit," the counsel told the Commission.

Merchandise, he said, was shipped to an important point in the United States near the boundary. There the shipments were broken up, sometimes even the wrapping being taken off the goods. When it was decided to make the dash across the border, the goods were loaded into motor cars, an opportune moment chosen, and the rush made. It was a quick movement and difficult to intercept.

"Once the merchandise is in Montreal, it can be distributed all over Canada," said Mr. Calder.

Inspector J. A. Bernier gave it as his opinion that smuggling went on across the Quebec line. He advocated the establishment of a patrol by night as well as by day.

Staff Sergt. Philip S. Reckitt, of the Mounted Police, who has done some patrol work along the border in the Rock Island-Derby Line district, told of smuggling which he had detected.

"Most of the storekeepers in Rock Island have stores on the other side of the line," he told Mr. Calder. "One plumber admitted to me that when he was short of anything in his Rock Island store he went and got it from his Derby Line place," said Sergt. Rackitt. This plumber had admitted that he was smuggling, but said that "everyone in Rock Island is doing the same."

The morning was devoted to examination of Customs officers and Mounted Policemen.

102 BRANCHES OF LEGION IN THIS PROVINCE

Five Located in This District, the Organizer Reports.

MANY PROSPECTS.

Reports Given on Poppy Day Sales and on Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion to-day embraces 102 branches in 42 of the 51 counties. Hugh McLeod, provincial organizer, reported to the convention this morning. Of these branches 2 are in Peterboro County, 1 in Northumberland, 1 in Durham, and 1 in Hastings Counties. Organization work has been begun and contacts made in connection with 63 prospective branches. Comrade McLeod said he expected that these branches would be established within the next few months. He visited 21 branches and organized 29. Ten new counties were opened and branches formed therein.

"One of the most encouraging features of the Legion is the fact that men of outstanding character are joining it," Mr. McLeod said. "In some places I have found that not much is known of the Legion, and in such districts a special organization effort should be very effective. There are many returned men in the vast area beyond North Bay. During the last few months I have travelled 7000 miles, mostly in northern and eastern parts of the province."

Comrade McLeod recounted at length his publicity efforts, such as 40,000 words in special press articles, 78,000 words in advance of and subsequent to organization, magazine articles, special letters and other correspondence and writings.

The sale of poppies last year in Ontario netted $1050, exclusive of Toronto. There were 28,000 large poppies, 660,000 small poppies, and 1800 wreaths sold in the province for the 1926 Poppy Day. These were distributed by 140 organizations, Legion branches, I.O.D.E., Red Cross, Girl Guides.

In conclusion Mr. McLeod said that he had heard his "scalp" was sought by Toronto delegates. If that were so he placed himself entirely in the hands of the convention, with the knowledge that the organization department had created one-third of the branches in Ontario, apart from the publicity and other work done.

Comrade Grey paid a tribute to the work of members of the executive, particularly Colonel Kieller McKay, who had travelled all over the province, giving ungrudingly of his time and money to this work.

Poppy Day Sales.

Details of the sale of poppies by veterans' organizations were given to the convention this morning by Major Melville, director of administration of the department of Soldier Civil Service Re-establishment. There were 1,250,000 small poppies sold throughout Canada; 175,000 large 3500 wreaths. Twenty per cent. of poppies that retailed at 25c each and the wreaths were distributed in Ottawa. Major Melville said that Vetcraft poppies and wreaths which are made in Canada, should be used on Poppy Day. He pointed out that the wreaths were especially adapted for the decoration of soldiers' graves on Decoration Day, also as memorials to the departed to be placed on cenotaphs or other monuments commemorating the sacrifice of Canadian soldiers.

Major Melville informed the convention that the number of disabled veterans employed in making poppies varies from 15 or 20 at present to a hundred during October and early November as Poppy Day approaches.

The Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. B. J. Greenaway, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion in Ontario, was enthusiastically welcomed by the convention this morning. She outlined the expansion of the Auxiliary, the new units organized throughout the province and the applications recently received from branches. In Toronto alone one thousand women are associated with the Legion through the individual command auxiliaries.

CURFEW ENFORCED.

Thousand Special Deputies Needed To Stop Troubles in Hillsborough.

TAMPA, Fla., June 2. Canadian Press. — After three nights of rioting which took a toll of five killed and more than a score wounded, as mobs of infuriated civilians sought to enter the Hillsborough County Jail to take a confessed murder, one thousand special deputies enforced a nine o'clock curfew throughout the city last night, and there was peace.

OPENING HELD PEACE BRIDGE OVER NIAGARA

Simple Ceremony Marks Informal Opening of New $4,500,000 Bridge.

HOLD CAR PARADE.

Many High Personages Expected To Be Presented at Formal Dedication.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 2.— (AP).—A century-old dream came true yesterday with the opening to traffic of the new $4,500,000 Peace Bridge over the Niagara River between Buffalo and Fort Erie, Ont.

Ever since the days when both sides of the river at this point saw some of the sharpest land fighting of the war of 1812, the residents had dreamed that some day a bridge might connect the United States and Canada. The vision did not take definite form, however, until 1913, and gradually increasing favorable sentiment led up to the breaking of ground for the present structure in August, 1925. The simple ceremony of an automobile parade across the span marked the opening yesterday, the formal dedication being set for September. Mayor Frank X. Schwab, of Buffalo, bought the first ticket on the American end, and together they crossed the river.

Offical Parade.

The offical parade, consisted of some twelve cars, but the unofficial procession which followed in its wake comprised hundreds of vehicles and last night they still crossed at the rate of several a minute. Throughout the day dozens of motorists stopped at some point on the mile of bridge roadway to scan the Niagara River and the surrounding country from points 100 feet above the water.

International harmony which marked yesterday's ceremonies, to the extent even of having a large British flag flying near the United States end of the structure, was in contrast to conditions under which the possibility of a bridge first was mentioned.

History recounts that soon after the close of the war of 1812, a party crossed the river in a small boat with the intention of attending a dance in Fort Erie, then much larger than Buffalo. They were repulsed at the Canadian shore by rocks and stones, and one of them ,standing up as the boat was turned about, shouted:

"If we only had a bridge for foothold, we'd come over here and lick you fellows."

Commemorates Peace.

The appellation "Peace Bridge" was decided upon jointly by Canadian and United States residents composing the bridge company, in commemoration of the more than 100 years of peace between the two nations. The idea further will be borne out at a formal dedication when President Coolidge, the Prince of Wales, Premier Baldwin of Great Britain and high Canadian and United States officals are expected to be present.

The actual length of the span is 4,200 feet, but with the approaches, is over one mile, while the highest point gives 100 feet clearance above the New York State barge canal, which parallels the river at this point It has an estimated capacity of 3,500 vehicles in an hour, although customs and immigration officals found themselves busy in the first hour yesterday with approximately six cars a minute.

In one of the first cars to cross the structure was Captain David Welsh, of Fort Erie, master of one of the ferry boats plying nearby, but he did not regret the opening, for a check of ferry traffic later showed that it had not decreased appreciably.

For a few weeks the structure will be open only to vehicular traffic. Approaches for pedestrians have not been completed. Many who might have walked yesterday made the trip by bus on a line started across the bridge by the International Railway Company.

Make Protest

NANKING, June 2 (Canadian Press).—The Nationalist government set up at Nanking by the moderate wing under General Chiang Kai Shek has protested to Premier Tanaka of Japan against the landing of Japanese troops in China.

HOUSE DESTROYED.

Bruce McVetty, of Warkworth, Suffers Heavy Loss From Fire.

ROSENEATH, June 2.—A fire which completely destroyed the home of Bruce McVetty between Roseneath and Warkworth broke out yesterday afternoon. The house was a brick building and was partly covered with insurance. Only for the timely arrival of the Warkworth fire brigade the barn would have been burnt also.

JAPAN LANDS LARGE FORCE

Nationalist Advance on Peking Causes Anxiety To Powers.

WILL CONCENTRATE.

PEKING, June 2. — (Canadian Press.)—The movements of the Nationalists on Peking, ancient capital of China, and the strategic retreat of Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, under whose regime foreigners in the Peking district have been protected, has caused an ominous rumbling in the Chinese embroglio. The powers are expected to concentrate allied forces for protective purposes in the threatened area.

Japan yesterday landed two thousand troops at Tsingtao ready to advance to Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung Province, along the Shantung Railway, which Japan surrendered to China at the Washington conference. This advance, it is stated, will be made only if the Japanese inland require protection. There are also indications from Tokio that 2,000 additional troops will be despatched to Peking and Tientsin if needed.

Britain Ready.

Great Britain is ready to despatch at least a battalion to Tientsin from Shanghai and it is understood the Border Regiment has been selected. The British also have abandoned their previously announced schedule of evacuation of civilians by stages conforming with the degrees of the Nationalists' advance.

The United States is moving between 4,000 and 5,000 marines from Shanghai and the Philippines to Tientsin to meet any emergency that might arise.

Missionaries Evacuated.

Practically all missionaries in the northern inland stations were evacuated to the coast early in April and a large proportion of the women and children in Peking left either for the coast or for Japan at the same time. Otherwise life in Peking s practically normal as far as the foreigners are concerned. There has been the usual round of diplomatic social events although the summer hegira to the coastal resorts began somewhat earlier than usual.

The Japanese seemed determined to remain in Shantung, where they are estimated to number 20,000, of whom 12,000 are in Tsingtao, 2,000 in Tsinanfu and the remainder in small groups inland where it would be difficult to protect them without extended military disposition.

The Japanese expedition is adversely criticized by all factions of Chinese here, who assert that it has even less justification than the British expedition to Shanghai, since there is not a single ofreign concession in Shantung.

The Chinese press strongly denounces the Japanese move ,and official protests are being prepared both by the Peking foreign office and the headquarters of the Ankuochun. The question is asked by some as to whether Japan is seizing the present opportunity to resume her former privileged position in Shantung, which she relinquished at Washington in 1922.

OLD MASTERS

O world, I cannot hold thee close enough!
Thy winds, thy wide gray skies!
Thy mists, that roll and rise!
Thy woods, this autumn day, that ache and sag
And all but cry with color! That gaunt crag
To crush! To lift the lean of that black bluff!
World, world, I cannot get thee close enough!

Long have I known a glory in it all
But never knew I this.
Here such a passion is
As stretcheth me apart. Lord, I do fear
Thou'st made the world too beautiful this year.
My soul is a but out of me—let fall
No burning leaf; prithee, let no bird call.

Cuts Wife's Throat Then Takes Own Life

SASKATOON, Sask., June 2.—(Canadian Press).—After slashing his wife's throat with a razor, Guy Miller of Lloydminster early yesterday fatally wounded himself by slashing his jugular vein. Miller died after being rushed to hospital. His wife is in the same institution, with little hope held for her recovery.

So far as could be learned the couple had been quarrelling before retiring for the night. On waxing up, Miller got out of bed, obtained a razor, and slashed his wife's throat. She rushed out of the house for help and was taken to hospital. Later neighbors went to the house and found Miller in a dying condition.

VETERAN WINS BALLOON RACE

Van Orman Pilots Goodyear Tire Entry In Elimination Race.

SAILED 715 MILES.

AKRON, Ohio, June 2 (Associated Press).—Ward T. Van Orman, who has been considerable of a personage in the field of ballooning for some years, and his aide, W. W. Morton, seemingly have won another victory with the completion yesterday of the national elimination race that started from here on Monday.

Sailing 715 miles to the sandy beach near Bar Harbor, Maine, Van Orman and "Old Mort" stood last night as unofficial winners of the annual classic preliminary to the international race, which this year will start from Denver in September. Their victory was accomplished in the entry of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron.

Second to Van Orman and Morton, on the face of the landing reports, are E. J. Hill and his aide, A. E. Schlosser, who brought their entry, the Detroit No. 3, to the ground near Skowhegan, Maine, establishing an unofficial flight record of 665 miles. The third balloon in point of distance covered seemingly was the U.S. Army entry No. 3 from Scott Field, Illinois, flown by Captain William E. Kepner and his aide, Lieut. William O. Eareckson. Their distance was given as 610 miles.

Under the rules of the race, the pilots and aides of the first three balloons in the elimination race will represent the United States in the international event.

Log Revised.

The final log of all the entries as revised yesterday by race officials here follows:

YOUNG PEOPLE JOIN CHURCH AT WARSAW

WARSAW, June 2.—Perhaps the nicest service ever held in the United church was held on Sunday evening.

Five young people received the sacred rite of baptism by Rev. H. B. Herrington and nine were received into the church by confession of faith. The sermon was based upon the text, "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together as the manner of some is." The preacher explained that the term church was not originally, in any way, the building, but the Christian people who assembled as such. He stressed the need of attending these gatherings, and of not allowing worldly interests to interfere with gatherings of the church people, and in the special buildings set aside for these gatherings. Some people seem to think they can be just as good Christians and not do so, but it is one of the great teachings Christ himself set the example. He also gave the command to keep the Lord's Supper.

The choir sang "Who'll be the Next?" and Mr. Henry Batten sang "Life's Railroad to Heaven." The hymns chosen suited the service. The church was well filled, and the greater part of those there were members or adherents of that church.

The regular missionary meeting is postponed from Thursday of this week until Tuesday of next week, June 7, and will be held at Miss Clara Payne's home.

The regular meeting of the United church Ladies' Aid was held on Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Allan Payne's home. The main business done was to arrange for a "grandmothers' day" which will be the feature of the meeting on June the thirtieth.

REV. W. McDONALD.

minister of Knox United church, says he has the warmest sympathy for the Legion and its work. He admires the returned men and is ready to do all he can by word or deed to help them. Mr. McDonald expressed the wish that every success would attend the efforts of the Legion which had honored Peterborough in selecting it as the meeting place of the first Provincial Convention.

FEAR MANY LOST IN GALE

Phillippine Steamer Lost in Tropic Tempest—108 Reported Missing.

OTHERS OVERDUE.

MANILA, P.I., June 2 (United Press).—The constabulary yesterday expressed fear that 108 persons reported missing, had drowned when the inter-island steamer Negros foundered in a typhoon Saturday.

The ship sank 150 miles south of Manila, it was believed.

The captain, six of the crew, the chief of engineers and 100 passengers were those missing.

The Negros, a 280-ton craft, left the island of Romblon Thursday with 150 passengers and a large cargo. For two days all hands battled the typhoon and terrific seas.

Saved 90 Lives.

The extraordinary heroism of an officer on the first day of the storm was credited with saving 90 lives when he succeeded in loading 50 passengers and some of the crew aboard the lifeboat.

After 30 hours without food or drink, and in spite of terrific buffeting in the wild sea, they succeeded in landing on the shores of Tayabas province Sunday night, reports here said.

Two Others Overdue.

Two other inter-island steamers were overdue and it was feared they might have foundered also. The Aurora was three days overdue from the Island of Palawan, and the Sohol two days overdue out of Cebu.

The Aurora and the Sohol carried passengers and considerable freight. The Yangco company, owners of the Negros, chartered an inter-island vessel yesterday and sent it to the scene of the wreck. The typhoon was continuing and little hope was held for the missing.

PORT CLOSED TO BRITISHERS

Soviet Issues Order Barring British Vessels From Vladivostok.

NO SUPPLIES FOR MINE.

LONDON, June 2. Canadian Press. —Soviet representative at Peking, says a despatch to the Daily Express, has announced that Vladivostok is to be closed to British shipping, and that the Soviet has also forbidden the transportation of materials for the British owned Lena gold mine railway across the Russo-Manchurian border. Eighty per cent. of all the vessels calling at Vladivostok are said to be British.

CHANGE IN HOURS.

Post Office Wickets Will Be Open All Day Friday.

On the King's Birthday (Friday, June 3rd) the Post Office wickets will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. during which period Money Orders and Postage Stamps will be on sale and the General Delivery and Registration wickets will be open.

There will be one complete delivery by the letter carriers, being in the morning.

All outgoing mails due for despatch will be closed at the regular hour.

The usual collections will be made from the street letter boxes.

CAVAN PERSONALS

CAVAN, May 31.—On Sunday, June 5th, there will be no church services on Cavan Circuit, it being conference Sunday.

The Rev. J. O. Totten will go to Oshawa this week to attend conference.

On Sunday, June 13th, the Cavan Sunday school will have their anniversary services, morning and evening. The Rev. R. T. Richards will be the speaker. On the following Monday evening a supper, followed by a play, will be given in Cavan Community Hall.

On Thursday afternoon, the Ladies' Aid of Cavan Church will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Elliott.

On the afternoon of June 8th, the Cavan W.M.S. are invited to be present at a meeting of the Millbrook W.M.S. to be held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Douglas.

Personals.

Miss Bertha Touchbourn was the guest of Mrs. L. McNeil on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. N. Lamb spent a few days of last week at the home of her daughter Mrs. Budd, on account of the illness of her little grand-daughter.

The Rev. Mr. Howard preached an excellent sermon in St. John's church, Ida, on Sunday morning. On Friday evening the Sunday school of St. John's church, Ida gave a good programme in the Parish hall. The Superintendent, Mr. L. Winslow was chairman. The pupils acquitted themselves remarkably well and furnished a very interesting programme.

The Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Millbrook, were present; both gentlemen contributing interesting and appropriate speeches to the programme.

Messrs. Ray Staples and Rex Dawe, motored to Peterborough, on Friday evening to see the baseball game between the Crescents and Raybestos teams.

Mrs. Lewers, Sr., had the misfortune to fall and break her arm last week.

Mrs. Touchbourn and Mr. Eugene Touchbourn, Ida, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Staples on Sunday.

Mrs. Warriner, Stoufville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Totten.

CONSERVATIVES HAVE MEETING

Ladies' and Men's Clubs Hear Addresses on Current Matters.

HELD AT STIRLING.

STIRLING, June 2.—A joint meeting of the Ladies' and Men's Conservative clubs was held in the Orange Hall last Friday night, with 160 attending. Hon. R. J. Cooke, M.P.P., and W. E. Tummon, M.P., were the chief speakers of the evening. Mr. Cooke spoke on Hydro-Electric matters, and incidentally gave the projected new town building a boost, while Mr. Tummon dwelt on the problems and possibilities of Canada. Both addresses were exceedingly interesting.

Misses Bessie Conley and L. Smith sang solos; Mrs. A. F. MacDonnell gave a reading and an interesting list of current events. Mr. C. F. Linn was the winner in the drawing for the surprise box. Refreshments were served by the ladies and a very pleasant evening's entertainment closed at 11.30 o'clock.

The Girls Soft Ball Team of the High School motored to Tweed on Saturday last, and were successful in the game with the High School Girls of that village, the score being 14 to 12.

The usual summer Wednesday half holidays will begin this week and continue through June, July, August and September.

Championship Fair.

A championship school Fair will be held this year in connection with the Stirling Agricultural Society's Fair on Sept. 27th and 28th. All prize-winners at the different township school fairs in Hastings County will be allowed to compete and prizes to the amount of $200.00 will be offered for competition. This should be an interesting feature as the best shown in the different classes at the smaller fairs will be on exhibition.

Miss Charlotte McCann has purchased the double house on Front street, west, owned by Mr. F. S. Demorest.

CHEESE FACTORY RECEIPTS SMALL

Not as Much Milk Coming To Factories in Warsaw District.

WARSAW, June 2.—The two dry days last week were welcome to those who were waiting for land to dry.

Warsaw cheese factory made cheese last week. The first three weeks the milk was separated and milk is taken in every day. They are making about six cheese daily.

In the surrounding district there is not so much milk coming to the cheese factories as is usual. Perhaps the increased winter dairying may account for it.

TORTURING NEURALGIA.

The Cry of Starved Nerves For Rich, Red Blood.

Most people associate neuralgia with a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may affect any nerve in the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the disease and the nature of the pain are the same; the cause is the same, and the remedy, to be effective, must be the same.

The pain of neuralgia is the cry of starved nerves for nourishment. Normally the blood feeds the nerves, but if it is thin and weak it cannot do so. Hence, neuralgia and other nerve disorders. Build up and enrich your thin blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and you are attacking neuralgia at its root. These pills supply to the blood just the elements that the nerves need, and they have been proved to be the best possible remedy for the treatment of neuralgia, sciatica, neuritis, and in fact for all diseases that owe their origin to weak nerves.

RECTOR LEAVES BANNOCKBURN

Rev. Albert Redding Leaves Parish To Take Up Duties at Parham.

MANY PRESENTATIONS.

MARMORA, June 2—Closing an incumbency of four years, Rev. Albert Redding conducted valedictory services on Sunday in the Anglican parish of Bannockburn at Glanmire in the morning, at Millbridge in the afternoon and at Bannockburn in the evening; goodly congregations listened to his farewell message. In the course of the past week, the following presentations were made to Rev. Redding; a purse of money from Bannockburn congregation, wrist watch from Bannockburn choir, fountain pen from Bannockburn Ladies' Guild, club bag and set of military brushes from Millbridge congregation and chair from Glanmire congregation. Rev. Reading leaves in the middle of this week for the parish of Parham to which he has been appointed by Bishop Seager.

CAR DAMAGED NEAR WARSAW

Runs Off Road at Very Rough Place and Turns Over.

OCCUPANTS UNHURT.

WARSAW, June 2.—On Sunday evening two young men were motoring on the English Line, and on a narrow piece of road with steep sides and a culvert, opposite Mr. W. Hawthorne's, they evidently lost control of the car on the grade. The car got off the road, tore over the rough place, and upset. A young man coming from Lakefield shortly after, saw the upturned car, but could not get the occupants out. He hurried to the village for help. Some people who live over one half mile from where the accident occurred, heard the noise and then the engine stop. They had just come home from church, but ran their car out, and to the scene. The young men were gotten out really none the worse of their terrifying experience, but the front axle was destroyed, three tires were torn from the wheels, and some other injuries done the car.

PIANO RECITAL.

Pupils of Miss Olga Fowler Give Pleasing Program.

An interesting piano recital by the pupils of Miss Olga Fowler was held at the Conservatory of Music on Tuesday evening, when the rooms were prettily decorated with lilacs and bleeding hearts. The pupils were assisted by Miss Doris Donley in vocal solos ,accompanied by Miss Gwen Donley, and Stuart Dawson, in violin solos, with accompaniment by Miss Fowler.

The programme was as follows:—"Moment Musical," (Schubert), played by Jean Scott;"Rondo Villageoise," played by Margaret Stinson; "La Parisienne," (Wachs), played by Marjorie Werry of Bethany; "Country Dance" and "Waltz," played by Miss Betty Edgar; vocal solo, "Shepherd, Thy Demeanor Vary!" by Miss Doris Donley; "Skating," played by Mary Macdonald; "Valsette," played by Lawrence Steer of Bethany; "Bouree" (Bach), played by Jean Scott; violin solo, "Sonata," played by Stuart Dawson; "Sonata," (Beethoven), played by Tuna Hart; "Saltarelle," (Devaux), played by Barbara Dawson; Sonata," Opus 79," (Beethoven), and "Valse Brillante," (Moszkowski), played by Viola Grey, of Bethany; vocal solo, "A Birthday," sung by Miss Doris Donley; "Scherzetto" and "Valse Mignonne," played (Mosakowski), played by Viola Grey, Bethany.

The British Medical Association which has been trying to establish a standard by which drunkenness can be judged, has given up the task as impossible.

A PRESENTATION.

Miss Ruby Fo[illegible] Receives Gifts From [illegible]mee Friends.

OMEMEE, June [illegible]. — On Friday evening a very pleasa[illegible] time was enjoyed at the home o[illegible] Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, where [illegible]bout thirty friends of Miss Ruby [illegible]ir gathered to make a presentation to her and bid farewell to her befo[illegible] she takes her departure from Omem[illegible].

Much merriment was [illegible]voked by two contests, namely, "[illegible]ings our grandmothers missed," and "A motor love story," during the evening, the winners of each providing the following number on the progra[illegible]. With the Rev. E. W. Rowland as chirman, a short program was given, [illegible]which short speeches were made by [illegible]ssrs. Harry Lamb, F. G. Sandy, Abram Laidley, and Mr. Rowland.

On behalf of the gathering two beautiful linen table cloths withervieties to match were presented by Miss Genevieve Sandy to Miss Mr, who, in a neat speech, made a very suitable reply, as did also her fath[illegible] at a later juncture.

Community singing was indulged i[illegible] with Mr. Harry Lamb as leader and Mrs. Rowland as pianist, after which refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. Messrs Sandy, Lamb and Rowland vied with one another in story telling and kept the gathering in gales of laughter.

L. G. SMITH SOUGHT.

Sacramento Firm Asks For Information About Man Here in 1911.

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall received a communication yesterday from Irving D. Gibson of Sacramento, California, seeking information as to the whereabouts of Louis George Smith who, if alive, would be 40 years old, and who was last heard of in this city in 1911.

If any person knows where this man lives or can give any information as to where he was known to reside, it will be thankfully received by the Chief Constable.

OBITUARY

MRS. STAPLE

CAVAN, June 2.—On Friday the death occurred at the home of Mrs. George Morton, 10th Line, Cavan, of her mother, Mrs. Staple. The Rev. J. O. Totten assisted by the Rev. Mr. Howard, curate of St. John's Church, Ida, conducted the funeral services on Monday afternoon. Interment was in the Norland Cemetery.

JOHN CLARKE

CAVAN, June 2.—John Clarke died at the home of his son, Clarence Clarke of Grand Coulee on Wednesday evening, May 25th, following a three months' illness. Mr. Clarke was 84 years old and was born in Durham County, Ontario, going to Grand Coulee in 1904, where he settled on the farm on which he died. He was a life-long member of the Methodist Church. His wife predeceased him in 1916, and is interred in Regina Cemetery. He is survived by two sons, Bert of Carberry, Manitoba, and Clarence of Grand Coulee, as well as two daughters, Mrs. Clare of Saskatoon and Miss Anna at home. The deceased was well known in Regina City, where he lived from 1912 to 1924. Funeral services were conducted from Speers' Funeral Parlors on Friday afternoon, May 27th, by the Rev. H. Joyce of St. Andrew's United Church. Interment was in Regina Cemetery.

Mr. Clarke was well known and highly respected in Cavan Township. For thirty years he tenanted the Johnson Farm, now owned by Mr. David White, Cavan Centre, and was a faithful supporter of the former Methodist Church, Cavanville.

MRS. JOHN DALTON.

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. John Dalton of Dummer.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband, three daughters, Mrs. Condon, Douro; Mrs. Flynn, Enterprise, and Mrs. Murphy, Tamworth; two sons, William of Vancouver and John at home.

The funeral will be held to-morrow from the family residence in Dummer at 9.00 a.m. to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery, Douro.

DOROTHY ELLEN ROBERTS.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2. — The funeral of Dorothy Ellen Roberts took place yesterday morning at 10.30 from the family home on Grand Road to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. James Grier, B.A., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, conducted the service at the grief-stricken home, and the many beautiful floral tributes expressed only in a small way the sympathy that goes out to Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Roberts in their sore affliction.

Borneo tribesmen still consider human heads necessary for their religious ceremonies, but the practice of head-hunting has become so firmly restricted that they now must borrow their heads from their neighbors.

LEAVE ENGLAND EARLY FRIDAY

Russian Officials Departing From Britain On Soviet Steamer Youshar.

LEAVING MOSCOW.

LONDON, June 2. —(AP. —A. P. Rosengolz, the Soviet Charge d'Affairs has informed Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, that he will leave England from Victoria Station at 11 o'clock Friday morning, M. Khinchuk, head of the Soviet trade commission, which has been ordered out of England on the severance of relations, is also leaving Friday, as is the Soviet Steamer Youshar from the Thames with a large number of those attached to the charge's office and Arcos, Ltd., the Russian trade organization.

No Comment.

MOSCOW, June 2. —(AP).— Only a brief summary of the Memorial Day speech at Suresness of the American ambassador, Myron T. Herrick in which he denounced Bolshevism, has been published in Moscow, and ditorial comments are absent.

Official circles declare that the speech constitutes a new attack, which it would be beneath Soviet dignity to answer; they connect the spech directly with a reactionary upraing after the Anglo-Soviet rupture.

A spokesman for the foreign office declard angrily that Ambassador Herrick's was "ridiculous— an old tale needing no comment."

The British trade mission intends to leave Moscow within a day or two.

Prelude to War.

MOSCOW, June 2 —(AP). —Alexis Rykoff, president of the council of people's' commissars, addressing a plenary session of the Moscow Soviet yesterday, declared that the British rupture with Russia was a prelude to war .

The international situation, therefore, was pregant with grave complications. The British government, he asserted, wish to improve its position by provoking war, in which it hoped to play a leading part, leaving "the dirty part of the work" to other people, who' being thereby weakened ,would be subordinated to Britan. To this danger the Soviet union opposed a steady policy of peace.

Other points in the president's long speech were that the British government's charges against the Soviets since 1921 had always been based on forged documents and that Great Britain had long actively engaged in spying on the Soviet republic. A group of captured spies, who had acted in the British interests, were now in prison. One had been shot.

M. Rykoff cited an alleged letter from the British consul in Leningrad to the British mission in Moscow, and other documents ,as proof of his allegations. The Soviet, however, had made no fuss about these, holding that the incidents did not justify a diplomatic dispute.

The British government's hope that it would be possible to maintain trade relations with the Soviet republic, like the United States, notwithstanding the rupture, he declared in conclusion, was most illusory and doomed to disappointment.

LOWEST FIGURE.

Great Britain's Unemployed at Present Lower Than United States.

LONDON, June 2. — (Canadian Press). — Ministerial cheers greeted a statement by Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, minister of labour, in the House of Commons yesterday, that Great Britain's' unemployment now numbers 978,000 the lowest figure recorded since 1921.

Sir Arthur said that the United States at present has a greater number of unemployed than Great Britain.

Marble Memorial Is Unveiled At Midland

MIDLAND, Ont. June 2 —(Canadian Press.) — A marble monument 28 feet high on a sixteen foot base was unveiled here yesterday by His Honor The Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Ontario, in the presence of two thousand people. The schools were given a half-holiday and the stores were also closed. A big detachment of veterans in command of Captain F. W. Grant assisted at the ceremony as well zens bands.

THE WEATHER

The temperature last night was almost down to the freezing point and but for a breeze that was blowing damage would have resulted. The highest point yesterday was 66 degrees. This is the so-called Gauge Day for the summer season and is supposed to forecast the weather for the next three months. In Ontario the month of May proved to have a less number of hours on which the sun shone than any May since 1890 —W. P.

CHIMPANZEES LIKE TEA.

LONDON, June 2. — Properly attired in lounging suit and slippers Jack, eldest of London zoo chimpanzees, pours tea every afternoon for his family. Jimmy and Clarence enjoy it most of all; little Bibi must have mostly milk and four lumps of sugar in hers. All are very English having come from a fine old chimpanzee family in British East Africa

MANY RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY LEGION IN CONVENTION

Pernicious Films Opposed—Purchase of Empire Goods Advised.

MESSAGES SENT.

King George, Lord Willingdon, Former Commanders and Others Remembered.

In a resolution also adopted last night the Ontario Command recommended to the Dominion Command that a suitable badge be designed for retiring Presidents of any Command or Branch.

Another resolution requests the Provincial Secretary that all entertainments sponsored by the Canadian Legion be exempted from amusement tax on the written request of the President of the Branch.

Some discussion arose over a proposal asking the Dominion Command to prepare a ritual for uniform use at the funerals of ex-service men.

Comrade Sharpe of St. Catharines referred to the ritual used by that Command. It has proved satisfactory in the funerals of Protestants or Catholics.

Other branches have their own service orders. In passing this resolution which also embraces a ritual for the initiation of new members the convention was informed that the Dominion Command would welcome any suggestion, and that the question of rituals was now under consideration.

Pernicious Films.

Another interesting resolution strongly opposed the prevalent practice of introducing moving picture films and pernicious periodicals from foreign countries, and that the Dominion Command be requested to take the necessary steps to have this matter brought to the attention of the Dominion Command.

On a much different subject was a resolution urging that, in the appointment of Board of Valuators for revaluation work, the Township Assessor of Townships in which the land is to be revalued be appointed as one of the Board in each case.

Empire Goods.

Preference to Canadian and British made goods, wherever possible, in Government offices and departments was sought in another resolution which intimated that articles of foreign manufacture are being used in such offices.

The convention recorded a protest to the Dominion Government against any interference whatever with the preference granted to ex-service men under the Civil Service Act of 1918.

Another resolution asks that the rates of compensation to an ex-member of the forces undergoing treatment for a service disability be increased to the equivalent of the present rate of total disability pension, or the equivalent of the present rate of out-patient allowances Class 1.

A resolution calling for the deportation of "foreign immigrants" who become law breakers under the Criminal Code was referred back to the Committee, following a discussion of the comprehensiveness of the word "foreign."

The following messages were sent from the convention:

1 (a) To His Majesty the King, Buckingham Palace, London, England:

We, the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in Provincial Convention assembled, beg to renew the assurance of our unswerving loyalty to your August Person and of our desire to promote by every means in our power the integrity of the Empire and the highest welfare of the Nation.

1 (b) To His Royal Highness, The Prince of Wales, London, England:

We, your Comrades, members of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, send you fraternal greetings and assure you of our continued affection and loyalty.

1 (c) To His Excellency, The Governor General, Viscount Willingdon, Ottawa, Ontario.

The Ontario Provincial Convention of the British Empire Service League, begs to assure you as His Majesty's representative of our continued loyalty to our Nation and of our desire to serve Our King, Our Country and Our Empire in peace as we did in War.

1 (d) To His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, Government House, Toronto:

The Ontario Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion begs to assure you of our continued loyalty.

1 (e) To Field Marshal Earl Haig:

We, your Comrades of the Canadian Legion of the Province of Ontario, in Provincial Convention assembled, offer you and delegates to Biennial Conference of the British Empire Service League, our sincere greetings and cordial wishes for the success of the Conference, and to reaffirm the spirit of Unity to which we all are pledged.

1 (f) To The Hon. Howard Ferguson, Parliament Buildings, Toronto:

The Provincial Convention of the B.E.S.L. here assembled regret your inability to attend our Convention, and appreciate your continued interest and co-operation.

1 (g) To Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., Western University, London, Ontario:

We, the members of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in Provincial Convention assembled, extend to you our sincere greetings and appreciation of your continued interest and co-operation.

1 (h) To Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C., Quebec, P.Q.:

Your comrades of the British Empire Service League assembled in Convention in Peterborough, exceedingly regret your absence and extend to you their best wishes for a speedy recovery.

1 (i) To Lieut.-General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., Victoria, British Columbia:

Your Canadian Comrades of the Province of Ontario exceedingly regret your absence from our Provincial Convention, and extend to you are heartiest good wishes.

1 (j) Rt.-Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, Ottawa, Ontario:

The Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion exceedingly regret your inability to be present with us today, but appreciate your promise of continued interest and co-operation.

1 (k) Genaral Otter, Toronto, Ontario:

Greetings and long life from the Ontario Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion.

1 (n) W. S. Dobbs, Esq., Toronto, Ontario:

The Convention exceedingly regrets the absence of its chairman and wishes him a speedy recovery.

1 (o) Hon. Dr. King:

The Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion exceedingly regrets your inability to be present with us today but appreciates your promise for continued interest and co-operation.

Other resolutions passed were:

That this convention of the Canadian Legion of Ontario reaffirms its loyalty to and pride in the British Empire as the greatest Empire of freedom-loving citizens that has ever existed.

That we, as Canadian ex-service men, desire that Canada should remain a loyal, integral part of that great Empire, and as such we have no room in this Dominion for those of Communistic tendencies, whose purpose (as stated by themselves) is the disintegration of the Empire.

We, therefore, place on record our appreciation and endorsement of the action of the Prime Minister of Canada in cancelling the trade agreement with Soviet Russia and hereby call upon all loyal peoples of this Dominion to thwart the efforts of those who would sever the ties of Empire and weaken British influence.

Messages extending good wishes to the convention and regretting their personal absence were received from Premier King, Premier Ferguson, Hon. J. H. King, Minister in charge of the Soldiers Civil Re-establishment, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of Defence, Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General, Sir Arthur Currie, Gen. Turner, Sir Percy Lake.

The following resolutions submitted by Col. Ibottson Leonard, D.S.O., London, representing the resolutions committee were approved by the convention:

To General Lessard, Toronto—Your old Comrades in convention at Peterborough send you best wishes for a speedy recovery.

To Baron Byng—We, the members of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire League, in Provincial convention assembled, extend to you our sincere greetings, and appreciation of your continued interest and co-operation.

That this convention confirms the legislative proposals in regard to disability, pensions, treatment, appeals and returned soldiers' insurance "in toto" as recommended by the Dominion convention at Winnipeg in January 1927.

That no official of the Ontario Provincial command shall appear in any city or town on Legion business where a branch of the Legion is established without first consulting the local branch.

Proper Military Funerals.

Moved by L. H. Saunders of North Bay, seconded by N. E. Crowe, Peterborough, that the executive committee of the Ontario Command request that the Dominion Command take up the question of providing proper military funeral facilities in connection with the burial of all ex-service men throughout Canada in all districts or cities where such facilities may be provided without undue expense to the public.

And that the Minister of Militia be requested to instruct district officers commanding to co-operate with the local branches of the British Empire Service League to provide gun carriages, firing parties, buglers, etc., wherever possible, in accordance with the usual procedure at military funerals.

J. H. Davidson of Riverdale branch urged that the military authorities be requested to supply at least a gun carriage for the funerals of overseas men.

"We will find the firing party," he said. "There is a gun carriage in Toronto, but it is more carefully guarded than the regalia in the tower of London. It is only used for the funerals of members of the permanent force, and we have a small chance of getting it when we go west."

Comrade Gibbons of Central Toronto branch said that an identical resolution from his branch had been forwarded to the Minister of Defence and word had come back that a detailed reply was pending. He suggested that the resolution be adopted as prepared. The convention agreed to this action.

Report of Adjustments

Wednesday afternoon's session opened with the presentment of the report of the General Adjustment Officer, J. Valentine, seeting out the monetary results obtained in veterans through the general adjustment office of the Legion's provincial council as follows:

Approximate value of retroactive pensions obtained for, and paid to, Veterans	$59,247.73
Pay and allowances	18,994.51
Approximate value of pensions on a five-year basis	$299,160.63

Only those who are cognizant with the intricate cases which are at present being dealt with can fully appreciate the wealth of detail necessary to win so many cases, the report commented.

The statement was adopted with a compliment to Comrade Valentine for his efficient services.

Western Ontario Bureau

The report of the Western Ontario Service Bureau from November 1st, 1926, to May 31st, 1927, was read by the bureau's adjustment officer in part as follows:

The Western Ontario Service Bureau has been in operation in the City of London since November 15th, 1926, when an arrangement was made with the London Branch, No. 2 of the Legion, for office space and stenographic assistance. Previous to that time, the work was carried on from the office of the Byron Sanatorium Branch. The Adjustment Officer deals with every type of pension adjustment and is also specially qualified to handle tuberculous and chest cases, having for a number of years been an adjustment officer for the T.V.A.

One stenographer is employed full time. Office equipment to the value of $120.00 was purchased consisting only of bare necessary requirement. Economy has been practised from the beginning and the average monthly expense for the seven months of operation is only $333.76, which includes rent, stationery, telephone, medical examinations, postage and Salaries. A system of co-operation with the Legion branches in Western Ontario has been established in order to save the expense of the Adjustment Officer visiting these branches, and it is desired to point out that not one cent has been spent on this item, although it has been necessary to visit a large number of men in hospitals and those confined to their homes. This is due chiefly to the generosity of the Byron Sanatorium Branch which have supplied a car when required for this purpose. Thanks to the generous co-operation of the medical profession generally, the costs of medical examinations have been very small.

Monthly reports of the activities of the Bureau have been issued and sent to every branch in the district as well as to all provincial officers and members of the provincial executive council. From these reports it will hve been realized what a tremendous amount of work has been accomplished. The following statistics for the seven months speak for themselves:

Interviews, 908; letters written, 1,629; documents copied, 496; clinical exams., 163; relief arranged, 13; pay adjustments, 76; disablement fund allowance obtained, 33.

Forty Claims Adjusted

The magnificent total of forty major pension claims established involving the payment of $37,730.00 in retroactive pension and pay and allowances and future pension committments of approximately $278.-176.00, proves the great value financially to our disabled comrades, of our work carried on. A complete list of major pension claims established are attached to this report and cover almost every type of disability. While the success obtained is very striking, it does not represent the full value of the work carried on as many pensioners have received competent advice and have been able to obtain satisfactory settlements. A large number of Imperial ex-service men have received the assistance of the Bureau in both service and disability pensions, treatment and many other matters. Widows of ex-service men have received every assistance, and insurance, funerals, and various other matters have been dealt with for them.

The Adjustment Officer has appeared before the Board of Pension Commissioners, the Federal Appeal Board and has worked in close co-operation with the D.S.C.R. officials at all times. He has also co-operated in the preparation of the Legion Legislation Agenda and its presentation to the Government. Representing the Tuberculous Veterans' Section, he will present the pension agenda to a board of tuberculosis specialists which has been convened by the Government in Toronto on June 13th to 15th next, and which it is hoped will assist very materially in adjusting many hardships under which this class of disabled ex-service men are labouring.

In conclusion, it can be truthfully stated that the Western Ontario Service Bureau has given the Legion a high standing throughout the district and has proved that the Legion is living up to their sacred obligation to care for the disabled and their dependents. In the near future it is hoped that extra facilities will be provided to enabled the Adjustment Officer to cope successfully with the ever-increasing demands upon him, as it will be readily seen from the above that the office has been much overworked.

Credentials Report.

The credentials committee reported 92 credentials as follows:

Branches 76, proxies 5, provincial executive 11.

In addition there were 3 representatives of the Ladies Auxiliary, Provincial Secretary and two representatives from the Dominion Office, making a total of 98.

There are 84 voting delegates present, 76 from branches, and 8 from the Provincial Executive. This report was read by L. H. Saunders and N. E. Crowe, Wednesday afternoon.

Tuberculous Section Report.

The report of the A. A. Robinson, adjustment officer of the tuberculous veterans section, reviewed the Legion's work in behalf of tuberculous veterans:

Report of the Tuberculous Section, (Toronto) Adjustment Service, Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, Ontario Provincial Command. As from November 1st, 1926, to May 15th, 1927.

Active case fyles transferred from Toronto Branch T.V.A. for review, November 1st, 1926, 179.

New cases received from Toronto and other parts of Eastern and Northern Ontario, as from November 1st, 1926, to May 15th, 1927—103.

Successful adjustments—17.

Active cases on hand May 15th, 1927—94.

The adjustments listed above consist of the following:

Eligibility to pension with 100% to follow (2)	$5,544.00
Eligibility to pension with 50% to follow (1)	837.50
Eligibility to penson for deceased ex-soldier (1)	749.41
Eligibility to pension for de-wife of deceased (1)	971.48
Retroactive pensions secured (2)	2347.79
Commuted pensions reinstated (2)	438.25
Increases in pension (3)	100.56
Retroactive Pay and Allowances (1)	145.50
Re-embursement of Medical expenses (1)	21.00
Orphan Rates for Child, retroactive (1)	47.42
Admitted to Hospital with Pay and Allowances (2)
	$11,402.91

Expenses.

Twenty eight men were given medical examination by specialists, to determine the true percentage and diagnosis of existing conditions, involving the expenditure of the sum of $319.00.

Visits to Hamilton and Weston Sanatoria $8.95.

In reviewing the work of this department, it is only fair to point out that the securing of pensions is not the only work accomplished, as considerable time must be spent on other matters requiring advice and personal visits to various homes and hospitals, etc., and interviews take up considerable time as the average time spent with each man is over half an hour and often longer.

As pointed out in previous reports, when a case is taken up for eligibility for pension for the first time, it means that perhaps a period of three to five months may elapse before all necessary evidence is in, and then submitted to the Board of Pension Commissioners, which causes a further delay from four to six weeks until a reply is received, then again unfortunately, several cases which have taken weeks to prepare are refused by the Board, which nullifies many months of study and labour.

It is indeed gratifying to note that the Pension Act is being amended, extending the time to limit for application, from seven to nine years, from the date of discharge, and also to allow a fresh appeal being heard upon the production of new evidence and these two points alone should increase the work of this Department for some time to come, and in this connection, may I suggest that all branches be officially notified of these changes so that they in turn can tell their members so that if any man does not quite understand what he is entitled to, he can then inquire through the Adjustment Bureau.

In conclusion, may I take this opportunity of extending my deep appreciation of the assistance rendered by several of the branch secretaries and officers in bringing cases to the attention of this office, and assisting in securing evidence.

CAPTAIN C. H. ROGERS, M.C., who served overseas with the Canadian Engineers, extends a very hearty welcome to his former comrades in arms. As one of this city he hopes that their stay here will be a pleasant one and that their deliberations will be a great benefit to the returned man.

SEYMOUR FAIR BOARD MEETS

Prize List For This Year's Exhibition Passed at Special Meeting.

ACT ARRANGED.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2 — A special meeting of the Seymour Township Agricultural Society was held in the Public Library building last night. With the exception of Dr. O'Hara and Messrs. Hume and Abernethy, all members were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. President Henry Water was in the chair, and Secretary J. N. Stone recorded the proceedings.

The meeting was called to arrange the prize list for the 1927 fair, which is to be held on Thursday and Friday, September 29th and 30th. Only a little pruning was done to last year's list, and a few additions made. The society is determined to make this year's Fair a bigger and better Fair than ever before. There will be nothing left undone to make it two full days of real entertainment. A free act in front of the grand stand is to be one of the leading attractions. This act in reality is three distinct acts, entitled "The Stubble Field." It is said to be a scream from start to finish. A special committee, J. N. Stone and D. A. Owens, was appointed to secure special prizes. An effort is to be made to secure additional members in the Society.

BELMONT COUNCIL ENGAGES ENGINEER

F. T. Webster To Act When Required—Road Superintendent Named.

BAND CONCERT.

Northumberland Band To Give Benefit Concert at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2. — The Northumberland Regiment Band is putting on a benefit concert in the Regent Theatre at 8.30 on Sunday evening. The proceeds of this concert go to a member of the band who is at present in the Kingston General Hospital. Captain Hyland is giving the free use of the Regent, and the well-known and popular soloists and others taking part in the programme are donating their services. Among others taking part are the following: Mrs. Dr. Free, contralto soloist; Mr. Geo. Lucy, tenor soloist; Mr. Cecil Searles, violinist; and Messrs. Godden, mandolin and guitar. A silver collection will be taken at the door.

MARMORA BAND GIVES CONCERT

Splendid Programme Given in Town Hall—Assisted By Quartettes.

MANY IN AUDIENCE.

MARMORA, June 2.— On Monday evening, citizens of Marmora awakened as never before to the fact that they have a band in their village of which they may be justly proud. They made the joyous discovery by thronging the town hall to overcrowding in acceptance of the band's invitation to a free concert. In this concert, the band was ably assisted by the highly accomplished string quartette of Deloro and Marmora's popular male voice quartette, so that a rare musical feast was provided by home talent for the large music loving audience present.

Marmora's community band owes its flourishing condition to the painstaking labors of its present conductor, Ross Hunter. In a marvellously short time, he has established a band of twenty-one active players which appeared on the platform on Monday evening, and in addition to these, there is a fine class of students receiving his unremitting care.

No more appropriate number could have been actually played, 'The Winner,' for one saw in this band a veritable triumph. Following is the programme rendered:

Band selection—"The Winner."

Strings with piano, "Romance," (Costes).

Male quartette, "Old Black Joe." Encore, "All on a Sunday Morning."

Band selection—"Bugle Call."

String quartette— Allegro Quartette No. 41 (Haydn).

Encore, "Happy Go Lucky"—Ross Hunter.

Male quartette—"In the Gloaming." Encore, "The Talk."

Strings with piano — "Poppies" Costes.

Band selection—"Prospero."

Remarks on the band by Ross Hunter, followed by community singing under his leadership.

Band selection during signing up of a goodly number of band associates. National anthem.

The Deloro string quartette, composed of Messrs. S. B. Wright, R. Hunter, A. V. Yates and W. Rigg, was assisted by Mrs. Ross Hunter at the piano. The male quartette included Messrs. J. F. Baker, W. M. Lester, W. L. Rigg and W. A. Sanderson.

LEGION REPORTS

urged the members to regard the incidents of the past year as closed. He, himself, had been a severe critic of the actions of the Executive. He did not know whether his own ideas would have been effective had they been adopted. He called attention to General Gunn's statement as to the appointment of an advisory board, and the definition of future policy. The money, whether well spent or ill-spent, was now gone. He urged them to let the past remain as a closed book, and to look to the future, which was assured to the Legion.

A. G. Padbury, of Toronto, said the Auditors' report must be criticized. He admitted, however, the methods of the Legion had been instrumental in the raising of large sums of money, but the payment of 70% to collectors was excessive. He declared that this condition did not begin in 1926. It had been prevalent since 1921. Colonel Hunter had assumed the responsibility. "He is a good friend of mine," said Mr. Padbury, in fact there is not a member of the executive who is not a friend, but I think the blame must be laid on the shouledrs of those responsible."

E. H. Sanders heatedly interposed to state that while Col. Hunter's offer to assume the whole responsibility was a magnanimous one. As a member of the Executive, he personally refused to allow it. "We, of the Executive, are all responsible, and are willing to take what odium is going."

John Adams said the evil arose from the type of man who had been selected to canvass. They were men who had taken advantage of the situation to prey on the Legion by the getting of huge commissions. He urged that these men's services be dispensed with, once for all.

T. H. MacDonald spoke in defence of the Executive. The Executive disliked intensely some of the things they were compelled to do, but they were helpless. They inherited a sorry mess, and they had to do their best to clean it up.

W. A. Coswell asked if any new contracts had been entered into. He wished to know if there had been any "gerrymander" appointments of canvassers. He was assured by General Gunn that no one was now employed by the Legion on a commission basis. Not a nickel will be collected except with the approval of the Advisory Committee, declared General Gunn.

On the motion of R. D. Mess, of London, the report was adopted, only one delegate dissenting. This dissenter later withdrew his opposition and the report was unanimously adopted.

Earlier in the day an eloquent speech was heard from H. Bell, who urged the adoption of methods to attract a larger percentage of native-born Canadian officers into the ranks of the Legion. It was decided to have copies of Mr. Bell's address printed, and sent to the branches.

The evening's session was featured by an apology by Harold Breuls for a letter written by him in which he charged the Executive with blame for the commission payments to canvassers.

Mr. Breul's withdrawal was commended, but his action was deplored by General Gunn.

At the close of the meeting it was intimated that a Pathe representative would attend the Memorial Service at the Cenotaph tonight for the purpose of taking films, which would later circle the British Empire.

SERVICES ENDED.

Evangelists Crossley and Leonard Conclude Meetings in Bonar Law.

BONAR LAW, June 2—Evangelists Crossley and Leonard finished their two weeks' campaign in the United Church at Springbrook on Friday evening. The church was packed each night and a large number converted. The memory of these faithful evangelists will linger for many years in the hearts of the people of this district. The Stirling choir was present on Thursday evening and ably assisted in the singing.

Miss Emma Meiklejohn of Campbellford and Mr. Leonard sang a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross," which was very impressive. The evangelists left on Saturday morning for Cherry Valley, where they will continue their work.

CAPTAIN JANNEY'S FLIGHT.

The announcement that Captain Janney, well-known Canadian aviator, has decided to attempt a non-stop flight from Ottawa to London, England, as a feature of Canada's Diamond Jubilee celebration will cause a thrill in most Canadian hearts.

Janney, one of the most experienced flying men in the Dominion, plans to hop off from Canada's capital on June 30 and land in England on Dominion Day, bringing Canada's jubilee message to the Motherland.

He is to be accompanied by a radio operator, and in this way it is hoped that contact with the aviator will be maintained throughout the flight.

Janney's attempt will undoubtedly be the most spectacular event of the whole jubilee programme, but while the audacity and gallantry of the aviator and his companion will cause general admiration, there will be a strong undercurrent of feeling that useful Canadian lives should not be placed in jeopardy.

It must be remembered that while Lindbergh succeeded in his wonderful flight to Paris, a similar attempt cost France two of her best known flyers, that Lieutenants Carr and Gillman, British flyers, were forced down in their spectacular flight to India, and that de Pinedo, the Italian birdman, met with a mishap en route from Newfoundland to the Azores.

NOT LIKE GEORGE YOUNG.

Lindbergh, hero of the New York-to-Paris flight, seems in no danger of falling into the same pitch-hole that tripped George Young, after the Canadian youngster made himself famous by winning the Catalina swimming marathon.

The glory of Young's exploit was almost immediately killed when the swimmer became the centre figure in a battle between rival promoters that eventually caused a feeling of disgust even among his warmest admirers.

Lindbergh has refused to cash in on his epoch-making air journey.

Although he has been swamped by offers of huge sums from movie magnates, vaudeville agencies and business firms, the airman has flatly refused to enter into a single contract.

He will return to the United States his own master and unbound by an agreement with anyone.

Furthermore, he intimates that unless he can assist in the development of aviation by so doing he will continue to hold himself aloof from contracts.

Lindbergh is not only a gallant young man and a wonderful flyer; he is also an individual whose head sits firmly on his shoulders and contains plenty of grey matter.

THE JUBILEE COMES FIRST.

It is a matter for regret that, owing to the fact that several of the local militia units are to be in camp on July 1st, the present outlook is that these troops will be unable to participate in the Diamond Jubilee parade.

On an occasion when the people of Peterborough are expected to put the proper celebration of the jubilee ahead of all other interests, the absence of militia units will be an unappreciated feature of the parade.

The difficulties in the present case are not insurmountable, and some solution of the problem that will permit of the militia participating will surely be arrived at in the near future.

As The Examiner has observed more than once, the Diamond Jubilee is not an ordinary occasion; it is a national celebration of sixty years of Canadian progress and advancement, and the people of this country have been called upon to exert every effort to make the occasion impressive and convincing.

It is no time for red tape; the Diamond Jubilee, if the proclamation of Parliament means anything, should come first and all organizations in each community should do their share.

Such difficulties as exist here should be ironed out by consultation between the National Committee and the Department of National Defence.

WELCOME, THE LEGION.

The Examiner today presents messages of welcome from representative local citizens to the delegates in attendance at the Ontario convention of the Canadian Legion.

These greetings leave no doubt as to the feeling of the people of Peterborough toward the representatives of the Ontario men who fought overseas.

Their gratitude has been attested on many occasions, and by nothing more eloquently than by the fine hall in which the convention is being held.

These messages The Examiner may be permitted to supplement by adding its own welcome to the delegates and by expressing a fervent wish that out of the present convention may come a revival of interest in the organization itself that will see during the coming year a much larger membership.

A vigorous, alive Dominion-wide organization of ex-service men is capable of so much good, not only on behalf of veterans and their families, but in the interest of the general welfare of Canada, that it is to be hoped that the Canadian Legion will be able to work out its destiny and justify the faith and confidence of Earl Haig, who is responsible for the launching of the British Empire Service League of which the Canadian Legion is a unit.

The Ontario convention is a milestone in the history of the organization, and much depends upon the outcome of the present deliberations.

"WHEN DO WE GET IT."

Into a single cryptic phrase Mr. Mackenzie King has resolved uncertainties and anxiety which extend not only over his native province but into adjacent sections of the Great Republic. The profuseness of the politician has given place to the terseness of the citizen keenly interested in his own affairs and Mr. King has enriched current conversation with a sentence which covers the whole subject.

Mr. Stewart McClenaghan chronicles the incident. He was at the Woodbine track in Toronto the other day at a time when Mr. King also was there seeking the freedom from offical cares which is denied him in the Capital. "Mackenzie King," relates Mr. McClenaghan "came up to me and said 'When are we going to get it?' Just like that. No circumlocution. No beating about the bush. In the old days when he was a reporter Mr. King would have sought to engage Mr. McClenaghan in discussion of the entries in the next race, leading up gradually and innocently to the topic of real concern. 'Are you yet in a position,' he would have enquired eventually, 'to indicate the date when the retail stores under your Board will be opened for public sale to permit holders?' Not so to-day. Mr. King as a resident of Ontario knew exactly what he wanted to know, and what the people of Ontario wanted to know, and he wasted not a word in conversational by-paths.

We should like to call to the attention of the Prime Minister the very admirable brevity and directness of Mr. Mackenzie King. — Ottawa Journal.

PARTISANSHIP DIES IN MARITIMES.

Some few days ago The Journal commented upon the new feeling of faith and confidence that was becoming evident in the Maritime Provinces. Whatever its final achievement, adoption of the Duncan report had at least produced a wonderful psychological triumph. But in another respect—an equally important one—there seems a new day in the Maritimes. The old bitter, barren partisanship is, if we are to believe the testimony of the newspapers down there, passing away. Thus the St. John Telegraph-Journal, a mighty party disputant in other years, now states that the day of the extreme partisan is no more in New Brunswick, that the united work done by the adherents of both parties "who forgot their political differences in creating and carrying forward the movement which led to the Duncan report," has had an immense effect in promoting co-operation "and putting into really constructive and patriotic effort much of the vigor formerly devoted to advancing mere partisan fortune."

The Amherst News, declaring that the Maritimes "have suffered much in the past because their people were too much wedded to party politics," backs up the St. John paper's testimony. "The newspapers and public men who are continually sounding the old partisan note, will soon have a restricted field," it says. "The day is coming when faithful public service will be recognized, no matter where it may be found, and when public men will be treated according to their merits. What is happening in Nova Scotia just now is what was always implied in the spirit that brought about Confederation, but which has taken a long time to come to full bloom."

These sentiments are endorsed by The Halifax Herald, an old journalistic war-horse of Conservatism. It declares that the old nostrums are finding small place today in the consciousness of a people concerned with progress and advancement; that the partisan has had his day; and that recent events in the Maritimes have demonstrated what can be done by a people united for a common good.

To those who know something of past Maritime politics, it is good to read such testimony. Not that the party system and the parties are the evils some men think them. But because party allegiances in the Lower Provinces were carried to an extreme; to such an extreme that political differences were made a cause for vindictiveness and rancour, and the common good subordinated to the party's end. Such bitterness can bring no good to any people, and they brought nothing but harm to the Maritimes.—Ottawa Journal.

FASCIST ACHIEVEMENT.

In a speech a few days ago in the Italian Chamber of Deputies Premier Mussolini gave a very vivid and enthusiastic picture of what Fascism had achieved in the last five years, and what it planned for the future. The Premier first set out to answer the question whether the physical condition of Italian society was all that it should be, or whether there were symptoms of decay, and he came to the conclusion that "the picture was none too gay." Whereas the majority of common diseases were rapidly decreasing, he said, tuberculosis, drunkenness, insanity and suicide were increasing.

In regard to social conditions, he deplored the fact that there were 187,000 saloons in Italy, and said he had already taken measures to close 25,000 of them. There are no fewer than 5,700 institutions existing in Italy for the care of maternity and infancy. They all, however, lacked funds. For this reason he had decided to establish a tax on bachelors, the proceeds of which would be turned over to those institutions. But he warned that it was not impossible that in the future he might consider extending this social tax to include families without children, because, in his mind, the value of the tax was especially a moral one, its object being primarily to increase the race. Mussolini is strongly of the opinion that the population of Italy is not increasing fast enough. In 1886 it was increasing at the rate of 39 per 1,000, whereas now it is increasing at the rate of 27 per 1,000. But even more disturbing is the fact that in Italy's chief industrial cities, like Milan, Turin and Genoa, the population is not increasing at all. This explained, he said, why he was opposed to the phenomenon of urbanism and believed that Italy should concentrate its energies on a "back to the land" movement.

What appealed very strongly to the Deputies was the Premier's defense of Italian nationalism and the militaristic and imperialistic policy. Denouncing the spirit of Locarno, he explained: "It is a fundamental duty to perfect our armed forces. We must at a certain time be able to mobilize 5,000,000 men and a huge air force." Declarations of this character will enable other nations to understand clearly the policy of Fascist Italy. Mussolini is a war-lord of the swaggering and menacing type. He left the Chamber in no doubt as to Italy's intention of preserving its territorial acquisitions, even by armed forces if necessary. The iron hand has been inexorable, and, in the enforcement of Fascist rule, at least 2,198 persons have been sent to penal colonies.—Brantford Expositor.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 2 (Canadian Press).—An improved demand for Canadian Spring wheat was manifested to the local trade here yesterday and sales of a quarter of a million bushels were made for nearby shipment to the United Kingdom. Business with the Continent was quiet, however. A brisk demand was noted for Manitoba Spring wheat and oats. The flour trade was featureless.

A keen demand for Manitoba bran was developed by United States buyers and trade in this commodity was active. The market in standard grades of rolled oats was reported stronger and prices were marked up a further 10 cents per bag.

There was no important change in the market for baled hay.

A fair trade passed in eggs and prices were maintained in spite of increased stocks on hand. These showed an increase of 40,429 cases as compared with the first day of May, while stocks of fresh eggs were 5,782 cases larger than the beginning of last month. Sales of fresh extras were well maintained.

The butter trade was stronger yesterday and prices scored an advance of ½ cent per lb. This is attributed to an increased demand from local sources.

The export trade in cheese continues quiet, but some demand has arisen on spot with several good sales made.

Owing to reduction in stocks of potatoes on spot a steadier feeling prevails in that market. Prices, however, are unchanged. The demand yesterday was fair with a moderate business done in car lots of Green Mountains.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 2 (Canadian Press).—Confronted by a prospect of further delays to planting, corn rallied up yesterday well above the season's topmost prices heretofore. Planting of corn is already so late that a forecast of more wet weather last night over the chief producing states led to active general buying and to an advance of 5 cents from the day's low point.

Corn closed strong, 3¾ to 4¼c net higher; wheat 1¾ to 1¾ up; oats at 1c to 1⅜c gain, and provisions 5 to 20 cents down.

Wheat moved up with corn, notwithstanding temporary setbacks due to scattered rains in Kansas and to bearish crop advices from Canada. Estimates were current that Kansas and Oklahoma will produce not to exceed 162,000,000 bushels of wheat this season, whereas last year the combined yield was 223,802,000 bushels.

Oats traders were governed both by the poor start of the corn crop and by indications of reduced acreage of oats.

In the provision market, the action of corn failed to offset downturns in the value of hogs.

A SHOCKING DISCOVERY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir:

In the report of the financial secretary of that esteemed body, The Children's Aid Society, many citizens like myself were shocked to find that the funds of the Society are actually running behind. It was necessary to take money from capital account to make up the deficit. This is a most deplorable incident. No society is more self sacrificing. There is no expensive staff to keep up. The executive of this Society are all volunteers. There are no parades, uniforms, banquets, musical festivals or permanent staff and quarters except for the little waifs, to keep up. No coal bills for entertainments or loafing-places, no failure to account to the public for every cent collected or subscribed, and yet we appear to be more concerned about dogs and cats and the heathen of foreign lands ,not to mention our own, than the little things whom God Himself has given us as His wards. Woe unto us if a hair on their heads is injured. Now is the time to take stock of what is necessary before any serious inroad is made on the funds of the Society. Just as soon as intending testators find that the public is neglecting the C.A.S. for band concerts and the like you may bank on it, Mr. Editor, that they will cease to put in their wills little sums and sometimes big ones for this most holy cause, that holiest of all causes, the upbringing and wellbeing of God's little children.

A Thought For To-day

Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth.—James: iii, 5.

Fire that's closest kept burns most of all.—Shakespeare.

Fans were mentioned in the Bible as being used for separating chaff from wheat after the grain had been ground. The Egyptians and Romans later used fans for decoration and cooling purposes.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

WHY FIGHT?

By Dr. Frank Crane.

It is curious to think why men fight each other. They do not fight what the other man is, but they fight what they think he is.

They attribute motives and feelings to him. They do not know their brother, but they manufacture a simulacrum of him and this is what they hate.

A definite propaganda is maintained by some against the British.

Prejudice and hatred of British people is a long legacy from the American revolution and is often appealed to by some classes.

Mr. Geddes held that much of the opposition of the people of China against Great Britain was imported to that people by those of their sons who had lived in the United States. Prejudice is quite common here against the British, and it is natural that those who have been trained among us shall absorb it.

We are amazed to find when we come to know the British people that they are just as kindly, just as liberty-loving, and aim to do just as right as we ourselves.

We hate them only because we attribute motives to them of which they are free.

In like manner some of the British despise Americans, not because they know Americans but because they have built up a man of straw which they label American. Most Americans feel quite kindly to the rest of the world.

We are astonished at the outbreaks in China just now against Americans. We cannot understand their hostility and their wild stories about Americans butchering Chinese babies. How any one can credit such absurd tales we cannot imagine. But if we search ourselves we will find we have quite as ridiculous beliefs about the Chinese as they have about us. When we come to know them we find them, as a rule, a peaceful, gentle and cultured people.

There has been much propaganda against the Japanese in this country, but those who know the Japanese know them to be a well disposed people. They are as free from indulging in hostile intentions toward the United States as our people from the same thing towards Japan.

All we need to do is to know another people and we cease to hate them. Hatred is a creation of ignorance and prejudice. The best way to do away with it is to encourage travel and inter-communication.

When we know people we shall not be eager to fight with them.

MILK PRODUCTS PLANT LARGER

Machinery Re-arranged, Increasing Efficiency—Capacity Greater.

ADDITION TO BUILDING

The plant of the Peterborough Milk Products has been recently remodelled and all the changes tend to make the local factory one of the best in Ontario in both efficiency and equipment.

An addition has been built to the north end of the building, sixteen feet by fifty-six feet in size, and this new room will be used as a weigh can and bottle washing room. The condensed milk machinery has all been moved to the room where the pasteurizing and bottling was formerly done and now the pateurizing, bottling is carried on in the front of the building in full view of everyone who goes by on the street.

The pasteurizing, cooling and bottling system has been put in with a different lay out. Two large De Laval pasteurizers are upstairs and here milk is heated to 145 degrees fahrenheit and held at this temperature for 30 minutes. Then it is run over a cooler by gravitation and when cooled it is bottled immediately This new layout has increased the capacity of the plant and the Milk Products would be ready tomorrow to pasteurize all the milk required for the city of Peterborough, if the authorities should give the order.

All the butter is made in two churns, one with a thousand pound capacity and the other much smaller. Special and first grade cream are churned together and only this grade of butter is sold to the local customers. The cream is all tested before it is put into the two large vats. The large churn handles the first grade cream and the smaller churn the second grade cream. The Company in enlarging the plant have looked ahead for the future requirements of Peterborough.

Everything about the plant is spotless and is thoroughly sterilized every day, thus the Company may well be proud of its plant and class it as one of the best milk factories in Ontario.

FREQUENTERS OF HOTELS CHANGE

Lounge Lizards Supplant Old-Timers, Who Used To Occupy Porches.

LESS DESIRABLE.

One of the outstanding phenomena of recent years has been the almost total disappearance of the groups of hangers on in the porches of the hotels of the smaller towns and cities of the provinces.

It may be remembered that about a decade ago every self respecting hotel in the neighborhood had a little knot of "patrons" usually elderly or middle-aged men who turned up nightly in fair weather or foul to smoke infinite pipes of tobacco, to discuss crop prospects or pass in review the politics of the day and in general to apportion praise and blame among the great ones of the world.

It is apparent to the most casual observer that this old type is no longer with us. One is almost tempted to think that it has gone the way of the dodo or the great auk.

This view, however, is not accepted everywhere. For example the manager of a Peterborough hotel who was approached by The Examiner in search of information on the subject scoffed at the idea that these old warriors no longer existed. "Why!" he said, "they have all become millionaire bootleggers."

Another theory which was propounded in a Peterborough hotel is that they have all gone inside. It is said that a commercial traveller observing night after night an assembly of veterans in a hotel in Picton expostulated with the proprietor, "Why do you allow these old fellows to hang around here?" he said, "sure they do not spend any money."

"Well it's like this", said mine host placidly, "most of these fellows had money at one time. Now I have all their money. They spent it all at the bar. They have no club or any where else to go where they can put in the night so I tolerate them here. It is the least I can do for them."

It seems to be the opinion of hotel-keepers in Peterborough that the lounge-lizard problem does not exist here in any acute form. Chris Graham thinks hotels like the King Edward in Toronto, where there are numerous lounges and a large number of strangers, are confronted with a difficulty along this direction. Some hotels employ detectives who become familiar with the faces of unwanted frequenters who, as soon as spotted, are quietly shown the way out to the street.

In general the habitual lounge lizard is looked upon with aversion by all proprietors. He is less harmless than was his old time prototype and infinitely less of an ornament or an amenity.

In some American hotels it has been found that the lounge lizard is invarjably a young man who, masquerading as a hotel guest, ingratiates himself into the good graces of silly society women looking for "thrills" and "adventure" and after striking up an acquaintance enjoys a good time at the expense of his dupe with more money than sense. If the latter happens to be a married woman there is always the prospect of further increment in the form of blackmail under the threat of informing the unsuspecting husband of the flirtation. It requires only one or two instances of undesirable publicity of this nature to procure for a hotel an unfortunate reputation and resultant loss in revenue. Consequently the lizard on the lounge is about as welcome to the owner as is the poisonous reptile to the rancher in the south.

BEAVER PATROL FORMED IN 1910

Boy Scout Movement Has Increased in Numbers and Prestige Since Then.

FIVE TROOPS HERE.

Boy Scouts, since their organization in 1910 have been gaining prestige both in this city and in towns and cities all over Canada and the United States. The first patrol, formed in March 10, 1910, was made up of: F. Austin, Scout-Master; Reg. Stratton, Captain; Herb McClelland, Lieutenant; R. Neil, A. Fortye, A. Austin, S. Mills, G. MacFarlane, and Greg. O'Connell, privates. This constituted the entire body of scouts in the city and was called the "Beaver Patrol."

The present Boy Scout system is much different and has changed for the better, for many churches are assisting in this great work and scouts are established at several in this city. It is now called a Boy Scout Association and has an executive council, made up of representative citizens. Rev. Father P. Costello is the president for 1927. This executive is responsible for the carrying on of the Boy Scouts in the city, such as raising necessary funds, etc.

This executive appoints a commissioner and a District Scout-Master.

This year J. J. Turner is the Commissioner, Fred Roy, Assistant Commissioner, and Dr. Murray Fraser is appointed District Scout Master.

The following are the troops formed, where formed, and their respective Scout-Masters:

No. 2 Group (St. Luke's Church) W. L. Hepburn, Scout-Master.

No. 3 Group (Old Westclox Building) Clarence Corbett, Scout-Master.

No. 4 Group (437 George street) Frank Taylor, Scout-Master.

No. 5 Group (All Saints' Church) George Gimblett, Jr., Scout-Master.

No. 6 Group (Knights of Columbus) Mr. McKenzie, Scout-Master.

Besides these various groups there is a pack of Wolf Cubs with A. Hope as Cubmaster. All these groups meet once a week at their various club rooms, and carry on various activities, and usually a hike is taken once a week to some place into the country. Peterborough, as mentioned before, is a local association and a local association exists for the following purposes:

(a) To supervise and encourage the movement within its area with the least possible amount of interference with the independence and initiative of the troops, packs, patrols, or sixes; also to work in co-operation with other recognized organizations for boys.

(b) To recommend troops, packs, patrols, and officers, up to the rank of District Scout-Master, for registration and warrants.

(c) To suspend any troop, pack, patrol, officer, scout, or Wolf Cub in its area. In case of any refusal to recommend, or of any suspension, an appeal lies to the Provincial Commissioner.

(d) To appoint badge committees of independent ladies and gentlemen to examine candidates for the proficiency badges, and be responsible for the granting of all Scout or Wolf Cub badges and awards under its jurisdiction.

There are other rules that the association must follow such as encouraging the formation of camps, and submitting to the Provincial Council an annual report, including a duly audited financial statement.

A meeting of the executive is held once a month and a meeting of all the Troops and the executive is held once a year.

In Africa there are about 130,000,000 negroes and about 5,000,000 whites.

BUILDER SHOWS BELIEF IN TOWN

William Reynolds Has Built Over 100 Houses in Campbellford.

GENUINE OPTIMIST.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 2.—William Reynolds, who has built over 100 houses in Campbellford, and who, with his father, put down the first piece of board walk in the town, is completing a beautiful home on Canrobert street. Mr. Reynolds is a very young man, if the amount of work one can get through with in a day determines age. He is continually at house building and does all his own work, and the material he puts into his houses, together with the workmanship, he is prepared to match with any in the county. Mr. Reynolds has faith in Campbellford. He does not wait for an order to build a house—he just builds it.

The structure on Cannobert street now nearing completion, is a two storey, 8-roomed brick house, with all modern conveniences. The bricks are Milton red rug; this and the house Mr. Reynolds occupies himself are the only two houses in Campbellford constructed with Milton's red rug brick. The house has a colonial porch constructed of British Columbia cedar. The floors are oak, the door frames are of B.C. cedar and the panels of Jersey pine. The ground floor is laid out so that the large reception hall and parlor may be used as one room. Another novel feature about this house is the one stairway serving both as a front and back stairway. The house is liberally supplied with cupboards and clothes closets and other conveniences. When asked by the Examiner if he did not run the risk of having to hold the house for some time after completing his work, Mr. Reynolds said that he had six wanting to buy and about eight wanting to rent.

Next to this house is a frame house that Mr. Reynolds built 21 years ago. He sold it at that time for $975.00. The purchaser lived in it for 20 years and then sold it for $3,350.00. Mr. Reynolds figures that the party to whom he sold didn't pay much for 20 years' rent.

This Campbellford home builder is a genuine optimist. He has faith in Campbellford and is daily exhibiting that faith by his works. The following verses may have been written by Mr. Reynolds:

If you want to live in the kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike;
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new;
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town,
It isn't the town, it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid,
Lest somebody else get ahead,
When everyone works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead,
And if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see;
It isn't the town, it's you.

ROSS DOBBIN,
Manager of the Utilities Commission: "It is a great pleasure to me to extend a word of welcome to the delegates of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion. While they are in the city I extend to them an invitation to visit the utilities of the local commision. Arrangements will be made to take them through the plants and everything will be carefully explained to them."

TWEED PLANS CELEBRATION

Board of Trade Draws Up Rough Outline of Jubilee Programme.

OPENS WITH PARADE.

TWEED, June 2.—At a meeting of the Board of Trade a programme of events for the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation was drawn up and committees formed to take care of the many different events to take place on that day.

The Board will spare no effort or expense and the celebration will be one of the largest and most entertaining affairs in the history of Tweed.

The programme opens with a parade formed of the Village Council, Veterans, Cadets, school children, societies, decorated cars and the band.

The parade will march to the park, where the Veterans will dedicate a flag-pole to the boys lost in the Great War, when the park will be declared opened and named. The school children will be presented with souvenir medals commemorating the occasion.

The sports programme of the day will take place in the Fair Grounds, and will be of such a nature that all can participate, for there will be baseball, track events, obstacle races, wheelbarrow contests, etc.

In the evening a regatta will be held at the park, where swimming, diving, canoe races and other contests will take place. From there the crowd will be invited to the auditorium to see one of the finest pictures ever brought to Tweed, and a dance in the Opera House will finish the programme.

This is just a rough summary of events, definite details having yet to be decided upon by the following committees who are already busy with their arrangements:

Baseball—John Quinn (chairman), Ralph McGuire and Harry Rollins.

Parade—L. W. Martin, S. H. Connor, Paul Rashotte, S. G. Way, and Ed. Way.

Track Sports—F. Hindle, Felix Rashotte, Thomas Beatty, and William Ryan.

Evening Entertainment — W. S. Gordon (chairman), James Ryan, Dr. Dales, T. E. Moffat, J. F. Houston, and Felix Rashotte.

DR. F. C. NEAL,
A director of the Standard Medical and Surgical Clinic, says: "I am glad to add my word of welcome to the delegates of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion and trust that their meeting here will result in tangible benefits for those still suffering as a result of the Great War."

Dance—Felix Rashotte, James Ryan and F. Hindle.

Softball—Alex. Yule, S. B. Rollins, and T. E. Moffat.

Regatta—Dr. Dales, James Breen, Percy Bowlby, Garrett Morton and Dr. Paul.

Advertisement—D. H. Morrison, W. S. Gordon, F. B. Foster, H. W. Crosby and W. A. Stewart.

Band—John Sills, Ed. Wright and W. B. Huyck.

Booth and Special Attractions — Mrs. R. McGuire, Mrs. James Breen, Mrs. W. H. Richardson, Mrs. Alex. Yule, Mrs. J. Luffman, Mrs. H. Countryman and Mrs. Felix Rashotte.

Captivating Flavour "SALADA" TEA

ORANGE PEKOE BLEND

T48

Makes you look forward to tea time.

Keen's Savoury Salads for JUNE

During the summertime—more than any other season—salads made of fresh vegetables or fish should be served. They are refreshing—easy to digest—and good for the blood.

Could anything be more enticing than well-chilled vegetables—daintily garnished with lettuce and hard-boiled eggs—dressed with a mayonnaise made delectable by the use of Keen's Mustard? Clip these recipes for future reference.

TOMATO AND POTATO SALAD

Mix cold boiled sliced potatoes with mayonnaise dressing made with Keen's Mustard, to which a little onion juice has been added. Chill thoroughly. Arrange leaves of lettuce on platter, forming into generous sized individual nests, and placing in each a thick slice of tomato. Add a portion of potato salad to each nest, and garnish with halves of devilled eggs or slices of hard boiled eggs. Chill before serving.

TANGO DRESSING

1½ tablespoons flour; ¾ tablespoon Keen's Mustard; ½ cup milk (evaporated may be used); 5 tablespoons butter; ⅛ tablespoon celery seed; 2 tablespoons sugar; 1 egg; ½ cup heavy cream; ½ teaspoon salt (or to suit taste).

Mix flour, mustard, sugar, salt. Add milk. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add egg, mix and cook 1 minute. Add butter and celery seed. Cool, and then add cream beaten until stiff. Just before serving, thin with orange juice to desired consistency.

ASPIC JELLY WITH EGG SALAD

3 cups stewed tomato, fresh or canned; 1 onion; 3 stalks celery; 1 bay leaf; 1 clove; ¼ green pepper pod; 1 tablespoon sugar; 1 teaspoon Keen's Mustard; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ box gelatin; ½ cup cold water.

Cook tomato with the seasonings and strain over the gelatin which has been soaked in cold water. Place half a boiled egg cut-side down in each of half a dozen moulds. Cover with Jelly. Let cool and serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

CHICKEN SALAD

Cut the meat of a cold chicken in dices and put in a salad dish dressed with lettuce leaves; baste with the following mayonnaise:

1 teaspoonful Keen's Mustard, 1 hard boiled egg. A little vinegar, a pinch of salt and pepper, 1 cup cream.

Mix the mustard and vinegar together, add yolk of the egg finely mashed, then the salt and pepper. When the whole is perfectly blended, add the cream. If a more piquant mayonnaise is desired, a little more mustard should be added.

STORM ABATES IN PHILLIPINES

Rescuers Able To Bring Survivors of Wrecked Vessel To Safety.

108 LIVES LOST.

MANILA, P.I., June 2. — Canadian Press. — The storm which caused the sinking of the inter-island Str. 'Negros,' off Romblon Island on Sunday, with a probable loss of 108 lives, abated to-day, giving rescue workers an opportunity to aid the few survivors of the wreck who are encamped on Bondroc peninsula.

Severino de Guzman, chief officer of the 'Negros,' who commanded the lifeboats in the rescue, said the boat went down in three minutes. Confusion as a result of the sudden approach of the disaster, caused a panic and the passengers stampeded for the lifeboats.

JAPANESE LABOR OPPOSES ACTION

Wants Immediate Recognition of Chinese Nationalist Government.

TOKIO, June 2 (Canadian Press). —Representatives of the labor unions and the proletarian parties held a mass meeting here to-day and decided to oppose vigorously the sending of Japanese troops to China. It was also decided to urge immediate recognition by Japan of the Chinese Nationalist Government.

The Legion Straightens a Salient

Yesterday, the first day of its first convention, the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion consolidated its sector. They straightened out their line did these delegates from the many branches up and down Ontario, and when night fell they had gained and occupied a position for the returned soldiers of this province which should form a new base for their advancement.

Briefly, they unanimously adopted the Executive Committee's financial statement and ordered it to be published, not only with its explicit information along its typewritten lines but also with certain implications in some of its interlinear spaces. And the new budget, if such it may be called, was accepted as a new covenant for the returned men primarily, but also for those prominent and powerful civilians of Toronto who comprise the Advisory Board for the Toronto and district branches.

When the Legion in Ontario straightened its line it thrust back a salient which it had inherited with the amalgamation of the separate organizations into which Canada's demobilized army had divided itself. This unpleasant legacy was in reality a custom of granting commissions on the collection of monies subscribed to one or other body or interest, such as publications, of the returned men. It was especially prevalent around Toronto, but other parts of the province were not immune from it. And the commission system of funding some veterans' affairs had developed abuses which presented an extremely serious problem.

Wednesday's discussion disclosed the fact that with the foundation of the Legion in Ontario, the Executive took the first steps to put its house in order, and the financial statement was at once an acknowledgment and a pledge, a casting backward and forward. And the convention placed its emphasis upon the long looking ahead with its convincing assurance that the old objectionable practices had been discountenanced and discontinued.

It was not, apparently, that members of the Executive were personally involved in the methods that gave offence, but that persons authorized to make collections, had received excessive commissions. However, that day is over. November last saw the end of that day. Yesterday put a double period to it, and that is the main reason why the first convention of the Legion with its Peterborough background will be remembered when the Ontario Command is flourishing with that vigor and usefulness which returned soldiers and their friends should sincerely desire.

The debate on the financial report was replete with dramatic incidents. There was the calm exposition of Brigadier-General Gunn and the mild manner of Col. Le Grand Reed (comrades, of course, on the floor of the convention) as they dwelt especially upon the reinforcement by the Toronto Advisory Board, and the indignation of Col. Keltie MacKay, K.C., who with a lawyer's practiced eloquence sketched all that had been accomplished for returned soldiers, through the agency of veterans' organizations, as immeasurably outweighing the practices mentioned, conditions which the executive had previously set about correcting; there were also the racy phrases of Col. Eddie O'Flynn of Belleville, upholding the officers of the Legion and urging the advantages and necessity of unity and harmony among the returned men; and finally, the glowing defence of the Executive by Major Hugh Bell of St. Catharines, a gem of impassioned but restrained impromptu address in which he apologized on behalf of the convention for any remarks by any other person that might have reflected upon the gentlemen of the Executive. Many others took part in the debate, but perhaps the outstanding figure was Major Bell.

"La nuit porte conseil" is a French maxim meaning night brings wisdom. Evidently the dinner hour has the same counselling effect. Comrade Bruels, of Toronto, who precipitated most of the afternoon's controversy, stated at the opening of the evening session that he wished to apologize for any reflection that might be levelled at the executive from his charges, and using the press without authority.

Major Bell remarked that the apology might not have its full effect, because Mr. Bruel's letter had been given to the Canadian Press.

Col. Reed said that the matters Comrade Bruels had complained of had been just as nauseous to members of the executive.

Col. O'Flynn—A man who apologizes like that is the type we want. If we are not willing to forgive him the sooner we disband this organization the better.

Gen. Gunn—I feel that the executive will accept what Comrade Bruels has said. But it should be a warning to all of us to wait and find out before running to the press. It will not get you anywhere. It will only get the Legion in disrepute.

Col. Reid—It is ammunition for all the Bolshevists and Communists, who do not want the Legion to exist.

Then it was J. H. Davidson's turn. This Toronto comrade was the only delegate who remained seating when at the close of the afternoon's spirited session the chairman called for a standing vote on the adoption of the Finance report. His was conspicuous dissent, but the dinner hour had worked his conversion.

After the Bruels episode, Comrade Davidson interrupted the night proceedings by asking permission to explain that as a result of further information he wished if possible, to move that the adoption of the Finance reoprt be made unanimous, and it was, with prolonged applause.

The convention will continue until Friday afternoon, but its major work was done on Wednesday afternoon. To a spectator it seemed that the Ontario command had passed through a crisis which had been anticipated by the executive's sincerity of purpose and energetic action, and had also been lessened by the delegates' confidence in the honour and honesty and probity of those leaders who have placed the Legion on a higher plane by securing the cautious and discerning co-operation of that Advisory Board composed of leading business men of Toronto.

True, Toronto command desires autonomy as a result of this departure, but it was pointed out that this or a similar Board may serve the entire Ontario Legion.

FLIER GUEST OF PRESIDENT

Mrs. Lindbergh Will Also Stay at the White House.

NATIONAL WELCOME.

WASHINGTON, June 2 (Canadian Press).—During the stay of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in Washington, he will be the guest of President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House with his mother, who has decided to take part in the national welcome to the New York to Paris flier when he arrives on the U.S.S. Memphis, on June 11.

Although accustomed to great events, Washington has been fired into unusual enthusiasm over Lindbergh's homecoming, realizing, perhaps, that its welcome, unlike that of any other city, will typify the gratitude of the whole country.

Flight Postponed.

KENLEY, Eng., June 2 (Canadian Press).—Captain Lindbergh postponed his flight to Paris this afternoon because of adverse weather conditions.

OSTERLAND TO TWIRL SATURDAY

Petes Clash With the Deloro Intermediate Champs.

When Manager Bob Elliott of Deloro leads his Ontario intermediate champions into action against the Petes at Riverside Park Saturday, local fans will see a real ball club. The Deloro team is even stronger than last year, and the Petes will have to step all the way if they hope to earn a victory over the easterners. Deloro has not yet announced the name of the starting gunner, but Manager Swanston of the Petes has decided to send Osterland, his big pitcher from the west, in against the intermediate champs, while he will don the pad and mask and do the receiving himself. This is the latest start for senior baseball here on record, but the Petes have been practising faithfully and hope to give a good account of themselves. The game will start at 3 o'clock sharp with Umpires Alex. Kay and Edgar Lebarr in charge.

WOMEN IN AIR SERVICE.

ROME, May 31. — The areonautical service of Italy soon will start enlisting women. Their duties will be mainly observation and signal communication along the frontiers, to guard against the incursion of enemy aircraft.

Forced to Clear

Press.) — Sales approached the half million mark on the standard mining exchange to-day, with the market a little stronger and grains general. Kirkland Lake was up three at 128, Area up 1 at 40, Argonaut down 1 at 44 and Barry Hollinger down 1-2 at 34 1-2. Vipond Consolidated gained 2 at 94 1-2. On the unlisted market, Amulet declined 6 at 178. Noranda was down 20 at 2225 and Ind. Nickel lost 2.50 at 69.00.

Corn Takes Lead Of Grain Exchange

CHICAGO, June 2. — (Canadian Press). — Corn outstripped wheat early to-day as the active grain market leader. Big new jumps advancing to 2 3-8 cents a bushel for corn were witnessed in some cases, owing to fresh rainfalls and consequent further delay to planting. Initial quotations for corn were ¾ ct. to 1 3-8 cts. higher and the market continued strong with oats and provisions also firmer. Wheat started unchanged to ¾ cent off, rallied a little and then sagged all around, crop estimates having been discounted.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 140 3-8, September 147½. Corn, July 105½, September 109¾. Oats, July 54½, September 58¼.

New Bakeries Issue Features Toronto Trading

TORONTO, June 2 (Canadian Press). — The new issue of Northern Bakeries and International Nickel shared the leadership of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, with Nickel having a slight edge in number of sales. Bakeries made its initial appearance to-day and was well received, touching 36½ in the early trading but later declining to 33. Nickel was weaker, dropping 1¾ to 69¾. Rinard's Waves established another new high at 50¼, closing at 50, up ¼ over yesterday's close.

Bell Telephone gained ¼ at 146¾, Canada Milling was up ¼ at 23¾ and Massey Harris Common lost 1¼ at 40. Seagrams declined ¼ at 25¾, and Winnipeg Railway gained three at 95, a new high. Coasters gained 2 at 97. Gooderham and Worts lost 1¾ at 93 and British American Oil gained ¼ at 35¾.

SOO VERY DRY UNDER NEW LAW

Scrips No Good, Store Not Opened, Bootleggers Have Quit.

NO LIQUOR IN STOCK.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 2. — Yesterday the Sault was the dryest it has been in its history.

The Ontario Temperance Act died at 12 o'clock and those who had title or no difficulty in obtaining a wee drop through the loopholes in the act are wondering where the supply will come from in the interval between the passing out of the O.T.A. and the passing out of the O.T.A. liquor store in the city.

There is no liquor in the drug stores and it could not be purchased if there was. Doctor's prescriptions are no good. These prescriptions, which prompted a certain class of the community to become quite ill on short notice, are no longer available. Doctors themselves are puzzled. If they want liquor for use in their practice they must purchase it from a bootlegger. And the bootlegger is lying low. The bootleggers have shown a disposition to unloading during the past week, and there is not much liquor available in the city through this source.

There are a few bottles of liquor in the city hospitals, but these cannot be obtained by the doctors for use outside those institutions. The hospitals are not permitted to allow their stock to be used outside.

The probability is that the Sault will be on the Indian list for three days anyway. It will take that long for any of the local permits to be issued in Toronto and the liquor returned to the Sault.

welcomed the Council to Toronto, the greatest city in Canada, and a real British city. Hon. J. W. Edwards, M.P., in replying, dealt with the influence Toronto has had in the upbuilding of Canada along Imperial lines.

Deliberations of the day revealed the membership as being over 15,000. The Grand Recorder Treasurer, W. F. Montague, was congratulated on his report, which showed the life insurance fund as being 105 per cent. solvent and 1,204 approved applications in 1926. In the debates of Wednesday afternoon, great interest centred in the proposed whole family protection plan.

Election of officers at night resulted as follows:

Grand Councillor—J. L. Archer, Toronto.

Grand Vice-Councillor—E. J. Gott, Amherstburg.

Past Grand Councillor—W. Benson, Toronto.

Grand Secretary-Treasurer—W. F. Montague, Hamilton.

Grand Medical Examiner—Dr. J. H. Bell, Hamilton.

Representatives on Executive Committee—1st, Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., Kingston; 2nd, Mr. J. L. Davison, Toronto.

Other elections follow to-day.

S.S. CONVENTION IN LAKEFIELD CHURCH

Helpful Addresses Given at Annual Gathering—Officers Elected.

LAKEFIELD, June 2.—The annual meeting of the Sunday School Association of South Smith and Lakefield was held on Thursday afternoon and evening in the Lakefield Baptist church, with a fair attendance present. Rev. William Spencer of the Lakefield Baptist Church was in charge of the opening devotional exercises which consisted of a hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Mrs. Spencer presiding at the organ; the reading of the 90th Psalm and a prayer, and the singing of a hymn, "Hiding in Thee."

Following the opening exercises, Percy Udy took the chair and gave a brief address. Mr. Udy is the president of the Association, but owing to illness last autumn and winter he was unable to attend to the executive work as he could have wished to do. He thanked the executive for their co-operation.

Mrs. Max Archer read the minutes of the last annual meeting held in Fairview United Church and also the financial statement, both of which were adopted.

The roll call of department superintendents followed.

Mrs. Joseph Mann reported for the children's or primary department, which was satisfactory, eight Sunday school out of nine reported.

Mrs. J. V. McNeeley reported for the Girl's department. Mrs. McNeeley visited the schools and found a flourishing C.G.I.T. group of about forty members in the Regent street United church with Mrs. S. A. Kemp in charge. In Bridgenorth United Church there is a C.G.I.T. group of nine members, eight of whom joined the church at Easter, the ninth being already a member. In the other churches the girls' work was taken up mainly by other associated organizations.

Mr. Burrows, superintendent of the Boys' Work, Mr. H. Lewis, of the Young People's Department and Mr. Fred Bell, of the Adult Department, were absent, and no reports were given.

Mrs. Sidney Hunter reported for the Home Department. This department is intended to bring all within the Sunday school department and is intended for those who, by reason of age, infirmity or distance or other causes, cannot attend the school.

All the Sunday schools reported a Home Department, but Bridgenorth United, and they have enlisted all the members of their department as regular members of the school. They had a Home Department for years until this year. Gilmour Memorial church has a flourishing department, also Lily Lake, the latter being self supporting. The Regent street church of Lakefield has a department with ten members, of which Mrs. S. Spence is the superintendent; the Lakefield Baptist church has a self supporting department with nine members.

The superintendents of the Teacher Training and Missionary Departments, Mrs. James Young and Miss Pauline Udy respectively, were absent and no reports were given.

Mrs. Will Poulter reported for the Temperance Department. Lily Lake, Regent street United, Lakefield Baptist, Gilmour Baptist, and Bridgenorth United churches all reported temperance instruction in the classes, quarterly temperance Sunday. In several of these schools pledge cards were used.

Address Given.

Rev. J. V. McNeeley, of Bridgenorth United church, gave an address from the text, "It came that ye might have life and have it more abundantly."

Another helpful means is the Birthday bank, placed in a conspicuous place, and into which on the Sunday nearest his or her birthday the child drops a cent for each year.

Children, too, are hungry for stories and absorb them greedily. Are workers going to let the syndicates commercialize on these stories? Tell them stories and they will remember them, and live with them.

In the older boys' and girls' department continue the Birthday bank connection, and also the stories. All the teacher has to do is to put the heroic in a story, for the young people revel in action and where is found greater intensity of action than in missionary stories?

For the young people continue the Birthday bank, and have mission study classes. Delve into the romance and history of the missionary stories.

For the adult, still keep the Birthday bank, it grips, especially when it begins at the send table. The church school of missions is one of the finest things, and will bring good results if carried on in the churches during the winter months. If that is attempted and carried through, one of the finest reports received will be from the missionary department. Mr. Seymour recommended also the use of missionary plays and pageants.

Mr. Seymour was pleased at the healthy condition of the Home Departments in the schools. These should be self-supporting and those who receive help from it should be sufficiently interested to make it so by contributions.

The "Teen Age girls' work seems to be well organized, for while some schools have no C.G.I.T. group, they carry on the work by associated organizations. The Boys' work is more difficult and centres in getting consecrated young men to give their time to it.

Gilmour Memorial School is the only one in the association to carry on Teacher Training, and this is the best way of getting teachers. In Hastings and Prince Edward counties they have a standard teacher training school for one week, meeting every night for five nights. If this association would try to have this it would be a great help.

The Temperance Department gives a good report, as instruction is given in practically all the schools and the pledge cards are used in many. Mr. Seymour said he was asked recently a question which was to him somewhat of a puzzle—"Who was responsible for the defeat of the O.T.A.?" And in his mind was this thought—"We have failed because we have allowed the Loyal Legion, the Band of Hope and kindred juvenile temperance societies to lapse, and the young people have not learned, as they should, to hate the stuff, and pledge themselves to refuse to buy, taste, or touch it in any way."

Then come the decisions for Christ. "Are we going to bring up boys and girls to a certain point, teaching Bible truths and then stop, or can we bring them to the place where they are to be asked to make the decision for Christ. The time must come for linking up the reluctant ones and the teacher can usefully lead the pupil up to the point of a definite declaration. It is a question of exercising the will. A boy or girl never forgets the first communion, and should not forget the day of decision." The Regent street Sunday school reports that it has a special day set apart for registering these decisions.

The meeting of the Boards of Management too often is a yearly event, but in Regent street church it is held monthly.

The C.G.I.T. centres on Mothers' Day, and the offerings for the day are sent to the Council. It has been decided that an appreciation of five cents a member from the Sunday schools would be a good way to meet this call because if Mothers' Day was a wet Sunday the amount of offering would fall below the standard. It is a critical time, and it would be unfortunate if this interdenominational movement should fail. The standing of the schools according to the data supplied the secretary is as follows—100 being the possible score, Gilmour Memorial standing at 91, Lily Lake United 80, Lakefield Baptist 79, Bridgenorth United 77, Fairview 58.

The nominating committee was appointed and was to consist of all the district superintendents of departments and other schools who were present.

Treasurer's report was then received for adoption, and that as a matter of interest the amount of money raised by the Sunday schools for the Association be made known. The amount raised was $[illegible], and the expenditure $[illegible], leaving a balance on hand of $[illegible].

Rev. W. M. Wesley gave a splendid address on the "Church and the Sunday school which is training the men and women of the church of to-morrow. This was not a matter to be taken lightly, but to be regarded as of premier importance.

Mrs. D. H. McMillen contributed a solo and Mesdames Hull and Yale a duet. Both numbers were greatly appreciated. Rev. Mr. Seymour gave an address on the Religious Education of the child, which he feels is not stressed as it should be, as, in spite of the splendid programme of the O.R.E.C., a generation of non-church goers is being raised up. Churches do not cater enough to the children's needs and a step in the right direction would be a quarterly children's service.

Rev. T. M. Wesley conducted the closing exercises.

REPORTS GIVEN AT ASSEMBLY

Formal Welcome is Given Commissioners By Mayor of Stratford.

MODERATOR ELECTED.

STRATFORD, Ont., June 2 (Canadian Press).—The Commissioners to the 33rd Presbyterian General Assembly were welcomed to Stratford this morning by civic officials headed by Mayor D. R. Marshall, while Rev. Canon T. T. Cluff and Rev. H. W. Snell, on behalf of the Church of England, extended felicitations.

Following routine business, Rev. Dr. Ephriam Scott, veteran editor of The Presbyterian Record, made his last report after 35 years as head of the publication. Dr. Scott struck an optimistic note in referring to the prospects of the future and in announcing his retirement stated that Rev. Dr. W. M. Rochester had been appointed his successor.

Submitting the report of the Historic Committee, Rev. A. L. Budge, Clerk of the Synod of Hamilton and London, stated that many records of interest had been gathered, the largest stores having been accumulated in Knox College, Toronto, and Queen's, Kingston.

Rev. Mr. Budge pointed out that of the seventeen members appointed to the committee ten years ago, only Rev. Frank Baird, Picton, N.S., remained. Death and the separation had removed the others.

Canon Cluff, in conveying the greetings of the Anglican Communion, spoke of the harmonious relations which existed between the two churches and of the high regard in which those of the historic Scottish Church were held by members of the Church of England.

Replying, the Moderator, Dr. W. L. Clay, referred to the respect and love of Presbyterians for the sister church. He declared that this feeling had been intensified in recent years by acts of love and brotherliness which Presbyterians had been very glad to accept, following the disrupting of the church as a result of the Union issue.

Dr. Clay, Moderator.

Rev. W. Leslie Clay, D.D., of Victoria, B.C., was elected Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada for the ensuing year at the opening of the Assembly. The only other nominee for the highest position in the gift of the Church was Rev. S. Banks Nelson, D.D., of Hamilton. Dr. Clay received 149 votes and Dr. Nelson 69.

On motion of Dr. Nelson the election of Dr. Clay was made unanimous.

Honor to Province.

After thanking the house accordingly, Dr. Clay moved a resolution of an honor to the Province and synod of British Columbia, "from one of whose pioneer families I come, and whose pioneer work, will, I am sure, be a great encouragement to the Church in the Province of Ontario."

Cook Vegetables by Steam

Great doctors the world over agree on one thing anyway, and that is "If you want to be healthy, cook all vegetables by steam!" It's real advice.

Steaming cooks the food and leaves all the health-giving contents undisturbed. For health's sake there should be an SMP Vegetable Cooker in every pantry. Made of enduring, china-pure SMP Enameled Ware, by

NOTHING TO STOP RUSSIAN TRADERS

Will Have Same Facilities as Other Nationals, Says Hicks.

LONDON, June 2. — (Canadian Press.)—Sir William Joynson Hicks, home secretary in the House of Commons, to-day stated that the British government had no desire to place any difficulties in the way of trade between Russia and Britain.

Russians who desired to come to Britain for the purpose of bonafide trading, he said, would be accorded the same facilities as nationals of any foreign power. The same machinery regarding visas and all other matter will apply as heretofore, John R. Clynes, Laborite, who brought up the question, said that the terms of the answer would be reassuring to the trading community.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

It was with a knowledge of these facts that the International Congress of Tuberculosis held in Washington in 1908, unanimously passed a resolution that all milk not coming from herds shown to be free from tuberculosis, should be scientifically pasteurized. The National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the Canadian Medical Association, subsequently passed similar resolutions.

It was a knowledge of the dangers of transmission of tuberculosis, together with the dangers of the transmission of other communicable diseases and of the dangers of diarrhoeal diseases through raw market milk, that prompted the Committee on Milk Standards, and subsequently, the American Public Health Association and the American Medical Association, as well as the Association of State and Provincial Health Officers, to pass resolutions that all milk not coming from herds free of tuberculosis, as demonstrated by the tuberculin test, and not obtained under conditions corresponding to those required for the production of certified milk, should be scientifically pasteurized before being used for human consumption.

Professor Dean, of the Ontario Agricultural College, says that he regards pasteurization of milk as the greatest possible aid to life saving.

At the International Pure Milk Congress held in Brussels, in 1907, the use of raw milk for infant feeding was officially condemned and pasteurization advocated.

Dr. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health for the Dominion of Canada, eighteen years ago advocated this method of controlling our milk supply, and still claims that it is the only safe method.

It was with a knowledge of the foregoing facts that the late Dr. Torrance, Veterinary Director-General for the Dominion of Canada, unhesitatingly said that all milk not coming from herds shown to be free of tuberculosis by the tuberculin test should be scientifically pasteurized, and that in his judgment it was the only means by which we could efficiently safeguard our milk supplies.

Mining Market Strong With Gains General

TORONTO, June 2. — (Canadian Press.) — Sales approached the half million mark on the standard mining exchange to-day, with the market a little stronger and gains general. Kirkland Lake was up three at 128, Area up 1 at 40, Argonaut down 1 at 44 and Barry Hollinger down 1-2 at 34 1-2. Vipond Consolidated gained 2 at 94 1-2. On the unlisted market, Amulet declined 6 at 178. Norandа was down 20 at 22.25 and Ind. Nickel lost 2.50 at 69.00.

Corn Takes Lead Of Grain Exchange

CHICAGO, June 2. — (Canadian Press.) — Corn outstripped wheat early to-day as the active grain market leader. Big new jumps amounting to 3 3-8 cents a bushel for corn were witnessed in some cases, owing to fresh rainfalls and consequent further delay to planting. Initial quotations for corn were ⅝ ct. to 3 3-8 cts. higher and the market continued strong, with oats and provisions also firmer. Wheat started unchanged to ⅝ cent off, rallied a little and then sagged all around, crop estimates having been discounted.

Opening prices were: Wheat, July 149 3-8, September 147½. Corn, July 105½, September 109⅝. Oats, July 54⅛, September 53⅛.

New Bakeries Issue Features Toronto Trading

TORONTO, June 2 (Canadian Press).—The new issue of Northern Bakeries and International Nickel shared the leadership of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, with Nickel having a slight edge in number of sales. Bakeries made its initial appearance to-day and was well received, touching 36½ in the early trading but later declining to 33. Nickel was weaker, dropping 1⅝ to 69¼. Hiram Walkers established another new high at 56½, closing at 56, up ½ over yesterday's close.

Bell Telephone gained ¼ at 146½. Cosmos Milling was up ½ at 23½, and Massey Harris Common lost 1½ at 40. Seagrams declined ½ at 25⅝, and Winnipeg Railway gained three at 75, a new high. Cosgraves gained 3½ at 12, Gooderham and Worts lost 1 at 59, and British American Oil declined ¼ at 25¾.

CHOSEN FRIENDS ELECT OFFICERS

Reports Show Finances of Order To Be in Good Shape.

TORONTO, June 2 (Special). — That the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends has entered a new era of prosperity was the keynote of the various reports presented at the biennal Grand Council, incidentally the fortieth anniversary of the Order, held at the Prince George Hotel, Toronto, on June 1st and 2nd. Representatives of the Order from Vancouver to Montreal, numbering well over two hundred, registered by noon on Wednesday. Grand Councillor William Benson halted in his highly encouraging report to permit Alderman William Stewart of the city to welcome the delegates on behalf of Mayor Foster.

In a delightful speech, he remarked how fitting it was that the fortieth anniversary of the Order should be celebrated in much of the spirit that Confederation would be. Ties of good will were apparent in each case. He welcomed the Council to Toronto, the greatest city in Canada, and a real British city. Hon. J. W. Edwards, M.P., in replying, dealt with the influence Toronto has had in the upbuilding of Canada along Imperial lines.

Deliberations of the day revealed the membership as being over 15,000. The Grand Recorder Treasurer, W. F. Grand Vice-Councillor—E. J. Gott, Amherstburg.

Past Grand Councillor—W. Benson, Toronto.

Grand Secretary-Treasurer—W. F. Montague, Hamilton.

Grand Medical Examiner—Dr. J. H. Bell, Hamilton.

Representatives on Executive Committee—1st, Dr. J. W. Edwards, M.P., Kingston; 2nd, Mr. J. L. Davison, Toronto.

Other elections follow to-day.

SOO VERY DRY UNDER NEW LAW

Scrips No Good, Store Not Opened, Bootleggers Have Quit.

NO LIQUOR IN STOCK.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 2. —Yesterday the Sault was the dryest it has been in its history.

The Ontario Temperance Act died at 12 o'clock, and those who had little or no difficulty in obtaining a wee drop through the loopholes in the act are wondering where the supply will come from in the interval between the passin gout of the O.T.A. tween the passing out of the O.T.A. liquor store in the city.

There is no liquor in the drug stores, and it could not be purchased if there was. Doctor's prescriptions are no good. These prescriptions, which prompted a certain class of the community to become quite ill on short notice, are no longer available. Doctors themselves are puzzled. If they want liquor for use in their practice they must purchase it from a bootlegger. And the bootlegger is lying close. The bootleggers have shown a disposition to unloading during the past week, and there is not much liquor available in the city through this source.

There are a few bottles of liquor at the city hosptials, but these cannot be obtained by the doctors for use outside these institutions. The hospitals are not permitted to allow their stock to be used outside.

The probability is that the Sault will be on the Indian list for three days, anyway. It will take that long for any of the local permits to be honored in Toronto and the liquor returned to the Sault.

DARGUE LEAVES OTTAWA.

Pan American "Goodwill" Flier Now On Way To Syracuse.

OTTAWA, June 2 (Canadian Press) —Major Herbert A. Dargue wrote "Finis" on the Canadian "Invasion" of his Pan-American Goodwill flight this morning, when he again took the air, with Syracuse and Schenectady, N.Y., as his next goal. The airman planned to cross the border at either Prescott or Cornwall.

S.S. CONVENTION IN LAKEFIELD CHURCH

Helpful Addresses Given at Annual Gathering—Officers Elected.

LAKEFIELD, June 2.—The annual meeting of the Sunday School Association of South Smith and Lakefield was held on Thursday afternoon and evening in the Lakefield Baptist church, with a fair attendance present. Rev. William Spencer of the Lakefield Baptist Church was in charge of the opening devotional exercises which consisted of a hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," Mrs. Spencer presiding at the organ; the reading of the 90th Psalm and a prayer, and the singing of a hymn, "Hiding in Thee."

Following the opening exercises, Percy Udy took the chair and gave a brief address. Mr. Udy is the president of the Association, but owing to illness last autumn and winter he was unable to attend to the executive work as he could have wished to do. He thanked the executive for their co-operation.

Mrs. Max Archer read the minutes of the last annual meeting held in Fairview United Church and also the financial statement, both of which were adopted.

The roll call of department superintendents followed.

Mrs. Joseph Mann reported for the children's or primary department, which was satisfactory, eight Sunday schools out of nine reported.

Mrs. J. V. McNeeley reported for the Girl's department. Mrs. McNeeley visited the schools and found a flourishing C.G.I.T. group of about forty members in the Regent street United church with Mrs. S. A. Kemp in charge. In Bridgenorth United Church there is a C.G.I.T. group of nine members, eight of whom joined the church at Easter, the ninth being already a member. In the other churches the girls' work was taken up mainly by other associated organizations.

Mr. Burrows, superintendent of the Boys' Work, Mr. H. Lewis, of the Young People's Department and Mr. Fred Bell, of the Adult Department, were absent, and no reports were given.

Mrs. Sidney Hunter reported for the Home Department. This department is intended to bring all within the Sunday school department and is intended for those who, by reason of age, infirmity or distance or other causes, cannot attend the school.

All the Sunday schools reported a Home Department, but Bridgenorth United, and they have enlisted all the members of their department as regular members of the school. They had a Home Department for years until this year. Gilmour Memorial church has a flourishing department, also Lily Lake, the latter being self supporting. The Regent street church of Lakefield has a department with ten members, of which Mrs. S. Spence is the superintendent; the Lakefield Baptist church has a self-supporting department with nine members.

The superintendents of the Teacher Training and Missionary Departments, Mrs. James Young and Miss Pauline Udy respectively, were absent and no reports were given.

Mr. Will Paul reported for the Temperance Department. Lily Lake, Regent street United, Lakefield Baptist, Gilmour Baptist, and Bridgenorth United churches all reported temperance instruction in the classes, quarterly instruction from the superintendent's desk and observance of the quarterly Temperance Sunday. In several of these schools pledge cards were used.

Address Given.

Rev. J. V. McNeeley, of Bridgenorth United church, gave an address from the text—"I came that ye might have light and have it more abundantly."

"Religion is light rather than creed, and if we put Christ in the centre light we find ourselves linked in a circle with the teachers radiating the sight to the pupils who are in the circumference. Knowledge is one of the main essentials and the ignorant are to be pitied; we must open the windows of life and let the sunshine in. So Christianity must come through some avenue the children learn through the teacher, who is the intermediary.

"There must be care used in the teaching of children and too often we make ourselves doors rather than windows and we must avoid giving children something too mature for their understanding. We should express ourselves in terms of conduct; right living, right thinking and right feeling are the only means to the end."

Gratitude for the tecaher comes where decisions are made for Christian living. Mr. McNeeley closed by wishing all the workers a happy year in seeking out young lives for Christian service.

Rev. Mr. Seymour, of Shannonville, provincial representative, was the next speaker. The purpose of the gathering was to come together as leaders and discuss the common problems. "We must, above all, have the daily consciousness of the influence our lives send forth," he said. Mr. Seymour is an enthusiastic advocate of graded missionary instruction in the Sunday school. "We grade our Bible lessons, and why not our missionary study," he asked. "Our problems in the Sunday schools are largely yourselves and not of the boys and girls, for all too often we fail to understand the child's mind. We must have our missionary instruction so graded tha the children wi l not only grasp it, but carry it to the

The missionary department could be graded into Children's, Older Boys' and Girls' and Young People's and Adult's Departments.

In teaching the primary grades, a lady in Prince Edward County achieved splendid results by using a sand table with black, white and yellow dolls representing those children in other lands who are also God's little ones. In this way the children are impressed and missions become a living thing; the results are due to the fact that the teaching is on the children's level, the way God means it to be done.

Another helpful means is the Birthday bank, placed in a conspicuous place, and into which on the Sunday nearest his or her birthday the child drops a cent for each year.

Children, too, are hungry for stories and absorb them greedily. Are workers going to let the syndicates commercialize on these stories? Tell them stories and they will remember them, and live with them.

In the older boys' and girls' department continue the Birthday bank connection, and also the stories. All the teacher has to do is to put the heroic in a story, for the young people revel in action and where is found greater intensity of action than in missionary stories?

For the young people continue the Birthday bank, and have mission study classes. Delve into the romance and history of the missionary stories.

For the adult, still keep the Birthday bank, it grips, especially when it begins at the send table. The church school of missions is one of the finest things, and will bring good results if carried on in the churches during the winter months. If that is attempted and carried through, one of the finest reports received will be from the missionary department. Mr. Seymour recommended also the use of missionary plays and pageants.

Mr. Seymour was pleased at the healthy condition of the Home Departments in the schools. These should be self-supporting and those who receive help from it should be sufficiently interested to make it so by contributions.

The "Teen Age girls' work seems to be well organized, for while some schools have no C.G.I.T. group, they carry on the work by associated organizations. The Boys' work is more difficult and centres in getting consecrated young men to give their time to it.

Gilmour Memorial School is the only one in the association to carry on Teacher Training, and this is the best way of getting teachers. In Hastings and Prince Edward counties they have a standard teacher training school for one week, meeting every night for five nights. If this association would try to have this it would be a great help.

The Temperance Department gives a good report, as instruction is given in practically all the schools and the pledge cards are used in many. Mr. Seymour said he was asked recently a question which was to him somewhat of a poser—"Who was responsible for the defeat of the O.T.A.?" And in his mind was this thought—"We have failed because we have allowed the Loyal Legion, the Band of Hope and kindred juvenile temperance societies to lapse, and the young people have not learned, as they should, to hate the stuff, and pledge themselves to refuse to buy, taste, or touch it in any way."

Then come the decisions for Christ. "Are we going to bring up boys and girls to a certain point, teaching Bible truths and then stop, or can we bring them to the place where they are to be asked to make the decision for Christ. The time must come for linking up the reluctant ones and the teacher can tactfully lead the pupil up to the point of a definite declaration. It is a question of exercising the will. A boy or girl never forgets the first communion, and should not forget the day of decision." The Regent street Sunday school reports that it has a special day set apart for registering these decisions.

The meeting of the Boards of Management too often is a yearly event, but in Regent street church it is held monthly.

The O.R.E.C. centres on Mothers' Day, and the offerings for the day are sent to the Council. It has been decided that an apportionment of five cents a member from the Sunday schools would be a good way to meet this call, because if Mothers' Day was a wet Sunday the amount of offering would fall below the standard. It is a critical time, and it would be unfortunate if this interdenominational movement should fail. The standing of the schools according to the data supplied the secretary is as follows—100 being the possible mark. Gilmour Memorial Baptist 95, Lily Lake United 80, Lakefield Baptist 70, Bridgenorth United 65, Fairview 20.

The nominating committee was announced and was to consist of all the pastors, superintendents of departments and Sunday schools who were present.

T. S. Sargent, secretary-treasurer for the County Association urged that the allocation of last year be made up, and asked all schools which have not already remitted to do so.

Rev. W. S. Edgar conducted the closing exercises.

The ladies of the Lakefield Baptist church provided a bountiful high tea for the delegates who were most appreciative of the hospitality.

The evening session was opened by Rev. S. A. Kemp who conducted the devotional exercises.

Officers Elected.

The nominating committee presented the following report, recommending these officers. President, Mr. Wilbert Roseborough; vice-President, A. B. Burrows; Sec.-Treasurer, Mrs. Max Archer, R.R. No. 2, Peterborough. Department Superintendents, Children, Mrs. Joseph Mann; Guild, Mrs. S. A. Kemp; Boys, Mr. Gilbert McIlmoyl; Young People, Mr. Sherman Sweeting; Adults, Mr. Fred Bell; Home, Mrs. Sidney Hunter; Teacher Training, Rev. T. M. Wesley; Missionary, Miss Medda Swinton; Temperance, Mr. Andrew Fairbairn.

The committee presented the following resolution—"Resolved that, as a convention, we heartily endorse the suggestion of holding a standard teacher training school for South Smith and Lakefield during the coming fall. We heartily assure the Executive of our willingness to give enthusiastic co-operation in the plan."

Following the installation of the officers, Rev. T. M. Wesley gave a very thoughtful address on the "Church of the Future," stressing the importance of the Sunday school which is training the men and women of the church of to-morrow. This was not a matter to be taken lightly, but to be regarded as of premier importance.

Mrs. D. H. McMillen contributed a solo and Mesdames Hull and Yale a duet. Both numbers were greatly appreciated. Rev. Mr. Seymour gave an address on the Religious Education of the child, which he feels is not stressed as it should be, as, in spite of the splendid programme of the O.R.E.C., a generation of non-church goers is being raised up. Churches do not cater enough to the children's needs and a step in the right direction would be a quarterly children's service.

Rev. T. M. Wesley conducted the closing exercises.

REPORTS GIVEN AT ASSEMBLY

Formal Welcome is Given Commissioners By Mayor of Stratford.

MODERATOR ELECTED.

STRATFORD, Ont., June 2 (Canadian Press).The Commissioners to the 53rd Presbyterian General Assembly were welcomed to Stratford this morning by civic officials headed by Mayor D. R. Marshall, while Rev. Canon T. T. Cluff and Rev. H. W. Snell, on behalf of the Church of England, extended felicitations.

Following routine business, Rev. Dr. Ephriam Scott, veteran editor of The Presbyterian Record, made his last report after 35 years as head of the publication. Dr. Scott struck an optimistic note in referring to the prospects of the future and in announcing his retirement stated that Rev. Dr. W. M. Rochester had been appointed his successor.

Submitting the report of the Historic Committee, Rev. A. L. Budge, Clerk of the Synod of Hamilton and London, stated that many records of interest had been gathered, the largest stores having been accumulated in Knox College, Toronto, and Queen's, Kingston.

Rev. Mr. Budge pointed out that of the seventeen members appointed to the committee ten years ago, only Rev. Frank Baird, Pictou, N.S., remained. Death and the separation had removed the others.

Canon Cluff, in conveying the greetings of the Anglican Communion, spoke of the harmonious relations which existed between the two churches and of the high regard in which those of the historic, Scottish Church were held by members of the Church of England.

Replying, the Moderator, Dr. W. L. Clay, referred to the respect and love of Presbyterians for the sister church. He declared that this feeling had been intensified in recent years by acts of love and brotherliness which Presbyterians had been very glad to accept following the disrupting of the church as a result of the Union issue.

Dr. Clay, Moderator

Rev. W. Leslie Clay, D.D., of Victoria, B.C., was elected Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada for the ensuing year at the opening of the Assembly. The only other nominee for the highest position in the gift of the Church was Rev. S. Banks Nelson, D.D., of Hamilton. Dr. Clay received 169 votes and Dr. Nelson 69.

On motion of Dr. Nelson the election of Dr. Clay was made unanimous.

Honor to Province

Acknowledging the honor accorded him, Dr. Clay viewed it rather as an honor to the Province and Synod of British Columbia. "I am sure," he said, "that the whole province of British Columbia, that has through these trying days shown such very great sympathy, will applaud the action of the Assembly.

"The only right that I can claim in the Presbyterian Church is the right to serve here in any capacity," continued Dr. Clay. "I solemnly dedicate to the service of the Church whatever poor ability I may have, and I ask your prayers and co-operation."

LIBERAL MEETING AT WARKWORTH

Annual Convention of Northumberland Association on June 8.

The annual meeting of the Liberal Association of Northumberland will be held on Wednesday, June 8, at 2 o'clock, in the town hall, Warkworth, for the election of officers and other business.

SAFEGUARDING MILK BY PASTEURIZATION

It was with a knowledge of these facts that the International Congress of Tuberculosis held in Washington in 1908, unanimously passed a resolution that all milk not coming from herds shown to be free from tuberculosis, should be scientifically pasteurized. The National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, and the Canadian Medical Association, subsequently passed similar resolutions.

It was a knowledge of the dangers of transmission of tuberculosis, together with the dangers of the transmission of other communicable diseases and of the dangers of diarrhoeal diseases through raw market milk, that prompted the Committee on Milk Standards, and subsequently, the American Public Health Association and the American Medical Association, as well as the Association of State and Provincial Health Officers, to pass resolutions that all milk not coming from herds free of tuberculosis, as demonstrated by the tuberculin test, and not obtained under conditions corresponding to those required for the production of certified milk, should be scientifically pasteurized before being used for human consumption.

Professor Dean, of the Ontario Agricultural College, says that he regards pasteurization of milk as the greatest possible aid to life saving.

At the International Pure Milk Congress held in Brussels, in 1907, the use of raw milk for infant feeding was officially condemned and pasteurization advocated.

Dr. Amyot, Deputy Minister of Health for the Dominion of Canada, eighteen years ago advocated this method of controlling our milk supply, and still claims that it is the only safe method.

It was with a knowledge of the foregoing facts that the late Dr. Torrance, Veterinary Director-General for the Dominion of Canada, unhesitatingly said that all milk not coming from herds shown to be free of tuberculosis by the tuberculin test should be scientifically pasteurized, and that in his judgment it was the only means by which we could efficiently safeguard our milk supplies.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS SOUNDS INVITATION TO HIGH IDEALS FOR GREAT CANADIAN LEGION

Loyalty and Comradeship Are Foundation of British Empire League.

WRONGS ARE RIGHTED.

Disabilities Caused By War Continue and Unity Needed To Assist.

The following address was given by Brig.-Gen. J. A. Gunn, D.S.O., C.M.G., to the delegates of the First Provincial Convention of The Canadian Legion of The British Empire Service League for the Province of Ontario.

"I deem it fitting and proper on this occasion to briefly restate those principles which must ever be foremost in our minds and which form the corner stone of this great organization, The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

Those two great principles are Loyalty and Comradeship, which principles should be not only interwoven in, but should form the warp and woof, pith and substance, of this great Empire organization. It is not only appropriate but desirable that I should exemplify the opening clauses of the National Presidential address delivered at Winnipeg on the 24th of January, 1927.

We believe in loyalty to its fullest extent, loyalty to our King, Country and Empire, and this means that we have duties to perform as well as rights to maintain. We are bound to stand up for honour and right, patriotism and public service—to work for a national united spirit and good Government in Canada. We admit no believer in armed revolution as a member. And we advocate the maintenance by Canada of armed forces sufficient to enable her to perform her duty in the Empire. Nor do we forget, that the principles of patriotism and public duty must be inculcated in our schools, and that to our children must be handed down the ideals for which their fathers fought.

So, likewise, we believe in comradeship to its fullest extent. We must not be content with knowing that our own individual interests are safe-guarded, that our branches are comfortable clubs, and well managed and solvent.

That is all to the good, but we also feel that we are bound to see that our old comrades less fortunate than ourselves are helped, that the disabled and sick are well treated, and that the dependents of those who are dead are properly cared for.

We ought to work for suitable pensions and treatment, for the disabled and sick, for preference in employment for those who fought for their country, and too often handicapped themselves thereby, and for such general conditions that a man working on a farm, in a logging camp, or a mine, far away from cities or from a Branch, may still feel that he belongs to an organization interested in his welfare, which will present his case if old wounds or illnesses occur, and will stand up for his rights, whenever they are threatened.

There are many wrongs still to be righted, many hard cases to be relieved. We see many old comrades in distress and we are dissatisfied with the way they are treated. We feel that too often the deserving man is left out in the cold.

We feel also that both the Dominion and Provincial Governments, and the public in general fail to realize that while memories of the war grow dimmer as time goes on, yet the disabilities caused by it still continue and the number of fresh disabilities tends to increase. Partly disabled men find themselves less and less able to compete for employment in the open labor market. More men have to go to hospital for treatment.

The subject is a very difficult one and requires much consideration by Government. Only by unity among all ex-service men and women can we hope to ensure that proper provision is made to deal with it.

Shortly stated then, the aims and objects of The Legion are the welfare of Canada and the proper care of all those who have served their country in war.

Progress Has Been Made.

When it is recalled that but twelve months have elapsed since the Legion was organized in this Province, I make bold to say that we may fairly felicitate ourselves upon the work achieved.

The situation which obtained in the Province of Ontario just one year ago was not only disconcerting but discouraging. There were various organizations animated with similar ideals, nevertheless antagonistic and often uncharitable toward each other; between and among whom unity or even reasonable "reproachment" seemed not only improbable, but next to impossible.

Having been honoured with the Presidency in this Province I willingly assumed the responsibility, and in collaboration with the Executive, duly chosen at the Convention one year ago, undertook this stupendous task of creating the super-structure of The Legion throughout the Province of Ontario.

The Great War Veterans' Association, having early cast its lot with the Canadian Legion, formed a basis upon which immediately we commenced to build. I wish here to make acknowledgement of the loyalty and hearty co-operation given by a great majority of the then existing branches of The Great War Veterans' Association in this Province.

An organization, known as the Veterans' Alliance, was strongly organized and entrenched in the City of Toronto. This Alliance had a strong if not powerful money-getting organization; a substantial cash reserve, and published and controlled a magazine known as "The Assembly." They also maintained an Adjustment Bureau with a secretary and staff in the City of Toronto. After repeated endeavour on the part of your Executive, we prevailed upon this Organization to join The Legion, upon an express consideration that for the time being the staff employed by the Veterans' Alliance would be retained. Contracts to this effect were made and these contracts, in as far as the financial agent, Mr. Montgomery, is concerned, have been frequently revised, as will be shown

DR. J. J. CRAIG.

Past President of Kiwanis Club: "May the first Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion be a great success. It is with pleasure that we, as citizens of this city, welcome the men who have served this country at a time when the whole freedom of the British Empire was at stake."

by the auditor's statement. We frankly confess, in this as in other cases, the consideration necessary for the consumation of unity was large, but in the opinion of those whose duty it was to assume the responsibility, justified by the results achieved. The office of this organization was forthwith closed and amalgamated into the office of The Canadian Legion, which are situated in the Bank of Hamilton Building, and are maintained at a monthly rental of One Hundred and Thirty-five Dollars. Under the agreement, entered into by and between The Canadian Legion and the Veterans' Alliance, the assets of the Veterans' Alliance were to be handed over in "toto" to The Canadian Legion. Besides office furniture, these assets consisted of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) in cash.

Our next concern was that of The Grand Army of United Veterans; this organization also maintained an office and staff in the City of Toronto, and had branches throughout the Dominion. Your Executive entered into an agreement with Mr. Hugh McLeod, representing the G.A.U.V. whereby all assets and liabilities were assumed by The Legion and the staff of the Grand Army of United Veterans employed under contract for one year by The Canadian Legion. The consideration being that the Grand Army of United Veterans throughout Canada would forthwith amalgamate with The Canadian Legion and become part and parcel of the latter Organization. This as well was an extra burden on the shoulders the Ontario Provincial Command but we again felt that this situation had to be encountered, and this was the only possible solution.

Our next concern was the complete amalgamation of The Tuberculous Veterans' Association, also a National organization. The Tuberculous Veterans' Association have special rights and privileges under the constitution of The Legion. These rights must be safeguarded. Their "sina qua non" or condition precedent" to amalgamation was that an adjustment office and staff be maintained in the City of London, and another in the City of Toronto. These adjustment officers to be employed solely on tuberculous work. Although this imposes also a heavy financial burden upon the Provincial Command, nevertheless, because of their peculiar requirements, we confidently feel that our action in this respect will specially commend itself to the Convention.

It will readily be seen that a tremendous financial responsibility devolved upon the Provincial Command. The supplying of this money has been and is, one of our greatest worries. If we were not zealous in organizing new branches and promoting The Legion generally, our expenditure would be, of course, much smaller. We deemed it our duty not only to lay the basis of this great Legion, but to organize this Province in every City, town and village throughout Ontario. We feel our action in this respect merits the approval of the entire membership.

Branches Have Grown.

One year ago there were less than forty Branches, today there are over one hundred. There is still much work to do and we respectfully request that continuation of the zeal, initiative and enterprise displayed not only by the officers of the Provincial Command, but by the Branch officials and membership generally.

The work of your Executive, although exacting, has not been above criticism. We, at all times, welcome constructive comment. In the City of Toronto we have had difficulties. Difficulties, I believe, largely caused by misunderstandings. The situation happily is much improved and has been, on the whole, probably not disadvantageous because out of our problems there has arisen that determination that, although conscientious workers may disagree respecting policy, nevertheless, all are animated by an overwhelming desire to stimulate and encourage an Organization based upon loyalty and comradeship.

We have been greatly encouraged, and our work and responsibility has been materially lightened, by the magnanimous and self-sacrificing efforts of an Advisory Committee, under the Chairmanship of Mr. John Tory of Toronto. The work of the Chairman and J. J. Gibbons, Melville P. White, and R. A. Stapels, is quite beyond praise. These gentlemen have whole-heartedly given us the benefit of their counsel and are ready and willing to continue in this work, so that the great body of influential, prominent and patriotic business men of the Province of Ontario may not only realize their duty and opportunity of unique service, but indicate renewed interest and zeal by already giving unstintedly of their time, energy and enthusiasm in stimulating and promoting the Legion in the Province of Ontario. It is fitting and proper that we should acknowledge the deep debt of gratitude which we owe the Advisory Board for the tact, prudence, resource and initiative which they, at all times, brought to bear on the many problems which, fortunately for all concerned, came under their review.

I have much pleasure in presenting for your approval the result of the deliberations of the Advisory Board with representatives from your Executive and the newly authorized Toronto and District Council. While these suggestions place a heavy burden upon the Advisory Committee for the time being, it is hoped that, as the outcome of a sincere desire of the two Commands to enter into this arrangement with the object of initial co-operation and future cordiality, the Advisory Committee may, in time, be relieved of many of these responsibilities.

Administration Duties.

1. The administration of the Ontario Command in respect to Legion affairs in the area of the Toronto and District Command, as provided in the Dominion Constitution and By-laws, shall be fully recognized by the Toronto and District Command. The President, or in his absence, the Vice-President or Chairman of the Toronto and District Command, shall be ex-officio member of the Executive Committee of the Ontario Command.

2. (a) Constitutional recognition of the Toronto and District Command, and complete autonomy within its area shall be conveyed to it forthwith.

(b) The President or, in his absence, the Vice-President or Chairman of the Ontario Command shall be ex-officio member of the Executive Committee of the Toronto and District Command.

(c) The control of its finances and budget shall be placed in the hands of its Finance Committee.

(d) The personnel of the Finance Committee, its financial policy, budgets and statements shall be, at all times, subject to the approval of the Advisory Committee and the Provincial Command.

3. (a) The personnel of the Advisory Committee, on its inception, shall comprise John A. Tory (Chairman), J. J. Gibbons, Melville P. White, R. A. Stapells and the Presidents of the two Commands, with the suggested addition of Judge Denton and the Presidents of the Toronto Board of Trade, Affiliated Charities, Red Cross Society of Canada, and the Finance Commissioner of Toronto. This Committee shall have power to add to or alter its membership as it may at any time desire.

(b) This Committee will assume the responsibility and be by both Commands regarded as the link between the Legion in Toronto and the Toronto public, in respect to the administration of all funds obtained from the Toronto District, and the general policy of Legion activities in that area.

(c) This Committee, or certain of its members as it may determine together with the Presidents of the two Commands, shall constitute the Board of Trustees and Administrators in control of all funds obtained by campaigns within the area.

(d) This Committee shall also be the arbiter between the two Commands, in cases of any dispute, and its conclusions shall be final and be observed by both said Commands.

(e) The paid Secretary of the Advisory Committee shall constitute the Business Secretary of both Commands. He shall be a member of the Canadian Legion, and the nominee and employee of the Advisory Committee. His principal duties shall be:

1. Finance.
2. Organization of Legion Public activities in the area.
3. Organization for the Reception of Distinguished Guests in the area.
4. Governmental affairs — Federal, touching and concerning Ontario. Provincial, Municipal and Civic.
5. Attendance upon all meetings of both Commands.
6. All campaigns for funds, within the area, shall have the approval and endorsation of the Advisory Committee and the Provincial Command, together with that of the Chief of Police of Toronto.
5. Only one public campaign for funds shall be made within the area each year. This shall be a united campaign for all soldier problems within the area.
6. The apportionment of such campaign funds obtained within the area, between the Toronto and District Command and the Ontario Command, shall be determined by the Advisory Committee, upon presentation to it of the budgets of the two Commands.
7. A complete Financial Statement of the Toronto and District Command, a Financial Statement of the Ontario Command, in respect to its funds obtained from the area, shall be issued to the public, thru the Advisory Committee, bi-annually.
8. It shall be a fundamental principle that no person shall be paid a commission for the collection of any campaign or public funds within the area.
9. (a) The bona-fide sale of Dominion Command or Ontario Command publications within the area, by annual subscription to such publications and advertisements therein, shall be permitted by the Toronto and District Command, providing that to such journal subscription shall not be linked the canvassing for or collection of funds, within the area, for any other purpose.

(b) The Toronto and District Command may solicit the sale of its publications and advertisements therein only within the area and from the bona-fide members of its Branches, resident outside of the area. Its publications and editorial policy shall be completely in harmony with the general policy of the Legion at large and as approved by the Ontario Command, with the Advisory Committee as arbiter in case of controversy.

The financial statement will, in due course, be submitted to you by the Finance Committee, it may not be out of place for me, however to refer to the salient features, namely, that after a most trying year, where heavy obligations had to be assumed in the interests of unity, the Ontario Command finished the period, June 1st to April 30th, 1927, with a cash liquid surplus of $8,818.01 and with fixed assets after full depreciation of $3,325.00 and that your total assets, liquid and fixed, amount to $13,545.01. While in business parlance the cost of operating during the past ten months has been high, unity has been worth the price. During the coming year this expense will be very greatly reduced, and the incoming Finance Committee will inherit a going concern which will not present anything like the difficulties which had to be faced by the outgoing Committee. Here, I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Executive Committee for the courageous way they have faced their problems.

My presidential address would be incomplete without acknowledging the courtesy and efficiency displayed by Oscar Hudson & Company, Chartered Accountants, who have ever been mindful of their public trust. It is, I am sure, not invidious o especially mention my appreciation of the services of Captain James Flynn, who on behalf of Oscar Hudson & Co., personally supervised the audits.

Your Executive has at all time received loyal and efficient service from the staff of the Provincial Command, who have shown untiring efforts in their endeavour to further the interest of the Legion. In this connection I feel that I would be unmindful of my duty if I would not especially mention the efficient service of Mr. Alexander Shields whose work as Secretary has been most arduous and trying, but who at all times has cheerfully given of his best.

I am sure that I am voicing the sentiment of the entire Convention when I refer with pleasure to the splendid recovery of our esteemed Chairman, Mr. W. S. Dobbs. The deliberations of the Executive were rendered more onerous because of the prolonged absence of the Chairman.

As for my colleagues, I can only inadequately express my most sincere thanks for their cordial co-operation, valuable advice and constant support their zeal, initiative and resource, as well as application to their work, has been indeed praiseworthy. Much legal work has been done; this has not cost the Legion one cent. Many Branches throughout the Province have been visited by the Executive but never one cent has been paid for services of this nature. It is fitting and proper to say that those who are most zealous in the furtherance of this great work are one and the same who spent many years in the upbuilding of the Militia prior to the war; who were the first to enlist for active service and the first to aid the ex-service man on his return. These sacrifices will not be entirely lost if we direct our energies with renewed vigour toward the consummation of their ideals.

My final thought is one of gratitude to the public who, notwithstanding insistent and repeated demands for financial assistance, have cheerfully contributed. It is with pleasure I convey to them the too long deferred assurance that their contribution, made in conscience and justice, will unimpaired find the source for which they were intended and reflect honour, yea prosperity, on the givers ten thousand fold."

PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS

On Face. Looked Awful. Cuticura Healed.

"My face broke out with pimples and sore eruptions. They did not trouble me much until about six months ago when suddenly they became large and red, and I could not sleep at night for the terrible itching and burning. I could not go out; my face was awful.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Good luck is indicated for today, according to astrology, for many planets are in beneficent aspect.

Under this planetary government great enterprises may be undertaken with an extraordinary chance of success.

In the year there will be a tendency toward expansion in thought, which will be reflected in immense building, and gigantic projects of every sort, the seers foretell.

This is read as an especially fortunate sway for women, who may expect success in love as well as financial matters, while this configuration prevails.

Engagements made under this direction of the stars should be lucky where marriage is concerned. Prosperity and long life together are indicated.

In the early hours of this day quarrels and misunderstandings may be easily precipitated and for this reason it is wise to exercise control over the emotions.

This should be a favorable time to start new business ventures, especially if they have to do with lands.

Agriculture is subject to benefic aspects, which forecast increased foreign markets for food stuffs.

This is a fortunate rule under which to begin a journey and again an immense volume of travel in the Orient as well as in Europe is prognosticated.

Again a London astrologer prophesied for the President of the United States, "an astonishing exhibition of foresight and force."

Many factional quarrels may be encouraged by the positing of the stars. Clubs, organizations and political parties may be easily disrupted under this sway.

Following the floods, which astrologers predicted a year ago, they foretell an epidemic of extraordinary type.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a few losses in the coming year, which will be marked by increased income and many happy experiences.

Children born on this day are likely to be popular idols. Many artists are born under this sign.

JAMES KYNOCH DIES SUDDENLY

Was One of Outstanding Electrical Engineers of the Dominion.

WITH C.G.E. CO.

TORONTO, June 2.—One of the Dominion's finest electrical engineers passed away in the death of James Kynoch, who died suddenly at Lake Simcoe on Tuesday. The late Mr. Kynoch, who was chief engineer of the Canadian General Electric Company prior to his death, was in his sixty-second year. For seven or eight years past he had been suffering from heart trouble and about two weeks ago he went to Lake Simcoe for a rest, as he had not been feeling very well. His sudden death Tuesday came as a great shock to his friends and to the executive officers of the company with whom he had been associated.

The late Mr. Kynoch was born in England, and it was there that he received his engineering education.

Some thirty-five years ago he came to Canada, where in 1892 he became connected with the engineering department of the Canadian General Electric Company. His fine technical knowledge of engineering and a vast fund of information along those lines made his rise a rapid one and about fifteen years ago he became chief engineer of the company which he had joined at its formation.

In expressing surprise and deep regret at the passing of Mr. Kynoch, J. J. Ashworth, general manager of the company, stated that he was a very highly trained man and a most capable engineer.

"His death is most regrettable," said Mr. Ashworth, "he was a very capable engineer and a very fine type of man. It is a great loss to us and the engineering profession."

Several years ago Mr. Kynoch married Elsie Petrie of Toronto. He was a member of the Christian Science Church and although he belonged to few societies he was a highly respected member of the Engineers' Club.

The late Mr. Kynoch had no children and is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elsie Petrie Kynoch.

SUNSET SOAP DYES

Why Soap is used in SUNSET

THERE is a real reason for "soap" in SUNSET—it cleans the cotton, silk, wool or mixed goods; prepares it to receive the dye.

The soap softens the fabric, opens it up so the dye penetrates and gives brilliant, even, lasting colour unobtainable with other dyes.

SUNSET is different from any other dye. It is manufactured exclusively by this company by a special process protected by Dominion of Canada Patent No. 218264. This process cannot be used by any other manufacturer.

SUNSET cleans as it dyes. Takes one third the time of other dyes. It is safe to use on the finest material; requires no acid to set the colour, just ordinary salt alone. Is really clean to use—does not stain hands or spoil utensils.

Ask your dealer for the free SUNSET folder—"Season's Colours"—it tells how to get the newest fashionable shades with SUNSET Dyes.

Don't let your dealer substitute; ask him to get SUNSET for you. Or send to us for colours wanted. 15c a cake postage prepaid.

The More Frocks the Merrier!

It may seem foolish to gauge one's expectations of a good time by the number of frocks in one's wardrobe, yet every woman knows she cannot hope to enjoy a vacation unless she has plenty and perhaps one or two over. What a joy it is to don a fresh, crisp Summer Frock after months of heavy wearing apparel. It feels like getting a breath of fresh air after being indoors for a long time. Thanks to fugi, printed crepe and voiles, the tub frocks of this season have an entirely new look about them. Why not drop in and look them over to-morrow?

"Betty Brown" Summer Frocks

A wonderful exclusive showing of Ladies' Dresses of the "Betty Brown" styles.

Special Week-End showing of "BETTY BROWN" Dresses. A beautiful variety, including three-piece styles in combination of silk crepe and wool jersey. Most of these show sleeveless dress and coat with sleeves. A few very smart models have sleeveless coat to be worn with long sleeve dresses. The very newest styles are shown in the following colors: powder, marsh rose, jasmine, palmetto, mother goose and elfin.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service

by Ben Lucien Burman

THIS HAS HAPPENED

To the queer little South American town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, a town fringed by dark, forbidding jungle, comes an elderly American, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a famous chemist.

An air of mystery seems to hang over the place. This impression is accentuated when the porter who handles Nunnally's grips hints of strange deaths that have occurred and mumbles gloomy prophecies.

In the barber shop, the barber, a strange, dark man with an Oriental cast to his eyes, speaks to Nunnally, who then recognizes him as VILAKA WEST, known as VILAK, a fellow American. He asks Vilak what he is doing in Porto Verde. To his amazement, Vilak says he has sent for him.

The barber business merely conceals his real activities. He and his cousin, ELISE MARBERRY, need assistance in getting at the root of a mystery that already has cost several lives and threatened Elise's.

Another man is killed, TONY BAKBETTA, one of Elise's foremen. Before he dies, he accuses one LIMEY POTTS, of murdering him. Potts admits striking him with a club, but pleads self-defense. Vilak later astonishes Nunnally by saying Limey Potts did not commit the murder. He is silent as to his theory and asks Nunnally to accompany him on a nocturnal visit to the ranch of GAYLORD PRENTISS, a mysterious and forbidding man, known to be an enemy of Elise Marberry. Vilak insists that they wear raincoats, though the night is cloudless.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER VI.

In a few moments Nunnally and Vilak were riding slowly up the road, their shadows dancing fantastically before them on the gray mud. Their course for the first mile lay over the highway they had taken in the afternoon. They crossed the bridge over the river, which was swirling hungrily between its low banks along which ran the railroad.

"River's getting high," said Vilak, looking down as he crossed it. "If it keeps on rising like this in the mountains, we'll have a bad flood. They have them twice a year here, but this season there's been much more rain than usual and a few of the inhabitants are getting worried. An English company has a big dam about twenty miles up the river, which they built to develop waterpower for the mines opening up in that section, and everyone is certain the dam will let go some day.

"A similar dam broke about four years ago and killed two or three hundred people. A lot of water about here, as you've probably noticed. A lot of little lakes which have been dammed up in recent years to give a steady supply of water, for there's mighty little falls in the dry season. It's necessary, but it makes things a bit dangerous in an over-wet season like this. However, never life without danger. There's a man up in that tree, aiming a pistol at us, I think," he added, without changing the inflection of his voice. "Pull back behind that bridge timber."

The chemist obeyed. Vilak leaned over in his saddle, snatched up a sharp rock from the roadway and hurled it at the lower branch of the tree he had indicated just at the end of the bridge. There was a sharp cry, then a crash in the brush.

"Who was it? Er . . . who? who?" The old man panted excitedly.

Vilak placidly brushed the mud from his finger. "Nothing to be alarmed about. Just the common garden variety of holdup man, I think. After you've been down in this part of the country a while you'll take it as naturally as your meals. The end of the bridge is one of their favorite places. They wait up there in the trees, point their revolvers at you without being seen and shout down to you to throw your money into the road. Then after you're gone, they come down and get it. An easy and almost infallibly safe method, for, not being visible, their victims have no chance of resistance.

"Oh, they don't take chances, these brave young bloods. A great improvement over the American method. In about another half a second we would have heard the Brazilian equivalent of 'hands up,' and if you were a good scared Indian you would have thrown everything you had in your pockets onto the road and run like mad. Either it was one of these thieving gentry or someone who wanted to kill me for reasons and motives unknown."

The chemist, his little body taut on his horse, stared blankly in the direction of the crashing brush. "Er . . . why didn't you shoot at him? And why are you not pursuing him now . . . yes . . . pursuing?"

"I didn't shoot at him because a rock serves the purpose amply and I don't kill unless I have to. I'm not pursuing him because e've much more important things o do, where we may need every bit o energy we have, and we'd only be wasting it on a fruitless chase which would come to nothing. I know these jungles too well.

"That man's an eighth of a mile from here now and safe as if he were a thousand. If he's a thief, the police will get him—maybe. Theft's punished worse than murder here, anyway. If he's one of my particular friends, then undoubtedly we'll meet him again. Concentration, mon cher, is the best strategy. Stick to the main road. Or as an esteemed pugilist, who was once one of my intimates, told me, don't guard your chin and thereby expose your solar plexus."

Their horses stepped from the bridge onto the road. A quarter of a mile farther on, the men saw two dark figures shrouded in the bushes. As the riders neared them, they began to move farther back into the obscurity, but at a cordial salutation from Vilak, halted. Nunnally saw the gleam of knives, then recognized the faces of Pasquale Branza of the patched cheek and enormous Adam's apple and the one-armed Detto Cicerone of the broken teeth, the two men he had seen stealing off after Elise in the afternoon.

They grinned at Vilak amiably, the grin making the gaping hole that marked Cicerone's mouth wider than ever, for the figure of Attorney Davis was often seen at night on the road that led to the Marberry fazenda. But even the chemist, unskilled as he was in the study of human emotions, could detect a distinct uneasiness in their faces. "Buona sera, amici," Vilak said smilingly. "A beautiful night, is it not so?"

"Si, Meester Davis, si, si." Cicerone, the more active of the two, lisped quickly between his broken teeth "The night ees ver' beautiful. The moon she beautiful like when she shine on sea at Napoli."

"You stand here and watch the moon?"

"Si, si, Meester Davis," they chorused anxiously.

Vilak casually offered them cigarets. "Take care, my friends. The jaguar likes to strike in the moon. Is it not so? Buona sera."

The two men, eagerly tipped their hats. Vilak and the chemist took the road again. They passed a clump of trees set far back from the highway. Vilak called his companion's attention to it. "That's where Attorney Davis lives," he said. "I have a room at Elise's, too, that I use when I need it." A short distance farther they reached a wide gateway under two castanho trees. It was the entrance to the Marberry fazenda. They rode through and a few moments later reached a low building of white stucco surrounded on all sides by long, carefully screened verandas.

Elise Marberry came forward to meet them. The chemist had no difficulty in recognizing her as the black-haired young woman who had thrown a kiss to him from her carriage in the afternoon. Then she had been dressed in gray; now she wore a gown of yellow silk, embroidered with jade green which outrivaled in brilliancy the flaming-colored macaw which they could see standing on a perch inside the door. Around her supple neck, and hanging down upon her dress, was a heavy hand-wrought silver chain.

"Well, here you two are at last," she said as she took the old man's hand and squeezed it vigorously, without waiting for the formality of Vilak's introduction. "It's a shame the way we've treated you. A crying shame. But it's all the fault of this wretch of a cousin of mine. He insists on dragging you to this place that only mad creatures like myself inhabit; he won't let anyone meet you at the wharf, because he wanted to have you stumble against him as though by accident; then when you are here, he won't permit you to stay on my fazenda where I could see that you were comfortable, but insists that you live in that filthy den he calls a hotel. Good evening, my Lord Dictator," she said, turning to him suddenly.

"Not a dictator, only sensible," he retorted as they made their way to a gay low-ceilinged interior. "Which unfortunately is a virtue most women don't possess."

"You're undoubtedly a dictator." She invited them to sit down on a bright striped divan. "The only reason I pay any attention to you is because you're a criminologist and not many families possess one."

She began toying with a fan made of irridescent green feathers which brought out all the beauty of her dark skin. "But even your tyranical orders couldn't keep me from saying hello to Mr. Nunnally, at least."

She turned to the old man again. "You see I go to meet the boat every week when it comes in. It's the one luxury I permit myself. Really a lot of fun. Everybody does it, you know, back in the little towns in the States." She smiled at him radiantly. "I'm really awfully glad to meet you. I've heard so much about you from Vilak. And I'll be terribly grateful if you can run out some day and look at those manganese deposits and tell us if they're worth anything. Though frankly, I never would have permitted you to come if Vilak hadn't insisted so vigorously. It's my job to stay here because my property's here. But I don't think it's quite fair to drag you into it."

The old man hastened to reassure her. "Vilak was quite right in sending for me. It's different . . . er . . . different, yes. But I am . . . er . . . enjoying it."

Vilak arose from the divan, went over to a table at the other end of the room on which lay a few American and Spanish magazines and glanced at his cousin sharply. "Something's happened in the house. Late this afternoon," he said suddenly. "What was it? Come. Out with the truth."

"Kruschen" fills each day with joy,
For every little girl and boy.

That "Kruschen" Feeling!

Bless their little hearts, they fairly bubble over with it!

And though they're always on the go, the longest day is not a whit too long for them. From morning to night the pace they keep is a regular corker; and so, when bedtime comes at last, they're glad enough to obey the call, healthily tired out.

Are your children always as full of energy and spirits?

They should be, you know. Whenever they're not quite their cheery selves — listless and naughty and uninterested in lessons and play, inclined to mope and sulk — you may be sure there's something wrong with their insides. They've eaten something to disagree with them or perhaps they are constipated. The best thing to do is to take a leaf from Grandpa's book and to stir a tiny pinch of Kruschen Salts into their breakfast cup of tea or cocoa or bowl of porridge. The tiniest dose is enough—half as much as will cover a 10 cent piece. They'll never know they're taking what they call "horrid medicine" — it's tasteless given in this way — but the vital salts will thoroughly cleanse the small insides, gently but surely expelling all clogging waste matter and invigorating the whole system. In less than no time they'll be at their tricks again, outdoing even Grandpa himself in gymnastic feats.

Every druggist sells Kruschen. When renewing your supply don't forget a bottle for the nursery.

FIRE DESTROYS MADOC GARAGE

Alarm Late Saturday Night Startles Residents of Village.

CAR PULLED OUT.

MADOC, June 1.—About eleven o'clock on Sunday night the citizens were startled by the sound of the fire-bell, and soon a large crowd had answered its summons. The fire, which destroyed A. Reid's garage, had already made such headway that it was found impossible to put it out with the chemical engine. The whole building was soon a sheet of flame, but fortunately there was no wind and the houses nearby were not damaged in any way. It is thought the fire started from a short circuit in the car. Mr. Reid managed to get the car out though it was burned at the top. He suffered some slight burns about the head and face in getting the car out.

A freight train in Nebraska was stalled for more than an hour by tumbleweeds that had become matted and filled with drifting dirt until it was immpossible for the engine to pass.

NORHAM LADY 94 YEARS OLD

Mrs. William McClelland Was in Good Health Until Recently.

INJURED BY FALL.

WARKWORTH, June 2.—One of the best known residents of Percy township, in the person of Mrs. William McClelland, on Tuesday, celebrated her 94th birthday, and until a few months ago, when she fell and broke her hip, was in almost perfect health. She still feels well, has splendid use of all her faculties and a good appetite, but, spends most of her time in bed.

Mrs. McClelland was born in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County, married at Salem, Cramahe Township, 75 years ago, and has lived in Percy for about 40 years. She has three children, one grandchild, and six great-grandchildren.

MOTHERS FIND SAFETY

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 31.—There are neither wolves nor wild cats on Fire Island, a tiny bit of land in Cook's Inlet. Moose cows, recognizing it as a safe maternity haven, are swimming there to be ready for the birth of their calves. When the young moose are old enough to care for themselves, they are escorted back to the mainland.

CEMETERY IMPROVED.

Emily Board Has Secured Efficient Caretaker in Mr. Pairagreen.

OMEMEE, June 2.—The Emily Cemetery is steadily showing signs of improvement and since the present caretaker, Mr. Parragreen, took charge, many plots which had been neglected have been made beautiful. The tool house has been moved toward the back of the cemetery and in its stead have been planted flowers in a large round bed, and another bed containing canterberry bells has been dug to the north of the cemetery. Mr. Parragreen spends four days each week on the grounds and the cemetery board is well rewarded for having secured his services.

Man Sentenced in Toronto Today For Serious Offence.

TORONTO, June 1. — (Canadian Press.) — Eleine Papadakis, found guilty of a serious offence, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Judge Coatsworth to-day.

New Antiseptic Becomes Popular

Affords prompt relief for sore throat and Tonsilitis

Ever since the discovery of germs, and their relation to disease, men of science have bent every effort toward the development of preventive measures for combating infections at their source.

The problem of securing a germicide which is strong enough to do this, but which will not harm the most delicate membrane, has been solved by the discovery of Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash.

Although prepared primarily as a Mouth Wash, the healing and non-irritating qualities of this lotion make it an ideal general antiseptic. It can be used effectively in the nasal passages, throat, skin tissues, and for every purpose for which a healing lotion is needed.

For sore throat and tonsilitis Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash is most effective in affording prompt relief. While it destroys the germs it is also delightfully soothing and healing to the delicate irritated linings of the throat.

It is a fine habit to rinse the mouth after each meal with Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash. In this way the teeth and gums are kept in a healthy condition, the mouth is clean and antiseptic and you safeguard yourself against sore throat, tonsilitis and other germ diseases, most of which have their beginning in the throat.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE NEW BIRD

"Do either of you want to come adventuring with me this morning?" asked Uncle Wiggily of Boppy and Um, father and mother of the little wooden Wogglejigs with whom the rabbit gentleman was visiting in the bungleump.

"I shall be busy dusting the piano," answered Um, who bumping a bunch of chicken feathers around the room so they would bounce up on the piano and knock off the dust.

"I must make sure all my Wogglejigs get safely to school without scrambling themselves on the way," said Boppy. For though Gazie, Mazie, Dumple and the other Wogglejigs had started for the Hollow Stump School, there was no telling what they might do on the way. Sometimes they traded tails and legs one with the other, getting so mixed up that it took nearly all day for Boppy and Um to unscramble the queer little creatures. That is why Uncle Wiggily had gone to visit Boppy's family—to help with the unscrambling.

"Well," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose, "if you can't come adventuring with me, Boppy or Um, I'll go by myself. But first I will hop over to my own bungalow to see if everything is all right there."

Uncle Wiggily was warmly welcomed by Nurse Jane Fuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, and by Mrs. Longears.

"Everything is all right," said the rabbit lady. "Of course all the forty 'leven little bunny children miss their Daddicums, but we know you are helping Boppy and Um, so we shall make the best of it until you come back to live with us, Wiggy."

Mr. Robin was hopping sadly along a branch.

"I'll stop and see you every day," promised the bunny gentleman, and then, kissing his wife and waving his paw at Nurse Jane, he hopped on to have an adventure by himself.

Uncle Wiggily had not hopped far before, all of a sudden, he saw, sitting up in a tree, a Robin gentleman bird. But instead of singing as he so often did, Mr. Robin was hopping sadly along a branch.

"What is the matter, Robin?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Why aren't you singing your Cheer Up song this morning?"

"Because I am so sad," answered the Robin. "One of our new little birds fell out of the nest a short time ago, and Mrs. Robin and I can't find him anywhere. She is off looking for him now. I just came back from searching but I couldn't find our little bird. We had four, and now, with one gone, we have only three. But it seems that the lost one was the dearest of all."

"Of course!" agreed Uncle Wiggily. "I know how it is. But it seems to me that if one of your new little birds dropped out of the nest, you would find him on the ground at the foot of the tree. He should be here," and Uncle Wiggily began poking around in the leaves and grass.

"It's no use looking down there," chirped the Robin. "My wife and I searched there the first thing. Our little new bird, named Quee, could fly just a teeny, weeny bit, so perhaps he has fluttered quite far away."

"Perhaps," admitted Uncle Wiggily. "Well, as I am adventuring along I will look for little Quee, and if I find him I will bring that new little bird of yours back to the home nest."

"Thank you, I wish you would," chirped Mr. Robin.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped away, looking here and there for lost Quee. The rabbit had not hopped far before he saw Boppy, the little wooden man, bobbing up and down toward him.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Boppy. "I went after my six Wogglejigs to see that they got safely to school, but what do you think?"

"What?" asked the bunny rabbit.

"They didn't go to school at all!" sighed Boppy. "They are all over in the woods looking at a little robin bird that can hardly fly. My Wogglejigs are making a soft nest of grass for the little robin, who is fluttering on the ground. What do you think of that?"

"I think a lot of that!" cried jolly Uncle Wiggily! "It's fine! The Wogglejigs have found Quee, the new lost little bird. His father and mother are worried about him. Now I'll take Quee home and then the Wogglejigs can go to school. They may be a bit late, but that will not matter so much."

Surely enough, the Wogglejigs had found Quee fluttering in the grass, and they took good care of him until Uncle Wiggily hopped along to take Quee back to his nest, which the bunny soon did.

Then the Wogglejigs went to school, Boppy bumped himself home to help Um with the dusting and Mr. Robin sang his Cheer Up song, while Quee nestled down with the three other new birds in the nest.

When Queen Mary paid a visit the other day to one of the London maternity hospitals she started in to greet each of the seventy-three wee inmates, but before she had completed the task a seventy-fourth had been added to the line by the birth of a bonny baby girl.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The new diagonal line is accentuated by tucking in this light coat of gray kashmir.

The feminine fashions of the reign of Queen Anne looked, according to one observer, as "if every part of the garment was in curl and a lady of fashion of those days" looked like one of those animals which in the country we call a Freesland hen." These Freesland-hen curling clothes have again been offered by the dressmakers. They are spoken of as being "more feminine." But, on the other hand, there are frocks and wraps and hats that don't curl at all—clothes that show quite distinctly the effect of cubistic ideas of art. They look as if they had all been cut by means of a ruler and a triangle. But in effect they are often no whit less feminine than the curling sort, because their very angularity rather accentuates the natural curves and contours of the body of the women who wear them.

The diagonal line is greatly in evidence and almost every woman who has bought new wraps or frocks this spring or summer owns something that shows this "bias" arrangement. There are long diagonal tucks or stitchings across the back of many of the new coats. The material of evening frocks is often draped so as to give a long, strait diagonal line across the front.

And in spite of the continued favor with which some women regard the frilled and ruffled frocks that are all in curl, there is every reason to believe that the diagonal line will continue in fashion and that we shall see even more of it next autumn than we do at present.

Willow green is spoken of in Paris as a color likely to be much worn when really warm weather arrives. The French woman realizes that greens in general are more becoming to blondes than brunettes—and the French woman is seldom fair. But this shade of willow green is one of the verdant hues that may be worn successfully by the brunette as well as the blonde, providing the brunette in question is not prejudiced against the judicious use of a little make-up.

The lighter shades of blue are also spoken of in France as being more becoming to blondes than brunettes. It is decidedly an English woman's color—but there is the exception in favor of navy blue.

FARMERS HELD UP.

Wet Weather Has Delayed the Work in Some Fields Near Stirling.

STIRLING, June 2.—On account of the continued wet weather the farmers have been unable to finish their seeding in some cases, and very little planting has been done.

Meadows are looking fine and a good crop of hay is assured, except in occasional cases where the clover was killed out. Cheese prices advanced to over 18c on the Belleville board on Saturday. The local creamery is still busy, but not so rushed as a few weeks ago.

Sheer Frocks and Women's Hygiene

New way safer—discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THAT filmy gowns and women's oldest hygienic problem now go safely together is a fact millions of women are learning.

Old-time sanitary "pads" with their worries and dangers are giving way to the utter protection of a new way called Kotex.

✓ Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," one may now dance, motor, go about for hours with never a doubt. Also deodorizes; thus ending all fear of offense.

Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "Kotex." Box contains 12. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

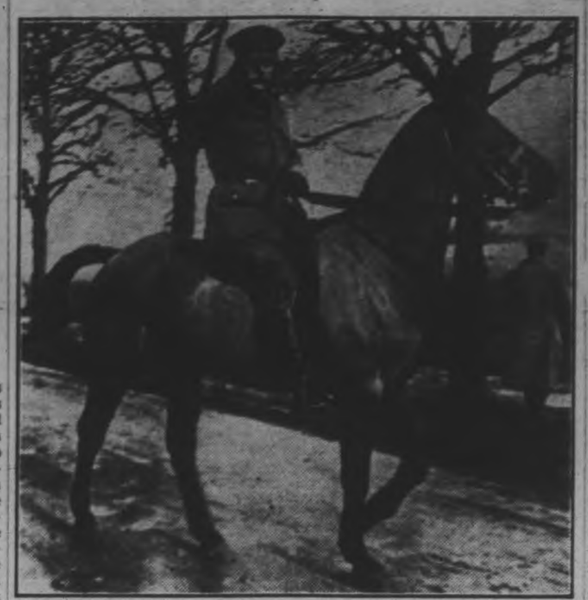
Peterborough's Greetings to the Legionnaires

W. H. BRADBURN, M.P.P.
for the City of Peterborough: "It is with great pleasure that I, as one of the citizens, extend a welcome to the delegates of the first Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion. We owe a great debt of gratitude to the men who fought in the Great War. May they have a very pleasant visit in this city and I trust that their deliberations may result in progress and prosperity for the returned men."

ALDERMAN NAGLE PHELAN
"It is with great pleasure that I join with other citizens of this city in extending a welcome to the members of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion who are attending here in convention this week. We as citizens are always glad to welcome the men who served this country in time of need. I hope they have much success in their deliberations and that while they are in Peterborough they receive that kindness and hospitality that they are worthy of."

JOSEPH WEARING,
City Solicitor, says: "Peterborough is highly honored in being chosen as the first city in which the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion holds a Convention. There is no question that every citizen appreciates the distinction conferred upon this city and we heartily welcome all our visitors. We feel that nothing is too good for them and we hasten to accord to them our fellowship and best wishes. To each one of our visitors irrespective of rank we owe a debt impossible of payment but in any case we open our hearts in goodwill and brotherhood."

FOUNDER of the B.E.S.L.



FIELD MARSHAL SIR DOUGLAS HAIG,
Who Organized the British Empire Service League

REV. J. J. O'BRIEN,
of the Church of the Sacred Heart: "I know there is no class of men whom our citizens generally would wish to honor than the men who gave themselves to their country in its hour of need. We cannot do too much in order to show our respect and gratitude to these men for the sacrifices they have made. But the coming here of the delegates of the first Convention of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion gives us an opportunity to express in a small way, our feelings toward them."

G. W. HATTON, K.C.,
in his message of welcome to the delegates of the Canadian Legion, expresses his hope that the citizens of Peterborough will fly their flags in honor of those who did return from the Great War and those who died so nobly for country and fellowmen. "I hope", said Mr. Hatton, "that the Convention will be a success from every standpoint and that the members of the same will go away with the feeling that the citizens of Peterborough recognize and honor the efforts made by them to establish better conditions throughout the world."

ROBERT HICKS,
ex-chairman of the Utilities Commission trusts that the Canadian Legion will be made to feel how highly the citizens of Peterborough appreciate their visit.

F. H. DOBBIN, Secretary of the Jubilee Celebration Committee:
"Peterborough welcomes to its borders the Great Canadian Legion, worthy successors to the Great War Veterans' Association, now enshrined in the ranks of the enduring organization.

"We are not and never will be unmindful of the three thousand six hundred men and women who answered the country's call, taking service from this city and county, and contributed to the mass of casualties no less than four hundred and three, with one hundred and twenty war widows and one hundred and forty-six children, fatherless.

"We hope that the Legion bound together in a fine spirit of comradeship will endure until the final Roll Call sounds for the last of those who entered on patriotic service, and gave lives and means on the battlefield of Europe."

J. A. McNABB,
President of the J. A. McNabb Company: "We are indeed a proud city to have the privilege of welcoming you to Peterborough for your 1927 Convention. We welcome you in the true spirit of sincerity and are proud to have within our gates, representative Service men of those who have so gloriously laid down their lives and those who have fought and won, but were spared to return, in the nation's cause. Your spirit of stern determination in the dark days won for Canada a place envied by every nation, and the people of Canada, and particularly the people of Peterborough, honor and respect you and will never forget your glorious and victorious war achievements. May your 1927 Convention and deliberations be most successful. Let your Convention be purposeful, a convention of regenerated feeling of love, peace and good will, a convention to promote the surge of joy and happiness. In this spirit, Veterans of the Canadian Service Legion, we salute you and welcome you to Peterborough."

LADIES' AUXILIARY

The work of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local branch of the Canadian Legion during the Convention will consist largely in service at the banquet which will be given to the delegates and friends on Thursday. The ladies of the auxiliary will wait at tables and will have charge of the decorations.

Four ladies representing the Auxiliary of the Provincial Command will travel from Toronto to Peterborough for the Convention.

As on former occasions, the Auxiliary holds itself in readiness to cooperate as much as possible, said Mrs. Mills, President of the Auxiliary this morning, and is prepared to aid the men in every way in order to make the Convention a success.

The work of the Auxiliary has always been carried on in quiet fashion especially those activities in connection with relief work.

The ladies edeavour to raise funds by bazaars and by smaller efforts throughout the year, and this money is expended in the relief of necessitous cases among the ex-service men of the city. In these efforts the ladies keep in touch with the secretary and the executive, with the result that the overlapping of activities which is so often manifested in similar efforts is largely eliminated.

Mrs. Mills received a rare compliment this morning at the opening session of the Legion Convention, from the lips of Col. C. H. Ackerman, President of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion. Col. Ackerman declared that there was no branch in Canada from Halifax to Vacouver which had a Ladies' Auxiliary served with the beal and loyalty exhibited by Mrs. Mills in the local branch.

Another local lady, Mrs. W. R Morris, is at present a Honorary President of the Provincial Ladies' Auxiliary, and served in the capacity of president of the Provincial organization for five years.

Machinery has been evolved by means of which the Provincial body is enabled to disband any Auxiliary which has ceased to perform its proper functions or fails to carry out with loyalty the purposes for which it was instituted.

528 From One Factory Enlisted for Great War

E. G. Patterson, works manager of the local plant of the Canadian General Electric Company, sends the following message:
The Officers and Members of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League:

E. G. PATTERSON
Manager, C. G. E. Co., Ltd.

On behalf of our company and our employees, I beg to welcome you to the city of Peterborough, and trust that the deliberations of your convention will be such as shall work to the benefit of your members.

I trust that your visit to Peterborough will be a happy and enjoyable one to you all. I am proud to furnish you with some information with regard to the war service of our staff, which is as follows:

The Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, Peterborough works, had the honor of furnishing, during the war, a very large percentage of their eligible men for service.

During the war, 528 men enlisted from the Peterborough works, of which 102 paid the supreme sacrifice. In addition to these enlistments, the company, during the war, enlisted and equipped and maintained at their own expense an engineering corps to serve in Canada, some of its members being transferred to overseas service.

The management declined in any way to assist in the exemption of any man and declared no employee essential for work at home during the war. No man was halted or debarred from enlistment and all were granted leave of absence for service, and such service was, and is, counted for seniority in these works.

After the war the company has in every way possible in their power looked after the ex-service men, granting them employment if at all possible and encouraging them in their severe work of reconstruction and getting fit again after their own personal sacrifice and the terrible experiences that they had gone through.

We are quite proud of the number of ex-service men that are at present employed in the Peterborough works. The total number of employees in the works is about 1,600. The female employees, boys under age and the men over military age amount to about 800. Of these, 294 are ex-service men, or 37 per cent. of our staff that is eligible. The ex-service men whom we employ are real soldiers These 290 ex-service men served their country 11,170 months, or an average of 38 months each.

No doubt there are a large number of our employees members of the Legion and take a deep interest in the work of the Legion.

ISAAC P. McNABB
President of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, says:
"Speaking for the Kiwanis Club, it gives me real pleasure in saying a word of welcome to the delegates of the Canadian Legion who meet in our city this week. The Great War is now a matter of history but an organization such as the Legion which is endeavoring to keep green the memory of the heroic lives laid down in the Great War as well as caring for the interests of the many who were left dependent as a result of it should receive the support and co-operation of every Canadian citizen. This, I understand, is the first Convention of the Provincial Command, and Peterborough should feel honored in being chosen as the Convention city. I know that it is the wish of every member of the Kiwanis Club that the Legion will have an enjoyable and profitable convention and that success may crown its every undertaking both now and always."

ALDERMAN G. A. MacDONALD,
Chairman of the Reception Committee of the City Council, said Peterborough is indeed honored in its selection by the Provincial Command of the Canadian Section of the British Empire Legion for the first Convention held since the unification of the various ex-service men's organization into one body. "I trust that the citizens will welcome them in every way and that the delegates will leave with a splendid impression of the city and its inhabitants," said Mr. MacDonald.

ALDERMAN J. M. GREENE,
chairman of the Parks Committee of the City Council:
"Please permit me to express a word of welcome to our fair city to the delegates and members of the Canadian Legion. It is always proper and right to extend a welcome to guests, but if there are any who should be received more heartily and have the freedom of our city extended to them above any others, it surely is the wonderful organization of the Canadian Legion, the very thought of which draws to our memories, circumstances and conditions which those honored members can never forget and which will never be effaced from our minds. You have conferred upon our citizens a very great honor by holding your conference here which we trust will do much to still further cement those ties that bind, and that you will carry away with you pleasant memories of happy associations while in our midst."

Peterborough Is Honored

E. A. PECK, M.P. FOR PETERBOROUGH: "I wish the delegates to the convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion much success in their meetings. Peterborough is greatly honoured by having such an important and worthy body meet here, and I hope that while in this city our former citizen soldiers will be received royally."

DR. R. C. BLAGRAVE, Rector of St. John's Anglican church:
"I have much pleasure indeed in joining with others of our citizens in extending a very warm welcome to the members of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion who meet in conference in our city this week. The reorganization of our overseas men under the banner of the Canadian Legion seemed to me to be a step in the right direction and will contribute greatly towards the achievement of the aims and ideals for which our returned soldiers are organized. Peterborough is greatly honored in having the Ontario command meet here for their first convention. I trust that it may be a great success and that our visitors while furthering the objects they have in hand may also enjoy their visit here and receive from our people such kindnss and hospitality as we are capable of giving and as our citizen soldiers so deeply merit."

J. A. O'BRIEN, of Gordon and O'Brien, thus expressed himself:
"It is a matter of much favorable comment on the streets, and elsewhere, in the City of Peterborough, that the Canadian Branch of the British Empire Service Legion have chosen the City of Peterborough for their first annual convention of the Provincial Command.

"The citizens of Peterborough are most anxious to extend to the visiting delegates a most cordial welcome, and wish the delegates to know that Peterborough feels proud of the honour that has been conferred on our city, in the selection of this centre for their deliberations.

"I trust that the progress of the Legion will be marked at every milestone with continued and increasing success and that the citizens of Peterborough will cooperate with them in their very laudable undertaking and efforts."

J. J. DUFFUS,
President and General Manager of J. J. Duffus Limited, heartily joins with other citizens of Peterborough in extending a most cordial and warm welcome to the delegates and friends of the Canadian Legion, whose Convention is being held here this week, and hopes that their visit will be so productive of pleasant and profitable results that they will carry away cherished memories of the most enterprising and progressive small city in the Dominion of Canada.

JOHN J. TURNER, ex-Mayor, sends this message:
"I was so glad when it was announced that the first convention of the Canadian Legion would be held in Peterborough, as I realize the privilege of extending hospitality to those outside our community to meet together—discuss their problems — and reach conclusions to the advantage of the great majority.

"Just such meetings we are celebrating this 60th year of Confederation, and—as the men who met in Charlottetown 60 years ago little thought what vast strides the country would make as a result of the conferences held at that time—so the delegates to this the first Convention of the Canadian Legion may at this conference lay the foundation for great good to their comrades, which will reflect on their organization and the nation as a whole. So we welcome our visitors and trust their stay among us will be pleasant and profitable and they will carry away with them pleasant memories of our people—our hospitality—and our city."

Bishop Gives Greeting

I wish to extend a cordial welcome to the visiting delegates of the Ontario Command of the British Empire Service League, to the Provincial Convention being held in Peterborough this week. I sincerely hope that their deliberations will be crowned with success and will tend to further the splendid objects for which the Canadian Legion was instituted.

M. J. O'BRIEN,
Bishop of Peterborough.

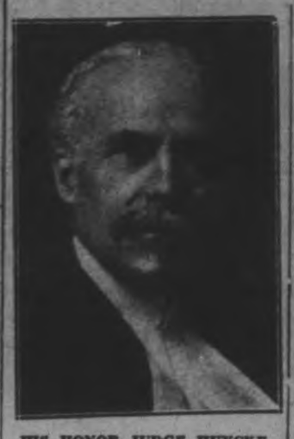
Peterborough Welcomes The Canadian Legion

V. J. McELDERRY,

President of the Conservative Association of West Peterborough: "I am very pleased to add my voice in welcome to the Provincial Command of the Canadian Branch of the British Empire Service Legion. I trust that your deliberations will be successful and lead to the advancement of the ideals which your organization holds."

REV. CAPT. PAUL COSTELLO,

Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, sends this message: "As member of the Executive of the Peterboro' Branch of the Canadian Legion, of the British Empire Service League, I am, of course, very pleased to welcome most heartily the delegates of the Ontario Command, to Peterborough. The question of pensions is still in almost unsatisfactory state and I trust that a forward step, may be taken by this Convention towards a speedy and proper settlement of this most important matter."



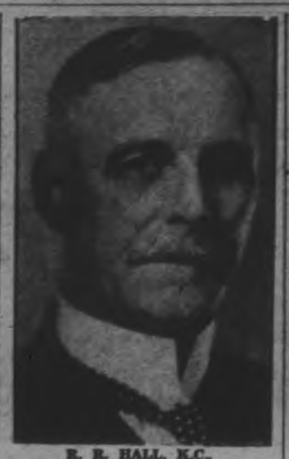
HIS HONOR JUDGE HUYCKE

sends this message to the Legion: "Speaking for myself most cordially, and I believe also on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough generally, I extend a most hearty welcome to the members of the Canadian Legion who are to be our guests during the ensuing week. We, in common with true Britons everywhere, can never forget your service to the Empire in the past, which, we hope and believe it bust an earnest of what you will perform in the future. Therefore welcome, gentlemen of the Legion, thrice welcome to our city! Your worth is warrant for your welcome."

Speaks for the City

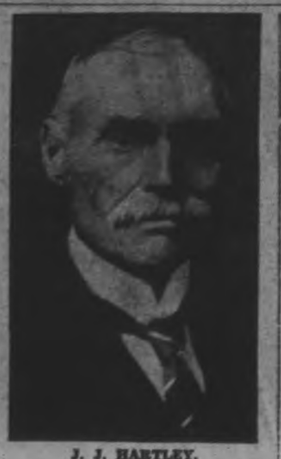
Let us all as citizens extend a royal welcome to the Legion and their visiting members and do all we can to make them feel at home In this way we can show that we have not forgotten their splendid service and sacrifice in the past

DR. W. T. HOLLOWAY,
Mayor.



R. R. HALL, K.C.,

said: "Our words of welcome to the Canadian Legion are as cordial as grateful hearts can feel and human tongues can express. The memory of our words are fleeting, but the memories of the struggles and heroic deeds of the Canadian Soldiers in the Great War, will last to the remotest age. It is with unbounded pleasure, we extend a hearty welcome to the men who took part in those dreadful struggles and who represent the living and the dead of those dreadful days. Let the words of their mouths and the meditations of their hearts, be always acceptable to liberty-loving Canada."



J. J. HARTLEY,

president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, wishes to welcome the delegates of the Canadian Legion to Peterborough and hopes that their Convention here may have profitable results, and that the citizens of the city will welcome these delegates with a whole-heartedness in honor of those who did so much for Canada in the war of 1914-18. "It is my wish", he remarked, "that the members will go away with a tender spot in their hearts for the reception received from the citizens of Peterborough."

ADRIAN McDONALD,

of the Normal School, hoped the delegates would enjoy their stay in Peterborough, achieve the aims with which they set out, and buil a foundation on which an enduring edifice might be neared.

MAJOR FRED HILLS

of the 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons, in a welcome message to the delegates of the Canadian Legion, expresses his hope that the Association will obtain the best of results in their convention, and that they will have the feeling that the citizens of this city are in sympathy with their efforts and are willing to give them any assistance possible if they so need it.

G. A. MACDONALD

Manager of the Peterborough plant of the Quaker Oats Company, expresses his pleasure at the selection by the Canadian Legion of Peterborough as the centre of the first Convention of the Provincial Command. Among the Quaker Oats employees, he said, they would find a number of former comrades. Sixty-two of the workers in the Quaker plant enlisted. Eight of this number were killed or died of wounds, and two became prisoners of war. Twenty-five were re-employed by the company at the conclusion of hostilities.

J. A. McKONE,

Past President of Kiwanis Club, thus expressing himself: "The coming of the delegates of the Canadian Legion to this city is an event both in the history of the City and of the organization. The work of the Legion in its presentation of the claims of the disable man entitles it to the respect of every citizen. Peterborough welcomes the Legion."

Peterborough Women Extend Their Greetings

MRS. R. COTTRELL, regent of the 57th Regimental Chapter I. O. D. E.:

As the senior chapter of the Imperial order of the Daughters of the Empire in the city, and as a chapter which is devoted almost exclusively to the interests of the soldiers of the Empire, we welcome most heartily the delegates to the Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. Our society was originated for the purpose of working for the soldiers, and anything that has to do with them in any way is of interest to us. The National War Memorial of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, is aimed exclusively for the benefit of children of deceased or disabled service men. Started just three years ago, this half-million dollar Memorial, which provides higher education for its beneficiaries, has already been reduced, until now only a sum of $50,000 remains to be paid towards it, and it is expected that this sum will be paid off entirely this year.'

MRS. J. MILLS, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion:

"The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion extends a hearty welcome to all those attending the convention of the Legion of the British Empire Service League, and hopes that their meetings and deliberations will be of benefit to veterans of the service. They hope the delegates will enjoy their stay in Peterborough.

"The work of the members of this Auxiliary is done entirely among the families of returned ex-service men, disabled through no fault of their own, and the funds acquired by the women's efforts are expended for their relief and assistance."

MRS. W. R. MORRIS, past president of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the British Empire Service League, present member of the executive of the same, and convenor on the Local Council of Women of the Committee with regard to Soldiers' and Sailors' Pensions and Dependents:

"The forthcoming convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League should be one of the most important gatherings of ex-service men ever held in Ontario. The Canadian Legion got away to a good start last year, and under able leadership and with the co-operation of an interested and enthusiastic membership, has developed rapidly, along sound lines. By this time, constructive and progressive measures could be considered and discussed with a background of fact and experience to make intelligent action possible.

"The Ontario Ladies' Auxiliary is a vital factor in the success of the Legion and their loyal co-operation in the interests of ex-service men and their dependents is always to be counted upon.

"Welcome to the 1927 Ontario Canadian Legion Convention."

MRS. R. HARSTONE, president of the Red Cross Society:

"The Red Cross Society extends a cordial welcome to the delegates to the Provincial convention of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. The Red Cross Society, which was one of the most prominent in days of war, has a peace-time programme which is almost as important as its ameliorative work in the time of conflict. It has now for an object the supplementing of the Government's work in looking after sick and disabled ex-service men, and has expended in this way more than half the funds left at its disposal at the close of the war. It regards this effort as equally important with its programme of health work.'

MRS. C. H. EDWARDS, president of the Local Council of Women:

"On behalf of the Local Council of Women, it affords me much pleasure to extend a hearty welcome to the delegates representing the Provincial Council of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. We hope that their visit to Peterborough will be pleasant and that their deliberations will result in far-reaching good to the members of the various organizations. Through our Department of Soldiers' and Sailors' Pensions and Dependents, we are always glad to co-operate in the improvement of conditions for the dependents of those who suffered and died so willingly for our beloved country.

"We bid you welcome."

MRS. R. H. PARSONS, president of the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League:

"The Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League is pleased to welcome the delegates to the Canadian Legion Convention. The work of the British Empire Service League is based on the welfare of those who took part in the Great War and the care and assistance of their dependents. As a Memorial to those who cannot come back, the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League has interested itself in the purchase of a Memorial Park in this city, and it feels that it can extend a welcoming hand to those who represent the ex-service men of our province."

MRS. JOHN LYNCH, president of the Catholic Women's League:

"This society, which, in common with the majority of the other organizations devoted to relief work in the city, comes in contact at times with families of ex-service men, extends the heartiest of welcomes to the living representatives of those Canadian heroes who fought and suffered and died in the service of their native land. It regards this meeting as one of the most important of the many conventions that take place annually in our city, and hopes that the stay of the delegates in Peterborough will be both profitable and pleasant."

* * *

MISS MARGARET HAMILTON, president of the Young Women's Christian Association:

"No one should be welcomed more heartily to the city than the representatives of the men who have given their lives and have exposed themselves to such danger for their country."

* * *

MRS. JOHN ALLAN, president of the Women's Canadian Club and the Women's Music Club:

"It is with the utmost pleasure that, on behalf of the Women's Canadian Club and of the Women's Music Club, I extend to every member of the Convention a very hearty welcome to our city.

"I can conceive of no other Convention that should receive a more sincere and heartfelt welcome from all citizens than that of the Canadian Legion.

"Our memories are not so short or forgetful as sometimes would appear. The thousands upon thousands of women for whom the road of life has been lonelier because of those who have gone on before, can never forget. We trust that he memory of the deeds done, the heroism, sacrifice and endurance displayed in those years of war may never be carelessly recalled, but may be handed down with reverence to our children's children and to generations yet unborn.

"When we think of the poets who left their unsung songs, then we recall those who dropped their instruments of music and the tools of art, of students who forsook the paths of learning for a sterner road, of men of science who, through sacrifice, found the truths of life, death and immortality, when we remember those who came from store and office at the urgent call, of those who left their husbandry and daily craft, of the poor, to whom their country gave no heritage, but who died for it, we say again we will never forget, and we hope a grateful people, Parliament and country will be willing to redress or remove any injustice from which any who served may suffer.

"And so we say: Welcome, thrice welcome, to Peterborough."

A Leader in Peterborough

I welcome the delegates of the Canadian Legion of the Empire Service League to Peterborough, for more than one reason. It was my privilege from the start of the war to be connected with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces; first, on the recruiting service under that grand old leader, Gen. Hemming of the Third District, and three and a half years overseas, living with the boys, I have learned to love them for their unselfish devotion to their cause and each other.

On my return, it was only natural that I connected myself to the ex-service men's movement, and for years worked with the late G. W. V. A., and had the pleasure of seeing a vast amount of good done in the Peterborough branch. When the chance came of uniting all the returned men in the Canadian Legion it had my hearty support and will have as long as there is an ex-service man in need.

Anyone who knew the boys overseas knew their trials and tribulations, and their hopes for their dear ones at home, could not help but love them, and any ex-service man who connects himself with the Legion, even if he is an A-1 man and perfectly fit, will always have a great deal of satisfaction knowing that by this connection with the Legion he is doing something for another comrade who is carrying on under great difficulties.

Peterborough is honored by the first convention of the Canadian Legion after its organization in Ontario. In consideration of that honor which has been conferred on Peterborough, we look forward to the years of great service for the Legion, working together with our visitors and comrades from other localities for the good of Canada and the British Empire.

UNDER CUT—— CAPT. R. E. LAYFIELD
Past President, G. W. V. A.

Dr. W. D. Sharpe

Service to his country as a teacher, then as a physician, crowned with a war service of sacrifice and danger, is the splendid offering to Canada made by Dr. W. D. Sharpe, a service that has been gained for him the esteem and deep regard of those who know him intimately, who have benefitted by his later service as a doctor, and from an appreciative foreign government, who appreciated what he did for its people in an hour of dire need. He was born at Concord, New Hampshire, but came to Ontario in the early part of his youth. Here, he went to high school and later to university, when he received his medical degree. Always a military man, Dr. Sharpe was continually in touch with a regiment, being a member of the 60th Battalion in Granby, Quebec, in 1895.

But when the Great War broke out his medical experience, coupled with his military experience, gave him his opportunity at the Serbian front, attached with No. 12 Auxiliary Naval forces. Later, he was detailed for board work under the Military Service Act, and for this the government of that grateful country gave him a decoration, a Cross of Mercy, and decorated him with the Order of the Red Cross.

When the war was over and the G. W. V. A. was formed, he was elected to almost every office in the Ontario Command, was its president, vice-president of the Dominion Command in 1921, was acting president in the following years, and was from 1923 to 1925 Dominion president. Now the various soldiers' organizations are being united in the Legion, Dr. Sharpe is first vice-president of the Ontario Command, and is representative for Ontario in the Dominion Command.

Dr. Sharpe is blessed with a very able helpmate in his wife, who has aided him in his great work that has made him a recognized helper by many to whom he has administered.

History of Growth of the Local Branch

THERE have been three distinct periods in the growth of the Peterborough Branch, hosts at this first Annual Convention of the Canadian Legion. Every period has shown an increase in interest and power over its predecessor, and today the local organization is live, effective and respected.

The first association of returned men in Peterborough was known as "The Returned Soldiers' Club," formed under the presidency of Sergeant P. Victor (2nd Battalion) on November 6, 1916. R. H. Muir ("Bobbie") was first vice-President, and T. R. Cooper was first Secretary. Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, the present President of the Legion here, put the original organization on its feet by obtaining rooms in Victoria Hall and assisting financially.

Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., was instrumental in securing the interest of Thomas Barrie, who loaned two rooms in the building which bears his name, and the veterans entered their new quarters on March 12, 1917. Soon afterwards, they linked up with the Great War Veterans' Association, and entered upon the second stage of their development. The officers of the local branch were; President, P. Victor; vice-President, R. H. Muir; Secretary, T. R. Cooper; Financial Secretary, O. White. In September, 1917, H. J. Staunton was elected President, and in 1919, R. H. Muir succeeded him. Then Harvey Staunton was again elected in 1921, 1922 and 1923, being succeeded for part of 1923 by Dr. N. H. Sutton, who also served in 1924. In 1925, Capt. R. E. Layfield was President, and Major G. G. Winterbottom was the last President of the G.W.V.A. before amalgamation in 1926.

A move to larger quarters was necessitated in 1918, and the Ladies' Auxiliary secured a room on George street that comfortably housed the two hundred members until demobilization swelled the ranks. Then, in 1919, a committee secured a grant of $10,000 from the City Council as the beginning of a building fund. Another $10,000 was raised by public subscription, and the present splendid building was secured, second to none in the province, and a lasting memorial to the wonderful efforts of R. E. Layfield who worked indefatigably in securing funds and supervising the construction. In 1920 the annual Convention of the Ontario Command, G.W.V.A. was held in the hall, the first time that a Convention had been held in a building owned and controlled by a local branch.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A., formed in 1917, has been foremost in all work pertaining to the welfare of the ex-service men who make the building their home. The members have assisted families of soldiers when in need, visited sick comrades in hospital, and are helping in large measure towards the success of this Convention.

On the organization last year of the Canadian Legion, Peterborough ex-service men took their third step, advancing with the remainder of Canada into unity. The membership of the Branch swelled immediately after the union was consummated, and a steady growth has continued. There has not been any canvass for new members, the officers believing that natural and unforced growth makes for strength and vitality.

Among the activities of the Peterborough Branch are the annual Church Parade and Decoration Parades. The former is held on the Sunday nearest to the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres, in which many Peterborough boys gave up their lives. The latter are held on suitable Sundays in early summer to the Protestant and Roman Catholic Cemeteries, when flowers and flags are placed on the graves of ex-service men.

Scores of veterans have been assisted through the Branch to obtain pensions and adjustments that without this influence would undoubtedly have been lost. The expert knowledge of the Secretary makes him particularly valuable in this connection, and ready assistance has always been obtained from Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., ex-Minister of Immigration, who has been a real friend to returned men. Assistance has also been given members and non-affiliated returned soldiers without discrimination when they were in need through illness or lack of employment.

CAPT. S. WHATLEY

Secretary of the host branch and for many years of the G.W.V.A. Local arrangements for the Convention have been largely in his hands.

O. A. LANGLEY,

magistrate for the city and county of Peterborough, remarked that the visit of the Canadian Legion, representatives of the Great War, to our city, is a suitable occasion for the expression of our appreciation of the work done by the Association. "By uniting the various veteran societies", he said, "it has created an institution which keeps alive the esprit de corps of the Canadian army, and brings its influence to bear upon public affairs. And so", continued the magistrate, "we welcome the Canadian Legion with gratitude for their past sacrifices and present endeavours."

COLONEL T .W. H. YOUNG,

Medical Officer Health, sends his assurance of goodwill to the ex-service men attending the Convention and expresses the hope that their stay here will be both pleasant and profitable.

FRANK G. STINSON,

secretary of the Peterborough branch of the Chamber of Commerce says: "As a former member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force and an active member of the local militia, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, I welcome old comrades to Peterborough. I think that the unification of the various bodies of ex-service men into one organization was one of the wisest steps that has been taken since ex-service men found it necessary to organize. The Canadian Legion is a national institution. It would be difficult to overestimate the importance of the work it is doing. Much of the accomplishment of the Legion is like that of the Masons and similar organizations; it is done in secret. The fact that the Legion chose Peterborough as the scene of the first Convention is a tribute of which we in the city may well feel proud. I hope that all the merchants will cooperate by the display of flags outside their places of business and I think it would be well if the example of The Examiner would be followed in its display of a representation of a trench in one of its windows looking out into George street."

E. F. MASON

former chairman of Peterborough Utilities Commission, asks The Examiner to express his appreciation at th coming of the Legion delegates to Peterborough and his best wishes for the success of the Legion.

First Convention Of The Ontario Command

MAJOR G. S. WINTERBOTTOM, former President of the G.W.V.A.

LIEUT.-GENERAL SIR PERCY HENRY NOEL LAKE, K.C.B., C.B., K.C. M.G., C.M.G., the first National President of "The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League," brings to his task an experience that should prove of inestimable value, particularly during the formative period of the new organization. Born of a soldier father, Sir Percy has been a soldier all his life. Tall and erect, he carries himself with a simple dignity that commands attention and respect.

Sir Percy was born in 1855, his father being Lieut.-Col. P. G. B. Lake. He was educated at Uppingham, and received a commission in the 59th Foot Regiment in 1873. His first active service was in the Afghan war of 1878-79. Passing his staff college tests with honors in 1884, Sir Percy took part in the Soudan expedition of the following year. He served at Army Headquarters in various capacities, receiving well-merited promotions, and culminating in an appointment as Quartermaster-General of the Canadian Militia in 1893. After five years in Canada Si Percy was promoted to be Assistant Q.M.G. at Army Headquarters and served as such from 1899 to 1904. After a further period as Chief Staff Officer of the Second Army Corps, he returned to Canada in 1905 upon appointment as Chief of the General Staff of Canadian Militia. In 1908 he became Inspector-General of Canadian Militia and remained in Canada until removing to India in 1911 as Division Commander. He was promoted to be Chief of the General Staff, India, in 1912, and occupied this important post at the outbreak of war. In 1916 he became Commanding Officer of the British Forces in Mesopotamia and served with distinction, being rewarded with a knighthood. Upon retirement from the Army Sir Percy located at Victoria, B.C.

His intense interest in the efforts of Field-Marshal Haig to bring about unity of organization among war veterans in Canada result in active participation in the movement on Vancouver Island. He was asked to attend the Winnipeg Conference as representative of all groups.

COL. J. KEILLER MacKAY, D.S.O., Dominion Vice-Chairman of the Canadian Legion.

Canadian Legion

The Aims and Objects of the Canadian Legion are:

1. To bring about the unity of all who have served in His Majesty's Navy, Army, Air Force, or any Auxiliary Force.

2. To further among them the spirit of comradeship and mutual help, and the close and kindly ties of active service.

3. To preserve the records and memories of their services, and to see that their services generally shall not be forgotten by the nation, and that due attention shall be paid to their welfare and that of their dependents.

4. To perpetuate the memory and deeds of the Fallen and of those who die in the future; to promote and care for memorials to their valor and sacrifice; to provide suitable burial; and to keep an annual memorial day

5. To see to the maintenance and comfort of those who require special treatment, of the disabled, sick, aged and needy; and to promote the welfare of the women, children and others their dependents.

6. To educate public opinion regarding national duties to the dead, the disabled, and others who have served, and their dependents

7. To foster loyalty among the public and education in the principles of patrotism, duty and unstinted public service

8. To support suitable undertakings for the training, employment and settlement of ex-service men and women, and the education of their children.

9. To defend their statutory, acquired and legitimate rights, and those of their dependents; and in so doing to offer the Legion's co-operation to those officially charged with the responsibility of administering such rights by Federal or other governments in Canada.

10. To pass on to their families and descendents the traditions for which they stand.

11. To assist comrades now serving, especially in connection with their return to civil life, and to safeguard the interests of their dependents whilst they are in service.

12. To assist ex-service men to secure not less than the recognized standard rates of wages, in accordance with their ability.

13. To secure adequate pensions, allowances, grants and war gratuities for ex-service men, their dependents, and the widows, children and dependents of those who are dead, and to labor for honorable provision being made for those who in declining years are unable to support themselves.

14. To raise and co-ordinate funds for assisting those mentioned in the preceding paragraph, and to see that these and other funds raised for such purposes are applied to those purposes and none other.

15. To acquire and hold such property in the nature of club rooms, offices and equipment, and material, as may be necessary for the administration of the Legion and its authorized branches, in pursuit of its aims and objects as herein described.

16. To co-operate with Empire and Allied Associations of similar aims and objects.

17. There shall be nothing in this Constitution to prevent the Legion from adopting a definite policy on any question directly or indirectly affecting ex-service men, and taking any constitutional action considered necessary in pursuance of it, provided that such action has been considered and endorsed by a majority of the Branches of the organization; and also providing that such a policy or action is strictly in accordance with the principles laid down in this Constitution.

GENERAL SIR RICHARD TURNER, V.C., D.S.O. First Chairman of the Dominion Command, Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League

COL. A. T. HUNTER, V.D., of Toronto, member of the Central Division Executive.

THE Ontario Provincial Council of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L. is fortunate in having as its active head a man who has achieved success in two distinct fields—military and commercial. Brigadier-General J. A. Gunn, C.M.G., D.S.O., brings to the leadership of the united organization in Canada's premier province the benefits of this broad experience.

General Gunn started his military career as a private in the Queen's Own Rifles. This was in 1896. In the following year he became a commissioned officer. When the Canadian contingent was being formed, following the outbreak of the South African War, he volunteered for active service. Following the South African campaign, he took up residence in Montreal, and transferred to the 3rd Regiment Victoria Rifles of Canada. He passed the Militia Staff course in 1910, and was promoted to Major in 1914.

Immediately upon the outbreak of the Great War, General Gunn offered himself for active service. In October, 1914, he was promoted to Lieut.-Colonel to command the 24th Victoria Rifles Overseas Battalion. Proceeding overseas in May, 1915, he remained on active service continuously until 1917. In January of the later year, he was promoted to the rank of colonel and appointed G.S.O. No. 1 and commanded the 5th Training Brigade. In March, 1918, he was given a special appointment under the Overseas Minister, in connection with the man-power of the Canadians overseas. General Gunn was awarded the D.S.O. in 1916, and C.M.G. in 1917, and was mentioned in despatches.

Upon cessation of hostilities, he was recalled to Canada and given command of Military District No. 2, with the rank of Brigadier-General. In 1920 he was gazetted to command the 6th Canadian Infantry Brigade. Running concurrently with Brigade Command, General Gunn also was gazetted Colonel Commandant of the Queen's Own Rifles in 1921. He was appointed to the reserve of officers in 1924.

Since 1919 General Gunn has been in close touch with the affairs of war veterans and dependents. He was responsible for the organization of the Soldiers' Repatriation League in 1919, which did such useful work during 1919, 1920 and 1921. He also has performed much useful work for the veterans of Toronto as chairman of the Board of Trustees for veterans' clubhouses. General Gunn is a trustee of the Rehabilitation committee of Toronto, which has been responsible for placing many hundred handicapped veterans in suitable positions. He is president of the Last Post Fund for Ontario.

General Gunn has taken hold of the task of organizing the Legion with an earnestness and vigour that has assured success, and has every hope that the Legion will long survive as a power for good in the Province of Ontario.

CAPT. J. ABRAHAM 1st vice-President Branch 52, Canadian Legion.

DR. N. H. SUTTON,

District M.O.H., a former president of the Peterborough branch of the G.W.V.A., and now second vice-president of the local Legion, served overseas with the Canadian Army Medical Corps. He says that Peterborough, with its record of unostentatious loyalty to all good causes, has a warm welcome for the delegates to the Legion Convention. The history of the local branch has been one of steady interest and quiet efficiency, and the place which the branch holds in the hearts of the people assures a friendly reception to their comrades.

J. F. STRICKLAND, who was a lieutenant in the 4th Battalion during the Great War, Extends a hearty welcome to the delegates to the first Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion. This city is proud of the fact that it has been chosen as the place for this important Convention and I hope that everything possible is done to make the men welcome while they are staying in Peterborough."

CAPT. D. FLETCHER, Chairman of the Reception Committee.

Words of Welcome

A. L. Killaly, president of the Rotary club, says: The Rotary club wish to extend a hearty and cordial welcome to the delegates attending the Canadian Legion convention and we trust that the welcome extended by all our citizens will leave a lasting impression upon the delegates. We hope that this first convention of the Legion may be fruitful of results which will permanently bind the various services to ensure the best interests of all ranks.

Rev. J. W. Gordon, of St. And ew's United church, speaking on behalf of the Ministerial Association, of which he is president, said: "May I say that we regard it as an honor to our city to have with us the members of the Canadian Legion. They represent to us deeds of immortal glory and recall dark days when they and their comrades were our great hope. May they feel very much at home among us."

Rev. David Wren, pastor of Trinity United church, said: "It is the pride of the citizens of Peterborough that their city has become the centre, from time to time, for conventions and gatherings and groups of people representative of many of the outstanding organizations of our land. The presence of these distinguished visitors is always a source of pleasure and inspiration to the citizens of our city. The coming convention of the Canadian Legion is one to which all our citizens will join in heartiest greetings and shall follow with deep interest their deliberations. It shall be the earnest wish of all that the convention shall be one of deep interest and profit to all concerned. The cause for which they stand is one which finds a deep response in the hearts of all true patriots and our hope is that as a result of their convention there may result a deeper patriotism and a finer sense of the ideals and purposes for which our beloved Dominion stands."

A. Mowat, inspector of schools, says: "The teachers of the city unite with all other citizens in extending a hearty welcome to the delegates of the Provincial Branch of the British Empire Service League who are meeting in our city this week. The work of the League commands the sympathetic interest of all and that it may be strengthened and advanced at the annual convention is the wish of all."

Rev. William Allan, of St. Paul's church: "Surely it is a great honor to Peterborough to be made the scene of the first Ontario convention of the Canadian Legion, and I take pleasure, on behalf of the church which I represent, as well as on my own behalf, in extending a very cordial welcome to all those who will be our guests during the days of this convention. The most we can do for those who gave of their strength and risked their lives for the honor of the Empire and the safety of civilization must always seem too small. While they are with us may they feel as much at home as if this city were their home.

"'Come in the evening; come in the morning;
Come when expected, or come without warning;
Thousands of welcomes you'll find here before you,
And the oftener you come the more we'll adore you.'"

LT.-COL. T. J. JOHNSTON, member of the Reception Committee, the Host Branch.

REG. H. TURNER, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Host Branch.

A. J. Reynolds, manager of the Bank of Commerce: "Too much cannot be done for the men who fought for this country. I hope they have a very pleasant sojourn in this city and that their convention is a great success."

President's Welcome

As president of the Peterborough Branch No. 52 of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, it affords me the greatest pleasure to welcome the delegates to the forthcoming convention of the Provincial Command to Peterborough. To the delegates I would say that the city of Peterborough and the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion is being paid a very signal honor by men, and women, too, who have brought much honor to Canada and to the Empire.

These delegates in coming to this convention are actuated by a desire to serve their country in peace as they have done in time of war and are carrying out the wishes of all ex-service men and women as expressed by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and Field Marshal Earl Haig, who journeyed through the British Empire carrying that message of peace-time responsibility.

The citizens of Peterborough have done splendidly by the ex-service men of their city. The quarters of the Legion are second to none in the Dominion of Canada. The members of the local branch can show their appreciation of the city's generosity than by living up to the spirit of of the constitution upon which the Legion is founded.

All delegates will be received by the citizens of Peterborough with the same generosity of spirit as is evidenced by our quarters so kindly provided by those citizens.

Saturday, May 20, 1927.

C. H. ACKERMAN.

C. H. ACKERMAN
Pres., Peterboro Branch No. 52.

William Buller, ex-mayor of the city of Peterborough: "Peterborough is always glad to welcome returned men, for they were prepared to give their all for the cause of right. I hope that the convention is a great success and may the delegates carry away nothing but a cordial word and kind thought for the city of Peterborough."

Lieut.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V. D., Officer Commanding the Peterborough Rangers, said: "It is a pleasure to me, both as commanding officer of a unit which sent many men overseas and whose ranks now contain many war veterans, and members of the Legion, and as one who served overseas, to welcome the Ontario Provincial Command to Peterborough on this, its first annual convention. The Peterborough Rangers will co-operate in every way possible in making the stay of the delegates a success."

JACK PATTE,

director of Patte and Wolff Foxes, says: "The ex-service men are welcome to Peterborough at all times and we are pleased indeed that they have chosen this city as the location for the first Convention of the Ontario Command."

GORDON MATTHEWS,

manager of the local plant of the Canadian Packing and himself a veteran of the Great War takes pride in the fact that the Legion should select Peterborough as the location of the initial Convention of the organization which represents the unification of the many groups which formerly represented the ex-service man in his dealings with governing bodies. The Legion honored Peterborough in its choice and he believes that Peterborough will honor the Legion.

F. D. KERR, K.C.,

joins with other citizens of the city in extending a most hearty welcome to the Canadian Legion delegates and their friends that will attend the Convention to be held this week, and hopes that not only will their visit bring profitable results, but that they will go away with pleasant memories of the city and citizens.

ALDERMAN W. J. HANCOCK

"As a citizen of Peterborough, I welcome the Canadian Legion to our city. It is a great honor for us to have this first Convention here, for Peterborough sent many good men to the front, and I hope that profitable results may arise from it for the delegates, and also that they will go away from Peterborough with the feeling that citizens of this city are heartily concerned with the great work that the Canadian Legion is going to accomplish through conventions such as this."

G. A. GILLESPIE,

president of the Chamber of Commerce, heartily joins with other citizens in extending a cordial welcome to the delegates and their friends on their first Convention to be held in the city this week, and hopes that their visit here may be one of pleasant memories of our city when they return home, and of the citizens here.

THE HON. G. N. GORDON, K.C., was delighted that the Legion had chosen Peterborough for its convention, an honor which would be appreciated. He said that the city had sent many men overseas and had provided suitable quarters for its returned men. Anything that he could do to help the returned men had always been, and would continue to be, cheerfully done to the best of his ability, and he trusted that the veterans would profit by their deliberations.

F. C. WEBER,

said: "I'm glad to see the veterans here. Peterborough is noted for doing things thoroughly and her welcome to the veterans of the province will be whole hearted. I trust that their visit to this fair city will be pleasant and that they will come again, not only for some future convention but to become even better acquainted with their comrades and the other citizens of Peterborough."

EX-ALD. E. MEL TURNER, expressed pleasure at the visit of the veterans to this city, saying: "Peterborough is honored in having the first provincial meeting of the Canadian Legion here, and I hope the delegates will enjoy their visit to one of the finest cities in Ontario. The local branch is an important body in this city and the comrades from other branches will be welcomed by the citizens generally."

JOHN CRANE,

manager of the Dominion Bank: "It is with great pleasure that I, as one of the citizens of this city, welcome the delegates to the Convention of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion. I hope that the visitors will have a pleasant time while in the city and may the results of their deliberations be a benefit to the returned men and all others concerned."

102 BRANCHES

Mrs. Greenaway explained that the women who are eligible for membership are the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of exservice men, and also war-workers. And "war-workers" comprehends those women who worked for the soldiers and their dependents.

It had been decided that munition workers were not eligible because they had worked for profit.

The convention expressed its gratitude to the Ladies' Auxiliary on a motion by Colonel J. Keiller MacKay, seconded by Dr. W. D. Sharpe.

Convention Notes.

Rev. Paul Costello is chairman of the Procedure Committee.

A. B. Ellis of St. Thomas called attention to the use of a Union Jack as a cover of the Presidents' table, contrary to regulations. It was promptly removed.

Daylight saving watches were turned back an hour Wednesday afternoon to conform with time pieces that follow only Standard time.

"If we have any bellyachin' to do, let's do it in here and not out on the street corners," was the plain spoken advice of Col. O'Flynn during the finance report debate.

Prayer this morning by Comrade Canon Hedley was followed by a moment's silence in reverent memory of those who sacrificed their lives in war.

DISCUSS PLANS

then suggested that Miss Littlefield be approached in regard to putting on a drill in the afternoon with a number of girls, and Mrs. Stevenson promised to see her at the earliest time possible to see if it could be arranged.

Alderman Greene said that Colonel Hall promised help from the Rangers Band in the parade. Programmes were suggested by various members, but it was finally decided that a souvenir programme commemorating the day would be all that was necessary. The Advertising committee then reported that bills were to be distributed throughout the country, inviting all, but stating that they did not want to take them away from their own celebrations if they had any.

The question of fireworks was then brought up and T. Donaldson reported that Webber Turner and others had seen the manager of the Hand Fire Works Company and had received price lists. It was then decided to spend five hundred dollars on these fireworks and divide them up for the two nights.

It was moved by R. M. Glover and seconded by W. Turner, that Mr. Greene get one hundred and fifty dollars more to carry out his musical programme, and carried.

In connection with the parking problem, Mr. Denne promised that he would see Chief Newhall about this and get the co-operation of the police. An effort is being made to keep George street clear of cars, in order to give the parade a real chance. It was moved by T. Donaldson and seconded by C. Cook that the Grounds committee look after the price of the grounds, and Mr. Greene promised to see the authorities of St. John's church to arrange for the ringing of the chimes at different hours of the day.

MANY OFFICERS

Corps in Military District No. 3. He congratulated the men for their silence on parade, their steadiness in line and the officers on the way they gave their orders, and the knowledge of the orders by the men in the line. Your extended order drill and your physical drill were excellent," said Captain Heron. In referring to the opposition among some people in Canada to cadet training, he said, "I wish that some of those people, though few in numebr but loud in comment, were here to-day to see you boys doing the various exercises and I am sure they would leave believing that they had the wrong impression about cadet training."

H. R. H. Kenner, B. A., principal of the Collegiate, also congratulated the boys on the showing they had made.
